King of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face,

5 And he shall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, vntill [b] I visit him, saith the Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah sayd, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Behold, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee, and say, [c] Buy vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for the ‖ title by kinred apperteineth vnto thee [d] to buy it.

8 So Hanameel mine vncles sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said vnto me, Buy my [e] fielde, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the possession is thine, & the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen [f] shekels, and ten pieces of siluer.

10 And I writ it in the booke, and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed [g] according to the Law, and custome, with the booke that was open, 12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen [h] vessell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fieldes, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, 17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing ‖ hard vnto thee.

18 * Thou shewest mercy vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their [i] children after them: O God, the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lorde of hostes,

19 Great in counsell, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this [k] day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the lande of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land that floweth with milke and honie,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Behold, the [l] mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sworde, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast sayd vnto mee, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the city shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, 27 Behold, I am the LORD GOD of all [m] flesh: is there any thing too hard for mee?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will giue this city into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babel, and he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their [n] youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked mee to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath beene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of i Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth that their posteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, shall be punished both for their owne wickednes, and that the iniquitie of their fathers, which is likewise in them, shall be also reuenged on their head.

k Meaning, that his miracles in deliuering his people, should neuer be forgotten.

l The word signifieth any thing that is cast vp, as a mount or rampart, and is also vsed for engines of warre, which were layd on an hie place to shoote into a citie before that gunnes were in vse.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe and not the face: though I taught them, [o] riſing vp earely, and inſtructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

34 But they ſet their abominations in the houſe (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it, 35 And they built the hie [p] places of Baal, which are in the valley of [q] Ben-hinnom, to cauſe their ſonnes & their daughters to [r] paſſe thorow the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they ſhould doe ſuch abomination, to cauſe Iudah to ſinne.

36 And nowe [s] therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Iſrael ſpoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye ſay, It ſhalbe deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence, 37 *Beholde, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue ſcattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I wil cauſe them to dwell ſafely.

38 And they ſhall bee* my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will giue them [t] one heart, and one way, that they may feare me for euer for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an [u] euerlaſting couenant with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they ſhal not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will delight in them to do them good, & I will plant them in this land aſſuredly, with my whole heart, and with all my ſoule.

42 For thus ſayth the Lorde, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, ſo will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promiſed them.

43 And the fields ſhall be poſſeſſed in this land, whereof ye ſay, It is deſolate without man or beaſt, and ſhall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men ſhall buy [x] fieldes for ſiluer, and make writings and ſeale them, and take witneſſes in the land of Beniamin, and round about Ieruſalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cauſe their captiuitie to returne, ſaith the Lord.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the ſecond time (while hee was yet ſhut vp in the [a] court of the priſon) ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord, the maker [b] thereof, the Lord that formed it, and eſtabliſhed it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I will anſwere thee, and ſhewe thee great and mightie things, which thou knoweſt not.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this citie, and concerning the houſes of the Kings of Iudah, which are deſtroyed by the [c] mounts, and by the ſword.

5 They come to [d] fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themſelues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue ſlaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hidde my [e] face from this citie, because of all their wickednesſe.

6 Behold, [f] I will giue it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I will cauſe the captiuitie of Iudah and the captiuitie of Iſrael to returne, and will builde them as at the firſt.

8 And I will [g] clenſe them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue ſinned againſt me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue ſinned againſt mee, and whereby they haue rebelled againſt me.

9 And it ſhall be to me a name, a [h] ioy, a praiſe, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they ſhall feare and tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the wealth, that I ſhewe vnto this citie.

10 Thus ſayth the Lorde, Againe there ſhall be heard in this place (which ye ſay ſhall be deſolate, without man, and without beaſt, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the ſtreets of Ieruſalem, that are deſolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beaſt) k Meaning, that all the countrey of Judah shall be inhabited againe.

12 Thus sayth the Lord of hosts, Againe, in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepheards to rest their flockes.

13 In the cities of the [k] mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamin, and about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah shal the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, sayth the Lord.

14 Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Judah.

15 In those dayes and at that time, will I cause [l] the branch of righteousnes to grow vp vnto Dauid, and he shall execute iudgement, and righteousnesse in the land.

l That is, I will send the Messiah, which shall come of the house of Dauid, of whom this prophecie is meant, as testifie all the Iewes, and that which is written, Chap. 23.5.

16 In those dayes shall Judah bee saued, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely, and he that shall call [m] her, is the Lord our [n] righteousnes.

m To wit, Christ that shall call his Church.

n That is, Christ is our Lord God, our righteousnesse, sanctification, and redemption, 1. Cor. 1.30.

17 For thus sayth the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before mee to offer [o] burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

o This is chiefly meant of the spirituall sacrifice of thanksgiuing, which is left to ỹ Church in the time of Christ, who was the euerlasting Priest and the euerlasting sacrifice figured by the sacrifices of the Law.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the [p] day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, & night in their season, p Reade Chap. 31.35.

22 As the army of heauen cannot be numbred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what [q] this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off? thus they haue despised my people, that they should bee no more a nation before them.

q Meaning, the Caldeans and other infidels which thought God had vtterly cast off Judah and Israel or Beniamin, because he did correct them for a time for their punishment.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then wil I cast away the seede of Jaakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seede to bee rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Jaakob: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 He threatneth the citie, and the King Zedekiah shall be giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 Hee rebuketh their cruelties toward their seruants.

The word which came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord (when [a] Nabuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all the people fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying, a Who commonly of Jeremiah was called Nebuchad-rezzar, and of others, Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Go, and speak to Zedekiah King of Judah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, * I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

* 2. Chro. 36.19. chap. 29.16, 17. and 32.3.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall behold the face of the King of Babel, and hee shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah, King of Judah: thus saieth the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword,

5 But thou shalt die in [b] peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so they shall burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh [c] lord: for I haue pronounced the word saith the Lord.

b Not of any violent death.

c The Iewes shall lament for thee their lord and King.

6 Then Jeremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah King of Judah in Jerusalem.

7 (When the King of Babels host fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities of Judah, that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Judah)

8 This is the word that came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Jerusalem, [d] to proclaime libertie vnto them, d When the enemie was at hand, and they saw themselues in danger, they would seeme holy, and so began some kinde of reformation: but soone after they altered their hypocrisie.

9 That euery man should let his [e] seruant goe free, and euery man his handmaide, which was an Ebrue or an Ebruelle, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

e According to the Law, Exod. 21.2. Deut. 15, 12.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to ỹ couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, and euery one his handmaide, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe, 11 But afterward they † repented & caused the seruants and the handmaides, whom they had let go free, to returne, and helde them in subiection as seruants and handmaides.

† Ebr. returned.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of ‖ seruants, saying,

‖ Or, bondage

14 *At the terme of seuen yeres let ye goe, euery man his brother an Hebrew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when hee hath serued thee sixe yeres, thou shalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

* Deut. 15.1, 12.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and yee had made a couenant before me in [f] the house, whereupon my Name is called.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a most solemne and strait couenant, made in the Name of the Lord.

16 But ye repented, & polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaid, whom yee had set at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and holde them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and as handmaides.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to [g] the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

g That is, I giue the sword libertie to destroy you.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they haue made before me, when they [h] cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the parts thereof:

h As touching this maner of solemne couenant which the ancient vsed by passing betweene the two parts of a beast, to signifie that the transgressour of the same couenant should be so diuided in pieces, reade Gen. 15. 10.

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Jerusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the parts of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hande of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the King of Babels hoste, which [i] are gone vp from you.

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap. 37.11.

22 Beholde, I will commaund, saith the Lord, & cause them to returne to this citie, and they shal fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

He proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

a For the disposition and order of these prophecies, reade Chap. 37.1.

THe worde which came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the dayes [a] of Iehoiakim, ỹ sonne of Josiah, King of Iudah, saying,

2 Goe vnto the house of the [b] Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

b They came of Iobab Moses father in law, who was no Israelite, but after ioyned with them in the seruice of God.

3 Then tooke I Jaazaniah, the sonne of Jeremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the House of the Lorde, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue ỹ chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treasure.

c That is, a Prophet.

‖ Or, doore.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and [d] said vnto them, Drinke wine.

d The Prophet saith not, The Lord saith thus: for then they ought to haue obeyed: but he alleadeth to another end, that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: for [e] Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, [f] Yee shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

e Whom Iehu the King of Israel fauoured for his zeale, 2. Kin. 10.15.

f Teaching thē hereby to flee all occasion of intemperance, ambition, and auarice, and that they might know that they were strangers in the earth, and be ready to depart at all occasions.

7 Neither shal ye build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shal dwell in tents, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that hee hath charged vs, and wee drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue wee vineyard, nor field, nor seede, 10 But wee haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to ‖ all that Jonadab our father commanded vs.

g Which was now for ỹ space of three hundreth yeeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs goe to Jerusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the hoste of Aram: so we [h] dwell at Jerusalem.

h Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vow, that it could not be broken for any necessitie: for where they were commanded to dwell in tents, they dwell now at Jerusalem for feare of ỹ warres.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying, 13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Will [i] yee not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord?

i Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their father.

14 The commandement of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab that he commanded his sons, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, [k] rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

k I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe and my Prophets.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, & sending them, saying, * Returne now euery man from his euil way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall

* Chap. 18.11. and 25.5.

dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely the sonnes of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commaundement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [l] spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, & I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

l That is by his Prophets and ministers: which sheweth that it is as much as though he should speake to vs himselfe, when hee sendeth his ministers to speake in his name.

18 And Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because yee haue obeyed the commaundement of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Jonadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m] not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

m His posteritie shall continue and be in my fauour for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah inditeth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers and readeth it before them also. 23 The King casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

a Read Chap. 25.1.

AND in the fourth [a] yeere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah King of Iudah, came this word vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take the roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the Nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen [b] from the dayes of Josiah vnto this day.

b Which were twentie & three yere, as Cha. 25. 3. counting from the thirteenth yeere of Iosiahs reigne.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

c As he did indite.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or Booke.

d Meaning, in prison, through the malice of the Priests.

5 And Jeremiah commaunded Baruch, saying, I am [d] shut vp, and cannot goe into the House of the Lord.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their custome was when they feared warre, or any great plague or 6 Therefore goe thou, and read the roule, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon the [e] fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Judah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people.

f He sheweth that fasting without prayer and repentance auaileth nothing, but is meere hypocrisie.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Jeremiah the Prophet commaunded him, reading in the booke the words of the Lord in the Lords House.

9 ¶ And in the fift [g] yeere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Jerusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Jerusalem.

g The fast was then proclaimed, & Baruch read this roule, which was a little before that Jerusalem was first taken, and then Jehoiakim and Daniel, and his companions were led away captiues.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the words of Jeremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the Secretary, in the hier court at the entrie of the [h] new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

h Which is the East gate of the Temple.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that hee had heard when Baruch read in the Booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they said vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were [i] afraid both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, Wee will certifie the King of all these words.

i The godlie were afraide, seeing God so offended, and the wicked were affrighted for the horror of the punishment.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how diddest thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, Hee pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, [k] hide thee, thou and Jeremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

k They ỹ were godly among the princes, gaue this counsell, by whose meanes it is like that Jeremiah was deliuered: for they knew the rage of the King and of the wicked to be such, that they could not escape without danger of their liues.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they laid vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and tolde the King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Jehudi to fet the roule, & he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Jehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the King.

22 Now the King sate in ỵ winter house, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Jehudi had read three, or foure sides, he cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent [m] their garments, neither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these words.

m Shewing, that the wicked in stead of repenting when they heare Gods iudgements, grow vnto further malice against him and his word.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, & Gemariah had besought the King, that hee would not burne the roule: but hee would not heare them.

26 But the King commaunded Jerahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Jeremiah the Prophet, but the Lord [n] hid them.

n Thus we see the continuall care, that God hath euer ouer his to preserue them from the rage of the wicked.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule & the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe [o] another roule and write in it all the former wordes that were in the first roule which Jehoiakim the King of Judah hath burnt, o Though the wicked thinke to haue abolished the word of God, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth that God will not onely raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verse 32.

29 And thou shalt say to Jehoiakim King of Judah, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, [p] Why hast thou written therein, saying, That the king of Babel shall certainely come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

p These are Jehoiakims words.

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Jehoiakim king of Judah, Hee shall haue [q] none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his [r] dead body shall bee cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

q Though Jehoiachin his sonne succeeded him, yet because he reigned but three moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne.

r Reade Chap. 22.19.

31 And I will visit him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, & I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and vpon the men of Judah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Jeremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the booke which Jehoiakim King of Judah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

† Ebr. went vp.

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Jeremiah, saying,

7 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the King of Judah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of mee, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shal return to Egypt into their own land.

8 And ỵ Caldeans shal come again, & fight against this citie, & take it & burne it with fire.

9 Thus sayth the Lord, ‖ Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

‖ Or, lift not vp your minds.

10 For though yee had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Jerusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Jeremiah went out of Jerusalem to goe into the [f] land of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

f As some thinke to goe to Anathoth his owne towne.

13 And when he was in the [g] gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Jeremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou † fleest to the Caldeans.

g By the which men went into the countrey of Beniamin.

14 Then said Jeremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but hee would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore, the princes were angry with Jeremiah, and smote him, and layd him in prison in the house of Jehonathan ỵ scribe: for they had made that the [h] prison.

h Because it was a vile and strait prison.

16 When Jeremiah was entred into the dungedungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and sayd, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Jeremiah said, Yea: for said he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Jeremiah sayd vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

*Chap.28.4. 19 *Where are now your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

21 Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they should put Jeremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the bakers streete vntill all the [i] bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

i That is, so long as there was any bread in the city: thus God prouideth for his, that he will cause their enemies to preserue them to that end wherevnto he hath appointed them.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech the King commandeth Ieremiah to bee brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King how hee might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Jucal the sonne of Shelemiah, & Pashhur the sonne of [a] Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying, a For Zedekiah had sent these to Jeremiah to inquire at the Lord for the state of the countrey now when Nebuchad-nezzar came, as Chap. 21.1.

2 Thus sayth the Lord, Hee that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth foorth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for [b] a pray, and shall liue.

b Reade Chap. 21.9. and 45.5.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, This citie shall surely bee giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes sayd vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ‖ weakeneth the hands of the men of warre [c] that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

c Thus we see how the wicked when they can not abide to heare the trueth of Gods worde, seeke to put the ministers to death as transgressours of policies.

5 Then Zedekiah the King sayd, Behold, hee is in your handes, for the King can denie [d] you nothing.

d Wherein hee grieuously offendeth in that that not onely hee would not heare the trueth spoken by the Prophet, but also gaue him to the lustes of the wicked to be cruelly intreated.

6 Then tooke they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Jeremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Jeremiah stucke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the † blacke Moore, one of the Eunuches which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon, (then the King sate in the [e] gate of Beniamin)

e To heare matters and giue sentence.

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, [f] these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Jeremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

f Hereby is declared that the Prophet found more fauour at this strangers hands, then he did by al them of his countrey, which was to their great condemnation.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, saying, Take from hence thirty men † with thee, and take Jeremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, and tooke there olde rotten rags, and old worne cloutes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Jeremiah, 12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moore said vnto Jeremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the coards. And Jeremiah did so.

13 So they drew vp Jeremiah with coards and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Jeremiah remained in [g] the court of the prison.

g Where the King had set him before to be at more libertie, as Chap. 37.21.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the King sent & tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entry that is in the House of the Lord, and the King said vnto Jeremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah sayd to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt thou not slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then saide Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah. Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt go forth vnto the King of Babels [h] princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shal not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

h And yeelde thy selfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not go forth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie bee giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shal burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the King said vnto Jeremiah, I am careful for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer mee into their hands, and they [i] mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feares the reproch of men, then the threatnings of God.

20 But Jeremiah sayd, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are [k] left in the King of Judahs house, shalbe brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire.

24 Then sayd Zedekiah vnto Jeremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast sayd vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the King sayd vnto thee, 26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly [l] besought the King that hee would not cause me to returne to Jehonathans house, to die there.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Jeremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these words that the King had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Jerusalem was taken: and hee was there, when Jerusalem was taken.

k When Jeconiah and his mother with others were carried away, these women of the kings house were left: which shalbe taken, sayth the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friends and false prophets, which haue left him in the myre.

l Herein appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life, albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sons are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Ieremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captiuitie.

IN * the ninth yeere of Zedekiah king of Judah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel and all his hoste against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

* 2. King. 25. 1. chap. 52. 4.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken [a] vp.

a The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Nergal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Nergal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the King of Judah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the city by night, through the kings garden, and by the [b] gate betweene the two walles, and hee went toward the wildernesse.

b Which was a posterne doore, leade 2. King. 25. 4.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto [c] Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, & bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‖ chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

‖ Or, captaine of the gard.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the [d] poore that had nothing in the land of Judah, and gaue them vineyardes and fieldes at the same time.

d For the rich and the mighty which put their trust in their shifts & meanes, were by Gods iust iudgements most rigorously handled.

11 Now Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Jeremiah † vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying, † Ebr. by the hand of.

12 Take him, and † looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him [e] euen as he shall say vnto thee.

† Ebr. set thine eyes vpon him.

e Thus God preserued his Prophet by his meanes, whome he made the scourge to punish the king, and them that were his enemies.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rabsaris, and Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes:

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Jeremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto [f] Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that hee should carie him home: so he dwelt among the people.

f Whom the King of Babel had now appointed gouernour ouer the rest of the Jewes, that he left behinde.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying, 16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I wil bring my words vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I wil deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou feareſt.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a pray vnto thee, because thou shalt put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fauour, which he bare to his Prophet in his troubles.

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither he will. 6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramath, when he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 [a] And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because yee haue [b] sinned against ỹ Lord, & haue not obeied his voyce, therfore this thing is come vpō you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands, if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babel, † tary still: behold, all the land is ‖ before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet he was not returned: therfore he said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer al the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe whersoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe, 6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to [c] Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captaines of the hoste, [d] which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that hee had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen [e] Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan * sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the King of Babel, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for me, Behold, I wil dwel at Mizpah, to ‖ serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer fruits, and oile, and put them in your vessels, & dwel in your cities, that ye haue ‖ taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in [f] Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard ỹ the King of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, & gathered wine and summer fruits, very much.

13 Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and al the captaines of the host that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And sayd vnto him, Knowest thou not that [g] Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, & no man shal know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt [h] not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

[a] From this second verse vnto Chap.42.7 it seemeth to be as a parenthesis, & separated matter: and there this storie beginneth againe, and this vision is declared what it was.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 21 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BVt in the [a] seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seede royal, and the princes of the [b] King, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did [c] eate bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sworde, and slew him, whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slew al the Iewes ỹ were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, & all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offerings, and incense in their handes to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet thē weeping as he went: and when he met them, hee saide vnto

[a] The citie was destroyed in the fourth moneth: & in the seuenth moneth, which contained part of September and part of October, was the gouernour Gedaliah slaine.

[b] Meaning, Zedekiah.

[c] They did eate together as familiar friends.

[d] For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, and therefore came vp to the feast of Tabernacles: but bewailing of the burning thereof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorow.

vnto them, Come [c] to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the midde of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the mids of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that said vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for wee haue treasures in the field, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of hony: so hee stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slain because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the king had [f] made because of Basha King of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried thē away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the [g] captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, saw Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, & went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host that were with him all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that hee had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom hee had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made gouernor in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counsel of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the host, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And said vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, † Heare our prayer, we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may [a] doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I wil pray vnto the Lorde your God according to your wordes, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shall answere you, I wil declare it vnto you: I wil keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they said to Ieremiah, [b] The Lord be a witnes of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shal send thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voice of the Lord God, to whome wee send thee, that it may be wel with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ [c] And so after ten dayes came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most,

9 And saide vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this lande, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not root you out: for I [d] repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you [e] from his hand, 12 And I will graunt you mercie that hee may haue compassion vpon you, and hee shall cause you to ‖ dwell in your owne land.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the mind of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah prophecieth the destruction of Egypt.

NOw when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the words of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these words,

2 Then spake [a] Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the [b] proude men, saying vnto Ieremiah, [c] Thou speakest falsely: the Lord our God hath [d] not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah [e] prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, & all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all [f] nations, whither they had beene driuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and euery person, that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah [g] the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to [h] Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and [i] hide them in the clay in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel [k] my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his pauillion ouer them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: [l] such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them and carie them away captiues, and he shal aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a [m] shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 Hee shall breake also the images of ‖ Beth-shemesh, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whom they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets [b] rising early and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and waste, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euil against your selues, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your handes, burning incense vnto other gods in the lande of Egypt whither ye be gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, & that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue yee forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednes of the [d] kings of Iudah and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednesse and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ‖ humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my law nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I wil set my face against you * to euill and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I wil take the remnant of Iudah, that [e] haue set their faces to goe into the lande of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shal be a detestation and an astonishment, and a [f] curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visite them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famin, & by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah to the which they † haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but s such as shal escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen al the prople that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord wee will [h] not heare it of thee, 17 But we will do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the [i] Queene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as wee haue done, both we and our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, & in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then † had we [k] plentie of vitailes and were well and ‖ felt none euil.

18 But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, we haue had ‖ scarcenesse of all things, and haue beene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes ‖ to make her glad, and powre out drinke offrings vnto her without [l] our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, & to the women, and to al the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that ye burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of the lande, and † hath hee not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions, and because of the abominations which ye haue committed: therefore is your land desolate and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense, and because yee haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer Ieremiah said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the lande of Egypt, 25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye & your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your [m] hand, saying, We will performe our vowes ý we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queen of heauen, & to powre out drinke offrings to her: ye will performe your vowes and doe the things that ye haue vowed.

27 Behold, I wil watch ouer them for euill and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sworde, and by the famine, vntill they bee vterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sworde, [o] shal returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose wordes shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visite you in this place, that yee may knowe that my wordes shall surely stand against you for euill.

n This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therefore, that God hath a perpetuall care ouer his, whersoeuer they are scattered: for though they bee but two or three, yet he wil deliuer them when hee destroyeth his enemies.

p He sheweth the meanes whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of the certaintie of the plague, and yet they remaine still in their obstinacie till they perish. For Iosephus lib. 10. de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth that fiue yeere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-rezzar the yonger, hauing ouercome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the King, and so brought these Iewes and other into Babylon.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your salets, fourbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 [d] Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled away, & looke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the [e] North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this, that commeth vp, as [f] a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage yee charets, and let the valiant men come forth, [g] the blacke Mores, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe.

THe words of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote [a] Azzah.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, waters rise vp out of the [b] North, and shalbe as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall crie, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle,

3 At the noyse and stamping of the hooues of his strong horses, at the noise of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheles: the fathers shall not [c] looke backe to their children, for feeblenesse of [d] handes,

4 Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of [e] Caphtor.

5 [f] Baldnes is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their vallies. How long wilt [g] thou cut thy selfe?

6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long wil it be or thou cease! turne againe into thy scaberd, rest and be still.

7 Howe can it [h] cease, seeing the Lorde hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath hee appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The word of the Lord against the Moabites, 26 Because of their pride and crueltie.

COncerning Moab, thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Woe vnto [a] Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euill against it. [b] Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, [c] O Madmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voyce of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed: her litle ones haue caused their crie to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of [d] Luhith, the mourner shall go vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a crie of destruction.

6 Flee and saue your liues, and bee like vnto the [e] heath in the wildernesse.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy [f] workes and thy treasures, thou shalt also bee taken, and [g] Chemosh shall go forth into captiuitie with his Priests & his princes together.

8 And the destroier shal come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish and the plaine shal be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.

9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shalbe desolate without any to dwell therein.

10 [h] Cursed be he that doeth the worke of o He deriueth them which shall impute their ouerthrows to lacke of counsell and policie, or to fortune, and not obseruing of time: not considering that it is Gods iust iudgment.

x To wit, Nebuchad-nezzars armie.

a God comforteth all his that were in captiuitie, but specially the small Church of the Iewes, whereof were Jeremiah and Baruch, which remained among the Egyptians: for the Lord neuer forsaketh his. Isa. 44. 2. Chap. 30 10.

d Their heart shall so faile them.

e For the Caphtorims, which are also called Cappadocians, had destroyed in olde time the Philistims and dwelt in their land euen to Gaza, Deut. 2. 23.

f They haue pulled off their haire for sorow and beastinesse.

g As the heathen vsed in their mourning which the Lord forbad his people to doe, Deut. 14. 1.

h Meaning, that it is not possible that the wicked should by any meanes escape or stay the Lord, when he will take vengeance.

a These were cities of the Moabites, which Nebuchad-nezzar tooke before he went to fight against Necho king of Egypt.

b Thus shall the Babylonians incourage one another.

c Reade Isa. 25. 10.

g Both thy great idole & his maintainers shall be leade away captiues, so that they shall then know that it is in vaine to looke for helpe at idoles, Isa. 15. 2.

h He sheweth that God would punish the Caldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, and that with a courage, and calleth this executing of his vengeance against his enemies his worke, though the Caldeans sought another end, Isa. 10. 12.

the Lord ‖ negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood, 11 Moab hath bene at rest from his youth: and he hath setled on his lees, & hath not bene i powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him, and his sent is not changed.

i Hath not bene removed as the Iewes haue, but haue liued at ease, & as a wine that feeteth it selfe on his lees.

12 ¶ Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall carie him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab shall bee ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of k Beth-el their confidence.

k As the calfe of Beth-el was not able to deliuer the Israelites: no more shall Chemosh deliuer the Moabites.

14 How thinke you thus, We are mighty and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, & his cities † burnt vp, and his chosen yong men are gone downe to slaughter, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

†Hbr. gone vp, or destroyed.

16 The destruction of Moab is readie to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All yee that are about him, mourne for him, and all yee that know his name, say, l How is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

l How are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches?

18 Thou daughter that doest inhabit Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shal come vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and behold: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 m Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste, m Thus they that flee, shall answere.

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon Diblathaim,

23 And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, 24 And vpon Kirioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the land of Moab farre or neere.

n That is, his power and strength.

25 The n horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

o Hee willeth the Caldeans to lay afflictions enough vpō them, til they be like drunken men, that fall downe to their shame, and are derided of all.

26 Make ye him o drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall ‖ wallow in his vomite, and hee also shall be in derision.

‖Or, shalbe full, or clappe his hands.

27 For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art p mooued.

p Thou reioycest to heare of his miserie.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and bee like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 * Wee haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.

*Isai.16.6.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, q but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

q He shall not execute his malice against his neighbours.

31 r Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crie out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

r Reade Isa. 16.7.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea s of Iazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy vintage.

s Which citie was in the vtmost border of Moab: & hereby he signifieth that the whole land should be destroyed, and the people caried away.

33 And ioy and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull field, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the wine-presse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh, and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noyse: from Zoar vnto Horonaim, the t heifer of three yeere olde shall goe lowing: for the waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted.

t Reade Isa. 15.5.

35 Moreouer, I wil cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a u shaume, and mine heart shall sound like a shaume for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that hee hath gotten, is perished.

u Their custome was to play on flutes or instruments, beasts and graue tunes at burials, and in the time of mourning, as Matth. 9.23. *Isa. 15.2,3. ezek. 7.18.

38 And mourning shall bee vpon all the house tops of Moab, & in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is hee destroyed? how hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab bee a derision, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, x hee shall flee as an eagle, and shal spread his wings ouer Moab, x That is, Nebuchad-nezzar, as Chap. 49.22.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are wonne, and the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day, shall bee as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

42 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because hee hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 y Feare, and pit and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

y He that escapeth one danger, shalbe taken of another. Isa. 24.17.

44 Hee that escapeth from the feare, shall fall into the pit, and hee that getteth vp out of the pit, shall bee taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled, stood vnder the shadow [z] of Heshbon, because of the force: for [a] the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of [b] Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the [c] latter dayes, sayth the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The word of the Lord against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

VNto the children of [a] Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath hee none heire? Why then hath their [b] king possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in [c] his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of warre to bee heard in [d] Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall bee a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, sayeth the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: cry yee daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackecloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their King shall goe into captiuitie, and his Priests, and his Princes likewise.

4 Wherefore glorieſt thou in the [e] vallies? the valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?

5 Behold, I wil bring [f] a feare vpon thee, sayeth the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and yee shall be scattered euery man [g] right foorth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And [h] afterward I wil bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Is wisedome no more in [i] Teman? is counsell perished from their children? is their wisedome vanished?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan ([k] they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwel) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the [l] grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.

10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, 11 Leaue thy [m] fatherlesse children, and I will preserue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, [n] Behold, they whose iudgment was not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou hee that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, sayth the Lord, that [o] Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against [p] her, and rise vp to the battel.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy ‖ feare, and the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shalbe astonished, and shall hisse at the plagues thereof, 18 As in the ouerthrow of Sodome, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, sayeth the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, [q] hee shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make [r] him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like mee? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the [s] shepheard that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least [t] of the flocke shall draw them out: surely [u] he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is mooued at the noyse of their fall: the crie of their voice is heard in the red Sea.

22 Behold, hee shall come vp, and flee as the Egle, [x] and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom bee as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

23 ¶ Vnto [y] Damascus hee sayth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard i Which was a citie of Edom called by the name of Teman Eliphaz sonne, who came of Esau.

k The enemies that shall dissemble as though they fled away, shall turne backe and inuade your land & possesse it.
l Meaning, that God would vtterly destroy thē and not spare one, though the grape gatherers leaue some grapes, and theeues seeke but till they haue enough, Obad. 1.5.

m The destruction shall be so great, that there shall be none left to take care ouer the widowes and fatherlesse.

24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight [z] and feare hath seased her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile.

25 How is the glorious [a] citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shall be cut off, in that day, saith the Lord of hosts.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of [b] Ben-hadad.

28 ¶ Unto [c] Kedar, & to the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel shal smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, & go vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their [d] curtaines and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall cry vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off ([e] they haue consulted to dwell) O yee inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, & hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 [f] Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthy nation that dwelleth without care, saieth the Lord, which haue neither gates nor bars, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shall be a bootie, and the multitude of their cattell a spoile, and I will scatter them into all winds, and to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazor shall bee a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 ¶ The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, concerning [g] Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Judah, saying, 35 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will breake the [h] bowe of Elam, euen the chiefe of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these winds, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saieth the Lord, and I will send the Sword after them till I haue consumed them.

38 And I will set my [i] throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the king and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but [k] in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

z When they heare the sudden comming of the enemie.
a He speaketh this in the person of the King and of them of the countrey, who shall wonder to see Damascus the chiefe citie destroyed.
b Who was King of Syria, 1. King. 20. 26. and had built these palaces, which were still called the palaces of Ben-hadad.
c Meaning the Arabians, and their borderers.
d Because they vsed to dwell in tents, he nameth the things that pertaine thereunto.

CHAP. L.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe word that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the † ministerie of Jeremiah the Prophet.

† Ebr. hand.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, [a] Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, [b] Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

3 For out of the North there [c] commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man and beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall [d] come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and [e] weeping shall they goe, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their [f] shepheards haue caused them to goe astray, & haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from [g] mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies said, Wee offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, [h] the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 [i] Flee from the mids of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates [k] before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they shall set themselues in arap against her, whereby shee shall be taken: their arrowes shall bee as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall bee a spoile: all that spoile her, [l] shalbe satisfied, saith the Lord.

11 Because yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because yee are growen fat, as the calues in the grasse, [m] and neighed like strong horses, 12 Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and she that bare you, shalbe ashamed: behold, the vttermost of the nations shall be a desert, a drie land, and a wildernesse.

a After that God hath vsed the Babylonians seruice to punish other nations, he sheweth that their turne shall come to be punished.
b These were two of their chiefe idoles.
c To wit, the Medes and the Persians.
d When Cyrus shall take Babel.
e Reade Chap. 31. 9.
f Their gouernours and ministers by their examples haue prouoked them to idolatrie.
g They haue committed idolatrie in euery place.
h For the Lord dwelt among them in his Temple, and would haue maintained them by his iustice against their enemies.
i When God shall deliuer you by Cyrus.
k That is, most forward & without feare.
l Shalbe made rich thereby.
m For ioy of the victorie, that ye had against my people.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall bee astonished, [n] and hisse at all her plagues.

14 [o] Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all yee that bend the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for shee hath [p] sinned against the Lord.

15 Crie against her round about: she hath ‖ giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy the [q] sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sithe in the time of harueſt: because of the sword of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lyons haue dispersed them: first the King [r] of Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broken [s] his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the King of Babel and his land, as I haue visited the king of Asshur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: hee shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall bee satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shall bee sought for, and there shall bee none: and the sinnes of Judah, and they shall not bee found: for I will bee mercifull vnto them, whome I reserue.

21 Goe vp against the land of the [t] rebels, euen against it, and against the inhabitants * of ‖ Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A crie of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the [u] hammer of the whole world destroyed, and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hosts in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her † from the vtmost border: open her storehouses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her [x] bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that [y] flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bowe, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for she hath beene proud against the Lord, euen against the Holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proud man, saith the Lord God of hosts: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visit thee.

32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I wil kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Judah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, and would not let them goe.

34 But their strong redeemer, whose name is the Lord of hostes, hee shall maintaine their cause, that hee may giue rest to the land, [z] and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sword is vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her Princes, and vpon her wise men.

36 A sword is vpon the † Soothsayers, and they shall dote: a sword is vpon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanitie of idolaters. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

THus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying [a] winde,

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall emptie her land: for in the day of trouble they shall bee against her on euery side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste.

4 Thus the slaine shal fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streetes.

5 For Israel hath beene no [b] widow, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lord of hostes, though their land was filled with sinne against the Holy one of Israel.

6 ¶ [c] Flee out of the middes of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: bee not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompence.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the [d] Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations [e] rage.

‖ Or, of the land that riseth vp.

a The Medes and Persians that shall destroy them as the wind doth the chaffe.

b Though they were forsaken for a time, yet they were not vtterly cast off, as though their husband were dead.

c He sheweth that there remaineth nothing for them that abide in Babylon, but destruction, Chap. 17.6. and 48.6.

d By whom the Lord powred out the drinke of his vengeance, to whom it pleased him.

e For the great afflictions that they haue felt by the Babylonians.

8 *Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may bee healed.

9 Wee would haue cured Babel, but she could not bee healed: forsake her, and let [f] vs goe euery one into his owne countrey: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lord hath brought foorth our [g] righteousnes: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: ‖ gather the shieldes: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the [h] vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standart vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the scoutes: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which hee spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many [i] waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come, euen the ‖ end of thy couetousnesse.

14 The Lord of hostes hath sworne by † him * selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall crie and shout against thee.

15 *Hee hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

17 Euery man is a beast by his owne [k] knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their [l] visitation they shal perish.

19 The [m] portion of Iaakob is not like them: for hee is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

20 Thou art mine [n] hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes, 21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and young, and by thee will I breake the young man and the mayd.

23 I will also breake by thee the sheepeheard and his flocke, and by thee wil I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill that they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, saith the Lord, 25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroying [o] mountaine, sayeth the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roule thee downe from the [p] rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

o Not that Babylon stood on a mountaine, but because it was strong and seemed inuincible.
p From thy strong holds and fortresses.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, saith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standard in the land: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of [q] Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

q By these three nations he meaneth Armenia the higher, and Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the deuice of the Lord shall bee performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poste shall run to meet the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shewe the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a [r] side thereof, r By turning the course of the riuer, one side was made open, and the reedes that did grow in the water, were destroyed, which Cyrus did by the counsell of Gobria and Gabatha Belthazzars captaines.

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of war troubled.

33 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her haruest [s] shall come.

s When she shall be cut vp and threshed.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath [t] deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made mee an emptie vessell: hee swallowed mee vp like a dragon, and filled his bellie with my delicates, and hath cast mee out.

t This is spoken in the person of the Iewes, bewailing their state and the crueltie of the Babylonians.

35 The spoile of mee, and that which was left of mee, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, shall Ierusalem say.

u Thus the Lord esteemeth the iniurie done to his Church, as done to himselfe, because their cause is his.

36 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy [u] cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springs.

37 And Babel shall bee as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like lyons, and yell as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their [x] heat I wil make them feasts, and I wil make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

x When they are in flames with surfeeting and drinking, I will feast with them, alluding to Belthazzars banket, Dan. 5. 2 40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, and like rams and goates.

41 How is [y] Sheshach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

y Meaning, Babel, as Chap. 25 26.

42 The [z] sea is come vp vpon Babel: she is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

z The great armie of the Medes and Persians.

43 Her cities are desolate: the lande is dry and a wildernesse, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which [a] hee hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

a That is, his gifts and presents which he had received as part of the spoile of other nations, and which the Idolaters brought vnto him from all countreys.

45 My people, goe out of the middes of her, and deliuer yee euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, b Meaning, that Babylon should not be destroied al at once, but by little and little should be brought to nothing: for the first yeere came the tidings, the next yeere the siege, and in the third yeere it was taken: yet this is not that horrible destruction which the prophets threatnen in many places: for that was after this when they rebelled, and Darius ouercame them by the policie of Zopyrus, and hanged three thousand gentlemen, besides the common people.

46 Lest your heart faint, and ye feare the rumour that shall be heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yeere, and after that in the other [b] yeere shall come a rumour, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole lande shall bee confounded, and all her slaine shall fall in the middes of her.

48 Then the heauen and [c] the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shal come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

c All creatures in heauen and earth shal reioyce and praise God for the destruction of Babylon the great enemie of his Church 49 As Babel caused the [d] slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

d Babylon did not onely destroy Israel, but many other nations.

57 And I will h make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shal sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayth the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

59 The word which Jeremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the sonne of Nerijah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when hee went with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babel,

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, 5 and sheweth that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and second Chapter begin euery verse according to the letters of the Ebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

HOwe doeth [a] the Citie remaine solitarie that was full of people? shee is as a widow: she that was great among the nations, and [b] princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

2 She weepeth continually in the [c] night, and her teares runne downe by her cheekes: among all her [d] louers, shee hath none to comfort her: all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue, because [e] of affliction, and because of great seruitude: shee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straits.

4 The wayes of Zion lament, because no man commeth [f] to the solemne feasts: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and she is in † heauinesse.

5 Her aduersaries [g] are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, a The Prophet wondereth at the great iudgement of God, seeing Ierusalem, which was so strong, and so full of people, to bee now destroyed and desolate.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countreys.

c So that she taketh no rest.

d Meaning, the Egyptians and Assyrians, which promised helpe.

her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become [h] like harts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

h As men pined away with sorow and that haue no courage.

7 Jerusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things that shee had in times past, when her people [i] fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her, and did mocke at her [k] Sabbaths.

i In her miserie she considered the great benefites and commodities that she had lost.
k At her religion and seruing of God, which was the greatest griefe to the godly.

8 Jerusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore shee is ‖ in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, shee sigheth and turneth backeward.

‖ Or, driuen away.

9 [l] Her filthinesse is in her skirtes: she remembred not her last ende, therefore she came downe wonderfully: shee had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemy † is proud.

l She is not ashamed of her sinne, although it be manifest.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom [m] thou didst command, that they should not enter into thy Church.

m God forbiddeth that the Ammonites and Moabites should enter into the Congregation of the Lord, and vnder them he comprehendeth all enemies, Deut. 23. 3.

11 All her people sigh & seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meat to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, all ye that passe by this way? behold, and see, if there be any [n] sorow like vnto my sorow, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

n Thus Jerusalem lamenteth mouing others to pitie her, and to learne by her example.

13 From aboue hath [o] he sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against them: he hath spread a net for my feet, and turned me backe: he hath made me desolate, and daily in heauinesse.

o This declareth that wee should acknowledge God to be the author of all our afflictions, to the intent that we might seeke vnto him for remedie.

14 The [p] yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

p Mine heauie sinnes are continually before his eyes, as he that tieth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the mids of me: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden [q] the winepresse vpon the virgine the daughter of Judah.

q He hath troden them vnder foote as they that tread grapes in the winepresse.

16 *For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from mee: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.

*Iere. 14. 17. chap. 2. 18.

17 Zion stretcheth out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Jaakob round about him: Jerusalem is [r] as a menstruous woman in the middes of them.

r Which because of her pollution was separate from her husband, Leuit. 15. 19. and was abhorred for the time.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his † commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorow: my virgines and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

†Ebr. mouth.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued mee: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the city while they [s] sought their meate to refresh their soules.

s That is, they died for hunger.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heauinesse: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, & are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me.

22 [t] Let all their wickednesse come before thee: ‖ doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heauie.

t Of desiring vengeance against the enemie, reade Iere. 11. 20. & 18. 21.
‖ Or, gather them like grapes.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord [a] darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from [b] heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his [c] foote-stoole in the day of his wrath!

a That is, brought her from prosperitie to aduersitie.
b Hath giuen her a most sore fall.
c Alluding to the Temple and to the Arke of the couenant, which was called the footstoole of the Lord, because they should not set their mindes so lowe, but lift vp their hearts toward the heauens.

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Jaakob, and not spared: hee hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Judah: hee hath cast them downe to the ground: hee hath polluted the kingdome and the Princes thereof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the [d] horne of Israel: hee hath drawen backe his [e] right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Jaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

d Meaning, the glory & strength, as 1. Sam. 2. 1.
e That is, his succour which he was wont to send vs, when our enemies oppressed vs.

4 He [f] hath bent his bow like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

f Shewing that there is no remedie but destruction, where God is the enemie.

5 The Lord was as an enemie: hee hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Judah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, he hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feasts & Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath giuen into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces:

laces: they haue made a [g] noise in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line, hee hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore he made the rampart [h] and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: hee hath destroyed and broken her bars: her king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more, neither can her Prophets ‖ receiue any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heads: they haue girded themselues with sackecloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings ‖ swoone in the streets of the citie.

12 They haue sayde to their mothers, Where is † bread and drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streets of the citie, and when they † gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome.

13 [i] What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the Sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy prophets haue [k] looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false ‖ prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the city that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainely this is the day that wee looked for: wee haue found and seene it.

17 * The Lord hath done that which hee had purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that hee had determined of olde time: hee hath throwen downe, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemie to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart * cried vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter of Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes.

20 Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done thus: shal the women eat their fruite, and children of a ‖ span long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord?

21 The yong and the old lie on the ground in the streetes: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my ‖ terrours round about, so that in the day of the Lordes wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemie consumed.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man, that hath seene [a] affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 Hee hath led me, and brought me into darkenesse, but not to light.

3 Surely hee is turned against me: hee turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skin hath he caused to waxe olde, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath [b] builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 Hee hath hedged about me, that I can not get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I cry and shout, hee shutteth out my [c] prayer.

9 Hee hath [d] stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

10 [e] Hee was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lyon in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bowe, and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 Hee caused † the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternesse, and made me drunken with [f] wormewood.

16 Hee hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie, 18 And I said, My strength & mine hope [g] is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My

[g] As the people were accustomed to praise God in the solemne feasts with a loud voice, so now the enemies blaspheme him with shouting and crying.

[h] This is a figuratiue speech, as that was, when he said, the wayes did lament. Chap. 1. 4. meaning, that this sorow was so great, that the insensible things had their part thereof.

‖ Or, faint.

† Ebr. wheate and wine.

† Ebr. powred out the soule.

[i] Meaning, that her calamitie was so euident, that it needs no witnesses.

[k] Because the false prophets called themselues Seers, as the other were called, therefore he sheweth that they saw vanitie, because they did not reproue the peoples faults, but flattered them in their sinnes, which was the cause of their destruction.

* Leuit. 26. 15, 25. deut. 28. 15, 25.

* Ierem. 14. 17. chap. 1. 16.

‖ Or, enemies, whom I feared.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ierem. 20. 2.

b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which he greatly feared, and therefore setteth them out with this diuersitie of words.

c This is a great temptation to the godly, when they see not the fruite of their prayers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly and the oftener.

d And keepeth me in holde as a prisoner.

e He hath no pitie on me.

f With great anguish and sorow he hath made me to lose my sense.

g Thus with paine he was driuen to and fro betweene hope and despaire, as the godly oft times are, yet in the end the Spirit getteth the victorie.

20 My ſoule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled [h] in me.

21 I conſider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lordes [i] mercies that we are not conſumed, becauſe his compaſſions faile not.

23 They are renewed [k] euery morning: great is thy faithfulneſſe.

24 The Lord is my [l] portion, ſayth my ſoule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them that truſt in him, and to the ſoule that ſeeketh him.

26 It is good both to truſt, and to waite for the ſaluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that hee beare the yoke in his [m] youth.

28 He ſitteth alone, [n] and keepeth ſilence, becauſe he hath borne it vpon him.

29 He putteth his [o] mouth in the duſt, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheeke to him that ſmiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forſake for euer.

32 But though he ſend affliction, yet will he haue compaſſion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doeth not [p] punish † willingly, nor afflict the children of men.

34 In ſtamping vnder his feet all the priſoners of the earth,

35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the moſt High, 36 In ſubuerting a man in his cauſe: the Lord [q] ſeeth it not.

37 Who is he then that ſayth, and it commeth to paſſe, and the Lord [r] commaundeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the moſt high proceedeth not [ſ] euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the liuing [t] man ſorowfull? man ſuffereth for his ſinne.

40 Let vs ſearch and try our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp [u] our hearts with our hands vnto God in the heauens.

42 Wee haue ſinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou haſt not ſpared.

43 Thou haſt couered vs with wrath, and perſecuted vs: thou haſt ſlaine and not ſpared.

44 Thou haſt couered thy ſelfe with a cloud, that our prayer ſhould not paſſe through.

45 Thou haſt made vs as the * offſcouring and refuſe in the middes of the people.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth againſt vs.

47 Feare, and a ſnare is come vpon vs with deſolation and deſtruction.

48 Mine eye calleth out riuers of water, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without ſtay, and ceaſeth not,

50 Till the Lord looke downe, and behold from heauen.

51 Mine eye [x] breaketh mine heart, becauſe of all the daughters of my citie.

52 Mine enemies chaſed mee ſore like a bird, without cauſe.

53 They haue ſhut vp my life [y] in the dungeon, and caſt a ſtone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am deſtroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the lowe dungeon.

56 Thou haſt heard my voice: ſtoppe not thine eare from my ſigh and from my cry.

57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou ſaydeſt, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou haſt maintained the cauſe of my [z] ſoule, and haſt redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou haſt ſeene my wrong, iudge thou my cauſe.

60 Thou haſt ſeene all their vengeance, and all their deuiſes againſt me.

61 Thou haſt heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations againſt me.

62 The lips alſo of thoſe that roſe againſt mee, and their whiſpering againſt mee continually.

63 Behold, their ſitting downe and their riſing vp, how I am their ſong.

64 * Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their hands.

65 Giue them || ſorow of heart, euen thy curſe to them.

66 Perſecute with wrath and deſtroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

h He ſheweth that God thus vſeth to exerciſe his, to the intent that thereby they may know themſelues, and feele his mercies.

i Conſidering the wickednes of man, it is marueil that any remaineth aliue: but onely that God for his own mercies ſake, and for his promiſe will euer haue his Church to remaine, though they be neuer ſo few in number, Iſa 1.9.

k We feele thy benefits daily.

l The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therefore looke for none other inheritance, as Pſal. 16.5.

m He ſheweth that we can neuer begin too timely to be exerciſed vnder the croſſe, that when the afflictions grow greater, our patience alſo by experience may be ſtronger.

n He murmureth not againſt God, but is patient.

o He humbleth himſelfe as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and ſo with patience waiteth for ſuccour.

p He taketh no pleaſure in it, but doeth it of neceſſitie for our amendment, when he ſuffereth the wicked to oppreſſe the poore.

HOw is the [a] golde become ſo ‖ dimme! the moſt fine golde is changed, and the ſtones of the Sanctuarie are ſcattered in the corner of euery ſtreete.

2 The noble ‖ men of Zion comparable to fine gold, how are they eſteemed as earthen [b] pitchers, euen the worke of the hands of the potter!

3 Euen the dragons [c] draw out the breſts, and giue ſucke to their young, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the [d] oſtriches in the wildernes.

4 The tongue of the ſucking childe cleaueth to the roofe of his mouth for thirſt: the young children aſke bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.

5 They that did feed delicately, periſh in the ſtreets: they that were brought vp in ſcarlet, embrace the dounge.

6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the ſinne of Sodom,

‖ Or, hid.

‖ Or, ſonnes.

b Which are of ſmall eſtimation and haue none honour.

c Though the dragons be cruell, yet they pitie their young and nourith them, which thing Ieruſalem doth not.

d The women forſake their children, as the Oſtrich doeth her egges, Iob 39.17.

Sodom, that was *destroyed as in a moment, and ‖ none pitched campes against her.

7 Her *Nazarites were purer then the snow, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddie in body then the redde precious stones: they were like polished Saphir.

8 Now their [e] visage is blacker then a coale: they cannot know them in the streetes: their skinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered, like a stocke.

9 They that be slaine with the sword are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were stricken thorow for the [f] fruites of the field.

10 The hands of the pitifull women haue sodden their owne children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, hee hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleeued that the aduersarie and the enemie should haue entred into the gates of Jerusalem:

13 For the sinnes of her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests, that haue shedde the blood of the iust in the middes of [g] her.

14 They haue wandered as blinde men [h] in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that [i] they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cryed vnto them, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue said among the heathen, They shal no more dwell there.

16 The ‖ anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: [k] they reuerenced not the face of the Priests, nor had compassion of the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for [l] a nation that could not saue vs.

18 They hunt our steppes that we cannot goe in our streets: our end is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our ende is come.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the Eagles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and layde waite for vs in the wildernesse.

20 The [m] breath of our nostrils, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom we said, Vnder his shadow we shall be preserued alive among the heathen.

21 Reioyce and be glad, [n] O daughter Edom, that dwellest in the land of Uz, the cup also shall passe thorough vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken ‖ and vomite.

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he [o] will no more carie thee away into captiuity, but he will visite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he wil discouer thy sinnes.

* Numb. 6.2.

e They that were before most in Gods fauour, are now in greatest abomination vnto him.

f For lacke of food they pine away, and consume.

g He meaneth that these things are come to passe therefore, contrary to all mens expectations.

h Some referre this to the blinde men, which as they went, stumbled on the blood, whereof the citie was full.

i Meaning, the heathen, which came to destroy them, could not abide them.

k That is, the enemies.

l He sheweth two principall causes of their destruction: their crueltie and their vaine confidence in man: for they trusted in the helpe of the Egyptians.

m Our king Iosiah, in whom stood our hope of Gods fauour, and on whom depended our state and life, was slaine, whom he calleth anointed, because he was a figure of Christ.

n This is spoken by derision.

o He comforteth the Church by that after seuenty yeeres their sorowes shall haue an end, whereas the wicked should be tormented for euer.

‖ Or, shew thy nakednesse.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: [a] consider, and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants.

3 Wee are fatherlesse, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue drunken our [b] water for money, and our wood is solde vnto vs.

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are wearie, and haue no rest.

6 Wee haue giuen our [c] handes to the Egyptians, and to Ashur, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their [d] iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword [e] of the wildernesse.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen, because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maides in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by [f] their hand: the faces of the elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the young men to grinde, and the children fell vnder [g] the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the [h] gate, and the young men from their songs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: woe now vnto vs, that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our [i] eyes are dimme, 18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for [k] euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?

21 [l] Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shalbe turned: renew our dayes as of old.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

a This prayer as is thought, was made when some of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the poorest remained, & some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage.

c We are ioyned in league and amitie with them, or haue submitted our selues vnto them.

d As our fathers haue beene punished for their sinnes, so we that are culpable of the same sinnes, are punished.

e Because of the enemy that came from the wildernesse, and would not suffer vs to goe and seeke our necessarie food.

f That is, by the enemies hand.

g Their slaughter was so great, that they were not able to abide it.

h There were no more iudges nor forme of common weale.

i With weeping.

k And therefore thy couenant and mercies can neuer faile.

l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs: and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Iere. 31.18.

Ezekiel.

The Argvment.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother & diuers of his princes and of the people, certain began to repent & murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsel, as though the thing which they had prophecied should not come to passe, & therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the city should most certainly be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, should be brought into cruel bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in these great troubles, he assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies, which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly bee performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glorie of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophecied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah prophecied in Iudea, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel prophecied, and in what place.
3 His kinred. 5 The vision of the foure beastes. 26 The vision of the throne.

a After that the booke of the Law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yere after saw these visions.

b Which was a part of Euphrates, so called.

c That is, notably, and excellent visions, so that it might be knowne, it was no naturall dreame, but came of God.

d That is, the Spirit of prophecie, as Chap. 3.22. & 37.1.

e By this diuersitie of words he signifieth y fruitfull iudgement of God, & the great afflictions, that should come vpon Ierusalem.

f Which were y foure Cherubins that represented the glory of God as Chap. 3.23.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

h Euery Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lyon on the right side, and the face of a bullocke, and of an Eagle on the left side.

IT came to passe in the a thirtieth yeere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer b Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I sawe visions of c God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of king Ioiachins captiuitie.)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the d hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, e a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the middes therof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenesse of ‖ amber.

5 Also out of the middes thereof came the likenesse of foure f beastes, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were g ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went foorth, they returned not, but euery one went streight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as h the face of a man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an Eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spred out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their † spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

† Ebr. Whither their spirit or will was to goe.

13 The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lambs: for the fire ranne among the beasts, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ran, and i returned like vnto lightning.

i That is, when they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned not, till God had changed the state of things.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beasts, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by y beasts, hauing foure faces.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheeles.

21 When the beastes went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, & when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

The Prophet is ſent to call the people from their errour.

AND [a] he ſaid vnto me, [b] Sonne of man, ſtand vp vpon thy feet, and I will ſpeake vnto thee.

2 [c] And the Spirit entred into mee, when hee had ſpoken vnto mee, and ſet mee vpon my feete, ſo that I heard him that ſpake vnto mee.

3 And he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, I ſend thee to the children of Iſrael, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled againſt mee: for they and their fathers haue rebelled againſt me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are † impudent children, and ſtiffe hearted: I doe ſend thee vnto them, and thou ſhalt ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God.

5 But ſurely they will not heare, neither indeed will they ceaſe, for they are a rebellious houſe:

6 And thou sonne of man, [e] feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels, and thornes bee with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and [f] eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, an hand was sent vnto mee, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein,

10 And he spred it before mee, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, [g] Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

d This declareth on the one part Gods great affection toward his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion, yet he will send his Prophets among them, and admonisheth his ministers on the other part that they cease not to doe their duetie, though the people be neuer so obstinate: for the word of God shalbe either to their saluation or greater condemnation.

e Reade Ierem 1.17: he sheweth that for none afflictions they should cease to doe their duties.

f He doeth not onely exhort him to his duetie, but also giueth him the meanes wherewith he may be able to execute it.

g He sheweth what were the contents of this booke: to wit, Gods iudgements against the wicked.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnes of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: [a] eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and hee gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie.

4 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an † vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel,

6 Not to many people of an vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent & stiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face [b] strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto mee, Sonne of man, [c] receiue in thine heart all my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And go and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them, Thus saieth the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease.

12 Then the spirit tooke mee vp, and I heard behind mee a noyse of a great rushing, saying, [d] Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noise of the wings of the beastes, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noise of a great rushing.

14 So the spirit lift me vp, and tooke mee away, and I [e] went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to [f] Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them seuen dayes.

16 And at the end of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a [h] watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the worde at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that hee may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet, if thou warne the wicked, and hee turne not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a [i] righteous man turne from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a [k] stumbling blocke before him, and hee shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shal die in his sinne, and his [l] righteous deedes, which he hath done, shall not bee remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shal liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the [m] hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, and go into the ‖ fielde, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the fielde, behold, the [n] glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I saw by

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophecied to come.

THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem,

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an [a] yron pan, and set it for a wal of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall bee besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

a Which signifieth the stubburnesse and harnesse of their heart.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the [b] house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue laid vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

b Hereby he representeth the idolatry & sinne of the ten tribes (for Samaria was on his left hand from Babylon) and how they had remained therein three hundreth and ninetie yeeres.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy [c] right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourty dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

c Which declared Iudah, who had now from the time of Iosiah slept in their sinnes fourtie yeeres.

7 Therfore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, & thine [d] arme shall be vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

d In token of a speedy vengeance.

8 And beholde, I will lay [e] bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

e The people should so straitly be besieged, that they should not be able to turne them.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, & beanes, and lentiles, and millet, [f] and fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread therof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

f Meaning, that the famine should be so great, that they should be glad to eate whatsoeuer they could get.

10 And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, shalbe by weight, euen [h] twentie shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

g Which were fourteene moneths that the citie was besieged, and this was as many daies as Israel sinned yeeres.

k Signifying hereby the great scarcitie of fuel, and matter to burne.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not beene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of any thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any [l] vncleane flesh in my mouth.

l Much lesse such vile corruption.

The signes of the haires, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

AND thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbours rasor and cause it [a] to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee ballances to weigh, and diuide the haire.

a To shaue thine head & thy beard.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the middes of [b] the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

By the sword, those that were slaine when Zedekiah fled, and those that were caried away captiue. And by the scattering into the winde those that fled into Egypt and into other parts after the citie was taken.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a fewe in number, and binde them in thy [c] lappe.

c Meaning, that a very few should be left, which the Lord would preserue among all these stormes, but not without troubles and triall.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the mids of the fire, and burne them in the fire: [d] for thereof shal a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

d Out of that fire which thou hadst left, shall a fire come, which shall signifie the destruction of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the mids of the nations and countries, that are round about her.

6 And thee hath changed my [c] iudgements into wickednesse more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countries, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therfore thus saith the Lord God, Because your [f] multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue yee kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you,

8 Therfore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, euen in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the middes of thee, the fathers * shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely because thou hast defiled my Sanctuarie with al thy filthines, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitie.

12 The third part of thee shal die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the middes of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all winds, and I wil draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger bee accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be [g] comforted: and they shal know, that I the Lord haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreouer, I wil make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproch and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are round about thee, when I shal execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

16 When I shal send vpon them the ‖ euil [h] arrowes of famine, which shall bee for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

AGaine the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face towardes the * mountaines of Israel, and prophecie against them,

3 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the [a] mountaines and to the hils, to the riuers and to the valleys, Behold, I euen I will bring a sword vpon you, and I wil destroy your hie places:

4 And your altars shall bee desolate, and your Images of the [b] sunne shalbe broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their [c] idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shall be laide waste, so that your altars shall bee made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall bee broken, and cease, & your images of the sun shalbe cut in pieces, and your workes shall be abolished.

7 And the slaine shal fal in the mids of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, [d] that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countries.

9 And they that escape of you, shal remember mee among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they [e] shalbe displeased in themselues for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine that I would doe this euill vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, [f] Smite with thine hand, and stretch foorth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off shall die of the pestilence, and hee that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shal die by the famine: thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

CHAP. VII.

The end of all the land of Israel shall suddenly come.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An ende is come vnto the land of Israel: the ende is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the ende come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all [a] thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy waies vpon thee: and thine abomination shall bee in the middes of thee, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, ‖Behold, one euill, euen one euill is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it [b] watched for thee: behold, it is come.

7 The [c] morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the [d] sounding againe of the mountaines.

8 Nowe I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy waies, and I will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee neither will I haue pitie, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shalbe in the mids of thee, and yee shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the [e] rodde flourisheth: [f] pride hath budded.

11 [g] Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be [h] lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the byer [i] reioyce, nor let him that selleth, [k] mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shal [l] not returne to that which is solde, although they were yet aliue: for the [m] vision was vnto al the multitude thereof, and they returned not, [n] neither doth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 [o] They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shall die with the sword, and hee that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shal escape, and shall bee in the mountaines, like the doues of the vallies: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 *All hands shalbe weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

19 They shal cast their siluer in the streets, and their gold shalbe cast farre off: their *siluer and their gold cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for thine iniquitie.

20 He had also set the beautie of his [p] ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abomination, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the handes of the [q] strangers to bee spoyled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shal pollute my [r] secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 ¶ Make a [s] chaine: for the land is full of the [t] iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie.

24 Wherefore I wil bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their [u] holy places shalbe defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shall seeke peace, and shal not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shalbe vpon rumour: then shal they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the law shall perish from the Priest, and counsell from the Ancient.

27 The King shall mourne, and the prince shal be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people in the land shall bee troubled: I will doe vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

2 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

AND in the [a] sixt yere, in the [b] sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, & the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

a Of the captivity of Ieconiah.
b Which conteined part of August, and part of September.

2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of [c] fire, to looke to, from his loynes downward, & from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

c As chap. 1. 27.

3 And hee stretched out the likenesse of an hand, and tooke me by an hairy lock of mine head, and the Spirit lift mee vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee † by a diuine [d] vision to Ierusalem, into the entry of the inner [e] gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of [f] indignation, which prouoked indignation.

d Meaning, that he was thus caried in spirit, and not in body.
e Which was the porch or the court where the people assembled.
f So called because it prouoked Gods indignation. Which was the idole of Baal.
g Reade Chap. 5. 11.
h That is, in the court where the people had made an altar to Baal.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw [g] in the field.

5 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the [h] altar, this idole of indignation was in the entry.

6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth heere to cause mee to depart from [i] my Sanctuary? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

i For God will not be where idoles are.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And hee said vnto mee, Goe in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they doe here.

k Which were forbidden in the law, Leui. 11. 4.
l Thus they that should haue kept all the cell in the feare and true seruice of God, were the ring-leaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others from God.
m In such abundance.
n For besides their common idolatry, they had particular seruice which they had in secret chambers.

10 So I went in, and sawe, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping things and abominable [k] beastes, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wal round about.

11 And there stood before them seuentie [l] men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stood Iaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censer in his hand, & the vapour of the incense went vp like [m] a cloud.

12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Auncients of the house of Israel [n] doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagery? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Againe hee said also vnto mee, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused mee to enter into the entry of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there sate women mourning for [o] Tammuz.

o The Iewes write that this was a Prophet of the idole, who after his death was once a yere mourned for in the night.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused mee to enter into the inner court of the Lordes house, and behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord betweene the porch and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the Sunne toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke me: and loe, they haue cast out [p] stinke before their noses.

p Declaring that the sensings and seruice of the idolaters, are but infection and filthy before God.

1 The destruction of the city. 4 They that shalbe saued are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

HEe cried also with a loude voice in mine eares, saying, The visitations of [a] the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

a The time to take vengeance.

2 And behold, sixe [b] men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the [c] North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers [d] ynkehorne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brasen altar.

b Which were Angels in the similitude of men.
c Signifying, that the Babylonians should come from the North to destroy the city and the Temple.
d To mark them that should be saued.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was [e] gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon hee was, and stood on the ‖ doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers ynkehorne by his side.

e Which declared, that he was not bound thereunto, neither would remaine any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednes, and worship him aright.
‖ Or, threshold.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Go through the mids of the citie, euen through the middes of Ierusalem, and ‖ set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that [f] mourne, and crie for all the abominations that bee done in the middes thereof.

5 And to the other hee sayd, that I might heare, Goe yee after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Destroy vtterly the old, and the young, and the maydes, and the children, and the women, but touch no man vpon whome is the [g] marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the [h] ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and slew them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, [i] Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then said he vnto me, The iniquity of the house of Israel and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is [k] full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lorde hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shal not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linen which had the ynkehorne by his side, made report, and sayd, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

g Thus in all his plagues the Lord preserueth his (small number which he marketh, as Reuel. 7.3. but the chiefe marke is the spirit of adoption, wherewith the heart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.

h Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap. 8.11.

i This declareth that the seruants of God haue a compassion, when they see his iudgments executed.

1 Of the man that tooke hote burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8 A rehearsall of the vision of the wheeles, of the beastes, and of the Cherubims.

AND as I looked, beholde, in the * firmament ỹ was aboue the head of the [a] Cherubims there appeared vpon thē like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphirstone.

3 Nowe the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord [c] went vp from the Cherub, and stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnes of the Lords glory.

5 And the [d] sound of ỹ Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaketh.

* Chap. 1.22.

a Which in the first Chap. ver. 5. he called the foure beasts.

b This signified, that the city should be burnt.

c Meaning, that the glory of God should depart from the temple.

d Reade chap. 1.24.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then hee went in and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched foorth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who tooke it, and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenes of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a [e] Chrysolite stone.

e Reade Chap. 1.16.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went foorth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they [f] turned not as they went.

f Until they had executed Gods iudgements.

12 And their whole body, and their ‖rings, and their handes, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: ỹ first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, ỹ third the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: *this is the beast that I saw at the riuer Chebar.

* Chap. 1.5.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the [g] spirit of the beast was in them.

g There was one consent betweene the Cherubims and the wheeles.

18 [h] Then the glory of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

h Reade Chap. 9.3.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lordes House at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

20 * This is the [i] beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knew knew that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfesame faces, which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, and they went euery one straight forward.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these he propheseth, shewing them how they shal bee dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God. 21 Hee threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

MOreouer, the spirit lift me vp, & brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lordes house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entry of the gate were fiue and twenty men: among whome I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For they say, [a] It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this citie is the [b] caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therfore prophesie against them, sonne of man, prophesie.

5 And the Spirit of the Lorde fell vpon mee, and sayd vnto mee, Speake, thus sayth the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue yee said, and I know that which riseth vp of your minds.

6 Many haue yee murdered in this citie, and ye haue filled the streets thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue layd in the midst of it, they are [c] the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I wil bring you forth of the mids of it.

8 Yee haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst thereof, and deliuer you into the [d] handes of strangers, and will execute iudgments among you.

10 Yee shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of [e] Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This city shal not be your caldron, neither shal ye be the flesh in the mids therof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the manners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophecied, Pelatiah the sonne of [f] Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, & all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart yee farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saieth the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countries, yet wil I be to them as a litle [h] Sanctuary in the countries where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreyes where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a newe spirit within their bowels: and I wil take the [i] stony heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shal be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles beside them, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glory of the Lorde went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were [k] ledde away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captiuity. 18 Another parable wherby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying, a This the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, and therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.

b We shal not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sod.

c Contrary to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murdred therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

d That is, of the Caldeans.

e That is, in Riblah, reade 2. King. 25. 6.

f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, & therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God toward the rest of the people.

g They that remained still at Ierusalem, thus reproches them that were gone into captiuity, as though they were cast off and forsaken of God.

h They shalbe yet a litle church shewing that the Lord will euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whom he will preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

* Iere 32. 39. chap. 36. 26.

i Meaning, the heart wherein nothing can enter, & regenerate them anew, so that their heart may be soft, and ready to receiue my graces.

k When Ieconiah was led away captiue.

2 Son of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see [a] not: they haue eares to heare, & heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therfore thou sonne of man, † prepare thy stuffe to go into captiuitie, and go forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it bee possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight, as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that go forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a [b] signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was cõmanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged thorow the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayde vnto thee, What [c] doest thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, This ‖ burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall go into bondage and captiuity.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall go forth: they shall dig thorow the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon [d] him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I wil bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though hee die there.

14 And I will scatter toward euery wind all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shal know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

16 But I will leaue a [e] litle number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen where they come, and they shal know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse, 19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus sayth the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eat their bread with carefulnes, & drinke their water with desolation: for the land shalbe desolate from her abundance, because of the cruelty of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shalbe left voyde, and the land shalbe desolate, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in ỹ land of Israel, saying, The dayes [f] are prolonged, and all visions ‖ faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayth the Lord God, I wil make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shalbe any more in vaine, neither shal there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I wil speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shalbe no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say ỹ thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for [g] many dayes to come, and hee prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Al my words shal no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shalbe done, saith the Lord God.

a That is, they receiue not the fruite of that which they see and heare.

† Ebr. make thee vessels to goe into captiuity.

b That as thou doest, so shall they do, and therefore in thee they shall see their owne plague and punishment.

c Doe not they vexe thy doings?

d When the king shall thinke to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17. 20. and 32. 3.

e Which should beare his Name, and should be his Church, reade Chap. 11. 16.

f Because they did not immediately see the prophesies accomplished, they contemned them as though they should neuer be fulfilled.

‖ Or, take none effect.

g That is, it shall not come to passe in our daies, & therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benignity.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the prophets of *Israel, that prophesie, & say thou vnto them that prophesie out of their [a] owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Wo vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes [b] in the waste places.

to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanity, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue yee not spoken a lying diuination? [d] yee say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoke.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because yee haue spoken vanity and haue seene lies, therefore beholde, I am against you, saith the Lord God, 9 And mine hand shall bee vpon the Prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not bee in the assembly of my people, neither shal they be written in the [e] writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, [f] Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a [g] wall, and behold, [g] others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, & I will send hailestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormy wind shall breake it.

12 Loe, when the wall is fallen, shal it not be said vnto you, Where is the daubing wherwith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a stormy winde to breake foorth in my wrath, and a great showre shall be in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wal that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shal fal, and ye shalbe consumed in the mids therof, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

15 Thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with [h] vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Jerusalem, and see visions of peace for it, & there is no peace, sayth the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Wo vnto the women that sowe [i] pillowes vnder all armeholes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will yee hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of [k] barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and [l] to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherwith ye hunt the [m] soules to make them flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them flie.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lyes ye haue made the heart of the [n] righteous sad, whom I haue not made sad, and strengthened the handes of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, 23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanity, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

d Ye promised peace to this people, and now ye see their destruction, so that it is manifest that ye are false prophets.

e That is, in the booke of life wherin the true Israelites are written f Reade Jere. 6.14.

g Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destruction of the city to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet said, (which is here called the building of the wall) an other false prophet would affirme, though hee had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him.

h Whereby is meant whatsoeuer man of himselfe setteth forth vnder the authority of Gods word.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophesie & tel euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon, & kerchiefs to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

k Will yee make my word to serue your bellies?

l These sorcerers made the people beleeue that they could preserue life or destroy it, & that it should come to euery one according as they prophesied.

m That is, to cause them to perish, and that they should depart from the body.

n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lorde sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 Hee reserueth a small portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and [a] sate before me.

2 And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

3 Son of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the stumbling block of their iniquity before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord wil answere him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles:

5 That [c] I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idols, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that soiourneth in Israel, which departeth from mee, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who will dissemble to beare the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doth discouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idols openly which lead them in blindnesse, and cause the to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Jer. 10.15 c To inquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to passe.

d As his abomination hath deserued, that is, he shall be left with lies according as he delighted therein, 2. Thess. 2. 10.

e That is, conuince the by their owne consciences.

of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for mee, I the Lord will answere him ‖ for my selfe,

‖ Or, by my selfe.

8 And I wil set my face against that man, and wil make him an example & prouerbe, and I wil cut him off from the mids of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

f The Prophet declareth that God for mans ingratitude reiecteth by false prophets so sendes them that delight in lies rather then in the truth of God, & thus he punisheth sinne by sinne, 1. King. 22. 20, 22. & destroyeth alwell those Prophets as that people. g Thus Gods iudgements against the wicked, are admonitions to the godly to cleaue vnto the Lord, and not to defile themselues with like abominations. h Reade Chap. 4. 16. and 5. 17. Isa. 3. 1.

9 And if the Prophet be f deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shalbe euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of g Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against mee by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, h and wil breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

i Though Noah and Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captiuity with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them, reade Ier. 15. 1. k Meaning, that a very few (which he calleth the remnant, verse 22) should escape these plagues, whom God hath sanctified & made righteous, so that this righteousnes is a signe that they are y church of God, whom he woulde preserue for his own sake.

14 Though these three men, i Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their k righteousnes, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring noysome beastes into the land, and they spoyle it, so that it bee desolate, that no man may passe thorowe, because of beasts, 16 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shalbe waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe thorow the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sons nor daughters, but they onely shalbe deliuered themselues.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast.

20 And though Noah, Daniel, and Iob were in the mids of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither son nor daughter: they shal but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnes.

*Chap. 5. 17.

21 For thus saieth the Lord God, How much more when I send my* foure sore iudgments vpon Ierusalem, euen the sword, and famine, & the noysome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shalbe left a l remnant of them that shall be caryed away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shal come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and yee shall bee comforted concerning the euil that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

l Reade Chap. 5. 3.

23 And they shal comfort you, when ye see their way and their enterprises: and yee shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the a trees of the forest?

a Which bringeth forth no fruit, no more then the other trees of the forest doe: meaning, that of Ierusalem, which bare the name of his Church, did not bring forth fruit, it should be vtterly destroyed.

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any worke? or wil men take a pin of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the mids of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meet for no worke: how much lesse shall it be meet for any worke when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one b fire, and another fire shall consume them: and yee shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them, b Though they escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

8 And when I make the land waste, because they haue greatly offended, saieth the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefites of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnesse. 46 Hee iustifieth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercy is promised to the repentant.

AGaine, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a Thou boastest to be of the seed of Abraham, but thou art degenerate & followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children doe the maners of their fathers. Isa. 1. 4. and 57. 3.

2 Son of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation and thy kinred is of the land a of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy nativitie when thou waſt [b] borne, thy nauill was not cut: thou waſt not waſhed in water to ſoften thee: thou waſt not ſalted with ſalt, nor ſwadled in clouts.

5 None eye pitied thee to doe any of theſe vnto thee, for to haue compaſſion vpon thee, but thou waſt caſt out in the open field to the contempt of thy perſon in the day that thou waſt borne.

6 And when I paſſed by thee, I ſaw thee polluted in thine [c] owne blood, and I ſaid vnto thee, when thou waſt in thy blood, Thou ſhalt liue: euen when thou waſt in thy blood, I ſaid vnto thee, Thou ſhalt liue.

7 I haue cauſed thee to multiplie as the bud of the fielde, and thou haſt increaſed and waxen great, and thou haſt gotten excellent ornaments: thy breaſts are faſhioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou waſt naked and bare.

8 Now when I paſſed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I ſpred my ſkirts ouer thee, and couered [d] thy filthineſſe: yea, I ſware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with [e] thee, ſaith the Lord God, and thou becameſt mine.

9 Then waſhed I thee with [f] water: yea, I waſhed away thy blood from thee, and I [g] anointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee alſo with broidred worke, and ſhod thee with badgers ſkin: and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with ſilke.

11 I decked thee alſo with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke, 12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull [h] crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus waſt thou decked with gold and ſiluer, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and ſilke, and broidred worke: thou didſt eate fine flowre, and honie and oyle, and thou waſt very beautifull, and thou didſt grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was ſpred among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my [i] beautie which I had ſet vpon thee, ſaith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didſt [k] truſt in thine owne beautie, and playedſt the harlot, becauſe of thy renowme, and haſt powred out [l] thy fornications on euery one that paſſed by, thy deſire was to him,

16 And thou didſt take thy garments, and deckedſt thine hie places with diuers colours, [m] and playedſt the harlot thereupon: the like things ſhall not come, neither hath any done ſo.

17 Thou haſt alſo taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my ſiluer, which I had giuen thee, and [n] madeſt to thy ſelfe images of men, and diddeſt commit whoredome with them, 18 And tookeſt thy broydered garments, and couereddſt them: and thou haſt ſet mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate alſo, which I gaue thee, as fine flowre, oyle, and hony, wherewith I fedde thee, thou haſt euen ſet it before them for a ſweete ſauour: thus it was, ſayeth the Lord God.

20 Moreouer, thou haſt taken thy ſonnes and thy daughters, whom thou haſt borne vnto mee, and theſe haſt thou ſacrificed vnto them, to [o] bee deuoured: is this thy whoredome a ſmall matter?

21 That thou haſt ſlaine my children, and deliuered them to cauſe them to paſſe thorow fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou haſt not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou waſt naked and bare, and waſt polluted in thy blood.

23 And beſide all thy wickednеſſe (wo, wo vnto thee, ſaith the Lord God)

24 Thou haſt alſo built vnto thee an high place, and haſt made thee an high place in euery ſtreete.

25 Thou haſt built thine high place at euery ‖ corner of the way, and haſt made thy beautie to bee abhorred: thou haſt opened thy feete to euery one that paſſed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou haſt alſo committed fornication with the [p] Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and haſt increaſed thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore I did ſtretch out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminiſh thine ordinary, and deliuer thee vnto the wil of them that hate thee, euen to the ‖ daughters of the Philiſtims, which are aſhamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou haſt played the whore alſo with the Aſſyrians, becauſe thou waſt inſatiable: yea, thou haſt played the harlot with them, and yet couldeſt not be ſatisfied.

29 Thou haſt moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou waſt not ſatisfied herewith.

30 How weake is thine heart, ſayeth the Lord God, ſeeing thou doeſt all theſe things, euen the worke of a ‖ preſumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildeſt thine high place in the corner of euery way, and makeſt thine high place in euery ſtreete, and haſt not beene as an harlot [q] that deſpiſeth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, b When I firſt brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

c Being thus in thy filthines and forſaken of all men, I tooke thee, & gaue thee life: whereby is meant that before God waſh his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthines & death.

d Theſe words, as blood, pollution, nakednes and filthineſſe are oft times repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cauſe them to conſider what they were before God receiued them to mercie, fauoured them and couered their ſhame.

e That thou ſhouldeſt be a chaſte wife vnto me, and that I ſhould maintaine thee, and endue thee with all graces.

f I waſhed away thy ſinnes.

g I ſanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

h Hereby hee ſheweth how he ſaued his church, enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

i He declareth wherein the dignitie of Ieruſalem ſtood: to wit, in that that the Lord gaue them of his beautie and excellencie.

k In abuſing my gifts, and in putting thy confidence in thine owne wiſedome and dignitie, which were the occaſions of thine idolatrie.

l There was none idolatry ſo vile wherewith thou didſt not pollute thy ſelfe.

m This declareth how the idolaters put their chiefe delight in thoſe things which pleaſe the eyes and outward ſenſes.

n Thou haſt conuerted my veſſels and inſtruments which I gaue thee to ſerue me with, to the vſe of thine idoles.

o Meaning by fire, reade Leuit. 18.21. 2.King. 23.10.

‖ Or, head.

p He noteth the great impietie of this people, who firſt falling from God to ſeeke helpe at ſtrange nations, did alſo at length embrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amitie more ſtrong.

‖ Or, cities.

‖ Or, that will beare rule.

q Meaning, that ſom harlots contemne ſmall rewards, but no louers gaue a reward to Iſrael, but they gaue to all others to commit whoredome, that the idolaters beſtowed all their ſubſtance, which they receiued of God for his glorie, to ſerue their abominations.

and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue giftes to all other whores, but thou giuest giftes vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall be after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because thy ‖ shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them, 37 Behold, therefore I wil gather all [r] thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and al them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

38 And I will iudge thee after the maner of them that are [s] harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shal destroy thine high place, and shall breake downe thine high places: they shall strippe thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a companie against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords, 41 And they * shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So wil I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my [t] ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, behold, therefore I also haue [u] brought thy way vpon thine head, sayth the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, [x] so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy [y] sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children, your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her [z] daughters, that dwel at thy left hand, and † thy yonger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou [a] not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had beene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Beholde this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, [b] Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

50 But they were hautie, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither [c] hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast [d] iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: bee thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe [e] their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the mids of them, 54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest bee confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast [f] comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shal returne to their former state. Samaria also and her daughters shal returne to their former state, [g] when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom † was not heard of [h] by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickednesse was [i] discouered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about [k] her which despise thee on all sides.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination, sayeth the Lord.

59 For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Egles.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable, and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, The great [a] egle with great wings, and long wings and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twig, and caried it into the land [b] of merchants, and set it in a citie of merchants.

5 Hee tooke also of the [c] seede of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, and was [d] like a spreading vine of [e] low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it, so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also [f] another great eagle with great wings & many fethers, and behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, & spred forth her branches toward it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soile by great [g] waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall [h] hee not pull vp the roots thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the roots thereof.

10 Behold, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not bee dried vp, and wither? [i] when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say nowe to this rebellious house, Know yee not, what these things meane? tell them, Beholde, the King of Babel is come to Jerusalem, and hath taken [k] the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the Kings seed, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken [l] an othe of him: hee hath also taken the princes of the land, 14 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But hee rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape, that doth such things? or shall hee breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, hee shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the king, that had made him king, whose oath hee despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oath, and broken the couenant (yet loe, hee had giuen [m] his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine oath that hee hath despised, and my couenant that hee hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 * And I will spread my net vpon him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I wil bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespasse that hee hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall be scattered toward all the winds: and yee shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the top of this [n] hie cedar, and will set it, and cut off the [o] top of the tender plant thereof, and I wil plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughs and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birdes, and euery [p] foule shall dwell in the shadowe of the branches thereof.

m Because he tooke the Name of God in vaine, and brake his oath which he had confirmed by giuing his hand, therefore the Prophet declareth that God would not suffer such periurie and infidelitie to escape punishment.

n This promise is made to the Church which shalbe as a small remnant, and as the top of a tree.

o I will trimme it and dresse it.

p Both Iewes and Gentiles shalbe gathered into it.

q All the world shall know that I haue pluckt downe the proud enemies, and set vp my Church which was lowe and contemned.

24 And all the q trees of the fielde shall knowe that I the Lord haue brought downe the high tree, and exalted the lowe tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the dry tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 He sheweth that euery man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, saluation is promised. 24 Death is propheciedto the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THe word of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying, a The people murmured at the chastisings of the Lord, and therefore vsed this prouerbe, meaning that their fathers had sinned, and their children were punished for their transgressions, reade Jere. 31. 29.

2 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, a The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, yee shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Beholde, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, & also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten b vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, neither hath *defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath † lien with a *menstruous woman, b If he hath not eaten of the flesh that hath bene offered vp to idoles, to honour them thereby.

*Isa. 58. 7. matt. 25. 35.

8 And hath not giuen foorth vpon *vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man,

*Exod. 22. 25. Leuit. 25. 37. deut. 23. 19. psal. 15. 5.

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, he shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is ‖ a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he doe any one of these things,

11 Though he do not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoiled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination, 13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing hee hath done all these abominations, c he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

c He sheweth how the sonne is punished for his fathers fault: that is, if he be wicked as his father was, and doth not repent, he shalbe punished as his father was, or else not.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungrie, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawen his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but hee shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquity of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

*Deut. 24. 16. 2. king. 14. 6. 2. chro. 25. 4.

20 *The same soule that sinneth, shal die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquity of the sonne, but the righteousnes of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednes of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

d He ioyneth the obseruation of the commandements with repentance: for none can repent in deed except he labour to keepe the Law.

21 But if the wicked wil returne from all his sinnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my d statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

‖ Or, not layd to his charge.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be ‖ mentioned vnto him, but in his e righteousnesse that he hath done, he shall liue.

d That is, in the fruits of his faith, which declare that God both accept him.

23 f Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? ‖ or shal he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

f He speaketh this to commend Gods mercy to poore sinners, who rather is ready to pardon, then to punish, as his long suffring declareth, Chap. 33. 11. Albeit God in his eternal counsell appointed the death and damnation of the reprobate, yet the end of his counsell was not their death onely, but chiefly his owne glory. And also because he doth not approue sinne, therefore it is here sayd, that he would haue them to turne away from it, that they might liue.

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his g righteousnes that he hath done, shall not bee mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that hee hath sinned, in them shall he die.

g That is, the false opinion that the hypocrites haue of their righteousnes.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not h equall: heare now, O house of Israel, Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

h In punishing the father with the children.

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, hee shall saue his soule aliue.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shal surely liue, and shal not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes unequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his wayes, sayeth the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not bee your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make [i] you a newe heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

i Hee sheweth that man cannot forsake his wickednesse til his heart bee changed, which is onely the worke of God.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The captiuitie of the Kings of Iudah signified by the Lyons whelpes, and by the Lyon. 10 The prosperitie of the citie of Ierusalem that is past, and the miserie thereof that is present.

THou also, take vp a lamentation for the [a] Princes of Israel,

2 And say, Wherefore lay thy [b] mother as a Lyonesse among the Lyons? shee nourished her yong ones among the Lyons whelpes,

3 And she brought vp one of her whelpes, and it became a Lyon, and it learned to catch the praye, and it deuoured men.

4 The [c] nations also heard of him, and hee was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when shee saw, that shee had waited, and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her [d] whelpes, and made him a Lyon.

9 Which went among the Lyons, and became a Lyon, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured [e] men.

7 And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

8 Then the [f] nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and layd their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

9 And they put him in prison and in chaines, and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voyce should no more bee heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.

10 Thy [g] mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: shee brought foorth fruite and branches by the abundant waters, 11 And shee had strong rods for the sceptres of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and shee appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But she was plucked vp in wrath: shee was cast downe to the ground, and the [h] East winde dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken and withered: as for the rodde of her strength, the fire consumed it.

13 And now shee is planted in the wildernesse in a drie and thirstie ground.

14 And fire is gone out [i] of a rodde of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that shee hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shall bee for a lamentation.

a That is, Iehoaz and Iehoiakim, Iosiahs sonnes, who for their pride and cruelty are compared vnto Lyons.

b To wit, Iehoaz mother, or Ierusalem.

c By Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, 2. King. 23.33.

d Which was Iehoiakim.

e He slew of the Prophets and them that feared God, and rauished their wiues.

f Nebuchadnezzar with his great armie which was gathered of diuers nations.

g He speaketh this in reproch of this wicked king, in whose blood, that is, in the race of his predecessors, Ierusalem should haue bene blessed, according to Gods promise, and flourished as a fruitfull vine.

h Meaning, that the Caldeans should destroy them as the East winde doth the fruit of the vine.

i Destruction is come by Zedekiah, who was the occasion of this rebellion.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that he will answere them when they pray, because of their vnkindnesse. 33 Hee promiseth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the forrest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

AND in the [a] seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of mee? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause [b] them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers.

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day that I chose Israel, and [c] lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then sayd I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, [d] and defile not your selues with the idols of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not heare mee: for none cast away the abominations of [e] their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my [f] Name, that a Of the captiuitie of Iecoiah.

b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them.

c I ware that I would be their God, which maner of othe was obserued from all antiquitie, where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen, acknowledging God to be the author of trueth, and the defender thereof, and also the Iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be trueth.

d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles, Exod. 23.13. psal. 16.4.

e Which thing declareth the wickednesse of mans heart, which iudge Gods seruice by their eyes and outward senses.

f God had euer this respect to his glory, that he would not haue his Name euill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserued, in considence whereof the godly euer prayed, as Exod. 32.12. numb. 14.13.

it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernes.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, *which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue them also my *Sabbaths to bee a signe betweene mee and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wildernesse: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shal liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them *in the wildernesse to consume them.

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the g heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheless, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgments, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my h Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheless, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wildernesse.

18 But I sayd vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your i fathers, neither obserue their manners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene mee and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to do them, which if a man doe, he shal liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernes.

22 Neuertheless I withdrew mine hand, and had respect to my Name that it should not bee polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statuets, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after k their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I l gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne m gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the end that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed mee, though they had before grieuously transgressed against me.

28 n For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweet sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I sayd vnto them, What is the high place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called o Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are yee not polluted † after the maner of your fathers? and commit yee not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your sonnes to passe thorow the fire, you polute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, p I will not answere you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that bee done that commeth into your mind: for ye say, We wil be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood, and q stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, & in my wrath powred out,

34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out,

35 And I will bring you into the r wildernesse of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernesse of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the couenant.

g Who might thereby take an occasion to blaspheme my name and to accuse me of lacke of ability, or elsethat I had sought a meanes to destroy them more commodiously.
h That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gaue themselues to serue me according to their owne fantasies.
i Whereby the holy Ghost confuteth them that say that they wil follow the religion and example of their fathers, and not measure their doings by Gods word, whether they bee approueable thereby or no.
k Meaning, that they set their delight vpon them.
l Because they would not obey my lawes, I gaue them vp to themselues, that they should obey their owne fantasies, as verse 39. rom. 1.21, 24.
m I condemned those things, and counted them as abominable which they thought had bene excellent, and to haue declared most zeale. Luke 16.15. for that which God required as most excellent, that gaue they to their idoles.
n Not euen in the wildernesse when I brought them out of Egypt, but since I placed them in this land. which declareth how prompt mans heart is to idolatrie, seeing that by no admonitions he can be drawen backe.
o Which signifieth an hie place, declaring they vanted themselues of their idolatrie, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had commanded them expressly, that they should haue no altar lifted vp on hie by staires, Exod. 20.26.
† Ebr. in the way.
p He sheweth, that the ingratitude of the people deserueth, that God should cut them off, and that they should not haue the comfort of his word.
q He declareth that man of nature is wholly enemi vnto God and to his owne saluation, and therefore God calleth him to the right way, partly by chastising, but chiefly by his mercie in forgiuing his rebellion and wickednesse.
r I will bring you among strange nations as into a wildernesse, and there will visit you, and so call you to repentance, & then bring the godly home againe, Isa. 65.9.

38 And I will [f] chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against mee: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

[f] Signifying that he will not burne the corne with the chaffe, but chuse out the wicked to punish them when he will spare his.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, [t] Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that yee will not obey mee, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idols.

[t] This is spoken to the hypocrites.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, sayth the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land serue me: there wil I accept them, & there will I require your offerings & the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweet sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein yee haue beene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shal know, that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall yee remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherein ye haue beene defiled, and ye [u] shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off for all your euils, that yee haue committed.

[u] Your owne consciences shall conuict you after that you haue felt my mercies.

44 And ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O yee house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward [x] the South, and prophecie toward the forrest of the field of the South, [x] For Iudah stood South from Babylon.

47 And say to the forrest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I wil kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the [y] greene wood in thee, & all the drie wood: the continuall flame shall not be quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shall be burnt therein.

48 And all flesh shall see that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it shall not be quenched. Then said I, Ah Lord God, they say of mee, Doeth not he speake [z] parables?

[z] The people said that the Prophet spake darkely: therefore he desireth the Lord to giue them a plaine declaration hereof.

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threatneth the sword, and destruction to Ierusalem. 25 Hee sheweth the fall of king Zedekiah. 28 Hee is commanded to prophecie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to destroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

THe word of the Lord came to me againe, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, [a] and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophecie against the land of Israel.

[a] Speake sensibly, that all may vnderstand.

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, & will drawe my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the [b] righteous and the wicked.

[b] That is, such which seeme to haue an outward shewe of righteousnesse, by obseruation of the ceremonies of the Law.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the [c] North,

[c] Meaning, throughout all the land.

5 That all flesh may knowe that I the Lord haue drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy [d] reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

[d] As though thou were in extreme anguish.

7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answere, Because [e] of the bruite: for it commeth, and euery heart shall melt, and all handes shall be weake, and all mindes shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and shall be done, saith the Lord God.

[e] Because of the great noise of the armie of the Caldeans.

8 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sword, a sword both sharpe and fourbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is fourbished that it may [f] glitter: how shall wee reioyce? for it contemneth the [g] rod of my sonne, as [h] all other trees.

[f] And so cause a feare.

[g] Meaning, the sceptre: shewing that he will not spare the king who should be of the Sonne of God, and in his place.

[h] That is, the rest of the people.

11 And hee hath giuen it to be fourbished, that hee may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is fourbished, that hee may giue it into the hand of the [i] slayer.

[i] To wit, vnto the armie of the Caldeans.

12 Cry, and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrors of the sword shall be vpon my people: [k] smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

[k] Reade Jere. 31.19.

13 For it is a triall, [l] and what shall this be, if the sword contemne euen the rodde? It shalbe no more, saith the Lord God.

[l] Ezekiel moued with compassion, thus complaineth, fearing the destruction of the kingdome which God had confirmed to Dauid, and his posteritie by promise: which promise God performeth, although here it seemed to many eye that it should vtterly perish.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and smite [m] hand to hand, and let the sword be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into al their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee [n] alone: go to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hand, whithersoeuer thy face turneth.

[n] Prouide for thy selfe: for thou shalt see Gods plagues on all parts of the countrey.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, and and will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee [o] two wayes, that the sword of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and [p] to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie.

21 And the King of Babel stood at the [q] parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he consulted with idoles, and looked in [r] the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voice with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortresse.

23 And it shall bee vnto them [s] as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: [t] but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should bee taken.

24 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembred, in discouering your rebellion, that in all your works your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that yee are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou [u] prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an end, 26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the [x] diademe, and take off the crowne: this shalbe no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is hie.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shalbe no more vntil he [y] come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou, sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawen foorth, and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they see [z] vanitie vnto thee, and prophecied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an end.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, euen in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, and skilfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the mids of the land, and thou shalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reproued for crueltie. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their vnsatiable couetousnesse. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou [a] iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the mids of it, that her [b] time may come, and maketh idoles [c] against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shedde, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in [d] name and sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee [e] haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 * In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one * hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsury and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, sayth the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I haue [f] smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnesse, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath beene in the mids of thee.

o This was spoken, because that when Nebuchad-nezzar came against Iudah, his purpose was also to goe against the Ammonites: but doubting in the way, which enterprise to vndertake first, he consulted with his soothsayers, and so went against Iudah.

p That is, to the tribe of Iudah that kept themselues in Ierusalem.

q To know whether he should goe against the Ammonites or them of Ierusalem.

r He vsed coniuring and sorcerie.

s Because there was a league betweene the Iewes and the Babylonians, they of Ierusalem shall thinke nothing lesse then that this thing should come to passe.

t That is, Nebuchad-nezzar will remember the rebellion of Zeuckiah, and so come vpon them.

u Meaning, Zedekiah, who practised with the Egyptians to make himselfe big, and able to resist the Babylonians.

x Some referre this to the priests office: for Iehozadek the Priest went into captiuity with the king.

y That is, vnto the comming of Messiah: for though the Iewes had some signe of gouernment afterward vnder the Persians, Greeks and Romans, yet this restitution was not till Christes comming, and at length should be accomplished, as was promised, Gen. 49. 10.

z Though the Iewes & Ammonites would not beleeue that thou, in wit, the sword, should'st come vpon them, and laid that the prophets, which threatned, spake lies, yet thou shalt as surely come, as though thou werest already vpon their neckes.

a Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit vnto thee against Ierusalem, that murdereth the Prophets and them that are godly?

b That is, the time of her destruction.

c To her owne vndoing.

d Whose very name all men hate.

e He meaneth hereby that there was no kind of wickednesse which was not committed in Ierusalem, and therefore the plagues of God should speedily come vpon her.

* Leuit. 20. 11, 18.

* Ierc. 5. 8.

f In token of my wrath and vengeance.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands[g] be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

g That is, able to defend thy selfe.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy[h] filthinesse to cease from thee.

h I will thus take away the occasion of thy wickednesse.

16 And thou shalt take thine [i]inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

i Thou shalt be no more the inheritance of the Lord, but forsaken.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto mee as [k]drosse: all they are brasse, and tin, and yron, and lead in the mids of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

k Which before was most precious.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and lead, and tinne into the middes of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there [l]and melt you.

l Meaning hereby, that the godly should be tryed, and the wicked destroyed.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall bee melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the midst of the fornace, so shal ye be melted in the mids thereof, and yee shall know, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, [m]and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

m Thou art like a barren land which the Lord plagueth with drought.

25 There is a conspiracie [n]of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

n The false prophets haue conspired together to make their doctrine more probable.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane and the cleane, and haue hidde their [o]eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

o They haue neglected my seruice.

27 Her princes in * the mids thereof are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

* Mich.3.11. Zeph.3.3.

28 And her [p]prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

p They which should haue reproued them, flattered them in their vices and couered their doings with lies, Chap.13.10.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoiling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should [q]make vp the hedge, and stand in the gappe before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

q Which would shew himselfe zealous in my cause by rebuking vice, Isa 59.16 and 63.5. and so pray vnto me to withhold my plagues, Psal. 106.23.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendred vpon their heads, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a]mother.

a Meaning, Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one family.

3 And they committed fornication [b]in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their brests prested, & there they bruised the teats of their virginitie.

b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.

4 And the names of [c]them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names, Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her selfe, meaning Samaria which was the royall citie of Israel: and Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Ierusalem where Gods Temple was.

5 And Aholah played the harlot † when [d]shee was mine, and shee was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours, d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God, and put their trust in the Assyrians.

6 Which were clothed with blew silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus shee committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, & with all on whom she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idols.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e]lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

e The holy Ghost vseth these termes which seeme strange to chaste eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatrie so to be abhorred, that vnneth any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and shee had an euill name among women: for [f]they had executed iudgement vpon her.

f Meaning, the Assyrians.

11 And when her sister Aholibah saw this, she marred her selfe with inordinate loue, more then shee, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that shee increased her fornications: for when shee sawe men [g] painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loines, and with died attire vpon their heads, (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativitie)

16 Assoone, I say, as she saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her in the bedde of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and shee was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, and discloled her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredom more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teats were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, [h] Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowmed, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shal come against thee with charets, waggons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and † I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their || iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy [i] nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sworde: they shall cary away thy sons and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest: euen into the handes of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy [k] labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications [l] shalbe discouered, both thy wickednesse, and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her [m] cuppe into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with [n] drunkennesse, and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast mee behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord sayd moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their handes, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their [o] meate.

38 Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of thine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from [p] farre vnto whome a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whome thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And satest [q] vpon a costly bed, and a table

[g] This declareth that no arms are able sufficiently to represse the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here commeth them to those which in their raging loue and filthy lustes flee vpon the images and paintings of them after whom they lust.

[h] These were the names of certaine princes and captaines ouer Nebuchad-nezzar.

† Hbr. I wil giue iudgement before them.

‖ Or, lawes.

[i] They shall destroy thy princes and Priests with the rest of thy people.

[k] All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

[l] All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God to serue idoles.

[m] I will execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, and that with greater seueritie.

[n] Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great that they should cause them to lose their senses, and reason.

[o] That is, to be sacrifices to their idoles, reade Chap. 16. 20.

[p] They sent into other countreys to haue such as should teach the seruice of their idoles.

[q] He meaneth the altar, that was prepared for the idoles.

ble prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voice of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of [r]Saba from the wilderneſſe, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

r Which should teach the maner of worshipping their gods.

43 Then I said vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them, after the maner of [s] harlots and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

s That is, worthy death, reade Chap.16.38.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, & will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoile, 47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that all [t] women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse.

t Meaning, all other cities and countreys.

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

a Of Jeconiahs captiuitie, and of the reigne of Zedekiah, 2. King. 25.1.

A Gaine in the [a] ninth yere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the [b] moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, b Called Tebeth, which conteineth part of December and part of January: in the which moneth and day Nebuchad-nezzar besieged Ierusalem.

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a [c] pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

c Whereby was ment Ierusalem.

4 Gather the [d] pieces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

d That is, the citizens, and the chiefe men thereof.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and ‖ burne also the [e] bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seethe the bones of it therein,

e Meaning, of the innocents, whom they had slaine, who were [f] cause of the kindling of Gods wrath against them.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloodie citie, euen to the pot, [f] whose skumme is therein, and whose scumme is not gone out of it: bring it out [g] piece by piece: let no [h] lot fall vpon it.

f Whose iniquities, and wicked citizens there yet remaine.

g Signifying, that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by little and little.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high [i] rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust, h Spare none estate or condition.

i The city shewed her cruelitie to all the world, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an hie rocke that it should not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, * Woe to the bloody citie, for I will make ‖ the burning great.

*Nah.3.1. habak.2.12.

‖ Or, an heape of wood.

10 Heape on much wood: [k] kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

k Meaning that the citie should be vtterly destroyed, and that he would giue the enemies an appetite thereunto.

11 Then set it emptie vpon the coales thereof, that ‖ the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skumme of it may be consumed.

12 [l] She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skum went not out of her: therefore her skum shall be consumed with fire.

l The citie hath flattered her selfe in vaine.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I would [m] haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

m I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldest not.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will do it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy waies, and according to thy workes shall [n] they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

n That is, the Babylonians.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee the [o] pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe, o Meaning, his wife in whom he delighted, as verse 18.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tire of thine head vpon thee, [p] and put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eate [q] not the bread of men.

p For in mourning they went bare headed and bare footed, and also couered their lips.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in [r] the morning, as I was commanded.

q That is, which the neighbours sent to them that mourned.

r Meaning, the morning following.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will [s] pollute my Sanctuary, euen the [t] pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left shall fall by the sword.

s By sending the Chaldeans to destroy it, as Chap.7.22.

t Wherein you boast and delight.

22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not couer your lips, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire shalbe vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feete: ye shall not

mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, yee shall doe: and when this commeth, yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, & the † desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters?

† Hbr. lifting vp of their soules.

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea, and the Philistims.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophecie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lorde God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saidest, [a] Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie.

a Because ye reioyced when the enemie destroyed my citie and Temple.

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the [b] men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their [c] palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke.

b That is, to the Babylonians.

c They shall chase thee away and take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in.

5 And I will make [d] Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepcote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites, and full of conduits, 2. Sam. 12. 27.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, e So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

9 Therefore, behold, I wil open the side of Moab, euen of the cities [e] of his cities, I say, in his frontiers, with the pleasant country, Bethieshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, & I will cut off the [f] Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the Sea coast.

f Which were certaine garisons of Philistims, whereby they oft times molested the Iewes, of the Cherethims Dauid also had a gard, 2. Sam. 8. 18.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shal know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He prophecieth that Tyrus shall be ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondering and astonishment of the merchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a Either of the captiuitie of Ieconiah, or of the reigne of Zedekiah.

2 Son of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto mee: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be [c] replenished, b That is, the famous citie Ierusalem, whereunto all people resorted.

c My riches and fame shall increase: thus the wicked reioyce at their fall by whom they may haue any profit or aduantage.

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the Sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the middes of the Sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shalbe a spoile to the nations.

6 And

d The townes that belonged vnto her.

6 And her [d] daughters which are in the field, shalbe slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel a King of kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, & he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy wals shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when hee shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streets: hee shall slay thy people by the sword, and the [e] pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

e For Tyrus was much built by art, and by labour of men was wonne out of the sea. Some referre this vnto the images of the noble men which they had erected vp for their glory and renowne.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber, & thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 *Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

*Ierem.7.34.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: [f] thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt bee built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

f I will make thee so bare that thou shalt haue nothing to couer thee.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fal: & at the cry of the wounded, when they shal be slaine and murthered in the mids of thee?

g The gouernours and rulers of other countreys that dwell by the sea: whereby he signifieth that her destructiō should be so horrible, that al the world should heare thereof, and be afraid.

16 Then all the princes of the [g] sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broydered garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amased at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited [h] of the sea men, the renowmed city which was strong in the sea both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

h Meaning, merchants which by their traffique did enrich her wonderfully, and increase her power.

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shal make thee a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited, & when I shal bring the deepe vpō thee, & great waters shal couer thee, 20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people [i] of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not bee inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the [k] liuing.

i Which are dead long agoe.

k Meaning in Iudea, when it shalbe restored.

21 I will ‖ bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

‖ Or, make thee a terrour.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Prophet bewaileth the desolation of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power, and authoritie thereof in time past.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Tyrus,

3 And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entry of the sea, which is the Mart [a] of the people for many yles, Thus saith the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfit beauty.

5 They haue made all thy ship boards of firre trees of [b] Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make mastes for thee.

b This mountaine was called Hermon, but the Amorites called it Shenir, Deut. 3.9.

6 Of the okes of Bashan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy bankes of yuorie, brought out of the yles of [c] Chittim.

c Which is taken for Grecia and Italia.

7 Fine linen with broydred worke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy saile, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah, was thy couering.

8 The inhabitants of Zidon, and Aruad were thy Mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy ‖ pilots.

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy [d] calkers, all the ships of the Sea with their Mariners were in thee to occupie thy merchandise.

d Meaning, that they built the walles of the citie, which is here meant by the ship: and of these were the builders of Salomons Temple, 1. King. 5.18.

10 They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shield and helmet in thee: they set foorth thy beautie.

11 The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles round about, and the [e] Gammadims were in thy towres: they hanged their shields vpon thy walls round about: they haue made thy beautie perfite.

14 They of the house of [b] Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: and the merchandise of many yles were in thine handes: they brought thee for a present [i] hornes, teeth, and peacocks.

16 They of Aram were thy merchants for the multitude of thy ‖ wares: they occupied in thy faires with ‖ emeraudes, purple, and broidered worke, and ‖ fine linnen, and coral, and pearle.

17 They of Judah and of the land of Israel were thy merchants: they brought for thy merchandise wheate of [k] Minnith, and Pannag, and honie and oyle, and ‖ balme.

18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the charets.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar ‖ occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold.

23 They of Haran and Canneh and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sorts of things, in raiment of blew silke, and broyded worke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes, chaines also were among thy merchandise.

25 The shippes of Tarshish ‖ were thy chiefe in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the mids of the Sea.

26 Thy ‖ robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the [l] East winde hath broken thee in the mids of the sea.

27 Thy riches and thy faires, thy merchandise, thy Mariners and Pilots, thy calkers and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all the men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the middes of thee, shall fall in the middes of the Sea in the day of thy ruine.

28 The [m] suburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy Pilots.

29 And all that handle the oare, the Mariners and all the Pilots of the sea shall come downe from their ships, and shall stand vpon the land,

30 And shall cause their voice to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, and wallow themselues in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee, and gird them with sackecloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorrow of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning, they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the mids of the Sea!

33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou didst enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the mids of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the Iles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt be [n] any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The word of God against the King of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that hee will gather together the children of Israel.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, [a] I am a God, I sit in the seat of God in the mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and † though thou didst thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiser then [b] Daniel: there is no secret, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisedome and thine vnderstanding, thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and siluer into thy treasures,

5 By thy great wisedome and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou didst thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, euen the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beautie of thy wisedome, and they shall defile thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and and thou shalt die the death of them that are slaine in the middes of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a God? but thou shalt be a man, and no God in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

c Like the rest of the heathen and infidels, which are Gods enemies.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the [c] vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the King of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of [d] wisedome and perfite in beautie.

d He vnderneth the vaine opinion and confidence that the Tyrians had in their riches, strength and pleasures.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze and the ‖ diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, ‖ emeraude, and the carbuncle and gold: the workemanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art [e] the anoynted Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee [f] in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the middes of the [g] stones of fire.

e He meaneth the royall state of Tyrus, which for the excellencie and glory thereof he compareth to the Cherubims which couered the Arke: and by this worde anoynted he signifieth the same.

f I did thee this honour to make thee one of the builders of my Temple, which was when Hiram sent vnto Salomõ things necessary for the worke.

g To wit, among my people Israel, which shined as precious stones.

15 Thy wast perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast [h] created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

h Which was when I first called thee to this dignitie.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the middes of thee with cruelties, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the [i] mountaine of God: and I wil destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the mids of the stones of fire.

i Thou shalt haue no part among my people.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisedome by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to ỹ ground: I wil lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy [k] sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore wil I bring foorth a fire from the middes of thee, which shal deuoure thee: and I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

k That is, the honour, whereunto I called them.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt bee ‖ a terrour, and neuer shalt thou bee any more.

‖ Or, brought to nothing.

20 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it, 22 And say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be [l] glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shall bee sanctified in her.

l By executing my iudgements against thy wickednesse.

23 For I wil send into her pestilence, and blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the mids of her: [m] the enemy shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

m That is, Nebuchad-nezzar.

24 And they shall bee no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grieuous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shal haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shall bee [n] sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the lande that I haue giuen to my seruant Iaakob.

n He sheweth for what cause God will assemble his Church, and preserue it still, though he destroy his enemies: to wit, that they should praise him, and giue thanks for his great mercies.

29 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyardes: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

He propheseth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fortie yeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour which he tooke against Tyrus.

IN the [a] tenth yere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a To wit, of the captiuitie of Ieconiah, or of the reigne of Zedekiah. Of the order of these prophecies, and how the former sometimes standeth after the latter, reade Jere. 27. 1.

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt,

3 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great [b] Dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

b He compareth Pharaoh to a Dragon which bideth himselfe in the riuer Nilus, as Isa. 51. 9.

4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy chawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I wil draw thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

c I will send enemies against thee, which shall plucke thee and thy people which trust in thee, out of thy sure places.

5 And I wil leaue thee in the wildernesse, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meate to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they haue bene a staffe of [d] reede to the house of Israel.

d Reade 2. Kin. 18. 21. Isa. 36. 6.

7 When they tooke hold of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to ‖stand [c] vpright.

8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because hee hath sayd, [f] The riuer is mine, and I haue made it.

10 Behold, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt vtterly waste and desolate, from the tower of Seueneh, euen vnto the borders of the † blacke Moyes.

11 No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourtie yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countreys, that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, *At the end of fourtie yeres wil I gather the Egyptians from ỹ people, where they were scattered, 14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, & they shall be there a [g] small kingdome.

15 It shalbe the smallest of the kingdoms, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboue the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their [h] iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shal they know, that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the [i] seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his army to serue a great [k] seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had hee no wages, [l] nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and hee shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shalbe the wages of his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued ‖ against it, because they wrought ‖ for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day wil I cause the horne of the house of Israel to grow, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle, and crie, Woe be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shal be broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus sayeth the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of [b] Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shalbe in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe foorth from mee in ships, to make the careless Moyes afraid, and feare shal come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel.

11 For hee and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I wil make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the lande waste, and all that therein is, by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of ‖ Noph, & there shalbe no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I wil make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in ‖ Zoan, and I wil execute iudgement in No.

15 And I wil powre my wrath vpõ ‖ Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I wil destroy the multitude of ‖ No.

16 And

[c] When they felt their hurt, they would stay no more vpon thee, but stood vpon their feete, and put their trust in others.

e Of the captiuitie of Jeconiah or of Zedekiahs reigne.

20 ¶ And in the e eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, f For Nebuchad-nezzar destroyed Pharaoh Necho at Carchemish, Jerem. 46. 26.

21 Sonne of man, f I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: and loe, it shall not be bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it, & so make it strong, to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and will breake g his arme, that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

g His force, and power.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the King of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, & he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him, that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the King of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know that I am the Lord h when I shall put my sworde into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

h Whereby we see that tyrants haue no power of themselues, neither can doe any more harme then God appointeth, and when he will they must cease.

26 And I wil scatter ẏ Egyptians among the nations, & disperse them among the countreys, and they shal know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He prophecieth a like destruction to them both.

a Of Zedekiahs reigne or of Jeconiahs captiuitie.

AND in the a eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth the word of ẏ Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh King of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou b like in thy greatnesse?

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the King of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians ouercame.

3 Beholde, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and hot vp very hie, and his toppe was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, & the deepe exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her c litle riuers vnto all the trees of the ‖ field.

c Many other nations were vnder their dominion.
‖Or, countrey.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beasts of the field bring foorth their young, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden d of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chesnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because ‖ hee is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height,

‖Or, thou wast lift vp.

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the e mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

e That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterward was the Monarch and onely ruler of the world.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are f broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

13 Upon his ruine shal all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field shalbe vpon his branches, 14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height which drinke so much water: for they are al deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus sayeth the Lord God, In the day when hee went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I g couered the deepe for him, and I did restraine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

g The deepe waters that caused him to mourne (meaning, his great abundance & pompe) shall now lament as though they were couered with sackcloth.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, & the best of Lebanon, euen all that are nouriſhed with waters, ſhall [h] be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They alſo went down to hell with him vnto them that bee ſlaine with the ſword, and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his ſhadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom [i] art thou thus like in glory and in greatneſſe among the trees of Eden? yet thou ſhalt be caſt downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou ſhalt ſleepe in the mids of the [k] vncircumciſed, with them that bee ſlaine by the ſword: this is Pharaoh, & al his multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

h To cauſe this deſtruction of the King of Aſſyria to ſeeme more horrible, he letteth foorth other Kings and Princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of ſuch a tyrant.

i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing ſo great as his was.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 Hee propheciеth that deſtruction ſhall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

AND in the [a] twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the firſt day of the moneth the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and ſay vnto him, Thou art like a [b] lyon of the nations, and art as a ‖ dragon in the ſea: thou caſteſt out thy riuers [c] and troubleſt the waters with thy feete, and ſtampeſt in their riuers.

3 Thus ſayeth the Lord God, * I will therefore ſpread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they ſhall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will caſt thee vpon the open fielde, and I will cauſe all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beaſts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy fleſh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleys [d] with thine height.

6 I will alſo water with thy blood the land wherein thou [e] ſwimmeſt, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers ſhalbe ful of thee.

7 And when I ſhall [f] put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the ſtarres thereof darke: * I will couer the ſunne with a cloude, and the moone ſhall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring [g] darkeneſſe vpon thy land, ſaith the Lord God.

9 I will alſo trouble the hearts of many people, when I ſhall bring thy deſtruction among the nations, and vpon the countreys which thou haſt not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make many people amaſed at thee, and their Kings ſhalbe aſtoniſhed with feare for thee, when I ſhall make my ſword to glitter againſt their faces, and they ſhall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord God, The ſword of the King of Babel ſhall come vpon thee.

12 By the ſwordes of the mightie will I cauſe thy multitude to fall: they all ſhall bee terrible nations, and they ſhall deſtroy the [h] pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof ſhall be conſumed.

13 I will deſtroy alſo all the beaſts thereof from the great water ſides, neither ſhall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hookes of beaſt trouble them.

14 Then wil I make [i] their waters deepe, and cauſe their riuers to runne like oyle, ſaith the Lord God.

15 When I ſhall make the land of Egypt deſolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, ſhall be laid waſte: when I ſhal ſmite all them which dwell therein, then ſhall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they ſhall lament her: the daughters of the nations ſhall lament her: they ſhall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, ſayth the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelft yeere alſo in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, ſaying, 18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and [k] caſt them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom doeſt thou paſſe [l] in beautie? go downe and ſleepe with the vncircumciſed.

20 They ſhall fall in the middes of them that are ſlaine by the ſword: [m] ſhe is delиuered to the ſword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The moſt mightie and ſtrong ſhall ſpeake to [n] him out of the middes of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and ſleepe with the vncircumciſed that bee ſlaine by the ſword.

22 Aſſhur is there and all his company: their graues are about him: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſword.

23 Whoſe graues are made in the ſide of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſword, which cauſed feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There is [o] Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſworde which are gone downe with the vncircumciſed into the nether parts of the earth, which cauſed themſelues to bee feared in the land of the [p] liuing, yet haue they borne their ſhame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the ſlaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all theſe vncircuciſed are ſlaine

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 Hee strengtheneth them that despaire, and boldeneth them with the promise of mercie. 30 The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

AGaine the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the lande take a man ‖ from among them, and make him their a watchman,

a Of whereby that the people ought to haue continually gouernours and teachers, which may haue a care ouer them, & to warne them euer of the dangers which are at hand.

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sworde come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, hee is taken away for his b iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

b Signifying that the wicked shall not escape punishment though the watchman be negligent, but if the watchman blow the trumpet, and then he will not obey, he shall deserue double punishment.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the worde at my c mouth, and admonish them from me.

* Chap. 3.17.

c Which teacheth that hee that receiueth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a spie and not a true watchman.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I d require at thine hand.

d The watchman must answere for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

e Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their sinnes, despaire of his mercies, and murmure.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes bee vpon vs, & we are consumed because of them, e how should we then liue?

f Reade Chap. 18.23.

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, f I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from you euill wayes, for why will yee die, O yee house of Israel?

g Reade of this righteousnesse, chap. 18.22, 24.

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The g righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednes of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednes, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall bee no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Againe when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawful & h right, h Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocrisie, which pretend to forsake wickednesse, and yet declare not themselues such by their fruits, that is, in obeying Gods commandements and by godly life.

15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge and giue againe that he had robbed, & walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that, which is lawfull, and right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet

17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall.

* Chap. 18.25.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of [i] our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten.

i When the prophet was led away captiue with Jeconiah.

22 Now the [k] hand of the Lord had bin vpon me in the euening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntill he came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my [l] mouth, I was no more dumbe.

k I was indued with the Spirit of prophesie, Chap. 8.2.

l Whereby is signified that the ministers of God cannot speake till God giue them courage, and open their mouthes, Chap. 24.27. & 29.21. Ephe. 6.19.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, [m] Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

m Thus the wicked thinke themselues more worthy to enioy Gods promises then the Saints of God, to whom they were made: and would binde God to be subiect to them, though they would not bee bound to him.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eat with the [n] blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, & shed blood: should ye then possesse the land?

n Contrary to the Law, Leuit. 17.14.

26 Ye leane vpon your [o] swords: ye worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should yee then possesse the land?

o As they that are ready still to shed blood.

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: & they that be in the forts and in the caues, shal die of the pestilence

28 For I will lay the lande desolate and waste, and the * pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe thorow.

* Chap. 7.24. and 24.21. and 30.6,7.

29 Then shall they knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue laid the lande desolate and waste, because of all their abominations, that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that [p] talke of thee by the walles and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord.

p In derision.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make [q] iests, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

q This declareth that wee ought to heare Gods worde with such zeale and affection, that we should in all points obey it, elle we abuse the word to our owne condemnation, and make of his ministers as though they were iesters to serue mens foolish fantasies.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a || iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, and can sing well: for they heare thy wordes, but they doe them not.

|| Or, pleasant, and loue-song.

33 And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepherds that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promiseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the shepheards of Israel, prophecie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Wo be vnto the [a] shepheards of Israel, that feed themselues: should not the shepheards feed the flocks?

* Iere. 23.1.

a By the shepheards he meaneth the King, the magistrates, Priests, and Prophets.

3 Ye eat the [b] fat, and ye clothe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fedde, but yee feede not the sheepe.

b Ye seeke to enrich your selues by their commodities, and so spoile their riches and substance.

4 The [c] weake haue ye not strengthened, the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue yee bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

c He describeth the office and duetie of a good Pastor, who ought to loue and succour his flocke and not to be cruell toward them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: & when they were dispersed, they were [d] deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

d For lacke of good gouernement and doctrine they perished.

6 My sheepe wandered through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore yee shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fed themselues, and fed not my sheepe, 9 Therefore, heare ye the worde of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shal the shepheards feede themselues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from [e] their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

e By destroying the couetous hirelings, and restoring true shepheards, whereof we haue a signe so oft as God sendeth true preachers who both by doctrine and life labour to feede his sheepe in the pleasant pastures of his word.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath beene among his sheepe that are scattered, scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bin scattered in [f] the cloudie & darke day, 13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreys, and will bring them to their owne lande, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the high mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shal they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake: but I will destroy the fat and the [g] strong, and I will feede them with [h] iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I iudge betweene sheepe, and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eate vp the good [i] pasture, but yee must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture: and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eate that which ye haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, euen I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because yee haue thrust with side and with shoulder, & pusht all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoiled, and I wil iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shall feed them, euen my seruant [k] Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shall bee their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall [l] dwell safely in the wildernesse, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shalbe raine of blessing.

27 And the [m] tree of the fielde shall yeelde her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shalbe safe in their land, & shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselues of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely & none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a [n] plant of renoume, and they shall bee no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And yee my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount [a] Seir, and prophecie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred & hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an end,

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lorde God, I wil prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth,

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hils, and in thy valleis and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not [d] returne, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast saide, [e] These two nations, and these two countreys shall bee mine, and wee will possesse them (seeing the Lord was [f] there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lorde God, I will euen doe according to thy [g] wrath and according to thine indignation which thou

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles 22 The benefits done vnto the Iewes, are to bee ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deseruings. 26 God renueth our hearts, that we may walke in his commandements.

ALso thou sonne of man, prophecie vnto the * mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord.

* Chap. 6. 2.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the [a] enemie hath saide against you, Aha, euen the [b] hie places of the world are ours in possession, a That is, the Idumean.

b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of all the world.

3 Therefore prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that yee might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lippes and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people, c Ye are made a matter of talke and derision to all the world.

4 Therefore yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which [d] haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of al their heart, and with despitefull minds to cast it out for a praye.

d They appointed with themselues to haue it, and therefore came with Nebuchad-nezzar against Ierusalem for this purpose.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the lande of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, & to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the * shame of the heathen.

e Because you haue beene a laughing stocke vnto them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

f By making a solemne othe, reade Gen. 20. 5.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall [g] shoot foorth your branches, and bring foorth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

g God declareth his mercies and goodnes toward his Church, who still preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, & I will turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowen.

10 And I wil multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shalbe builded.

11 And I wil multiplie vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase, and bring fruite, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestow benefites vpon you more then [h] at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

h Which was accomplished vnder Christ, to whom all their temporall deliuerances did direct them.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon [i] you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse ‖ you, and yee shalbe their inheritance, and yee shall no more henceforth depriue them of men.

i That is, vpon the mountaines of Ierusalem.
‖ Or, thee.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou [k] land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people, k This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the land, which God did for the sinnes of the people according to his iust iudgements.

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God, 15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before mee as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shedde in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, & they were dispersed through the countries: for according to their wayes, and according to their deeds, I iudged them.

20 *And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

* Isa. 52. 5. rom. 2. 24.

21 But I fauoured mine holy [l] Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

l And therefore would not suffer my Name to be had in contempt, as the heathen would haue reproued me, if I had suffered my Churches perill.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names ſake, which ye polluted among the heathen whither ye went.

[m] holy

23 And I will ſanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen ſhall know that I am the Lord, ſaith the Lord God, when I ſhalbe ſanctified in you before ‖ their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane [n] water vpon you, and ye ſhall be cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles will I cleanſe you.

26 *A newe heart alſo will I giue you, and a new ſpirit will I put within you, and I will take away the ſtony heart out of your bodie, and I will giue you an heart of fleſh.

27 And I will put my ſpirit within you, and cauſe you to walke in my ſtatutes, and ye ſhall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And yee ſhall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and ye ſhalbe my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will alſo deliuer you from all your filthineſſe, and I will call for [o] corne, and will increaſe it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increaſe of the field, that ye ſhall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then ſhall yee remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and ſhall iudge your ſelues worthy to haue bene [p] deſtroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Bee it knowen vnto you that I do not this for your ſakes, ſaith the Lord God: therfore, O ye houſe of Iſrael, be aſhamed & confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus ſaith the Lord God, What time as I ſhall haue cleanſed you from all your iniquities, I will cauſe you to dwell in the cities, and the deſolate places ſhalbe builded.

34 And the deſolate land ſhall bee tilled, whereas it lay waſte in the ſight of all that paſſed by.

35 For they ſaid, This waſte lande was like the garden of Eden, and theſe waſte and deſolate and ruinous cities were ſtrong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the reſidue of the heathen that are left round about you, ſhall [q] knowe that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the deſolate places: I the Lord haue ſpoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will yet for this be ſought of the houſe of Iſrael, to performe it vnto them: I wil increaſe them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ieruſalem in their ſolemne feaſtes, ſo ſhall the deſolate cities bee filled with flockes of men, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He propheſieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He ſheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and caried me out in the ſpirit of the Lord, and ſet me downe in the mids of the ‖ fielde, which was full of [a] bones.

2 And hee led me round about by them, and beholde, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very drie.

3 And he ſaid vnto mee, Sonne of man, can theſe bones liue? And I anſwered, O Lord God thou knoweſt.

4 Againe hee ſaid vnto me, Propheſie vpon theſe bones, and ſay vnto them, O ye drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God vnto theſe bones, Behold, I will cauſe breath to enter into you, and ye ſhall liue.

6 And I will lay ſinewes vpon you, and make fleſh growe vpon you, and couer you with ſkinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I propheſied, as I was commanded: and as I propheſied, there was a noiſe, and behold, there was a ſhaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the ſinewes, and the fleſh grewe vpon them, and aboue, the ſkinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then ſaid he vnto me, Propheſie vnto the winde: propheſie, ſonne of man, and ſay to the winde, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Come from the foure [b] windes, O breath, & breathe vpon theſe ſlaine, that they may liue.

10 So I propheſied as he had commaunded mee: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and ſtood vp vpon their feet, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael. Behold, they ſay, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore propheſie, & ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cauſe you to come vp out of your ſepulchres, and bring you into the land of Iſrael,

13 And yee ſhall knowe that I am the Lord, [c] when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your ſepulchres,

14 And ſhall put my Spirit in you, and [o] Vnder the abundance of temporall benefits he concludeth the ſpirituall graces.

[p] Be ſhall come to true repentance, and thinke your ſelues vnworthie to be of the number of Gods creatures for your ingratitude againſt him.

[q] He declareth that it ought not to be referred to the ſoyle or plentifulneſſe of the earth that any countrey is rich, and abundant, but onely to Gods mercies, as his plagues, and curſes declare, when he maketh it barren.

‖ Or, valley.

[a] He ſheweth by a great miracle, that God hath power, and alſo will deliuer his people from their captiuitie, in as much as he is able to giue life to the dead bones, and bodies, and raiſe them vp againe.

[b] Signifying, all parts whereas the Iſraelites were ſcattered: that is, the faithfull ſhall bee brought to the ſame vnitie of ſpirit and doctrine, whereſoeuer they are ſcattered thorow the world.

[c] That is, when I haue brought you out of thoſe places, & tokens where you are captiues.

ye ſhal liue, and I ſhal place you in your owne land: then ye ſhal know that I the Lord haue ſpoken it, and perfourmed it, ſaith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying, 16 Moreouer thou ſonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, & write vpon it, Unto Judah, and to the children of Iſrael his companions: then take [d] another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Unto Joſeph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the houſe of Iſrael his companions.

17 And thou ſhalt ioyne them one to another into one tree, and they ſhall bee as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people ſhall ſpeake vnto thee, ſaying, Wilt thou not ſhew vs what thou meanеſt by theſe?

19 Thou ſhalt anſwere them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I wil take the tree [e] of Joſeph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Iſrael his fellowes, and will put them with him, euen with the tree of Judah, and make them one tree, and they ſhall be one in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writeſt, ſhalbe in thine hand, in their ſight.

21 And ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Iſrael from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery ſide, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, * and one king ſhalbe king to them all: and they ſhal be no more two peoples, neither be diuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes.

23 Neither ſhal they be polluted any more with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their tranſgreſſions: but I will ſaue them out of all their dwelling places, wherin they haue ſinned, and wil cleanſe them: ſo ſhall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my * ſeruant ſhall be king ouer them, and they all ſhal haue one ſhepherd: they ſhall alſo walke in my iudgements, and obſerue my ſtatutes, and doe them.

25 And they ſhall dwell in the [f] land, that I haue giuen vnto Jaakob my ſeruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they ſhall dwell therein, euen they, and their ſonnes, and their ſonnes ſonnes for euer, and my ſeruant Dauid ſhalbe their prince for euer.

26 Moreouer, I will make * a couenant of peace with them: it ſhall be an euerlaſting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will ſet my Sanctuary among them for euermore.

27 My Tabernacle alſo ſhalbe with them: yea, I will be their God, and they ſhall bee my people.

28 Thus the heathen ſhall know, that I the Lord doe ſanctifie Iſrael, when my Sanctuary ſhall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 He propheſieth that Gog and Magog ſhall fight with great power againſt the people of God. 21 Their deſtruction.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt [a] Gog, and againſt the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal, and propheſie againſt them,

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal.

4 And I will deſtroy thee and put hookes in thy chawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine hoſte, both horſes, and horſemen, all clothed with all ſorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers, and ſhields, all [b] handling ſwords.

5 They of [c] Paras, of Cuſh, and Phut with them, euen all they that beare ſhield and helmet.

7 Prepare thy ſelfe, and * make thee ready, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are aſſembled vnto thee, & be thou their ſafegard.

8 After many dayes thou ſhalt be viſited: for in the latter yeres thou ſhalt come into the land, that hath bene deſtroyed with the ſword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, which haue long lien waſte: yet ‖ they haue bene brought out of the people, and they ſhall dwell all ſafe.

9 Thou ſhalt aſcend and come vp like a tempeſt, and ſhalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Euen at the ſame time ſhall many things come into thy minde, and thou ſhalt thinke [f] euill thoughts.

11 And thou ſhalt ſay, I will goe vp to the land that hath no walled townes: [g] I will goe to them that are at reſt, and dwell in ſafetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres, nor gates, 12 Thinking to ſpoile the pray, & to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the deſolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattel and goods, and dwel in the mids of the land.

14 Therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel [i] dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloud to couer the land: thou shalt be in the [k] latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my land, that the heathen may know mee, when I [l] shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou hee, of whom I haue spoken in old time, [m] by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophesied in those dayes and yeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall bee a great shaking in the land of Israel,

20 So that the fishes of the Sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the field, and all that mooue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, & the [n] staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him [o] throughout all my mountaines, saieth the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a sore raine and haile stones, fire, and brimstone.

m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not bene aduertised afore time, to teach them to endure all things with more patience when they know that God hath so ordeined.

n All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe shal faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shall be so terrible.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Hee sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shall bee deuoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THerefore thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe Prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee, [a] and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou [b] shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands and the people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes, and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the [c] yles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, [d] it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall [e] goe foorth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forrests: for they shal burne the weapons with fire, and they shall rob those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoyled them, saieth the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog [f] a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shal cause them that passe by, to stop their [g] noses, and there shal they burie Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of ‖ Hamon-Gog.

12 [h] And seuen moneths long shal the house of Israel bee burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shal bury them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the [i] land with them that trauaile, to burie those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauailers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall hee set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall bee ‖ Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

a Or destroy thee with six plagues, as Chap. 38.22.

b Meaning, that by the destruction of Gods word the enemie shalbe destroyed wheresoeuer he assaulteth his Church.

c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsell and cannot be changed.

e After this destruction the Church shal haue great peace and tranquillitie, and burne all their weapons, because they shall no more feare the enemie: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christes kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.

f Which declareth that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall.

g For the stinke of the carkeises.

‖ Or, of the multitude of Gog.

h Meaning, a long time.

i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.

‖ Or, multitude.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: [k] gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that yee may eate flesh, and drinke blood.

k Whereby he signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

18 Ye shall eat the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goats, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beasts of Bashan.

19 And yee shall eate fat till you bee full, and drinke blood, till ye bee drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus yee shall bee filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, sayeth the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layd vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shal know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so foorth.

23 And the heathen shall knowe, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for [l] their iniquitie, because they trespassed against mee: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fel they all by the sword.

l The heathen shall know that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakenesse of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

24 According to their vncleannesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Nowe will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will bee ielous for mine holy Name.

26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies landes, and am * sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

* Chap. 36. 23.

28 Then shall they knowe, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to bee led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuity, in the [a] beginning of the yere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the foureteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day the hand of the Lord was vpon me, and brought me thither.

a The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sorts: for their feasts they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: so that this is to be vnderstood of September.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he mee by ‖ a diuine vision, and set mee vpon a very high mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie toward the South.

‖ Or, visions of God.

3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a [b] man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a reed to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to measure out this building.

4 And the man sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shewe thee: for to the intent that they might bee shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reed.

Vers. 5. The wall that compasseth about the Temple & the courts, as appeareth in the second and in the great figure.

I K This wall did separate the Temple from the city, Chap. 40. 20.

6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh towarde the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the ‖ poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and ‖ the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broad.

7 And euery chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the poste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 Then brought he mee into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirty chambers were vpō the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured hee after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the posts thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood ouer against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, he brought mee toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seuen steps to go vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, & hee measured the South gate according to these measures, 38 And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the posts of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon also they layd the instruments wherewith they slewe the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui, which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubites broad, euen foure square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward, he brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes, sixe cubites broad on the one side, and sixe cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof fortie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entry sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entry seuen cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites, before the Temple. And he said vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, he measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubites round about the house, on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foot high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might bee fastened therein, and not bee fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went rounde mounting vpward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpwarde, round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middes.

8 I saw also the house high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of sixe great cubites.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fiue cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the wideneſſe of twentie cubites round about the house on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West coner, was seuenty cubits broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubits thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubites long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubits long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place towarde the East, was an hundred cubits.

15 And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The posts and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priestes, and the holy things.

Verse 1. Hauing described the length & breath of the Temple, he commeth to the outward court on the North side T. This appeareth in the great figure. He brought mee into the chamber: that is, the row of chambers, which were toward the separate place Westward 1.

THen brought he mee into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought mee into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

Verse 2. He meaneth that the North was an hundreth cubits long X Y. and in breadth fifty B X.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubits which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

Verse 4. This gallerie appeareth in the great figure by this number 12.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

Verse 5. These chambers were contrary fashioned to them of the Temple.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therfore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

Verse 8. So that the wall of the chambers of the outward court and the wall of the inner, was either fiftie cubites, and the whole court an hundreth.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

Verse 9. Vnder these chambers were entries, or doores to passe from one place to another, which are noted euer by Z. in the great figure.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickenesse of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

Verse 10. 11. The chambers P of the East court M. were like to the chambers of the North court.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

Verse 13. Which chambers were in the East gate toward the North and South 3. and toward the separate place or backe building 4. which chambers are called holy, because they were by the Temple.

13 Then said hee vnto mee, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they bee holy chambers, wherein the Priestes that approch vnto the Lord, shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priestes enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approch to those things, which are for the people.

15 Now when hee had made an end of measuring the inner house, hee brought mee foorth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 Hee measured the East side with the measuring rod, fiue hundred reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

17 Hee measured also the North side, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about. ‖ Or, winde.

18 And hee measured the South ‖ side fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 Hee measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth reedes long, and fiue hundreth broad to make a separation paration betweene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple from whence it had before departed. 7 Hee mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 Hee is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward hee brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voice was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

8 Albeit they set their threshold by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwel among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shewe this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednesse, and let them measure the paterne.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priestes of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that [e] kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue mee, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, sayth the Lord God.

e Which obserued the Law of God, and fell not to idolatrie.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuarie, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wooll shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonnets vpon their heads, and shall haue linen breeches vpon their loines: they shall not gird themselues in the sweating places.

19 But when they go forth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to ỳ people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shall not also [f] shaue their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long, but round their heads.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priests and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOreouer when ye shall diuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an [a] holy portion of the land, fiue and twentie thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broad: this shall bee holy in all the borders thereof round about.

a Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests, for the citie and for the prince.

2 Of this there shalbe for the Sanctuary fiue hundreth in length, with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall bee the Sanctuarie, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shalbe the Priestes, which minister in the Sanctuarie which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall bee a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the fiue and twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also ye shal appoint the possession of the citie, fiue thousand broad, and fiue and twenty thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shalbe for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shalbe his possession in Israel: and my Princes shall no more oppresse my people, & the rest of the land shal they giue to ỳ house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus sayth the Lord God, Let it [b] suffice you, O Princes of Israel: leaue of crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayth the Lord God.

b The Prophet sheweth that the heads must be first reformed before any good order can be established among the people.

10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true [c] Ephah, and a true Bath.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantitie, saue that Ephah contained in drie things, that which Bath did in licour, Leuit. 5.11. 1.king. 5.11.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall bee equall: a Bath shall conteine the tenth part of an Homer: and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shall bee after the Homer.

12 *And the shekel shall be twentie Gerahs, and twentie shekels, and [d] fiue & twentie shekels, & fifteene shekels shalbe your Maneh.

*Exod.30.13. leuit.27.25. numb.3.47.

d That is, three score shekels make a weight called Mina: for he teacheth these three parts to a Mina.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oile, ye shal offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make a reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the Prince in Israel.

17 And

17 And it shall be the Princes part to giue burut offerings, and meat offrings, and drinke offrings in the solemne feasts, and in the new Moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel: he shal prepare the sinne offring, & the meate offring, and the burnt offering, and the peace offrings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of [e] the moneth, thou shalt take a young bullocke without blemish, and clense the Sanctuarie.

19 And the Priest shal take of the blood of the sinne offring, and put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the foure || corners of the frame of the Altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

|| Or, Court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred, and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

[*] Exod. 12, 18. Leuit. 23. 5.

21 * In the first moneth, in the fourteenth day of the moneth, yee shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, and ye shall eate vnleauened bread.

22 And vpon that day, shall the Prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seuen dayes of the feast hee shall make a burnt offring to the Lord, euen of seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes without blemish daily for seuen dayes, and an hee goate daily for a sinne offering.

24 And hee shall prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an [f] Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

[f] Reade Exod. 29. 40.

25 In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meat offering, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath, and of the new Moones. 8 Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Verse 1. The inner court gate, 2. Whereunto they went vp by eight steps, as appeareth in the great figure.

THus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shalbe shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new Moone it shall be opened.

2 And the Prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the poste of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offring, and his peace offerings, and hee shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, hee shall goe forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lorde on the Sabbaths, and in the newe Moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the Prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be sixe lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambes [a] a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

[a] That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the newe Moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

7 And hee shall prepare a meate offering, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes [b] according as his hand shal bring, and an Hin of oile to an Ephah.

[b] Meaning, as he shall thinke good.

8 And when the Prince shall enter in, he shal go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, he that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

Verse 9. He that entreth in by the North gate R. shall goe out by the South gate D. and contrary, and in going forward they worshipped in the middes M.

10 And the Prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall goe in when they go in, & when they goe forth, they shall go forth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shal then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offring vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offring for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine floure: this meat offring shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meat offering and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord God, If the prince

Prince gaue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shalbe his to the [c] yeere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the Prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreouer the Prince shall not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but hee shall cause his sonnes to inherite of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 ¶ After, hee brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said hee vnto mee, This is the place where the Priests shall seethe the trespasse offering and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter Court, [e] to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the vtter court, and caused mee to goe by the foure corners of the court: and behold, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fortie cubites long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then said he vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

c Which was at the Iubile, Leuit. 25.9.
d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45.8.
Verse 19. He describeth the Priests chambers, which were at the side of the Temple toward the North: and so commeth to the place, which was on the West side S. which verse 21. is called the vtter court, in respect of the inner court, as also where the people were, was the vtter court in respect of this inner.
e That the people should not haue to doe with those things which appertaine to the Lord, and thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.
Verse 21, The little court in euery corner, was fortie cubites long 7,8. and thirtie broad 8, 9. and 7,9.
Verse 23. About the wals of these little courts, which were as kitchins, were little chambers for the cooks, 10.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple.
13 The coasts of the land of promise, and the diuision thereof by tribes.

Verse 1. The doore of the Temple R. and from vnder the threshold issued out waters, which came out of the South side, and ranne toward the East. Looke in the great figure 11.
a Whereby are meant the spirituall graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the kingdome of Christ.

AFterward he brought me vnto the doore of the house: and behold, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the Altar.

2 Then brought hee me out toward the North gate, & led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought mee through: the waters were to the loines.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a [b] riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he said vnto me, Son of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then said he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and run downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] Sea: they shall run into another Sea, and the [e] waters shalbe wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, whereseeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shal come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the [f] fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto [g] En-eglam, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of [h] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places thereof, and the marises thereof shall not be wholesome: they shalbe made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all || fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruite thereof faile: it shal bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuarie: and the fruit thereof shalbe meate, and the leafe thereof shalbe for || medicine.

13 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord God, This shalbe the border, whereby ye shall inherit the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as well as another: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, & this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shalbe the border [k] of the land toward the North side, from the maine Sea toward Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, & Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shalbe Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the North part.

b Signifying that the graces of God should neuer decrease but euer abound in his Church.
c Meaning, the multitude of them that should be refreshed by the spirituall waters.
d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the world should be full thereof, which is here meant by the Persian sea, or Genezareth, and the Sea called Mediterraneum, Zech. 14.8.
e The waters which of nature are salt and vnwholsome, shalbe made sweete and comfortable.
f Signifying, that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundance, the ministers shall by their preaching winne many.
g Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.
h They shall be here of all sorts; and in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are bred.
i That is, the wicked and reprobate.
|| Or, tree for meate.
|| Or, for bruises and sores.
* Gene. 48. 22.
* Gen. 12.7. and 13.15. and 15. 18. and 26.4. deut. 34.4.
k By the lawe of promise he signified the spirituall land whereof this was a figure.

18 But

18 But the East side shal ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Jorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall be toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of ‖ Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

‖ Or, strife.

20 The West part also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shalbe vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, [1] they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

1 Meaning, that in this spirituall kingdome there should be no difference betweene Iew nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall yee giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOw these are the names of the [a] tribes. From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shalbe a portion for Dan.

a The tribes after that they entred into the land vnder Ioshua, diuided the lands somewhat otherwise then is here set foorth by this vision.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part [b] shalbe the offering which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousand reeds broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuarie shall be in the mids of it.

b That is, the portion of the ground, which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shalbe diuided into three parts: for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of fiue and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priests shall be this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, & toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South fiue & twenty thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shalbe in the mids thereof.

11 It shalbe for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray as the Leuites went astray. * Chap. 44. 15

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shall be theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the city shall be in the middes thereof.

16 And these shalbe the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South part [c] fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

c Meaning, that it should be square.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shall be toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the East two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblatiõ of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shall be fiue and twentie thousand with [d] fiue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

d Euery way shall be fiue and twentie thousand.

21 And the residue shall be for the Prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and West-

Westward ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shalbe in the middes thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the mids shall be the princes: betweene the border [e] of Iudah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Beniamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Isshachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Isshachar from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward [f] Tamah, the border shall be euen from [g] Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the [h] riuer that runneth into the maine sea.

29 This is the land, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, & these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, & foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shal bee after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, and three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Isshachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, fiue hundreth and foure thousande, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shalbe, † The Lord is there.

Daniel.

The Argument.

The great prouidence of God, and his singular mercy toward his Church are most liuely here set foorth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last end of the worlde, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the worlde, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christes office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so hee teacheth heere, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well [f] fauoured, and instruct in all wisedome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stande in the kings palace, and whom they might teach a Reade 2. Kin. 24. 1. & ier. 25. 1.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, & is here taken for Babylon.

c Who was the master of the warres.

d He calleth the Eunuches who the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countries afterward.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shewe himselfe victorious, and also by their good instruction and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and so bee able to serue him as gouernours in their lande: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might bee better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men.

f The King required three things, that they should bee of noble birth, that they should bee wittie and learned, and that they should bee of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice: this hee did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: yet in this hee is worthy praise, that hee esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by.

the [g] learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

5 And the King appointed them [h] prouision on euery day of a portion of the Kings meate, and of the wine which hee drank: so nourishing them [i] three yeere, that at the ende thereof: they might stand [k] before the King.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.

7 Unto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches [l] gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not [m] defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore hee required the chiefe of the Eunuches that hee might not defile himselfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches saide vnto Daniel, [n] I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall yee make mee loose mine head vnto the king.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Proue thy seruants, I beseech thee, [o] ten dayes, and let them giue vs [p] pulse to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenance of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: [q] as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So hee consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of tenne dayes, their [q] countenances appeared fayrer and in [t] better liking then all the children, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning [r] and wisdome: also hee gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all [s] visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was [t] expired, that the King had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them al was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the King.

20 And in al matters of wisedome, and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, he found them tenne times better then all the inchanters and Astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto [u] the first peere of king Cyrus.

HAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slain because they could not interprete his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king & sheweth him his dream & the interpretation therof. 44 Of the euerlasting kingdom of Christ.

AND in the [a] second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed [b] dreames wherewith his spirite was [c] troubled, and his [d] sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the King commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sorcerers and the [e] Caldeans for to shew the King his dreames: so they came and stoode before the King.

3 And the king said vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirite was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the [f] Aramites language, O king, liue for euer: shew thy seruants thy dreame, and wee shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the King answered and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye [g] shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shall bee made a iakes.

6 And if yee declare the dreame & the interpretation thereof, yee shall receiue of mee giftes and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey facions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, insomuch that he would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.

h That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people.

i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and also their tongue.

k Aswell to serue at the table, as in other offices.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation, and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist.

m Not that he thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward he did eat) but because the king should not entise him by this sweete poyson to forget his religion and accustomed sobrietie, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shew how God from the beginning allured him with his Spirit, & at length called him to be a Prophet.

n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he reprehendeth them, which are of no religion: for neither he would condemne theirs nor maintaine his owne.

o Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the triall, and that no man should be able to discerne it: and thus he spake, beeing moued by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate beintie meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby beene worne to the King and haue refused their owne religion, that meat and drinke had beene accursed.

q This hare keeping and that also of Moses when hee flenge from the court of Egypt, declareth that wee must liue in such sobriete as God doth call vs vnto, seeing hee will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all deintes: for his blessing onely sufficeth.

r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall artes which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.

s So that he only was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames & visions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12, 6.

t Of the three yeres aboue mentioned verse 5.

u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common wealth stood.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name: for that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.

b Not for he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame, that he had not had the like.

d He was so heauie with sleepe, that he began to sleepe againe. Some read, and his sleepe was broken from him.

e For all their Astrologers and sorcerers called themselues by this name of honour as though all the wisedome and knowledge of the country depended vpon them, and that all other countreis were voyde of the same.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, saue it seemed to bee more eloquent, and therefore the learned vse to speake it: as the Iewish writers doe to this day.

g This is a iust reward of their arrogancie (which vaunted of themselues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should bee proued fooles, and that to their perpetuall shame and confusion.

7 They answered againe, and saide, Let the King shewe [h] his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered, and sayd, I knowe certainely that yee † would gaine the time, because ye see þ thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before mee till the time bee changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know if yee can declare mee the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and saide, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor prince nor Lord that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angry and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they [i] sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the Kings ‖ chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, hee answered and sayde vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that hee would giue him leasure, and that hee would shewe the King the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, *The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisedome and strength are his.

21 And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisedome vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in the darkenesse, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen mee wisedome and [m] strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and said thus vnto him, Destroy not [n] the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue founde a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the Astrologians, the Inchanters, nor the Soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in [o] heauen that reueileth secretes, and sheweth the king Nebuchad-nezzar what shall be in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reueileth secrets, telleth thee, what shall come.

30 As [p] for me, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisedome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the king the interpretation, & that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and behold there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stoode before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] golde, his brest and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer, and the golde broken all together, h Herein appeares their ignorance, that notwithstanding their braggs, yet were they not able to tell the dreame except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but mere ignorance, and so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die.

† Ebr. redeeme the time.

i Which declareth that God would not haue his seruants ioyned in the companie of these sorcerers, and Astrologers, whose arts were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the king did it vpon a rage, and no zeale.

‖ Or, the captaine of the garde.

*Psal. 113. 2. and 115. 18.

k He sheweth that man hath neither wisedome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes, & ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth only of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promise, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interpret it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as verse 13. and the rest at Daniels offer, were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoureth their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie, because the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering if their science were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason and arte is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth the king with a certaine feare and reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receiue the hie mysteries, that should be reuealed.

p Because he had said that God onely must reueale the signification of this dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and therefore he sheweth, that he was but Gods minister, and had no giftes, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

q By golde, siluer, brasse, and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian, and Romane kingdome, which should successiuely rule al the worlde til Christ (which is here called the stone) came himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not ende with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the comming of Messiah, which should bee at the end of this fourth monarchie.

and became like the chaffe of ỳ ſomer floures, and the wind caried them away, that no place was found foꝛ them: and the ſtone that ſmote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dꝛeame, and wee will declare befoꝛe the King the interpꝛetation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a king of Kings: foꝛ the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and ſtrength, and glozy.

38 And in all places where the childꝛen of men dwell, the beaſtes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen hath hee giuen into thine hande, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all thou art [r] this head of golde.

39 And after thee ſhall riſe another kingdome, [ſ] inferiour to thee, of ſiluer, and another [t] third kingdome ſhalbe of bꝛaſſe, which ſhall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome ſhalbe ſtrong as yꝛon: foꝛ as yꝛon bꝛeaketh in pieces, and ſubdueth all things, and as yꝛon bꝛuiſeth all theſe things, ſo ſhall it bꝛeake in [u] pieces, and bꝛuiſe all.

41 Whereas thou ſaweſt the feete & toes, part of potters clay: and part of yꝛon: the kingdome ſhalbe [x] diuided, but there ſhal be in it of the ſtrength of ỳ yꝛon, as thou ſaweſt the yꝛon mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were part of yꝛon, and part of clay, ſo ſhall the kingdom be partly ſtrong, and partly bꝛoken.

43 And where as thou ſaweſt yꝛon mixt with clay, and earth, they ſhall mingle themſelues with [y] the ſeede of men: but they ſhall not ioyne one with another, as yꝛon cannot bee mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of theſe Kings, ſhall the God of heauen ſet vp a kingdome, which [z] ſhall neuer be deſtroyed: and this kingdome ſhall not be giuen to another people, but it ſhall bꝛeake and deſtroy all theſe kingdomes, and it ſhall ſtand foꝛ euer.

45 Where as thou ſaweſt, that the [a] ſtone was cut of the mountaine without handes, and that it bꝛake in pieces the yꝛon, the bꝛaſſe, the clay, the ſiluer, and the gold: ſo the great God hath ſhewed the King, what ſhall come to paſſe hereafter, and the dꝛeame is true, and the interpꝛetation thereof is ſure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, & [b] bowed himſelfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they ſhoulde offer meate offrings, and ſweete odours vnto him.

47 Alſo the king anſwered vnto Daniel, and ſaid, I know of a trueth that your [c] God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reueiler of ſecrets, ſeeing thou couldeſt open this ſecret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great [d] giftes. Hee made him gouernour ouer the whole pꝛouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wiſe men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel * made requeſt to the King, & he ſet Shadꝛach, Meſach, & Abednego ouer the charge of the pꝛouince of Babel: but Daniel ſate in the [f] gate of the King.

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdome of the Aſſyrians, which was befoꝛe the Babylonian, both becauſe it was not a monarchie and generall empire, and alſo becauſe he would declare the things, that were to come to the comming of Chꝛiſt, foꝛ the comfoꝛt of the elect among theſe wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, becauſe in reſpect of the other thꝛee, it was the beſt, and yet was of it ſelfe wicked and cruell.

ſ Meaning, the Perſians which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, and riches, but were woꝛſe touching ambition, cruelty, and all kinde of vice: ſhewing, that the woꝛld ſhould gꝛow woꝛſe and woꝛſe, till it was reſtoꝛed by Chꝛiſt.

t That is, of the Macedonians ſhalbe of bꝛaſſe, not alluding to the hardneſſe thereof, but to the vtleneſſe in reſpect of ſiluer.

u That is, the Romane empire ſhall ſubdue all theſe other aforenamed, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

x They ſhall haue ciuill warres and continuall diſcordes among themſelues.

y They ſhall by marriages and affinities thinke to make themſelues ſtrong: yet ſhal they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpoſe is to ſhew, that all the kingdomes of the woꝛld are tranſitoꝛie, and that the kingdome of Chꝛiſt ſhall onely remaine foꝛ euer.

a Meaning Chꝛiſt who was ſent of God, and not ſet vp by man, whoſe kingdome at the beginning ſhould be ſmall and without beautie to mans iudgement, but ſhould at length gꝛow & fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine as verſe 35. And this kingdome, which is not onely referred to the perſon of Chꝛiſt, but alſo to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, ſhalbe eternall: foꝛ the Spirit that is in them, is life eternall. Rom. 8. 10.

b Though this humbling of the King ſeeme to deſerue commendation, yet becauſe he ioyned Gods honour with the Pꝛophets, it is to be repꝛoued, and Daniel herein erred, if he ſuffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admoniſhed him of his fault, and did not ſuffer it.

c This confeſſion was but a ſudden motion, as it was alſo in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27. 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared ſoone afterward.

d Not that the Pꝛophet was deſirous of giftes oꝛ honour, but becauſe by this meanes he might relieue his pooꝛe bꝛethren which were grieuouſly oppreſſed in this their captiuitie, and alſo he receiued them, leſt he ſhould offend this cruell king, which willingly gaue them.

e He did not this foꝛ their priuate pꝛofit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue ſome releaſe and eaſe by this benefite.

f Meaning, that either hee was a iudge, oꝛ that he had the whole authoꝛitie, ſo that none could bee admitted to the kings pꝛeſence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The King ſetteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accuſed becauſe they deſpiſed the kings commandement, & are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 36 Nebuchad-nezzar confeſſeth the power of God after the ſight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the King made [a] an image of golde, whoſe height was thꝛeeſcoꝛe cubites, and the bꝛeadth thereof ſixe cubites: he ſet it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the pꝛouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King ſent foꝛth to gather together the nobles the pꝛinces and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counſellers, the officers, and al the gouernoꝛs of the pꝛouinces, foꝛ that they ſhould come to the [b] dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the [c] King had ſet vp.

3 So the nobles, pꝛinces and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counſellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the pꝛouinces were aſſembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had ſet vp: and they ſtood befoꝛe the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had ſet vp.

4 Then an herald cried aloude, Vee it knowen to you, O people, [d] nations, and languages, a Vnder pꝛetence of religion, and holineſſe in making an image to his idole Bel, he ſought his owne ambition and vaine glozy: and this declareth, that he was not touched with the true feare of God befoꝛe, but that he confeſſed him on a ſudden motion, as the wicked when they are ouercome with the greatneſſe of his woꝛkes. The Greeke interpꝛeters write, that this was done eighteene yeeres after the dꝛeame, and as may appeare, the King feared leſt the Iewes by their religion ſhould haue altered the ſtate of his common wealth, and therefoꝛe bee went to bꝛing all to one kinde of religion, and ſo rather, ſought his owne quietneſſe, then Gods glozy.

b Shewing, that the idole is not knowen foꝛ an idole ſo long as hee is with the woꝛkeman: but when the ceremonies and cuſtomes are recited and vſed, and the conſent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god.

c This was ſufficient with the wicked at all times to appꝛoue their religion, if the Kings authoꝛitie were alleaged foꝛ the eſtabliſhment theꝛof, not conſidering in the meane ſeaſon what Gods woꝛd did permit.

d Theſe are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vſeth to fight againſt the children of God, the conſent of the multitude and the cruelty of the puniſhment: foꝛ though ſome feared God, yet the multitude which conſented to the wickedneſſe, aſtonied them: and here the King required not an inward conſent, but an outward geſture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to foꝛget their true religion.

5 That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, yee fall downe & worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre bee cast into the middes of an hote firie fornace.

7 Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe and worshippe the golden image, 11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should bee cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, [e] Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commaundement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commaunded that they should bring Shadrach Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the King.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worshippe the golden image, that I haue set vp?

15 [f] Now therefore are yee readie when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worshippe it not, yee shall bee cast immediatly into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchadnezzar, wee [g] are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Beholde, our God whom wee serue, is [h] able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and he will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, bee it knowen to thee, O king, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen [i] times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornace.

21 So these men were bounde in their coates, their hosen and their cloakes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fiery fornace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commandement was straite, that the fornace should bee exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slewe those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fierie fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and said vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And he answered and saide, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, & the forme of the fourth is like the [k] sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, and spake and saide, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, the seruants of the high God, go forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego [l] came forth of the mids of the fire.

27 Then the Nobles, Princes & Dukes, and the Kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and saide, [m] Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednngo, who hath sent his Angell, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any [n] blase It seemeth, that they named not Daniel because he was greatly in the Kings fauour, thinking if these three had bin destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

g For they should haue done iniurie to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first on the power, and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, & the testifying of the true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to Idolatry.

i This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience and constancie to abide the crueltie of their punishment: for either he deliuereth them from death or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the king called this Angell, whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time was appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth.

m He was moued by the greatnes of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be auoyned without this which there can be no faith.

n blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be drawne in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the o world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders! p his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

n If this heathen King moued by Gods Spirit would not see blasphemie vnpunished, but make a lawe and set a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that professe religion, take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

o Meaning so farre as his dominion extended.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud King he should become as a beast. 31 After, he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at a rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Sawe a b dreame, which made mee afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto mee the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans, & the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but c they could not shewe me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was d Beltesshashar, according to the name of my God, which hath the spirite of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Beltesshazzar, e chiefe of the inchanters, because I knowe, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed, And beholde, I sawe a f tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, & the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire and the fruit thereof much, & in it was meat for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

a There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which he saw of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what ỹ dreame was and what it meant: and here he onely expounded the dreame.

c In that that he sent abroad to others whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessitie, and then they spare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.

e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbred among the sorcerers and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word. f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a King, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinde of men, and whose state is profitable for mankinde.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, g a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cried aloude, and said thus, Hewe downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a bande of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the field.

13 h Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beastes heart bee giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 i The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomesoeuer hee will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Beltesshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shew mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holie gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Beltesshazzar) held his k peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the king spake and saide, Beltesshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor ỹ interpretation thereof trouble thee. Beltesshar answered and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof thorough all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all, vnder the which the beastes of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnes is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Where as the king sawe a watchman, and an holy one, that came down from heauen, and said, Hewe downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither sleepeth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to doe Gods will, and is not infect with mans corruption, but is euer holie: and in that that he commandeth to cut downe to this end, he knewe that it should not be cut downe by man, but by God.

h Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar, should not onely for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast.

i God hath decreed his iudgement and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselues against God.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he saw ordeined against the king: and to the Prophets bind on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.

let it be wet with the deaw of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, [l] till seuen times passe ouer him, 21 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the most Hie, which is come vpon my lord the king, 22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grasse as the [m] oxen, and they shal wet thee with the dew of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, til thou know, that [n] the most Hie beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will.

23 Whereas they sayde, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and [o] breake off thy sins by righteousnes, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there be an [p] healing of thine errour.

25 All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue [q] moneths, hee walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the King spake and sayde, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for y house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiesty?

28 While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shal passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, & did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his hayres were growen as Eagles feathers, and his nayles like birds clawes.

31 And at the ende of these [r] daies I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto mee, and I gaue thankes vnto the most High, and I praysed and honoured him, that liueth for euer, *whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his [s] will he worketh in the army of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beauty was restored vnto me, and my counsellours [t] and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar [u] praise, and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

l Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weeks: but it seemeth he meant of yeres.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but y he was either stricken mad, and so auoided mans company, or was cast out for his tyranny, and so wandred among the beasts & ate herbs and grasse.

n Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.

o Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sinnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shewe by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

p Suffer the errors of thy former life to bee redressed.

q After that Daniel had declared this vision: and this his yrke declareth that it is not in man to conuert to God except his spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

r When the terme of these seuen yeres was accomplished.

* Chap. 7. 14. mich. 4. 17. luke 1. 33.

s He confesseth Gods will to be the rule of all iustice, and a most perfit law whereby he gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, so that none ought to murmure, or aske a reason of his doings, but only to stand content therewith, & giue him the glory.

t By whom it seemeth that he had bene put from his kingdome before.

u He doeth not onely praise God for his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault that God may onely haue the glory and man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar king of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the king, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The king is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

KIng [a] Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine [b] before the thousand.

a Daniel reciteth this history of king Belshazzar Euilmerodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgements against the wicked for the deliuerance of his Church, and how the prophesie of Jeremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuenty yeres.

b The kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone commonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and note to shew his power, and how little he set by his enemy which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemne banquet, and vsed excesse in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent, when their destruction is at hand.

2 And Belshazzar ‖ whiles hee tasted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his [c] father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Jerusalem, that the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

‖ Or, ouercome with wine.

c Meaning, the grandfather.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of y Lords house at Jerusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They drunke wine & praysed the [d] gods of gold, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

d In contempt of the true God.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer [e] against the candlestick vpon the plaister of the wall of the Kings palace, and the King saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

e Meaning, directly.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loines were loosed, & his [f] knees smote one against the other.

f He that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements. g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

7 Wherefore the King cryed lowde, that they should bring [g] the Astrologians, the Caldeans and the Soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayde to the wise men of Babel, they prayed their idoles, not that they thought that the golde or siluer were god but that there was a certaine vertue, and power in them to doe them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters. e That it might the better be seene.

Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of gold about his neck, and shalbe the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither read the writing, nor shew the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Now the [h] Queene by reason of the talk of the king and his princes, came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, & said O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding, and wisedom like the wisedom of ỹ gods was found in him: whome the King Nebuchadnezzar thy father the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the [i] inchanters, astrologians, Caldeans and soothsayers,

12 Because a more excellent spirit & knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whome the King named Beltesshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and sayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuity of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewry?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that [k] the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisedome is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and astrologians haue bene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shew me the interpretation therof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldst shew interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew mee the interpretation therof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The most Hie God gaue vnto [l] Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiesty, & honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whome he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till hee knew, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that hee appoynteth ouer it, whomsoeuer hee pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, 23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lorde of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy Princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praysed the gods of siluer and gold, of brasse, yron, wood, and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 [m] Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, [n] MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found ‖ too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of gold about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius [o] of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeere olde.

h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

i Reade Chap. 4.6 and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vse these vile practises, because he was not among them when all were called.

k For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophecie and vnderstanding came of them.

l Before he read the writing, he declared to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderfull work toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doeth not it of ignorance, but of malice.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

n This word is twise written for the certainty of the thing: shewing that God hath most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

‖ Or, wanting.

o Cyrus his son in law gaue him this title of honor although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An acte against Daniel. 16 Hee is put into a denne of Lyons by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the Lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

It

a Reade after Chap.1.1.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome [a] an hundred and twenty gouernors, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whome Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accounts vnto them, and the king should haue no domage.

‖Or, not bee troubled.

3 Now this Daniel [b] was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

b This heathen king preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles & familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and the gouernours [c] sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occasion nor fault: for hee was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedy then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

5 Then sayde these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernors went together to the king, and saide thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernors, the counsellers & dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king, and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shal aske a petition of any god or man for thirty dayes, saue of thee, O king, hee shall be cast into the den of lyons.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed according to the Law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

d Herein is condemned the wickednes of ỳ king, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

9 Wherefore King Darius [d] sealed the writing and the decree.

e Because he would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Jerusalem when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people, when they should pray toward that Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deed for these few dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel vnderstood that hee had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, & his [e] window being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as he did afore time.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came and spake vnto the king concerning ỳ kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree that euery man that shall make request to any God or man within thirty daies saue to thee, O king, shalbe cast into the denne of lyons? The king answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the law of ỳ Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Judah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, hee was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him: and he laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

f Thus the wicked maintaine euill lawes by constancy & authority, which is oft times either lightnesse or stubburnesse, when as the innocents thereby perish: and therefore gouernors neither ought to feare, nor be ashamed to breake such.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and spyd vnto the King, Understand, O king, that the law of the Medes & Persians is that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be [f] altered.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

16 ¶ Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the king spake and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layd vpon the mouth of the den, and the King sealed it with his own signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

h My iust cause and vprightnes in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approued of God.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musicke brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

i For he did disobey the Kings wicked commandement to obey God, and so did no iniury to the king, who ought to command nothing whereby God should be dishonored.

19 ¶ Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lyons.

k Because he committed himselfe wholly vnto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him, wherein we see the power of faith, as Ebr. 11.33.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cried with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and the King spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God, (whom thou alway seruest) [g] able to deliuer thee from the lyons?

l This is a terrible example against all the wicked, which no against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, & also admonisheth princes how to punish such, when their wickednesse is come to light: though not in euery poynt or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

21 Then sayd Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lions mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee: for [h] my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done [i] no hurt.

m This proueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was couerted: for then he would haue destroyed all superstition & idolatry, and not only giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused 23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he [k] beleeued in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the king these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were [l] cast into the den of lyons, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the mastry of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto al people, nations & languages, that dwel in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare [m] before the God of Daniel: for hee is the [n] liuing him to bee honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderful miracle. n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

God

God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shal not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting.

27 Hee rescueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, & in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: [a] then hee wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the foure winds of the heauen stroue vpon [b] the great sea.

3 And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a [c] lion, and had egles wings: I beheld, till the wings therof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a [d] beare & stood vpon the [e] one side: and he had three ribs in his [f] mouth betweene his teeth, & they sayd thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this I beheld, and loe, there was an other like a [h] leopard, which had vpon his backe [i] foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heades, and [k] dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I saw in the visions by night, and behold, the [l] fourth beast was fearefull and terrible, and very strong. It had [m] great yron teeth: it deuoured & brake in pieces and stamped [n] the residue vnder his feet: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had [o] ten hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another litle [p] horn, before whome there were [q] three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne were [r] eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the [s] thrones were set vp, and the [t] Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fiery streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and ten thousand [u] thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the [x] bookes opned.

11 Then I beheld, [y] because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I beheld euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As [z] concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I behelde in visions by night, behold, [a] one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and [b] approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him [c] dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was [d] troubled in my spirit in the mids of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto [e] one of them a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnes after these seuentie yeeres, as Jeremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore incouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vttered & reuealed, by whom they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world and at sundry times.

c Meaning, the Assyrian and Caldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authority, although they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart. d Meaning, the Persians, which were barbarous and cruell. e They were small in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines, and had no bruite. f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable. g To wit, the Angels by Gods commaundement, who by this meanes punished the ingratitude of the worlde. h Meaning, Alexander the King of Macedony. i That is, his foure chiefe Captaines, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Callander, and after him Antipater was King of Macedony, and Ptolemeus had Egypt. k It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that he gate all these countries: for his army contained but thirty thousand men, and he ouercame in one battell Darius, which had ten hundred thousand, when he was so heauy with sleepe that his eyes were scarce open, as the Storie report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romane empire, which was as a monster, and could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyranny and greedinesse of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countries, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberality is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feet. o That is, sundry and diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King.

p Which is meant of Julius Cesar, Augustus, Cyberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, and also in this prophesie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Jewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the liberty of chusing the deputies to send into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernment of certaine countries to himselfe.

r These Romane Emperours at the first vsed a certaine humanitie and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls and Senate, should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the profite, and therefore in Elections and Counsels would behaue themselues according as did other Senatours: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is heere meant by the proud mouth.

s Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should begin at the first comming of Christ. t That is God, which was before all times, and is heere described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory. u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commaundement. x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainely reuealed by his Gospel. y Meaning, that he was astonied, when hee sawe these Emperours in such dignitie and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations. z As the three former Monarchies had an ende at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enioy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the Sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his Diuinitie. b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine Maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour. c This is meant of the beginning of Christes kingdome when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee should gouerne here his Church in earth continually, till the time that hee brought them to eternall life. d Through the strangenesse of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

that stoode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he told me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth, 18 And they shal take the [f] kingdom of the Saints of the most High, which shal possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so [h] vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nayles of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the [i] residue vnder his feet.

20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fel, and of the horne that had eyes, & of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose [k] looke was more stoute then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same [l] horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Until [m] the Ancient of daies came, and iudgment was giuen to the Saints of ỹ most hie: and the time approched, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shal be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shalbe vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdom are ten kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shalbe vnlike to the first and he shall subdue [n] three kings,

25 And shall speake wordes against [o] the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and think that he may [p] change times and lawes, and they shall bee giuen into his hand, vntil a [q] time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the [r] iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the [s] kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and all [t] powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many [u] cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

f Because Abraham was appointed heyre of al the world, Rom. 4. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts of tyrants shoulu inuade and vsurp vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length.

g That is, of the most high things, because God hath chosen them out of this world, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romane empire by Consuls: the Romanes changed their gouernors yerely, and the other Monarchies retained them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues.

i Reade verse 7.

k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning, the Romane Emperours, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospell gaue vnto him some rest, and so obtained a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, & the kingdome of God.

n Reade the exposition hereof ver. 8.

o That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamations against Gods worde, and send throughout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it.

p These Emperors shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tyberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length he will asswage these troubles and shorten the times for his elects sake, Mat. 24. 22. which is here meant by the diuiding of time.

r God by his power shal restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe.

s Be cheerful therefore the beast should be destroied, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnes, which though they doe not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, Vnder the heauen: & therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

t That is, foure of euery sort that beare rule.

u Though he had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously; yet he was content with that which God reuealed, & kept it in his mind, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goat. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the third yere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto me Daniel, [a] after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince [b] of Elam, and in a vision mee thought I was by the riuer of Ulai.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuer a [c] ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were high: but one was [d] higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 And I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no [e] beasts might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he liked, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, [f] a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: & this goat had an [g] horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he [h] smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that [k] appeared toward the foure winds of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth [l] a little horne, which waxed very great toward the [m] South, and toward the [n] East, and a After the generall vision he commeth to certaine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchy of the Persians and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.

c Which represented the kingdome of the Persians and Medes which were ioyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in law.

e That is, no Kings or nations.

f Meaning Alexander that came from Grecia with great speed and expedition.

g Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignity of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.

h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundry battels, & so had the two kingdoms of the Medes and Persians.

i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, & so died by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteene yere there were fifteen diuers successors before this monarchy was diuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus, Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, & Ptolemeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was a seruile and flattering nature, & also there were other betweene him and the kingdom, and therefore is here called the little horne, because neither princely condition nor any other thing was in him, why he should obteine this kingdome.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Whereby he meaneth Ptolemais.

toward the [o] pleaſant land.

10 Yea, it grew vp vnto the [p] hoſte of heauen, and it caſt downe ſome of the hoſte, and of the ſtarres to the ground, and trode vpon them.

11 And extolled himſelfe againſt the [q] prince of the hoſte from whome the [r] daily ſacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was caſt downe.

12 And [s] a time ſhalbe giuen him ouer the daily ſacrifice for the iniquity: and it ſhal [t] caſt downe the trueth to the ground, and thus ſhall it doe, and proſper.

13 Then I heard one of the [u] Saints ſpeaking, and one of the Saints ſpake vnto a certaine one, ſaying. How long ſhall endure the viſion of the daily ſacrifice, and the iniquity of the [x] deſolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the [y] army vnder foot?

14 And [z] he anſwered me, Vnto the [a] euening and the morning, two thouſand and three hundred: then ſhal the Sanctuary be cleanſed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had ſeene the viſion, and ſought for the meaning, beholde, there ſtood before me [b] like the ſimilitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Vlai, which called and ſayde, Gabriel, [c] make this man to vnderſtand the viſion.

17 So he came where I ſtood: and when he came, I was afrayd, and fell vpon my face: but he ſayd vnto me, Vnderſtand, O ſonne of man: for [d] in the laſt time ſhall be the viſion.

18 Now as he was ſpeaking vnto mee, I being aſleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and ſet me vp in my place.

19 And he ſayd, Behold, I will ſhew thee what ſhall be in the laſt [e] wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it ſhall come.

20 The ramme which thou ſaweſt hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Perſians.

21 And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the firſt King.

22 And that that is broken, and foure ſtoode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which ſhall ſtande vp [f] of that nation, but not [g] in his ſtrength.

23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious ſhall bee conſumed, a King of [h] fierce countenance, and vnderſtanding darke ſentences, ſhall ſtand vp.

24 And his power ſhall be mighty, but not [i] in his ſtrength: and he ſhall deſtroy wonderfully, and ſhall proſper, and practiſe, and ſhall deſtroy the [k] mighty, and the holy people.

25 And through his [l] policie alſo, hee ſhall cauſe craft to proſper in his hand, and hee ſhall extoll himſelfe in his heart, and by [m] peace ſhal deſtroy many: he ſhal alſo ſtand vp againſt the [n] prince of princes, but he ſhalbe broken downe [o] without hand.

26 And the viſion of the [p] euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore ſeale thou vp the viſion, for it ſhalbe after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was ſtricken and ſicke [q] certaine daies: but when I roſe vp, I did the kings buſines, and I was aſtonied at the viſion, but none vnderſtood it.

o That is, Iudea.
p Antiochus raged againſt the elect of God, and trode his precious ſtarres vnder feete, which are ſo called, becauſe they are ſeparated from the worlde.
q That is, God, who gouerneth and maintaineth his Church.
r He laboured to aboliſh all religion, and therefore caſt Gods ſeruice out of his Temple, which God had choſen as a little corner from all the reſt of the world to haue his Name there truely called vpon.
s He ſheweth that their ſinnes are the cauſe of their horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whom he would not ſuffer vtterly to aboliſh his religion.
t This horne ſhall aboliſh for a time the true doctrine, and ſo corrupt Gods ſeruice.
u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels aſking this queſtion of Chriſt, whom he calleth a certaine one, or a ſecret one, or a marueilous one.
x That is, the Iewes ſinnes, which were cauſe of this deſtruction.
y That is, which ſuppreſſeth Gods religion, and his people.

a That is, vntill ſo many naturall dayes be paſt, which make ſixe yeres three moneths and an halfe: for ſo long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.
b Which was Chriſt, who in this manner declared himſelfe to the olde fathers how he would be God manifeſted in flesh. c This power to commaund the Angel, ſhewed that he was God.
d The effect of this viſion ſhall not yet appeare, but a long time after. e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus ſhould ſhew againſt the Church. f That is, out of Grecia. g They ſhall not haue like power as had Alexander.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel deſireth to haue that performed of God, which hee had promiſed concerning the returne of the people from their baniſhment in Babylon. 5 A true confeſſion. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the viſion of the ſeuentie weekes. 24 The anoynting of Chriſt. 25 The building againe of Ieruſalem. 26 The death of Chriſt.

IN the firſt yere of Darius the ſonne of [a] Aſhueroſh, of the ſeed of the Medes, which was made King ouer the [b] realme of the Caldeans,

2 Euen in the firſt yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderſtood by [c] bookes the number of the yeres, whereof the Lord had ſpoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accompliſh ſeuenty yeeres in the deſolation of Ieruſalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lorde God, and [d] ſought by prayer and ſupplications with faſting and ſackcloth and aſhes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confeſſion, ſaying, Oh Lorde God, which art [e] great and fearefull, and keepeſt couenant and mercie toward them which loue † thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,

5 Wee haue ſinned, and haue committed iniquity, and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For wee would not obey thy ſeruants the Prophets, which ſpake in thy Name to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, [f] righteouſnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs † open ſhame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, yea, vnto all Iſrael, both neere and farre off, through all the countries, whither thou haſt driuen them, becauſe of b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about warres in other countries, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdome, though Cyrus was King in effect.

c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet he daily increaſed in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.
d He ſpeaketh not of that ordinary prayer, which he vſed in his houſe thrice a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, leſt their ſinnes ſhould cauſe God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophecied by Ieremiah.
e That is, hath all power in the ſelfe to execute thy terrible iudgements againſt obſtinat ſinners, as thou art rich in mercy to comfort them which obey thy word, and loue thee.
† Ebr. him.
f He ſheweth that whenſoeuer God puniſheth, he doeth it for iuſt cauſe: and but acknowledging thus the godly neuer accuſe him of rigour as the wicked doe, that in themſelues there is iuſt cauſe why he ſhould ſo intreat them. † Ebr. confuſion of face.

their

their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our [g] kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiuenesse is in the Lord our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.

10 For wee haue not obeyed the [h] voice of the Lord our God, to walke in his Lawes, which hee had layd before vs by the ministerie of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Law, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the [i] curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Law of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which hee spake against vs, and against our Judges that ‖ iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not beene the like, as hath beene brought vpon Jerusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses: yet made wee not our prayer before the Lord our God, that wee might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord † made ready the plague, & brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 * And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renowme, as appeareth this day, wee haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy [k] righteousnesse, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath bee turned away from thy citie Jerusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to [l] shine vpon thy Sanctuarie that lieth waste, for the [m] Lords sake.

18 O my God, encline thine eare & heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we doe not present our supplication before thee for our owne [n] righteousnesse, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord, heare, O Lord, forgiue, O Lord, [o] consider, and doe it: : deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whom I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the euening oblation.

22 And he enformed mee, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seuenty [p] weeks are determined vpon [q] thy people, and vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the [r] sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophecie, and to annoint the most Holy.

25 Knowe therefore and vnderstand, that from [s] the going forth of the commaundement to bring againe the people, and to build Jerusalem, vnto Messiah the Prince, shall be seuen [t] weekes, and [u] threescore & two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a † troublous time.

26 And after threescore and two * weekes, shall Messiah bee slaine, and shall [y] haue nothing, and the people of [z] the Prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the ende thereof shall be with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battell it shall bee destroyed by desolations.

27 And hee [a] shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the middes of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to [b] cease, [c] and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

g He doeth not excuse the Kings because of their authoritie, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occasions of these great plagues.
h He sheweth that they rebell against God, which serue him not according to his commandement and worde.

n Declaring, that the godly flee onely vnto Gods mercies, and renounce their own workes, when they seeke for remission of their sinnes.
o Thus he could not content himselfe with any debonnecie of wordes: for he was so led with a feruent zeale, considering Gods promise made to the citie in respect of his Church, and for the aduancement of Gods glory.

a By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promise, first to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles.
b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection.
c Meaning, that Jerusalem and the Sanctuarie should bee vtterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: or as some reade, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be astonied at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 11 Which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

IN the [a] third yeere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was [b] long, a He noteth this third yeere, because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindred by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

b Which is to declare, that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.

and hee vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time, I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the [c] first moneth, as I [d] was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man [e] clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of * Uphaz.

6 His bodie also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightening, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feet were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, & saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for [f] my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I reteined no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voice of his wordes, I slept on my face: and my face was towarde the ground.

10 And beholde, an hand [g] touched mee, which set mee vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands.

11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had said this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not Daniel: for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

13 But the [h] prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood mee one and twentie dayes: but loe, [i] Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe mee, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the [k] vision is for many dayes.

15 And when hee spake these wordes vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, [l] one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, [m] by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue reteined no strength.

17 For how can the seruaunt of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for mee, straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and hee strengthened me, 19 And said, O man greatly beloued, feare not: [n] peace be vnto thee: be strong & of good courage. And when hee had spoken vnto me, I [o] was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the [p] Prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: [q] and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your Prince.

CHAP. XI.

A prophecie of the Kingdoms which should bee enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

ALso I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, euen I stood [a] to encourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the trueth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet [b] three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stirre vp [c] all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a [d] mightie King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when hee shall stand vp, [e] his kingdome shall be broken, [f] and shall be diuided toward the [g] foure Windes of heauen: and not to his [h] posteritie, nor according to [i] his dominion which hee ruled: for his kingdome shall bee pluckt vp, euen to bee for others besides [k] those.

5 And the [l] King of the South shall bee mightie, and one of [m] his Princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

c Called Abib, which conteineth part of March & part of April.
d Being caried by the Spirit of prophecie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.
e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophecie that followeth.
* Iere. 10.9.
f The word also signifieth comelinesse, or beautie, so that for feare he was like a dead man for weaknesse.
g Which declareth that when we are stricken downe with the maiesty of God, we cannot rise except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.
h Meaning Cambyses, who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not onely for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would haue further raged if God had not sent me to resist him, & therefore haue I staied for the profit of the Church.
i Though God could by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his loue, he sendeth forth double power, euen Michael, that is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.
k For though the prophet Daniel should end a season, yet his doctrine should continue til the comming of Christ, for the comfort of his Church.
l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.
m I was ouercome with feare and sorow, when I saw the vision.
n He declareth hereby that God would be mercifull vnto the people of Israel.
o Which declareth, that when God limiteth vnto his children, he doth not immediatly lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by little and little.
p Meaning, that he would not only himselfe withstand the rage of Cambyses, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia.
q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.
a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, seeing hee appointed him to aide Darius, when hee ouercame the Caldeans.
b Whereof Cambyses that had reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the sonne of Hystaspes, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and stood against them.
c For he raised vp all the East countreys to fight against the Grecians: and albeit he had in his armie nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battels hee was discomfited and fled away with shame.
d That is, Alexander the great.
e For when his estate was most flourishing, hee ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease, or as some write, was poysoned by Callander.
f For his twelue chiefe princes first diuided his kingdome among themselues.
g After this his Monarchie was diuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Callander the kingdom of Macedonia, and Ptolomeus Egypt.
h That God reuenged Alexanders ambition and crueltie in causing his posteritie to bee murthered, partly of the Fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another i None of these foure shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander.
k That is, his posteritie hauing no part thereof.
m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders Princes shall be more mightie: for he should haue both Asia and Egypt.

6 And in the end of yeeres they shall bee ioyned together: for the Kings [n] daughter of the South shall come to the king of the North to make an agreement, but shee shall not receiue the power of the [o] arme, neither shall [p] he continue, nor his [q] arme: but she shall bee deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he [r] that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her [s] rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, [t] which shal come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile.

8 And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of gold, and he shall continue [u] mo yeeres then the King of the North.

9 So the King of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his [x] sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one [y] shall come, and ouerflow, and passe thorow, then shall he [z] returne, and bee stirred vp at his fortresse.

11 And the King of the South shall be angrie, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for he shall set forth a great [a] multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall bee proud, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but hee shall not still preuaile.

13 For the King of the North [b] shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall [c] many stand vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy [d] people shall exalt themselues to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall [e] not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But hee that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the [f] pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Againe hee shall [g] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, and hee shall giue him the [h] daughter of women, to destroy [i] her: but [k] shee shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall hee turne his face vnto the [l] Iles, and shall take many, but a prince [m] shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon [n] himselfe.

19 For hee shall turne his face toward the forts of [o] his owne land: but hee shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more [p] found.

20 [q] Then shall stand vp in his place in the glory of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after few dayes hee shall be destroyed, neither in [r] wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a [s] vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the [t] armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall bee broken: and also the Prince of the [u] couenant.

23 And after [x] the league made with him, hee shall worke deceitfully: for hee shall come vp, and ouercome with a [y] small people.

24 Hee shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers [z] haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: hee shall diuide among them the praye and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and hee shall forecast his deuises against the strong holds, euen for a [a] time.

25 Also he shall stirre vp his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great armie, and the king of the South shalbe stirred vp to battell with a very great and mighty armie: but he shal not [b] stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of [c] his meat, shall destroy him: and his armie [d] shall ouerflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

n That is, Berenice y daughter of Ptolemeus Philadelphus shall be giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Callinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolemeus nor Antiochus.

q Some reade, seed, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

r Some reade, he that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this marriage, were destroyed.

s Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succeed in the kingdome, being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Callinicus king of Syria.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned fiue and fourtie yeeres.

x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sonnes of Calinicus shall make war against Ptolemeus Philopater, the sonne of Philadelphus.

y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine whiles the warres were preparing.

z That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to inuade Egypt.

a For Antiochus had fiue thousand horsemen, and threescore thousand footmen.

b After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolemeus Epiphanes his heire.

c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip king of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them.

d For vnder Onias which falsely alleaged that place of Esaiah 19. 19. certaine of the Jewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophecie: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsel of God.

e The Egyptians were not able to resist Scopas Antiochus captaine.

f He sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Jewes, and shall enter into their country, wherein he admonisheth the before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shal loue her husband as her duetie requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those ples which are in the Sea, called Mediterraneum: for the Jewes called all countries ples, which were diuided from them by Sea.

m For whereas Antiochus was woont to contemne the Romanes, and put their Ambassadors to shame in all places, Acilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For feare of the Romanes he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder the pretence of pouertie hee would haue robbed the Temple of Jupiter Dodoneus, the countreymen slew him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeede his father Antiochus.

r Not by forreine enemies, or battel, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell, and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

t Per sheweth that great forreine powers shall come to helpe the young sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall be ouerthrowen.

u Meaning Ptolemeus Philometor, Philopaters sonne, who was this childs cousin germane, and is here called the Prince of the couenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battell, Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For he came vpon him at vnwares, and when he suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning, in Egypt.

a Hee will content himself with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefe.

b Hee shall bee ouercome with treason.

c Signifying his Princes, and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his souldiers shall brast out and hazard their life to slay and to be slaine for the safegard of their Prince.

27 And both these Kings hearts shall bee to doe [c] mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auaile: for [f] yet the end shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy Couenant: so shall hee doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships [b] of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be sorie and returne, and fret against the holy Couenant: so shall he doe, hee shall euen returne [i] and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy Couenant.

31 And armes [k] shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie [l] of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly [m] breake the couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that doe know their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among [n] the people, shall instruct many: [o] yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoile many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a [p] little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them [q] fainedly.

35 And some of them [r] of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, & to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the [s] King shall do what him lust: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper, till the wrath [t] bee accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall hee regard the [u] God of his fathers, nor the desires [x] of women, nor care for any God: for hee shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the [y] god Mauzzim, and the god whome his fathers knew not, shall hee honour with [z] gold and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in [a] the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom hee shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the King of the [b] South push at him, and the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlewind with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and hee shall enter into the countries, and shal ouerflow & passe thorow.

41 Hee shall enter also into the [c] pleasant land, & many countreys shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 Hee shall stretch foorth his handes also vpon the countries, and the land of Egypt shal not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of gold and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Moores where hee shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall [d] trouble him: therefore he shal go foorth [e] with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And hee shall plant the tabernacles [f] of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet hee shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

o The vncle and the nephew shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischief one against another.

f Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot doe what they lust themselues.

g Which hee shall take of the Iewes in spoiling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before, to moue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence.

b That is, the Romane power shal come against him: for P. Popilius the Ambassaduor appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage, he came against the people of God the second time.

i With the Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the high Priest, and this second time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall hold with Antiochus.

x Signifying, that they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26.

y That is, hym of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods, and worship it.

z Under pretence of worshipping the gods, they shal enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches.

a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romanes.

b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be ouercome.

c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that when they should see the Romanes inuade them, and that the wicked should escape their handes, that they should not diuide but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserue them.

d Hearing that Crassus was slaine, and Antonius discomfited.

e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost.

f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreys and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelnie God shall destroy them.

l So called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so beganne to corrupt the pure seruice of God.

m Meaning such as bare the name of Iewes: but in deede were nothing lesse: for they sold their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true Religion.

o Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.

p As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet will hee not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as hee did in the time of the Maccabees whereof he here prophesieth.

q That is, there shall bee euen of this small number many hypocrites.

r To wit, of them that feare God, and will lose their life for the defence of true Religion, signifying also that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time, therefore wee must obey.

s Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, hee now speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romanes which hee noteth by the name of a King, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God.

t So long the tyrants shall preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but hee heareth that it is but for a time.

u The Romanes shall obserue no certaine forme of Religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and preferre themselues to their gods.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

AND at that [a] time shal Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall bee deliuered, euery one that shall be found written in the booke.

2 And many [b] of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shall be in great affliction and trouble at Christes comming, and next that God wil send his Angel to deliuer it, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth, because the faithful should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shall be no sure comfort.

e Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion.
d Dee chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, and next, all the faithfull which instruct the ignorant, & bring them to the true knowledge of God.
e Though the most part despise this prophecie, yet keepe thou it sure, and esteeme it as a treasure.
f Til the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shall runne to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

3 And they that bee [c] wise, shall shine as the brightnes of the firmament: and they that [d] turne many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, [e] shut vp the words, and seale the booke [f] till the end of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shalbe increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the [g] riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one sayd vnto the man clothed in linnen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shall bee the ende of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linnen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when hee held vp his [h] right hand, and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shal tary for a [i] time, two times and an halfe: and when hee shall haue accomplished [k] to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then said I, O my Lord, what shalbe the end of these things?

9 And he said, Goe thy way, Daniel: for the words are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the [l] daily sacrifice shalbe taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there [m] shall be a thousand, two hundred and nintie dayes.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth [n] commeth to the thousand, three hundred and [n] fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But goe [o] thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

k When the Church shalbe scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power.
l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shal take away the sacrifices and ceremonies of the Law.
m Signifying, that the time shall be long of Christs second comming.
n yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.
n In this number he adderh a moneth & an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christes comming, but they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.

g Which was Tygris. h Which was as it were a double ethe, and did the more confirme the thing. i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: signifying that their troubles should haue an end.
o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying, that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

Hosea.

The Argument.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtil counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their own fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grewe euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adultery: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetnesse of Gods promises, hee setteth before them the two principall partes of the Lawe, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part hee directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, hee vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to bee godly, else by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law conteine these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatry of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper, was deposed from his kingdome.
b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that he preached about threescore yeere.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies [a] of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah [b] kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set foorth vnder this parable or figure the idolatry of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.

children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So hee went, and tooke [d] Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord sayd vnto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a little, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house [f] of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs.
e Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel was promised to God but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is scattered people, allusing to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2. Kin. 10. 8, 11.
f I will be auenged vpon Iehu for the blood that hee shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet hee did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for hee built vp that idolatry, which had destroyed.

5 And at that s day will I alſo breake the bowe of Iſrael in the valley of Izreel.

6 Shee conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter. And God ſayd vnto him, Call her name h Lo-ruhamah: for I wil no more haue pitie vpon the houſe of Iſrael; but I will vterly i take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the houſe of Iudah, and will k ſaue them by the Lord their God, and will not ſaue them by bow, nor by ſword, nor by battel, by horſes, nor by horſemen.

8 Now when ſhee had wained Lo-ruhamah, ſhe conceiued and bare a ſonne.

9 Then ſaid God, Call his name l Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore wil I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the m children of Iſrael ſhall be as the ſand of the ſea, which cannot bee meaſured nor tolde: and in the place where it was ſayd vnto them, Ye are not my people, it ſhall be ſaid vnto them, Yee are the ſonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then ſhall the children of Iudah, and the children of Iſrael bee n gathered together, and appoint themſelues one head, and they ſhall come vp out of the land: for great is the o day of Izreel.

7 Though ſhe follow after her louers, yet ſhall ſhee not come at them: though ſhee ſeeke them, yet ſhall ſhe not finde them: then ſhall ſhee ſay, i I will goe and returne to my firſt huſband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now ſhee did not knowe that I k gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her ſiluer and gold, which they beſtowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore wil I returne, and take away l my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the ſeaſon thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent, to couer her ſhame.

10 And nowe will I diſcouer her m lewdneſſe in the ſight of her louers, and no man ſhal deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will alſo cauſe all her mirth to ceaſe, her feaſt daies, her new moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her ſolemne feaſts.

12 And I will deſtroy her vines and her fig trees, whereof ſhe hath ſaid, Theſe are my rewards that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a foreſt, and the wilde beaſts ſhall eate them.

13 And I will viſit vpon her the dayes of n Baalim, wherein ſhe burnt incenſe to them: and ſhee decked her ſelfe with her o earerings and her iewels, and ſhee followed her louers, and forgat me, ſaith the Lord.

14 Therefore beholde, I will p allure her, and bring her into the wilderneſſe, and ſpeake friendly vnto her.

15 And I wil giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley q of Achor for the doore of hope, and ſhe ſhal r ſing there as in the daies of her youth, and as in the day when ſhee came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, ſayeth the Lord, thou ſhalt call me r Ishi, and ſhalt call me no more s Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they ſhall be no more remembred by their t names.

18 And in that day wil I make a couenant for them, with the x wilde beaſts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the ſword and the battell out of the earth, and I will make them to ſleepe ſafely.

19 And I will marrie thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I wil marrie thee vnto me in righteouſneſſe, and in iudgement, and in mercie, and in compaſſion.

20 And I will marrie thee vnto mee in y faithfulneſſe, and thou ſhalt know the Lord.

21 And in that I will heare, ſayeth the Lord, I will euen heare z the heauens, and g When the meaſure of their iniquities is full, and I ſhal take vengeance and deſtroy all their politie and force.

h That is, not obtaining mercie: whereby he ſignifieth, that Gods fauour was departed from them.

i For the Iſraelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Aſſyrians.

k For after their captiuitie he reſtored them miraculouſly by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra 1.1.

l That is, not my people.

m Becauſe they thought that God could not haue bene true in his promiſe except he had preſerued them, he declareth that though they were deſtroyed, yet the true Iſraelites, which are the ſonnes of the promiſe, ſhould be without number, which ſtand both of the Iewes and the Gentiles, Rom 9.26.

n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were reſtored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Chriſt, who ſhould bee the Head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

o The calamitie and deſtruction of Izreel ſhall be ſo great, that to reſtore them ſhall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He ſheweth their idolatrie, and threteneth them except they repent.

a Seeing that I haue promiſed you deliuerance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace b ſame, conſidering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercy.

b God ſheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forſooke them, Iſa. 50.1.

c Meaning, that their idolatrie was ſo great, that they were not aſhamed, but boaſted of it, Ezek. 16.25.

d For though his people were an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparel and dowry, and certaine ſignes of his fauour, but if they continued ſtill, hee would vtterly deſtroy them.

e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4, 29.

f That baſtards and begotten in adultery.

g Meaning, the idoles which they ſerued, and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.

h I will punish thee, that then thou mayeſt try whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee to ſuch ſtreightneſſe, that thou ſhalt haue no luſt to play the whoore.

i This he ſpeaketh of the faithfull, which are truely conuerted, and alſo ſheweth the vſe and profite of Gods rods.

k This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honor, when they attribute his benefits to their idols.

l Signifying, that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doth abuſe them.

m That is, all her ſeruice, ceremonies and inuentions whereby ſhe worſhipped her idoles.

n I wil punish her for her idolatrie.

o By ſhewing how harlots trim themſelues to pleaſe others, he declareth how the ſuperſtitious idolaters ſet a great part of their religion in decking themſelues on their holy dayes.

p By my benefits in offering her grace & mercie, euen in that place where ſhe ſhall thinke her ſelfe deſtitute of all helpe and comfort.

q Which was a plentiful valley, & wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernesse, as Ioſh. 7.26. is called the doore of hope, becauſe it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life.

r She ſhall then praiſe God as ſhe did whē ſhe was deliuered out of Egypt.

s That is, mine huſband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant.

t That is, my maſter: which name was applied to their idoles.

u No idolatrie ſhall once come into their mouth, but they ſhall ſerue me purely according to my word.

x Meaning, that hee will ſo diſpoſe them, that all creatures ſhall fauour them.

y With a couenant that neuer ſhall be broken.

z Then ſhall the heauen neede rayne for the earth, which ſhall bring forth for the vſe of man.

they ſhall heare the earth,

22 And the earth ſhall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they ſhall heare Jzreel.

23 And I will ſowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will ſay to them which were not my people, *Thou art my people. And they ſhall ſay, Thou art my God.

*Rom.9.25. 1.pet.2.10.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes ſhall be caſt off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they ſhall returne to the Lord.

THen ſaid the Lord to me, [a] Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her huſband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Iſrael: yet they looked to other gods, and [b] loued the wine bottels.

a Herein the Prophet repreſenteth the perſon of God, which loued his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the ſame when ſhe gaue her ſelfe vnto idoles.
b That is, gaue themſelues wholly to pleaſures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkenneſſe.

2 So [c] I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of ſiluer, and for an Homer of barley and an halfe Homer of barley.

3 And I ſaid vnto her, Thou ſhalt abide with [d] me many dayes: thou ſhalt not play the harlot, and thou ſhalt be to none other man, and I will be ſo vnto thee.

4 For the children of Iſrael ſhall [e] remaine many dayes without a King, and without a [f] Prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward ſhall the children of Iſrael conuert, and ſeeke the Lord their God, and [g] Dauid their King, and ſhall feare the Lord, and his goodneſſe in the latter dayes.

c Bet I loued her, and payed a ſmall portion for her, leſt thee perceiuing her greatneſſe of my loue, ſhould haue abuſed me, and not beene vnder vnetie: for fifteene pieces of ſiluer were but halfe the price of a ſlaue, Exod. 21.32.
d I will trie thee a long time as in thy widowhood, whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but alſo vnto Chriſt. f That is, they ſhould neither haue policie nor religion, and their idoles alſo wherein they put their confidence, ſhould be deſtroyed. g This is meant of Chriſts kingdome, which was promiſed vnto Dauid to be eternall, Pſal.72.17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint againſt the people, and the Prieſts of Iſrael.

HEare the word of the Lord, yee children of Iſrael: for the Lord [a] hath a controuerſie with the inhabitants of the land, becauſe there is no trueth nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By ſwearing, and lying, and killing, and ſtealing, and whoring, they breake out, and [b] blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore ſhall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, ſhalbe cut off, with the beaſts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and alſo the fiſhes of the Sea ſhall be taken away.

4 Yet [c] let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Prieſt.

5 Therefore ſhalt thou fall in the [d] day, and the Prophet ſhall fall with thee in the night, and I will deſtroy thy [e] mother.

a Becauſe the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement-ſeate of God, againſt whome they chiefly offended, Iſai.7.13. Zech.12.10. mich.6.1,2.
b In euery place appeareth a libertie to moſt heinous vices, ſo that one followeth in the necke of another.
c As though he would ſay that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will ſpeake againſt the Prophets and Prieſts, whoſe office it is chiefly to rebuke them. d The ſhall periſh all together: the one, becauſe he would not obey, and the other, becauſe he would not admonith.

6 My people are deſtroyed for lacke of knowledge: becauſe [f] thou haſt refuſed knowledge, I will alſo refuſe thee, that thou ſhalt be no Prieſt to me: and ſeeing [g] thou haſt forgotten the Law of thy God, I will alſo forget thy children.

7 As they were [h] increaſed, ſo they ſinned againſt mee: therefore will I change their glory into ſhame.

8 [i] They eate vp the ſinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.

9 And there ſhall bee like people, like [k] Prieſt: for I will viſite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deedes.

10 For they ſhall eate, and not haue ynough: they ſhall [l] commit adultery, and ſhall not increaſe, becauſe they haue left off to take heede to the Lord.

11 [m] Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My [n] people aſke counſell at their ſtockes, and their ſtaffe teacheth them: for the [o] ſpirit of fornications hath cauſed them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They ſacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, and burne incenſe vpon the hilles vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and elme, becauſe the ſhadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters ſhall be [p] harlots, and your ſpouſes ſhalbe whores.

14 I will not [q] viſit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your ſpouſes, when they are whores: for they themſelues are ſeparated with harlots, and ſacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderſtand, ſhall fall.

15 Though thou, Iſrael, play the harlot, yet [r] let not Iudah ſinne: come not yee vnto [s] Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to [t] Beth-auen, nor ſweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Iſrael is rebellious as an vnruly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a [u] lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes ſtinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to ſay with ſhame, [x] Bring ye.

19 The winde hath [y] bound them vp in her wings, and they ſhall be aſhamed of their ſacrifices.

e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boaſteſt.
f That is, the Prieſts ſhall be caſt off, becauſe that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and inſtruct others, Deut.33.3. malac.2.7.
g Meaning, the whole body of the people, which were weary with hearing the word of God.
h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.
i To wit, the Prieſts ſeeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their ſinnes.
k Signifying, that as they haue ſinned together, ſo ſhall they be puniſhed together.
l Shewing, that their wickedneſſe ſhalbe puniſhed on all ſorts: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they ſhall be deceiued of their hope.
m In giuing themſelues to pleaſures, they become like brute beaſts.
n Thus he ſpeaketh by deriſion in calling them his people, which now for their ſinnes they were not: for they fought helpe of ſtockes and ſtickes.
o They are carried away with a rage.
p Becauſe they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their luſtes, that they ſhall diſhonour their owne bodies, Rom.1.24.
q I will not correct your ſhame to bring you to amendment, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation.
r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learne by the example to returne in time. s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place a time paſt with his preſence, yet becauſe it was abuſed by their idolatrie, he would not that his people ſhould reſort thither. t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the houſe of God, Beth-auen, that is, the houſe of iniquitie, becauſe of their abomination ſet vp there, ſignifying, that no place is holy where God is not purely worſhipped.
u God will ſo diſperſe them, that they ſhall not remaine in any certaine place.
x They are ſo impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will commaund men to bring them vnto them. y To carry them ſuddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

HEare ye this, O Priests, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue yee eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue beene a [a] snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to [b] slaughter, though I haue bene a [c] rebuker of them all.

3 I know [d] Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the middes of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the [e] pride of Israel doeth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lorde: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lorde: for they haue begotten [f] strange children: now shall [g] a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blow yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaume in Rama: cry out at Beth-auen, after thee, O [h] Beniamin.

9 Ephraim shalbe desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to [i] know the trueth.

10 The Princes of Iudah were like them that [k] remoue the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the [l] commandement.

12 Therefore will I bee vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim sawe his sickenesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto [m] Asshur, and sent vnto king [n] Iareb: yet could hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a Lyon, and as a Lyons whelpe to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoile, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

COme, and let vs [a] returne to the Lord: for hee hath spoiled, and he will heale vs: hee hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will [b] hee reuiue vs, and in the third day hee will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going foorth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreat thee? for [c] your goodnesse is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I [d] cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy [e] iudgements were as the light that goeth foorth.

6 For I desired [f] mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they [g] like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 [h] Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues waite for a man, so the companie of Priests murther in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene villanie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a [i] plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

WHen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and [a] the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the [b] King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very [c] ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, and from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 This is the [d] day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

a The Priests and princes catched the poore people in their snares as the fowlers did the birds, in these two high mountaines.

b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holines and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.

c Though I haue admonished them continually by my Prophets.

d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions.

f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

g Their destruction is not farre off.

h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place, till they were destroyed.

i By the successe they shall know that I haue iustely determined this.

k They haue turned vpside downe all politike order, and all maner of religion.

l To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God.

m In steade of seeking for redresse at Gods hand.

n Of the which was king of the Assyrians.

a Hee sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.

b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeme to haue a certaine boldnesse and repentance, but it is vpon the suddein, and as a morning cloud.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meete to feede them, but a sworde to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.

f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.

g That is, like light and weake persons.

h Which was the place where the priests dwelt, and which should haue beene best instructed in my word.

i That is, doth imitate thine idolatry, and hath taken grafts of thy trees.

a Meaning, that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.

b They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.

c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker draweth still till his dough be leauened and raised.

d They died all

rice and excesse in their feasts and solemnities, wherby their King with sinket, and brought into diseases, and vsed in flatteries.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue [e] deuoured their Iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lorde their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a Doue deceiued, without [h] heart: they call to Egypt: they goe to Asshur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastise them as their [i] Congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shall be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against mee: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cried vnto mee with their hearts, [l] when they howled vpon their beds: [m] they assemble themselues for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound and strengthened their arme, yet do they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most Hie: they are like a deceitfull bow: their Princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shalbe their derision in the land of Egypt.

e By their occasion God hath deprined them of all good rulers.
f That is, he counterfeiteth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither through hote nor through colde, but partly a Iewe, and partly a Gentile.
g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.
h That is, without all iudgement, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleaue only to God, or to seek the helpe of man.
i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.
k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.
l When they were in affliction and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe.
m They onely seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me their God.
n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psal. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

[a] Set the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an Eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall [b] crie vnto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemie shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a [c] King, but not by me: they haue made Princes, and I knewe it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without [d] innocencie!

a God encourageth the prophet, to signifie the speedy comming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.
b They shall crie like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deedes declare.
c That is, Ieroboam, by whom they sought their owne libertie, and not to obey my will.
d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.

6 [e] For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue [f] sowne the wind, & they shall reape the whirlewinde: it hath no stalke: the bud shall bring foorth no meale: if so bee it bring foorth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a [g] wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorow a little, for the [h] burden of the king and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shalbe to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Lawe: but they were counted as a [i] strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the [k] Lord accepteth them not: now will hee remember their iniquity, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wildernesse.
f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew, and in it selfe is but vanitie.
g They neuer cease, but runne to and fro to seeke helpe.
h That is, for the tribute which the King and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.
i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions.
k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

[a] Reioyce not, O Israel for ioy, as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued [b] a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 [c] The floore, & the winepresse shall not feed them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shal not offer [d] wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices bee pleasant vnto him: but they shalbe vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof shall be polluted: for their bread [e] for their soules shal not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye doe [f] then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from [g] destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall bury them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shalbe in their tabernacles.

a For though all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.
b Thou hast committed idolatrie in hope of reward, & to haue thy barnes filled, Iere. 44. 17. as an harlot that had rather lie by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her owne husband.
c These outward things that thou seekest, shalbe taken from thee.
d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shalbe reiected as things polluted.
e The meate offring which they offered for themselues.
f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of serning him, which shalbe the most grieuous point of your captiuitie, when ye shall see your selues cut off from God. g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Israel shall knowe it: [h] the Prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] should be with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fowler in all his wayes, and hatred in the House of his God.

9 They [k] are deepely set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like [l] grapes in the wildernesse: I sawe your fathers as the first ripe in the figge tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to [m] their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth [n] and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, is as a tree [o] in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring foorth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a [p] barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednesse is in [q] Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine House: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their root is dryed vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

[h] Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who challenged to themselues to be their Prophets and spirituall men.
[i] The Prophets duety is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.
[k] This people is so rooted in their wickednesse, that Gibeah, which was like to Sodome, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg. 19.22.
[l] Meaning, that he so esteemed them, and delited in them.
[m] They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idoles.
[n] Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little and little.
[o] As they kept tender plants in their houses in Cyprus, to preserue them from the cold ayre of the Sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I will giue him to the slaughter.
[p] The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.
[q] The chiefe cause of their destruction is that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

ISrael is an [a] emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruite thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the [b] goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is [c] diuided: now shall they be found faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, Wee haue no [d] King, because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsely in making [e] a couenant: thus [f] iudgement groweth as worme wood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall [g] feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the [h] Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shalbe also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto King Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shalbe ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the King thereof is destroyed, as the some vpon the water.

8 The high places also of [i] Auen shall be destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall growe vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, *Couer vs, and to the hilles, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast [k] sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they [l] stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not [m] touch them.

10 It is my desire [n] that I should chastise them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two [o] furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delight [p] in threshing: but I will passe by her [q] faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iaakob shall breake his clods.

12 Sowe to your selues in righteousnes: reape after the measure of mercie: [r] breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousnesse vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou diddest trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men,

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as [f] Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shal Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

[a] Whereof though the grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered new strength, it increased new wickednesse, so that the correction which should haue brought them to obedience, did but deter their stubbornesse.
[b] As they were rich and had abundance, they gaue themselues to idolatrie.
[c] To wit, from God.
[d] The day shall come that God shall take away their King, and then they shall feele the fruite of their sinnes, and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17. 6, 7.
[e] In promising to be faithfull toward God.
[f] Thus their integritie and fidelitie which they pretended, was nothing but bitternesse and griefe.
[g] When the calfe shalbe caried away.
[h] Chemarims were certaine idolatrous priests which did weare blacke apparell in their sacrifices, and cryed with a loud voice which superstition Eliah derided, 1. King. 18.27. reade 2. king. 23.5.
[i] This he speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap. 4.15.
* Isa. 2.19. luke 23.30. reuel. 6.16 & 9.6.
[k] In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deeds were as wicked as theirs.
[l] To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remained in that stubbornesse from that time.
[m] The Israelites were not moued by their examples to turne from their sins.
[n] Because they are so desperate, I will delight to destroy them.
[o] That is, when they haue gathered all their strength together.
[p] Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour and paine.
[q] I will lay my yoke vpon her fat necke.
[r] Reade Ier. 4.4.
[f] That is, Shalmanassar in the destructiō of that citie, spared neither kind nor age.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefites of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel [a] was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

[a] Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt, and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.

2 They

2 They called them, but they [b] went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I ledde Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords [c] of a man, euen with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layde the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Asshur shall be his [d] king, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against mee: though [e] they called them to the most High: yet none at all would exalt him.

8 [f] How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as [g] Admah? how shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: [h] my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the middes of thee, and I will not [i] enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a Lyon: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 [k] They shall feare as a Sparrow out of Egypt, and as a Doue out of the land of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, sayth the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with [l] God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.

c That is, friendly: and not as beasts or slaues.

d Seeing they contemne all this kindnesse, they shall be led captiue into Assyria.

e To wit, the Prophets.

f God constreineth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe how to punish them.

g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom Deu. 29. 23

h Meaning, that his loue wherewith he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to doe: and herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercy towards his shall ouercome his iudgement. He declareth the reason.

i To consume thee, but will raise thee to peece, and so receiue thee to mercie: and this is meant of the small number who shall walke after the Lord. k The Egyptians and Assyrians shall be afraid when the Lorde maintaineth his people. l Gouerneth their state according to Gods word, and doeth not degenerate.

f God found Iakob as he lay sleeping in Beth-el, Gen. 28. 12. and so spake with him there, that the fruit of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

g As for Ephraim her is more like the wicked Canaanites then godly Abraham or Iaakob.

h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reproue their doings.

i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou doest now contemne.

k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet sayth, that all their religion was but vanitie.

l If you boast of your riches & nobilitie, yee seeme to reproch your Maker, whereby

CHAP. XII.

He admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

a That is, flatereth himselfe with vaine confidence.

b Meaning, practises to get friendship.

c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.

d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.

e Reade Gen. 32. 24.

EPhraim is fedde [a] with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: hee increaseth daily lyes and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Asshur, and [b] oyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with [c] Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes, will he recompence him.

3 He tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had [d] power with God.

4 And had [e] power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: hee wept, and prayed vnto him: [f] hee found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 He is [g] Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, [h] that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the lande of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the Tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplyed visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.

11 Is there [k] iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullockes in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 [l] And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

13 And by a [m] Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he preserued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with high places: therefore shall his blood bee powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lorde reward him.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 And the cause of their destruction.

WHen Ephraim spake, there was [a] trembling: he [b] exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, [c] & is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a [d] man, Let them kisse the calues.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloude, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no Sauiour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wildernesse, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: there-father who was a poore fugitiue and seruant. m Meaning appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free

Moles, whereby goodnesse.

a Sheweth the excellencie, and authoritie that this tribe had aboue all the rest.

b Her made a king of his tribe.

c The Ephraimites are not far from destruction, and haue lost their authority.

d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and hee sheweth how they would eyther one another to the same, or to kille and worship their owne children which were their idoles.

e Preuenting them in repentance, and in mercie from destruction.

therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.

8 I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the kall of their heart, & there wil I deuoure them like a lion: the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one [f] hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 [g] I am: where is thy King, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy Iudges, of whom thou saydest, Giue me a King, and princes?

11 I gaue thee a King in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is [h] bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a trauailing woman shall come vpon him: hee is an vnwise sonne, else would hee not stand still at the time, euen at the [i] breaking foorth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O [k] death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: [l] repentance is hidde from mine eyes.

15 Though hee growe vp among his brethren, an East wind shall come, euen the wind of the Lord shall come vp from the wildernes, and drie vp his veine, and his fountaine shalbe dried vp: he shal spoile the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

f Thy destruction is certaine, and my benefites toward thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatrie and vaine confidence in men must needs be the cause thereof.

g I am all one, Iames 1.17.

h It is surely layde vp to be punished, as Ierem. 17.1.

i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger wherein he is, and not tary to be stifled.

k Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he will deliuer his, but euen in death will be mete them life.

l Because they will not turne to me, I will not change my purpose.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 Hee exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth praise and thankes.

SAmaria shall be desolate: for shee hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sworde: their infants shall bee dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shall be ript.

2 O Israel, [a] returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you words, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, [b] Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will wee render the calues of our [c] lips.

4 Asshur shall [d] not saue vs, neither will we ride vpon horses, neither will wee say any more to the worke of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 [e] I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dew vnto Israel: hee shall growe as the lillie, and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shal spread, and his beautie shall be as the Oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell vnder his [f] shadow, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idols? [g] I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruit found.

10 Who is [h] wise, and he shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and he shall know them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoid all these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

b He sheweth them how they ought to confesse their sinnes.

c Declaring that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithfull can offer, euen thankes & praise, Heb. 13.15.

d Wee will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride.

e He declareth how ready God is to receiue them that doe repent.

f Wholsoeuer ioyne themselues to this people, shalbe blessed.

g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himselfe as a protection, and safegard vnto them as a most sufficient fruite and profite.

h Signifying that the true wisedome and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

Ioel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly hee threatneth greater plagues, because they grew dayly to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly hee exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart, because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophecy against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer & fasting, for the misery that was at hand.

THe worde of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O [a] Elders, and hearken yee, all inhabitants of the land, whether [b] such a thing hath beene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the Palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the residue of the grashopper hath the canker-worme eaten, and the residue of the canker-worme hath the caterpiller eaten.

5 Awake ye [c] drunkards, and weepe, and howle all yee drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall bee pulled from your mouth.

a Signifying the Princes, the Priests, and the Gouernours.

b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements, who had often plagued the sinnes of the fathers for the sinne of their sonnes, which sinned after their fathers, to call them to repentance.

c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse and drunkennesse was taken away.

6 Yea, [d] a nation commeth vpon my land, mightie, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and he hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my fig tree, hee maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the [e] husband of her youth.

9 The meat offring, and the drinke offring is [f] cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: [g] the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vinedressers for the wheat, & for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree & the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 [h] Gird your selues and lament, yee Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come and lie all night in sackcloth, yee ministers of my God: for the meate offring, and the drinke offring is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the [i] day of the Lord is at hand, & it commeth as a destruction from the Almightie.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the herds of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beastes of the field crie also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the [k] fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse.

CHAP. II.

He propheciеth of the comming & crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

BLow [a] the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A [b] day of darkenesse, and of blacknesse, a day of clouds, and obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon the mountains, so is there a [c] great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the yeeres of many generations.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of [d] Eden before him, and behind him a desolate wildernesse, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne.

5 Like the noyse of charets in the tops of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces [e] shall gather blacknesse.

7 They shall run like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his waies, and they shall not stay in their pathes.

8 Neither shall one [f] thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fal vpon the sword, they shal not be wounded.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the citie: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shal clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

10 The earth shal tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the [g] sunne and the moone shall be darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shall [h] vtter his voyce before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strong that doth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now ỹ Lord saith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, 13 And [i] rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, & mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth, if he will [k] returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assemblie.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the k He speaketh this to stirre vp their slouthfulnes, and not that he doubteth of Gods mercies, if they repent. For God repenteth not, as Ierem. 18. 8.

[1] childzen, and those that sucke the breastes: let the bridegroome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproch that the heathen should rule ouer them. * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord bee [m] ielous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord wil answere and say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen, 20 But I wil remoue farre off from you the [n] Northren armie, and I will drive him into a land, barren and desolate with his face toward the [o] East sea, and his end to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shal come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because hee hath exalted himselfe to doe this.

21 Feare not, O land, but bee glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, yee beastes of the field: for the pastures of the wildernesse are greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for he hath giuen you the raine of [p] righteousnesse, and hee will cause to come downe for you the raine euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth, 24 And the barnes shall bee full of wheate, and the presses shal abound with wine & oyle.

25 And I wil render you the yeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpiller & the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

26 So you shall eate and bee satisfied and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilously with you: and [q] my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Yee shal also know, that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward wil I powre [q] out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes & your daughters shal prophecie, your olde men shall dreame [r] dreames, and your yong men shall see visions.

29 And also vpon the seruants, & vpon the maides in those daies will I powre my spirit.

30 And I will shew [s] wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The [t] sunne shall be turned into darkenes, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whosoeuer shal call [u] on the Name of the Lord, shall be saued: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem shall be deliuerance, as the Lord hath said, and in the [x] remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

moone the godly to call vpon the Name of God, who will giue them saluation.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

FOr behold, in [a] those daies and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem,

2 I will also gather all nations, and wil bring them downe into [b] the valley of Iehoshaphat, and will plead with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue cast lots for my people, and haue giuen the children [c] for the harlot, and sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and [d] what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coastes of Palestina? will ye render me [e] a recompence? and if ye recompence me, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head:

5 For ye haue taken my siluer & my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah & the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that yee might send them farre from their border.

7 Behold, I wil raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head.

8 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah: and they [f] shall sel them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

10 Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all yee heathen & gather your selues together round about: there shal the Lord cast downe the mightie men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened & come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your [h] sithes, for the haruest is ripe:

tipe to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.

[1] That as all haue sinned, so all may shew forth signes of their repentance, that men seeing the children, which are not free from Gods wrath, might be the more liuely touched with the consideration of their own sinnes.

r As they had visions and dreames in olde time, so shall they now haue clearer reuelations.
s He warneth the faithfull what terrible things should come, to the intent they should not looke for continuall quietnesse in this world, and yet in all these troubles he would preserue them.

a When I shall deliuer my Church which standeth of the Iewes, and of the Gentiles.
b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victory of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chro. 20 26. also he hath respect to this word Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.
c That which the enemy gate for the sale of my people, he bestowed vpon harlots and drinke.
d He taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemie, as though the iniuries were done to himselfe.
e Hauing done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?

f For afterward God sold them by Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had bin theirs.
g When I shall execute my iudgements against mine enemies, I will cause euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another, for my Churches sake.
h Thus he shal incourage his enemies when their wickednes is full ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is ful: yea, the winepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne and moone shall be darkned, and the starres shall withdrawe their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope [i] of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers go [k] thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines [l] drop downe new wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 [m] Egypt shall be waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wildernesse, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I wil [n] clense their blood, that I haue not clensed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

i God assureth his against all troubles, that when he destroyeth his enemies, his children shall be deliuered.

k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they doe, it is the people, which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemie.

l He promiseth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezek. 47. 1. which shall water and comfort the most barren places, Amos 9. 13.

m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of this grace.

n He had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthinesse, but now he promiseth to clense them and make them pure vnto him.

Amos.

The Argvment.

Among many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednesse and idolatrie, hee stirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reproue all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfite deliuerance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord against Damascus, 6 The Philistims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THE words of Amos, who was among the heardmen at [a] Tecoa, which hee sawe vpon Israel, in the daies of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of [b] Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel, two yeeres before the [c] earthquake.

2 And hee saide, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheards shall perish, and the toppe of [d] Carmel shall wither.

3 Thus saith the Lord, For [e] three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue [f] threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I sende a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the [g] palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I wil breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto [h] Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they [i] caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shal perish, saith the Lord God.

9 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the [k] brotherly couenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because hee did pursue his brother with the sword, and did [l] cast off all pitie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, and his wrath watched him [m] alway.

12 Therefore wil I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they d Whatsoeuer is fruitfull and pleasant in Israel shall shortly perish.

e He sheweth first that all the people round about should be destroied for their manifold sinnes: which are meant by three & foure which make seuen, because the Israelites should the more deeply consider Gods iudgements toward them.

f If the Syrians shall not bee spared for committing this cruelty against one citie, it is not possible that Israel should escape punishment which hath committed so many and grieuous sinnes against God and man.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

THus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the [a] bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kirioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, [b] I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commaundements, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, & it shal deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lord, For three transgressions of [c] Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for siluer, and the poore for [d] shooes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the [e] dust of the earth, and peruert the waies of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayde to dishonour myne holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes layde to pledge [f] by euery altar: and they [g] drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the [h] Ammorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and hee was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorowe the wildernesse, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and [i] of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Behold, I am [k] pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the [l] swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

He reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will punish them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You [a] onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit you for all your iniquities.

3 [A]Can two walke together except they be [b]agreed?

4 Will a [c] lion roare in the forest, when he hath no pray? or will a lyons whelpe cry out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?

5 [d] Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fowler is? or will hee take vp the [e] snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or [f] shal a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraid? or shall there [g] bee euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he [h] reuealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afraide? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but [i] prophecie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at [k] Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, saith the Lord: they store vp violence, and robberie [l] in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersarie shall come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoyled.

12 Thus saieth the Lord, As the shep-

[a] For the Moabites were so cruel against the King of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.

[b] Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

[c] If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

[d] They esteemed most vile things more then mens liues.

[e] When they haue spoyled him and throwen him to the ground, they gape for his life.

[f] Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being nerre mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednesse.

[g] They spoyle others and offer therof vnto God, thinking that hee will dispence with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

[h] The destruction of their enemies & his mercy toward them should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

[i] Ye contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stop the mouthes of my Prophets.

[k] You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Isa. 1.14.

[l] None shalbe deliuered by any meanes.

[a] I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people: and yet you haue forsaken me.

[b] Hereby the Prophet signifieth that he speaketh not of himselfe: but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

[c] Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

[d] Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?

[e] Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

[f] Shall the prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraid?

[g] Doth any aduersitie come without Gods appointment? Isa. 45.7.

[h] God dealeth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

[i] Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirite moued them so to speake as they did.

[k] He calleth the strangers, as the Philistims and Egyptians, to be witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their crueltie and oppression.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEare this word, ye [a] kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, [b] Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holinesse, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that he will take you away with [c] thornes, and your posteritie, with fish hookes.

3 And ye shal goe out at the breaches euerie kowe forward: & yee shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to [d] Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, & bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three [e] yeeres.

5 And offer a thankesgiuing [f] of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offrings: for this [g] liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you [h] cleannes of teeth in al your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three [i] moneths to the haruest, & I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were [k] not satisfied: yet haue yee not returned vnto mee saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of [l] Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses, & I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen in your nostrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodom & Gomorah: and yee were as a [m] firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore, thus will I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to [n] meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For lo, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the wind, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his Name.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefits, forgate God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beasts and not of men.

b They incourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them, so that they may haue profit by it.

c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes & thornes.

d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue holpe God vnto them.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEare yee this word, which I take vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The [a] virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: shee is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The city which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an [b] hundreth: & that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into [c] Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shal liue, least he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, and there bee none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne [d] iudgement to wormwood, and leaue off righteousnesse in the earth.

8 He [e] maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and hee maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the Sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 Hee strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him [f] that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and [g] ye take from him burdens of wheate, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwel in them: yee haue planted pleasant vineyardes, but yee shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions, & your mightie sins, they afflict the iust, a He so calleth them because they so boasted of themselues, or because they were giuen to wantonnes and daintinesse.

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saued.

c In these places they worshipped new idoles, which aforetime serued for the true honour of God: therefore he saith that these shall not saue them.

d In stead of iudgement & equitie they exercute cruelty and oppression.

e He describeth the power of God, Iob 9.9.

f They hate the Prophets, which reprooue them in the open assemblies.

g He take both his money and also his goode where with he should liue.

they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore [b] the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euill; that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shal be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hostes will bee mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shal be in all streets: and they shall say in all the hie waies, Alas, alas: and they shall cal the [i] husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in al the vines shalbe lamentation: for I will passe through thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you, that [k] desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darknesse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, & a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darknesse, and not light? euen darkenesse and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, & I will not smel in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though yee offer mee burnt offrings and meate offrings, [l] I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offrings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from mee the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy violes.)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as [m] waters, and righteousnes as a mightie riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offrings in the wildernesse fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?

26 But you haue borne [n] Siccuth your King and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues, 27 Therefore will I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel liuing in pleasure.

WOe to [a] them that are at ease in Zion and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, [b] which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence go you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: bee [c] they better then these kingdoms? or the border of their land greater then your border,

3 Ye that put far away the [d] euil day, and approch to the seate of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beds of yuorie, and stretch themselues vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to themselues instruments of musicke like [e] Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, & anoynt themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is [f] sory for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and [g] the sorow of them that stretched themselues is at hand.

8 [h] The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre [i] the excellencie of Iaakob, & hate his palaces: therefore wil I deliuer vp the citie with al that is therein.

9 And if there remaine tenne men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vncle [k] shall take him vp & burn him to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by the [l] sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And hee shall say, None. Then shall he say, [m] Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and hee will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts.

12 Shall horses [n] run vpon the rocke? or wil one plow there with oxen? for ye haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruit of righteousnesse into [o] worme wood.

13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: ye say, Haue not we gotten vs [p] hornes by our owne strength?

14 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entring in of [q] Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernesse.

b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: who seing before time they did nothing anaile them that were there borne, why should you looke that should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?
c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in these diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnes, then yours yet are, thinke you to be better or to escape?
d Ye that continue still in your wickednesse and think that Gods plagues are not at hand, but giue your selues to all idelnesse wantonnes and riot.
e As he caused diuers kinds of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did contriue to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lusts.
f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slaine and caried away captiue.

m They shalbe so astonished at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the name of God and that they are his people: but they shalbe dumme when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counsell.

THus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, he formed [a] grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter grouth; and loe, it was in the latter grouth [b] after the kings mowing.

a To deuoure the land: and be almoste to the inuading of the enemies.
b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some reade, when the Kings sheepe were shorne.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I said, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

c That is, staied this plague at my prayer.

3 So the Lord c repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, d and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eat vp a part.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubburnesse of this people.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for hee is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line, e with a line in his hand.

e Signifying, that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would defere his iudgement no longer.

8 And the Lord said vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in f mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

f That is, when Amos had propheried that the King should be destroyed: for this wicked Priest more for hatred he bare to the Prophet then for loue toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, whereas none other could take place.

9 And the hie places of Izhak shalbe desolate, & the temples of Israel shalbe destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ f Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the king, he assayed by another practise: that was, to feare the Prophet, that hee might depart, & not reproue their idolatry there openly, and so hinder his profit.

11 For thus Amos sayth, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also g Amaziah said vnto Amos, O thou Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophecie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chapel, & it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no h Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocation, that God had giuen him a charge, which he must needes execute.

15 And the Lord tooke mee as I followed the flock, and the Lord said vnto me, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

i Thus God vsed to approue the authority of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements against them, which were malicious enemies, Ier. 28. 12. and 29. 21, 25. as this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophesie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Izhak.

17 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, i Thy wife shalbe an harlot in the citie, & thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shalbe diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shal surely go into captiuity forth of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of summer a fruit. Then said the Lord vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

a Which signified the ripenesse of their sins, and the readinesse of Gods iudgments.

3 And the songs of the temple shalbe howlings in that day, sayeth the Lord God: many dead bodies shall be in euery place: they shall cast them forth with b silence.

b There shalbe none left to mourne for them.

4 Heare this, O ye that c swallow vp the poore, that yee may make the needy of the land to faile, c By staying the sale of food and necessary things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spend quickly that little that they haue, and at length for necessitie to become your slaues.

5 Saying, When will the d new moneth be gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath that we may set forth wheat, & make e the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

d When the dearth was once come, they were so greedy of gain, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.

e That is, the measure small, and the price great.

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needy for shooes: yea, and sel the refuse of the wheat.

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellency of Iaakob, Surely I wil neuer forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shal rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shal be cast out, and f drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shalbe drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lord God, I wil euen cause the sunne to go down at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

g In the mids of their prosperity I wil send great affliction.

10 And I wil turne your feasts into mourning: and all your songs into lamentation: and I wil bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, & baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word, which is the food thereof.

12 And they shal wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they runne to and fro to seeke the h word of the Lord, and shall not find it.

i For the idolaters did vse to sweare by their idols, which here he calleth their sinne, as the papists yet doe by theirs.

13 In that day shall the faire virgines and the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sware by the sinne i of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and k the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

k That is, the common manner of worshipping and the seruice or religion there vsed.

will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſword: hee that fleeth of them, ſhall not flee away: and he that eſcapeth of them, ſhal not be deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence wil I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themſelues in the toppe of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my ſight in the bottome of the ſea, thence will I commaund the [c] ſerpent, and hee ſhall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuity before their enemies, thence will I commaund the ſword, and it ſhall ſlay them: and I will ſet mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hoſtes ſhall touch the land, and it ſhall melt away, and all that dwell therein ſhall mourne, and it ſhall riſe vp wholly like a flood, and ſhall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his [d] ſpheres in the heauen, and hath layde the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the ſea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians [e] vnto me, O children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord? haue not I brought vp Iſrael out of the land of Egypt? and the Philiſtims from [f] Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the ſinfull kingdome, and I will deſtroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheleſſe I wil not vtterly [g] deſtroy the houſe of Iaakob, ſaith the Lord.

9 For lo, I will command and I will ſift the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, like as corne is ſifted in a ſiue: yet ſhal not the [h] leaſt ſtone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the ſinners of my people ſhal die by the ſword, which ſay, The euill ſhall not come, nor haſten for vs.

11 In that day will I raiſe vp the [i] tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and cloſe vp the breaches thereof, and I will raiſe vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of olde, 12 That they may poſſeſſe the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, becauſe my Name is called vpon them, ſaith the Lord that doth this.

13 Behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that the Plowman ſhal [l] touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that ſoweth ſeede: and the mountaines ſhall [m] drop ſweete wine, and all the hils ſhall melt.

14 [n] And I will bring againe the captiuity of my people of Iſrael: and they ſhal build the waſte cities, and inhabite them, and they ſhall plant vineyards, and drinke the wine thereof: they ſhal alſo make gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they ſhal no more be pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, ſayeth the Lord thy God.

c He ſheweth that God wil declare himſelf enemie vnto them in all places, & that his elements and all creatures ſhal be enemies to deſtroy them.

d He declareth by the wonderful power of God, by the making of the heauens and the elements, that it is not poſſible for man to eſcape his iudgments when he punitheth.

Obadiah.

The Argvment.

THe Idumeans which came of Eſau, were mortall enemies alway to the Iſraelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with ſundry kinds of cruelty but alſo ſtirred vp others to fight againſt them. Therefore when they were now in their greateſt proſperity, and did moſt triumph againſt Iſrael, which was in great affliction and miſery, God raiſed vp his Prophet to comfort the Iſraelites, foraſmuch as God had now determined to deſtroy their aduerſaries, which did ſo ſore vexe them, and to ſend them ſuch as ſhould deliuer them, and ſet vp the kingdome of Meſſiah, which he had promiſed.

THe viſion of Obadiah. Thus ſaith the Lord God againſt Edom, [a] Wee haue heard a rumour from the Lorde, and an Ambaſſadour is ſent among the heathen: a-riſe, and [b] let vs riſe vp againſt her to battell.

2 Behold, I haue made thee ſmall among the heathen: thou art vtterly deſpiſed.

3 The [c] pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwelleſt in the cleftes of the rockes, whoſe habitation is high, that ſaith in his heart, Who ſhall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy ſelfe as the eagle and make thy neſt among the ſtarres, thence will I bring thee downe, ſaith the Lord.

5 [d] Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? howe waſt thou brought to ſilence? would they not haue ſtollen, till they had ynough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue ſome grapes?

6 How are the things of Eſau ſought vp, and his treaſures ſearched?

7 All the men of thy confederacy [e] haue driuen a God hath certainely reuealed to his Prophets that he will raiſe vp the heathen to deſtroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now publiſhed, Jer. 49.14.

b Thus the heathen encourage themſelues to riſe againſt Edom.

c Which deſpiſeſt all others in reſpect of thy ſelfe, and yet art but an handfull in compariſon of others, and art ſhut vp among the hils as ſeparate from the reſt of the world.

d God wil ſo deſtroy them that he will leaue none though theeues when they come, take but till they haue inough, and they that gather grapes euer leaue ſome behinde them, Jer. 49.9

e They in whom thou didſt truſt for to haue helpe and friendſhip of them, ſhalbe thine enemies, and deſtroy thee.

driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuayled against thee: they that eate thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

f That is, thy familiar friends and ghestes haue by secret practises destroied thee.

8 Shall not I in that day, sayth the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shalbe afraide, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom now he cõforteth by punishing their enemies.

10 For thy cruelty against thy g brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, & hadst part of the spoile, and so didst reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldst haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

11 When thou stoodest h on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away his substance, & strangers entered into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made i a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudely in the day of affliction.

i When the Lord depriued them of their former dignity, and gaue them to be caried into captiuity.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layd handes on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stande in the crosse wayes to cut off them that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day k of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall bee done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

k When he will summon all the heathen, and leuy them to destroy thee.

16 For as yee haue l drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shal all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shal drinke and swallow vp, and they shall bee m as though they had not bene.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shalbe vtterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies, I will reserue my Church and restore it.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall bee deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions, n God attributeth this power, to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to him selfe, as Isa. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. heb. 12. 29.

18 And the house of Iaakob shall bee n a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall bee no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

o He describeth how the Church shalbe enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder Christ, when as the faithfull are made heyres and lords of all things by him which is their head.

19 And they shal possesse the South side of the o mount of Esau, & the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the p Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuity of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen: and by Zarephath, Frances and by Sepharad, Spaine.

21 And they q that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whome the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome.

Ionah.

The Argument.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had litle profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because hee had appoynted, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mighty power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see howe horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Ioash, and Ieroboam, as 2. Kings 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THe word of the Lord came a also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying, a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel after that for a time he had prophesied in Iuda, he had visions in Babylon, Eze. 1. 1.

2 Arise, and go to b Nineueh, that c great city, and cry against it: for their wickednes is come vp before me.

3 But Ionah rose vp to d flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, & went downe to e Japho: and he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he paid the fare thereof, & went downe into it, that he might go with them vnto Tarshish, from the f presence of the Lord.

d Whereby he declareth his weakenes, & wouldnot promptly follow the Lords calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that he should nothing at all profite there, seeing he had none so small good among his owne people, Chap. 4. 2.

4 But the Lord sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the shippe, into the sea to b For seeing the great obstinacy of the Israelites, hee sent his Prophets to the Gentiles that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe city of the Assyrians.

c For as authours write, it conteines in circuite about eight and forty mile, and had a thousand and fiue hundred towres, and at this time there were an hundred and twenty thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 11.

e Which was the hauen and porte to the shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

f From that vocation wherevnto God had called him, and wherein he would haue vsed him.

lighten

lighten it of the: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy [b] God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs that we perish not.

7 And they saide euery one to his fellow, Come, & let vs cast [i] lots, that wee may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then sayde they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euil is vpon vs: what is thine occupation? and whence commest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Ebrewe, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and sayd vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew, that he fled from the presence of the Lorde, because hee had tolde them)

11 Then sayd they vnto him, What shall wee doe vnto thee, that the sea may bee calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he sayd vnto them, Take mee, and cast mee into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lorde, and sayd, [k] We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, & cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men [l] feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Nowe the Lorde had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the [m] belly of the fish three dayes, and three nights.

g As one that would haue cast off this care and solicitude, by seeking rest and quietnesse.
h As they had called on their idoles, which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certainty, but in their troubles seeke, they cannot tell to whom.
i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremity and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.
k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shed mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednes.
l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God, by whō they saw themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare, and not of a pure heart & affection, neither according to Gods word.
m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was inioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 Hee is deliuered.

Then Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God [a] out of the fishes belly,

2 And said, I cried in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly [b] of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voice.

3 For thou haddest cast mee into the bottom in the mids of the sea, and the floods compassed mee about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I sayd, I am [c] cast away out of thy sight: yet wil I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed mee about vnto the soule: the depth closed mee round about, and the weedes were wrapt about my head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my [d] life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembred the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying [e] vanities, forsake their owne [f] mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

a Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedy to escape, his faith brast out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him. b For hee was now in the fishes belly as in a graue or place of darkenesse.
c This declareth what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gate the victory.
d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish and all these dangers, as it were raising me from death to life.
e They that depend vpon any thing saue on God alone.
f They refuse their owne felicity, and that goodnes which they should els receiue of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineueh.

And the word of the Lorde came vnto [a] Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a [b] great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes [c] iourney, and hee cryed, and sayd, Yet fourty dayes, and Nineueh shall be ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh [d] beleeued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackecloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, & couered him with sackecloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And hee proclaimed and saide through Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor [e] beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feed, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and [f] crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednes that is in their hands.

9 [g] Who can tell if God will turne, and a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiueth him againe and sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great inconstancy.

b Reade Chap. 1. 2. c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.
d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them. e Not that the dumbe beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might bee astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.
f He willed that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercy.
g For partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conscience hee doubted whether God would shew them mercy.

repent

repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their [h] workes, that they turned from their euill wayes: and [i] God repented of the euil that he had said that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

h That is, the fruits of their repentance, which diuerseeue of faith which God had planned by the ministerie of his Prophet.
i Read Ier. 18.8

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnes of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it displeased [a] Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he praied vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto [b] Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take I beseech thee, my life [c] from me: for it is better for mee to die then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Doest thou well to be [d] angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the city and sate on the East side of the citie, & there made him a boothe, and sate vnder it in the shadowe [e] till he might see what should be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a [f] gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Jonah, that it might bee a shadow ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East wind: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and sayd, It is better for me to die, then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Jonah, Doest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he sayd, I doe well to be [g] angry vnto the death.

10 Then sayde the Lorde, Thou hast had pitie on the gourde for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should [h] not I spare Nineueh that great city, wherein are sixescore thousand persons, that [i] can not discerne betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and also much cattell?

a Because hereby he should be take as a false prophet and so the Name of God which he preached, should be blasphemed.
b Read chap. 1.3
c Thus he praied of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgiuenes might be blasphemed as though he sent his Prophets for to denounce his iudgements in vaine.
d Wilt thou be iudge when I do things for my glory, and when I doe not?
e For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercy or no: and therefore after fourty dayes he departed out of the citie, looking what issue God would send.
f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heate of the sunne, as he remained in his boothe.
g This declareth the great inconueniences wherein Gods seruants do fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and do not in all things willingly submit themselues to God.
h Thus God mercifully reproueth him, which would pity himselfe, and this gourd, and yet would restraine God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people.
i Meaning, that they were children & infants.

Micah.

The Argument.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah serued in the worke of the Lord concerning Iudah and Israel at the least thirty yeres: at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatry. And to this end he noteth the wickednes of the people, the cruelty of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false prophets, & the delighting in them. Then he setteth forth the comming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab and all his false prophets, as 1. Kings 22.8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatry.

THe word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the [a] Morashite in the dayes of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Judah, which he sawe concerning Samaria, and Jerusalem.

2 Heare, [b] all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lorde God be witnesse against you, euen the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come [c] downe, and tread vpon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleaue) as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednes of Jaakob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Jaakob? Is not [d] Samaria? and which are the [e] hie places of Judah? Is not Jerusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I wil discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images therof shalbe broken, and all the [f] gifts thereof shalbe burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for thee gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the Dragons, and mourning a Borne in Morshah a city of Iudah.

b Because of the malice and obstinacy of the people whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he summoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures & God himselfe to witnesse that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shalbe reuenged.
c Meaning hereby, that God will come to iudgement against the strong cities and holds.
d Samaria which should haue bene an example to all Israel of true religion and iustice, was the pattern & shewes of all idolatry and corruption.
e boasted themselues of their father Jaakob.
e That is, the idolatry and infection.
f Which they gathered by euill practises, and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their seruice vnto them.
g The gaine that came by their idoles, shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they wisely and speedily spent.

mourning as the Ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare yee it not at [h] Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of [i] Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at [k] Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanan shal not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemy shall [l] receiue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the [m] gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, bind the charet to the beastes [n] of price: she [o] is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth [p] Gath: the houses of Achzib shall be as a lie to the Kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an [q] heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, he shall come vnto Adullam, [r] the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the Eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

h Lest the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destrucion.
i Which was a city neere to Ierusalem, Iosh. 18 23. there called Ophrah, and signifieth dust: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themselues in the dust for their dusky city.
k These were cities whereby the enemy should passe as he came to Iudah.
l Hee shall not depart before he hath ouercome you, and so you shall pay for his tarying.
m For Rabshaketh had shut vp Ierusalem, that they could not send to succour them.
n To flee away: for Sanherib laid siege first to that city, and remained therein when he sent his captaines and army against Ierusalem.
o Thou first receiuedst the idolatrie of Ieroboam, and so diddest infect Ierusalem.
p Thou shalt bribe the Philistims thy neighbours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem.
q He prophesieth against his owne citie, and because it signified an heritage, hee sayeth that God would send an heire to possesse it.
r For so they thought themselues for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton and dainty people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WO vnto them that imagine iniquity, and worke wickednesse vpon their beds: [a] when the morning is light they practise it because their hand † hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this family haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not goe so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, [b] We be vtterly wasted: hee hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a coard by lot in [c] the congregation of the Lord.

a Alloone as they rise, they execute their wicked deuises of the night, and according to their power hurt others.
† Ebr is in power

b Thus the Iewes lament & say that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are diuided among the enemies.
c Ye shall haue no more lands to diuide, as you haue in times past, and as you vsed to measure them in the Iubile.

6 [d] They that prophesied, Prophesie yee not. [e] They shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iaakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortened? [f] are these his workes? are not my words good vnto him that walketh vprightly?

8 But he that was [h] yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemy: they spoile the [i] beautiful garment from them that passe by peacably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away [k] my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your [l] rest: because it is polluted, it shal destroy you euen with a sore destruction.

11 If a man [m] walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsly, saying, [n] I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen be the prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather [o] thee wholly, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I wil put them together as the sheep of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the middes of their folde: the cities shalbe ful of brute of the men.

13 The [p] breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and go out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shalbe [q] vpon their heads.

d Thus the people warne the Prophets that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.
e God saith that they shal not prophesie nor receiue no more of their rebukes or taunts.
f Are these your workes according to his law?
g Do not the godly finde my words comfortable?
h That is, alate time.
i The poore can haue no commodity by them, but they spoile them, as though they were enemies.
k That is, their substance and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were, part of his glory.
l Ierusalem shal not be your safegard, but the cause of your destruction.
m That is, he that himselfe to be a Prophet.
n He sheweth what Prophets they delight in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.
o To destroy thee.
p The enemy shall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Exiles.
q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyranny of princes and false prophets.

AND I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and ye princes of the house of Israel: should not ye know [a] iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skinnes from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the [b] flesh of my people, and flay off their skinne from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then [c] shal they crie vnto the Lord, but he wil not heare them: he wil euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus sayth the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and [d] bite them with their teeth, and crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him, a That thing which is iust and lawfull, both to gouerne my people aright, and also to discharge your owne conscience?

b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernors not only of couetousnesse, theft and murther, but compareth them to wolues, lions, and most cruel beasts.
c That is, when I shal visit their wickednes: for though I heare the godly before they cry, Isa. 65. 24. yet I will not heare these though they cry, Isa. 1. 15. and Eze. 8. 18. Iam. 2. 13. 1. pet. 3. 11, 12.
d They deuoure all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well: but if one restraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischiefe.

6 There-

e As you haue loued to walke in darkenes, and to prophesie lies, so God shall reward you with grosse blindnes, and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shall as blinde men grope as in the night.

6 Therefore [e] night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkenes shal be vnto you for a diuination, and the Sunne shall goe downe ouer the Prophets, and the day shall be darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the Soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer [f] their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.

f When God shall discouer them to the world, they shall be afraide to speake: for all shall know that they were but false prophets, and did belie the word of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full [g] of power by the spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing howe God both gaue him gifres, habilitie and knowledge, to discerne betweene good and euill, and also constancie to reproue the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heades of the house of Iaakob, and Princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with [h] blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priestes thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they [i] leane vpon the Lorde, and say, Is not the Lorde among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee [k] plowed as a fielde, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the high places of the forest.

h They builde [h]em houses by briberie, which bee called blood and iniquitie.
i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his Name as a pretence to cloke their hypocrisie. k Reade Ierem. 26.18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed.
b Reade Isa. 2.2.
c Yee sheweth that there is no true Church but whereas the people are taught by Gods pure word.
d By his corrections and threatnings he will bring the people into subiection, which are in the vtmost corners of the world.
e They shall abstaine from all euill doing, and exercise themselues in godlines and in well doing to others.
f Reade Isa. 2.4.
g He sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all the world should giue themselues to their superstition & idolatrie.

BUt in the [a] last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of ỹ house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it shalbe exalted aboue the [b] hils, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lorde, and to the house of the God of Iaakob, and he will [c] teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: for the Lawe shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lorde from Ierusalem.

3 And he shall iudge among many people, and [d] rebuke mightie nations a farre off, and they shal breake their swordes into mattocks, and their speares into [e] sithes: nation shal not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they [f] learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraide: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke [g] euery one in the name of his God, and we will walke in the Name of the Lorde our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, [h] a remnant, and her that was cast far off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

h I will cause that Israel, which is now as one lame and halting, and is almost destroyed, shall liue againe and grow into a great people.

8 And thou, O [i] tower of the flocke, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen [k] the first dominion; and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

i Meaning, Ierusalem, where the Lordes flocke was gathered.
k The flourishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ.

9 Now why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is [l] there no King in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorrowe hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and temptations, when they saw themselues neither to haue king nor counsell.

10 Sorrow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for nowe shalt thou goe foorth of the citie, and dwell in the fielde, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shal redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they [m] knowe not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for hee shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

m He sheweth that the faithful ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the rages and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.

13 Arise, and thresh, [n] O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, & thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

n God giueth his Church this victorie so oft as hee ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shall be at the last comming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-leem.

NOw assemble thy garisons, O daughter [a] of garisons: he hath layd siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

a He forewarneth them of the dangers that shall come before they enioy these comforts, shewing that forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garisons to trouble others, the Lord would now cause other garisons to besiege her, and that her Rulers should be smitten on the face most contemptuously.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art [b] little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shal he come forth vnto me, that shall bee the Ruler in Israel: whose [c] goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting.

b For so the Iewes diuided their countrey, that for euery thousand there was a chiefe captaine: and because Beth-lehem was not able to make a thousand, he calleth it little, but yet God will raise vp his captaine and gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefit, as Matth. 2.6. c He sheweth that the comming of Christ and all his payes were appointed of God from all eternity.

3 Therefore will hee giue them vp, vntill the time that [d] shee which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

d He compareth the Iewes to women with child, who for a time should haue great sorowes, but at length they should haue a comfortable deliuerance, Iohn 16.21.

4 And hee shall [c] stand, and feede in the strength of the Lord, and in the Maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, & they shall dwell still: for now shall hee bee magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he [f] shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when hee shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seuen shepheards, and eight principall men.

6 And they shal destroy [g] Asshur with the sword, and the lande of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall hee [h] deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee commeth into our land, and when he shall tread within our borders.

7 And the [i] remnant of Iaakob shall be among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob shall be among the Gentiles in the mids of many people, as the Lyon among the beastes of the forest, and as the Lyons whelpe among the flocks of sheepe, who when hee goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall bee lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I wil cut off thine [k] horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine inchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, [l] which they haue not heard.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkind, 6 What maner of sacrifices doe please God.

HEarken ye now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the [a] mountaines, and let the hils heare thy voice.

2 Heare yee, O mountaines, the Lords quarell, and yee mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and he will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieued thee? testifie against me.

4 Surely I [b] brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from [c] Shittim vnto Gilgal, that yee may know the [d] righteousnes of the Lord.

6 Wherewith [e] shall I come before the Lord, and bow my selfe before the high God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yeere old?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shal I giue my [f] first borne for my transgression, euen the fruite of my body, for the sinne of my soule?

8 Hee hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercy, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voice crieth vnto the [h] citie, and the man of wisedome shall see thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men [i] thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke, in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not bee satisfied, and [k] thy casting downe shalbe in the middes of thee, and thou [l] shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt tread the oliues, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make sweet wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the [m] statutes of Omri are kept, and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and yee walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shal beare the reproch of my people.

---

[b] That is, Christs kingdome shalbe stable and euerlasting, and his people, as well the Gentiles as the Iewes shal dwel in safetie.

[f] This Messiah shalbe a sufficient safegard for vs, and though the enemie inuade vs for a time, yet shall God stirre vp many which shall be able to deliuer vs.

[g] These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time.

[h] By these gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemie commeth into our land.

[i] This remnant or Church which God shal deliuer, shall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man.

[k] I will destroy all things wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy pains confidence and idolatrie, and so will helpe thee.

[l] It shall be so terrible that the like hath not bene heard of.

[a] He taketh the high mountaines and hard rocks to witnesse against the obstinacie of his people.

[b] I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefits vpon thee.

[c] That is, remember my benefits from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

[d] That is, the trueth of his promise, and his manifold benefits toward you.

[e] Thus the people by hypocrisie alke howe to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

[f] There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoid his anger: but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affections, and to giue themselues willingly to serue God as he commandeth.

[g] The Prophet in few wordes calleth them to the obseruation of the seconde table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this.

[h] Meaning that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his Maiesty, and consider not the mortal man that bringeth the threatning, but God that sendeth it.

[i] That is, of Ierusalem.

[k] Thou shalt be consumed with inward griefe & euils.

[l] Meaning, that the citie should go about to saue her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preserue.

[m] You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alleage the kings authoritie by his statutes, and also wisedome and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment, but I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 12.47.

CHAP. VII.

A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednes of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

WOe is me, for I am as [a] the summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruits.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: [b] they all lie in waite for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euil of their hands, the Prince asked, and the Iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the [c] great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so [d] they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as [e] a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of [f] thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shalbe their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore [g] I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, [h] O mine enemie: though I fall, I shal arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill hee pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me foorth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

10 Then shee that is mine enemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which sayde vnto mee, Where is the Lorde thy GOD? Mine eyes shall beholde her: now shall shee be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

11 This is [i] the day that thy wals shall bee built: this day shall driue farre away [k] the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from [l] Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of [m] their inuentions.

14 [n] Feede thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwel solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 [o] According to the daies of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I shew vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see and be confounded for all their power: they shall [p] lay their hand vpon their mouth: [q] their eares shall bee deafe.

17 They shal [r] licke the dust like a serpent: they shal moue out of their holes like wormes: they shall bee afrayd of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and [s] passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! He reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: hee will subdue our iniquities, and cast all [t] their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy [u] trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in old time.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all hee fruites are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to craftie and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

b He sheweth that the Prince, the Iudge and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill, and to cloke the doings one of another.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednes nor iniurie.

d These men agree among themselues, and conspire with one consent to doe euill.

e They that are of most estimation, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperate euils, is to flee vnto God for succour.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant church her enemie.

i To wit, when God shall shew himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

l When the Church shalbe restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holdes, riuers, seas nor mountaines shall be able to let them.

m After this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth is selfe, which can not sinne, shalbe made waste, because of their wickednesse.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitarie places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them as in time past.

o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people and to be her bene afore time.

p They shalbe as dumbe men, and dare brag no more.

q They shall be astonished and afraid to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction.

r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare.

s As though he would not see it, but winke at it.

t Meaning, of his elect.

u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promise, which hee had made of old to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

Nahum.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and ready to receiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time, rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomit, & prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan king of Babylon (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophesied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THe [a] burden of Nineueh. [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkeshite.

2 God is [d] ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and hee reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The [f] Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feet.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and he drieth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world, and all that dwel therein.

6 [g] Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rocks are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good [h] and as a strong holde in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, hee wil vtterly destroy the [i] place therof, and darknesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe yee [k] imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For hee shall come as vnto [l] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall bee deuoured as stubble fully dried.

11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counseller.

12 Thus saith the Lord, Though they be [n] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they bee cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement cõcerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods wil I cut off the grauen & the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 *Behold vpon the mountaines the feet of him that declareth and publisheth [p] peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe thorow thee: he is vtterly cut off.

* Isa. 52.7. rom. 10.15.

p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Sanherib.

CHAP. II.

He describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THe [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to thy way: make thy loines strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mightie men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in scarlet: the charets shall be as in the fire, and flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the strectes: they shall runne to and fro in the high wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoote like the lightning.

5 [f] Hee shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the wals thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the riuer shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shall bee led away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineueh is [g] of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe.

9 [h] Spoile ye the siluer, spoile the gold: for there is none end of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [i] Shee is emptie and voyd and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all loynes, and the faces [k] of them all gather blacknesse.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the Lyons and the pasture of the Lyons whelpes? where the Lyon, and the Lyoneſſe walked, and the Lyons whelpe, and none made them afraid.

12 The Lyon did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and wozied for his Lyoneſſe, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with spoile.

13 Behold, I come vnto thee, sayeth the Lord of hosts, & I wil burne her charets in the a Reade Isa. 13.1.

b The vision or reuelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Ninenites.

c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.

d Meaning, of his glory.

e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer aslwageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.

f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.

g If all creatures be at Gods commandement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe, & thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?

h Lest the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them.

i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians in such sort, as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe.

k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church were against God, and therefore hee would so destroy them at once, that he should not need to returne the second time.

l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall bee nothing able to resist him.

m Which may be vnderstood either of Sanherib or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh.

n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, he wil destroy them: notwithstanding he comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an end of punishing them the Assyrians.

o Meaning Sanherib, who should haue no more children, but be slaine in the house of his gods, 2. King. 19.36,37.

The Caldeans victories.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readines to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet describeth the enterprises of the Assyrians, which prepared to resist him.

b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies, by whom he scourged them, reade Isa. 10.12.

c Signifying that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed.

d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie blood one of another to discourage them.

e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.

f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.

g The Assyrians will flatter themselues and say, that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes cannot touch, but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe, though men would call them.

h God commandeth the enemies to spoyle Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures.

i That is, Nineueh, and the men thereof shal be after this sort.

k Reade Joel 2.6.

l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruell like the Lyons, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wiues and children.

m That is, assoone as my wrath beginneth to kindle.
n Signifying the Heralds, which were accustomed to proclaime warre. Some reade of thy gumme teeth wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruise the bones of the poore.

m smoke, and the sword shall deuoure thy yong Lyons, and I will cut off thy spoile from the earth, and the voyce of thy n messengers shall no more be heard.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

a It neuer ceaseth to spoile and robbe.
b He sheweth how the Caldeans shall haste, and how courageous their horses shall be in beating the ground, when they come against the Assyrians.

O Bloodie citie, it is full of lies, and robberie: a the prey departeth not:
2 The noise of a whip, b and the noise of the mouing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets.
3 The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none ende of their corpses: they stumble vpon their corpses, c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and subtiltie entiseth yong men, and bringeth them to destruction.

4 Because of the multitude of the fornications of the c harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and selleth the people through her whoredom, & the nations through her witchcrafts.
5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, saieth the Lord of hostes, and will discouer thy skirtes vpon thy face, and will shewe the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.
6 And I wil cast a filth vpon thee, & make thee vile, and will set thee as a gazing stocke.
7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for theee?

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations, and yet was nowe destroyed.

8 Art thou better then d No, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditch was the Sea, and her wall was from the Sea?
9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim ‖ were her helpers.

‖ Or, thine.

10 Yet was she caried away, and went into captiuity: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mightie men were bound in chaines.
11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe, because of the enemie.
12 All thy strong cities shall be like figge trees with the first ripe figges: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.
13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shall be opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shall deuoure thy barres.
14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holdes: goe into the clay, and temper the morter: make strong bricke.
15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eat thee vp like the e locusts, though thou be multiplied like the locusts, and be multiplied like the grashopper.

e Signifying that Gods iudgements shall suppresse both the Assyrians, these resembling are with rains or change of weather.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy merchants aboue the starres of heauen: the locust spoileth and flieth away.
17 Thy Princes are as the grashoppers, and thy captaines as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the cold day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away, and their place is not knowen where they are.
18 Thy f shepheards doe sleepe, O King of Assur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

f Thy Prince and counsellors.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the bruit of thee, shall clappe the hands ouer thee: for vpon g whome hath not thy malice passed continually?

g Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

Habakkuk.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kind of affliction and cruelty, and yet can see none end. Therefore hee had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubburnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this, that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelte shall bee at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer wherewith they should comfort themselues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

THe burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.
2 O Lord, how long shal I cry and thou wilt not heare! euen cry out vnto thee a for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God, and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none vprightnesse but in many places prevarication of the law, violation of religion &c.

3 Why doest thou shewe mee iniquitie and cause mee to behold sorrow? for spoiling, and violence are before me: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.
4 Therefore the Law is dissolued, and iudgement doth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth [b] compasse about the righteous: therefore [c] wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and maruell: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: [d] yee will not beleeue it, though it be told you.

6 For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall go vpon the breadth of the land to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: [e] their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceede of themselues.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the *euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flee as the eagle hasting to meat.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an [f] Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, [g] as the sand.

10 And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shall bee a scorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong hold: for they shal gather [h] dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they [i] take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art thou not of olde, O Lord my God, mine Holy one? we shall [k] not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not beholde wickednesse: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressours, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the [l] fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them?

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, & gather it in their parne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their [m] net, and burne incense vnto their parne, because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net, and not spare continually to slay [n] the nations?

CHAP. II.

2 A vision, 5 Against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennes, and idolatrie.

I Will stand vpon my [a] watch, and set me vpon the tower, and will looke and see what hee will say vnto mee, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered mee, and said Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may run [b] that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the [c] last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Behold, [d] hee that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith,

5 Yea, in deed the proud man is as [e] hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall hee not endure, because hee hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot bee satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a tanting prouerb against him, and say, Ho, he that increaseth that which is not his: [f] how long? and he that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall [g] they not rise vp suddenly, that shal bite thee? and awake, that shal stirre thee? and thou shalt be their praye?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoile thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwel therein.

6 Ho, hee that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou [h] hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the [i] stone shall cry out of the wall and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the [k] Lord of hostes that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen wearie themselues for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall [l] bee filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the Sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour [m] drinke: thou iopnest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame [n] for glory:

a To suppresse him, if any should shew himselfe zealous of Gods iustice.
b Because the iudges which should redresse his excesse, are as euill as the rest.
c As in times past you would not beleeue Gods word, so shall ye not now beleeue the strange plagues which are at hand.
d They themselues shall be your iudges in this cause, and none shall haue authoritie ouer them to controule them. e Zeph. 3. 3.
f For the Iewes most feared this blast, because it destroyed their fruits.
g They shalbe so many in number.
h They shal cast vp mounts against it.
i The Prophet comforteth the faithfull, that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall spoile this victorie, and become proud and insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idoles.
k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, and all that their sinnes require such a sharpe rod.
l So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

m Meaning, that the enemies scatter themselues, and glory in their owne force, power, and wit.
n Meaning, that they should not.

a I will renounce mine own iudgement, and onely depend on God to be guided, and to be armed against all temptations.

b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth may read it.
c Which concerned the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hastie affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appointed.
d To trust in himselfe, or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom. 1. 17. gal. 3. 11. heb. 10. 38.
e He compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish, and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans.
f Signifying, that all the world shall with the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression and couetousnes, they heape but vpon themselues more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.
g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians.
h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelties and oppression.
i The stones of the house shall cry and say, that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and say the same of it selfe.
k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire.
l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appeare through all the world.
m He reproacheth thus the King of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnesse and cruelties, so hee prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the end brought them to shame.
n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.

drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lordes right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spewing shall be for thy glory.

17 For the o crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoile of the beasts, which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the p image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though hee that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: q beholde, it is layde ouer with golde and siluer: and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

o Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like crueltie shalbe exercised against them.

p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them: for they were but blocks or stones, read Jer. 10.8.

q If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

CHAP. III.

2 A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the a ignorances.

2 b O Lord, I haue heard thy voice, and was afraid: O Lord, reuiue thy c worke in the middes of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from d Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise.

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: e hee had hornes comming out of his handes, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 Hee stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bow: his f wayes are euerlasting.

7 g For his iniquitie I sawe the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the h riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the Sea, that thou diddest ride i vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy k bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the l othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah. thou m diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water n passed by: the deepe made a noise, and lift vp his hand on high.

11 The o sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: p at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the lande in anger, and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine q Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the r necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest s strike thorow with his owne staues the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the Sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I t heard, my belly trembled: my lippes shooke at the voice: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in u the day of trouble: for when he commeth vp x vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the figge tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vines: the labour of the Oliue shall faile, and the fields shall yeeld no meate: the sheepe shall bee cut off from the folde, and there shall bee no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy y in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feete like Hindes feete, and he will make mee to walke vpon mine high places. z To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afraid when they heard Gods threatnings, & prayed.

c That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

d Teman and Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now, as it was then.

e Whereby is meant a power, that was ioyned with his brightnesse, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reuealed in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31.16.

f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when he would deliuer his Church.

g The iniquitie of this king of Syria in vexing thy people was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 1.10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7.22.

h Meaning, that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this meanes he would destroy his enemies and deliuer his Church.

i And so vsed all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

k That is, thy power.

l For he had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posteritie. Reade Numb. 20.12.

m He alludeth to the red Sea and Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their hands.

n As appeareth, Iosh. 10.12.

o According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

p Signifying that there is no saluation, but by Christ.

q From the top to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.

r God destroyeth his enemies both great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.

s He remembreth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of Gods iudgements.

t He sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.

u That is, the enemie that shall spoile shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.

x That is, the enemie that shall spoile shall be y Her declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.

z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musicke haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

Zephaniah.

The Argument.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should be vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he propheciedh of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians, and others, to assure them that

God

God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercy by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Iosiah, the sonne of * Amon king of Iudah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, sayth the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the [a] foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, sayth the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the [b] Themarims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the host of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by [c] Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be stil at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his guests.

8 And it shall be in the day of the Lordes sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the kings children, and al such as are clothed with [d] strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that [e] dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their maisters houses by crueltie and deceit.

10 And in that day, sayth the Lord, there shalbe a noise, and cry from the [f] fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

11 Howle yee inhabitants of [g] the lowe place: for the companie of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with [h] lights, and visite the men that are frosen [i] in their dregs, and say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor do euill.

13 Therefore their goods shall be spoiled, and their houses waste: * they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voice of the day of the Lord: the [k] strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of cloudes and blackenesse, 16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blinde men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall bee powred out as dust, and their flesh as the doung.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their golde shall be able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land shall be deuoured by the fire of his iealousie: for hee shall make euen a speedie riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

1 He moueth to returne to God, 5 Prophecying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites and others.

GAther [a] your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be loued,

2 Before the decree come foorth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lordes anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which [b] haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnesse, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For [c] Azzah shall bee forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall drive out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rooted vp.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the Sea [d] coast: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistims, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shalbe dwellings and cottages for shepheards and sheepfolds.

7 And that coast shall bee for the [e] remnant of the house of Iudah to feed thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge

c The wicked thus boasted that God was euer among them, but the Prophet answereth that that cannot excuse their wickednesse: for God will not beare with their sinnes: yet that he did patiently abide and sent his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but he profited nothing.

4 Her prophets are light and wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the Sanctuarie: they haue wrested the Law.

5 The [c] iust Lord is in the mids thereof: hee will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth he bring his iudgement to light, hee faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

6 I haue [d] cut off the nations: their towers are desolate: I haue made their streetes waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant.

d By the destruction of other nations he sheweth that the Iewes should haue learned to feare God.

7 I said, Surely thou wilt feare mee: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling should not bee destroyed howsoeuer I visited them, but [e] they rose earely and corrupted all their workes.

e They were most earnest and readie to doe wickedly.

8 Therefore [f] wait yee vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to the pray: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall bee deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

f Seeing ye will not repent, you shall looke for my vengeance as well as other nations.

i For they shall haue full remission of their sinnes and the hypocrites which boasted of the Temple, which was also thy pride in times past, shalbe taken from thee.

bare the reproch for [o] it.

o That is, them that were had in hatred and reuiled for the Church and because of their religion.

p I will deliuer the Church which now is afflicted, as Micah 4.6.

q As among the Assyrians and Caldeans which did mocke them, and put them to shame.

Haggai.

The Argument.

When the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachie to comfort the Iewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiritual Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellency stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God then sent among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that hee hath begun, and send Christ whom he had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfite ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of King [a] Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto [b] Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Judah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, [c] that the Lordes house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lorde by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your [d] sieled houses, and this House lye waste?

5 Now therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 [e] Yee haue sowen much, and bring in little: yee eate, but yee haue not enough: yee drinke, but yee are not filled: yee clothe you, but yee bee not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe [f] vp to the mountaine and bring wood, and build this House, and [g] I will be fauourable in it, and I will [h] be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and loe, it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe [i] vpon it. And why, sayth the Lorde of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruite.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth foorth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the [k] voice of the Lord their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, sayth the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp [l] the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lord of hosts their God, a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis, and the third King of the Persians, as some thinke.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had needed to be stirred vp and admonished of their duties, what shall we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very colde in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie and priuate profite to religion, being content with small beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.

e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and because ye seeke not him first of all.

f Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion. g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promise, 1. Kin. 8. 31, 29. h That is, my glory shall be set forth by you.

i And so bring it to nothing.

k This declared that God was the author of the doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exod. 14. 31. iung. 7. 20 acts 15. 28.

l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts and giue them new spirits, John 6. 44.

CHAP. II.

Hee sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceed the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth, in the second yeere of King Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the reſidue of the people, ſaying,

4 Who is left among you, that ſaw this [a] House in her firſt glory, and how doe you ſee it now? is it not in your eyes, in compariſon of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, ſayth the Lord, and bee of good comfort, O Iehoshua, ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be ſtrong, all ye people of the land, ſayth the Lord, and [b] doe it: for I am with you, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

6 According to the worde that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: ſo my Spirit ſhall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, [c] Yet a little while, and I will ſhake the heauens and the earth, and the ſea, and the drie land:

8 And I will mooue all nations, and [d] the deſire of all nations ſhall come, and I will fill this House with glory, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

9 The [e] ſiluer is mine, and the golde is mine, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

10 The glory of this laſt House ſhall bee greater then the firſt, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes: and in this place will I giue [f] peace, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the ſecond yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, ſaying, 12 Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, Aſke now the Prieſts concerning the Lawe, and ſay, 13 If one beare [g] holy fleſh in the ſkirt of his garment, and with his ſkirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oile, or any meate, ſhall it be holy? And the Prieſtes anſwered, and ſaid, No.

14 Then ſaid Haggai, If a polluted perſon touch any of theſe, ſhall it bee vncleane? And the Prieſts anſwered, and ſayd, It ſhall be vncleane.

15 Then anſwered Haggai, and ſayd, So is this people, and ſo is this nation before me, ſaith the Lord: and ſo are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, conſider in your mindes: from this [h] day, and afore, euen afore a ſtone was laide vpon a ſtone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 [i] Before theſe things were, when one came to an heape of twentie meaſures, there were but tenne: when one came to the wine-preſſe for to drawe out fiftie veſſels out of the preſſe, there were but twentie.

18 I ſmote you with blaſting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your handes: yet you turned not to me, ſaith the Lord.

19 Conſider, I pray you, in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore, from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lordes Temple was layde: conſider it in your mindes.

20 Is the [l] ſeede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bleſſe you.

21 And againe the worde of the Lorde came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, ſaying, 22 Speake vnto Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and ſay, I [m] will ſhake the heauens and the earth.

23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of Kingdomes, and I will deſtroy the ſtrength of the [n] Kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charets, and thoſe that ride in them, and the horſe and the riders ſhall come downe, euery one by the ſworde of his brother.

24 In that day, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my ſeruant, the ſonne of Shealtiel, ſayth the Lorde, and will make thee as a [o] signet: for I haue choſen thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

a For the people according as Iſa 32. 11. and Ezek. 41. 1. had prophecied, thought this Temple ſhould haue beene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was deſtroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meane the ſpirituall Temple, the Church of Chriſt.

b That is, goe forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorteth them to patience though they ſee not as yet this Temple ſo glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this ſhould be accompliſhed in Chriſt, by whom all things ſhould be renewed.

d Meaning, Chriſt, whom all ought to looke for and deſire: or by deſire, hee may ſignifie all precious things, as riches, and ſuch like.

e Therefore when his time commeth, he can make all the treaſures of the world to ſerue his purpoſe: but the glory of this ſecond Temple doeth not ſtand in materiall things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all ſpirituall bleſſings and felicitie purchaſed by Chriſt, Phil. 4. 7.

g That is, the fleſh of the ſacrifices: whereby he ſignifieth that that thing which of it ſelfe is good, cannot make another thing ſo, and therefore they ought not to iuſtifie themſelues by their ſacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary hee that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt thoſe things and make them deteſtable vnto God, which elſe are good and godly.

h Conſider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiſeth that God would bleſſe them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come foorth, yet in the gathering they ſhould haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harueſt came, and then they ſhould ſee Gods bleſſings.

m I will make a change and renue all things in Chriſt, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby he ſheweth that there ſhall be no let or hinderance when God will make this wonderfull reſtitution of his Church.

o Signifying that his dignitie ſhould be moſt excellent, which thing was accompliſhed in Chriſt.

Zechariah.

The Argvment.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begun to propheſie, Zechariah was alſo ſent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the ſame doctrine. Firſt therefore he putteth them in remembrance, for what cauſe God had ſo ſore puniſhed their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuſe this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull ſhould haue from death and ſin by Chriſt. But becauſe they ſtill remained in their wickedneſſe, and coldneſſe to ſet forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long baniſhment, he rebuketh them moſt ſharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promiſe of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Chriſt, in whom all ſhould be ſanctified to the Lord.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

2 Hee exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eschew the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of [a] Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath beene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, [d] Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the former * Prophets haue cryed, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Turne you now from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where [e] are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my words and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of [f] your fathers? and [g] they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath he dealt with vs.

7 Upon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth [h] Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I [i] sawe by night, and behold, [k] a man riding vpon a red horse, and hee stood among the myrrhe trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there [l] red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with mee, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stoode among the myrrhe trees, answered and sayd, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the myrrhe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and beholde, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the [m] Angel of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast beene displeased now these threescore and ten yeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good words and comfortable wordes.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto mee, Cry thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am [n] ielous ouer Ierusalem, and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but [o] a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shalbe builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line [p] shall bee stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet and speake, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet [q] be broken with plentie: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and saw, and behold, [r] foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure [s] Carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to doe? And hee answered, and saide, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Judah, to scatter it.

a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis.
b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2 Chro. 24. 20. but had the same name, & is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitors as of Iosada or Berechiah and Iddo.
c He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they should not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom hee so grieuously punished.
d Let your fruits declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his spirit and mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ier. 31.18. Iam. 5.21. Esa 21.8. and 31.6. and 45.21.
* Ierem. 3.12. ezek. 18.30. hosh. 14.2. ioel 2.12.
e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer. 2. Pet. 1.15.
f Seeing ye saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe not ye feare the threatnings conteined in the same, and declared by my Prophets?
g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.
h Which conteineth part of Januarie and part of Februarie.
i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church, but as yet it should not appeare to mans eyes which is here meant by the night, by the bottome, and by the myrrhe trees which are blacke, and giue a darke shadow: yet he compareth God to a King, who hath his posts and messengers abroad, by whom he still worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.
k Who was the chiefe among the rest of the horsemen.
l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels, by whom God sometime punisheth, and sometime comforteth, and bringeth forth his workes in diuers sorts.
m That is, Christ the Mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled when all the countreys about them were at rest.
n Though for a time God deferre his helpe and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them still most dearely, as a most mercifull father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.
o In destroying the reprobate I shewed my selfe but a little angry towards my Church, but the enemie would haue destroyed them all, and considered not the end of my chastisements.
p To measure out the buildings.
q The abundance shall be so great that the places of store shall not be able to containe these blessings that God will send, but shall euen breake for fulnesse.
r Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South.
s These Carpenters or Smiths are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and behold, a [a] man with a measuring line in his hand,

2 Then sayde I, Whither goest thou? And he said vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to meete him,

4 And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this [b] yong man, and say, [c] Ierusalem shall be inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein, a That is, the Angel who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in respect of his eternall essence, is God, and so called.

b Meaning himselfe Zechariah.
c Signifying the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel through all the world, and should need no materiall walles, nor trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preserued, and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of [d] fire round about, and will [c] bee the glory in the middes of her.

6 Ho, Ho, come [f] forth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foures winds of the heauen, saith the Lord.

7 [h] Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this [i] glory hath hee sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for hee that toucheth you, toucheth the [k] apple of his eye.

9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand [l] vpon them: and [m] they shalbe a spoyle to those that serued them, and yee shall know, that the Lord of hosts hath [n] sent me.

10 Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the mids of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall bee ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherite Judah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Jerusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them, if they approch neere.
e In me they shall haue their full felicity, and glory.
f He calleth to them which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease, remained still in captiuity, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefites of Gods promises in his Church.
g As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to restore you.
h By flying from Babylon, and comming to the Church.
i Seeing that God hath begun to shew his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the same still toward you, and therefore sendeth me his Angel, and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.
k We are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psal.17.8.
l Vpon the heathen your enemies.
m They shall be your seruants as you haue beene theirs.
n This must necessarily bee vnderstood of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as he was Mediatour to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdome.

And he shewed me Jehoshua [a] the high Priest, [a] standing before the Angel of the Lord, and [b] Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the [c] Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord rebuke thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Jerusalem, rebuke thee. Is not this a [d] brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Jehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And hee answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the [e] filthie garments from him. And vnto him he said, Beholde I haue [f] caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I saide, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Jehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also [h] iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my [i] courtes, and I will giue thee place among [k] these that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Jehoshua the high Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they [l] are monstrous persons: but beholde, I will bring forth the [m] Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the [n] stone that I haue laide before Jehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eies: behold, I wil [o] cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will take [p] away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saieth the Lord of hostes, shal ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the [q] vine, and vnder the figge tree.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediatour for the state of the Church.
b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not only warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesse, Ephes.6.12.
c That is, Christ speaketh to God as Mediator of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: so here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preseruer of his Church.
d Meaning, that Jehoshua was wonderfully preserued in the captiuitie, and now Satan sought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office.
e In respect of the glorious garments and precious stones that the Priests did weare before the captiuity: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church.
f He sheweth of what apparell hee speaketh, which is, when our filthy sinnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution.
g The Prophet prayeth that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue tire for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignity of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obteineth it.
h That is, haue rule and gouernment in my Church, as thy predecessors haue had.
i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church.
k That is, the Angels who represented the whole number of the faithfull: signifying that all the godly should willingly receiue him.
l Because they follow my word, they are contemned in the world, and esteemed as monsters, Isai.8.18.
m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not only he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa.11.1.ierem.23.5.& 33.14.15.
n He sheweth that the ministers can not build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap.4.10.
o That is, I will make it perfect in all points as a thing wrought by the hand of God.
p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visit their sins no more.
q He shall then liue in peace and quietnesse, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa.2.2.micah 4.4.hag.2.10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with me, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

2 And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I saide, I haue looked, and beholde, a [a] candlestick all of gold with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen [b] pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered and said vnto mee, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto mee, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto [c] Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by [d] an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou, O [e] great mountaine, a Which was euer in the mids of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.

b Which conueied the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe, though he had no helpe of man.
c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members.
d He sheweth that Gods power only is sufficient to preserue his Church, though hee vse not mans helpe thereunto.
e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who though be the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindred Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daily labour to let, in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine.

before Zerubbabel: thou shalt be a plaine, and [f] hee shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The handes of Zerubbabel haue layd the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and [g] thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the [h] small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of [i] tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: [k] these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What be these two oliue branches, which thorow the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I sayd, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two [l] oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

[f] Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, & bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.

[g] Meaning the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building, and preseruation of my spirituall Temple.

[h] Signifying that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.

[i] Whereby he signified the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye. [k] That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can go about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his work. Zha. 3. 9.

[l] Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: signifying that God will continually maintaine and preserue his Church, and indue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of thieues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

[a] Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, & casting off all iudgement and equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had fully light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

[b] That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour.

[c] Meaning, whersoeuer he be in the world.

[d] He that transgresseth the first Table, and sweareth not God aright, but abuseth Gods Name.

THen I turned me, & lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and behold, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying [a] booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, & the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then sayd hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth foorth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that [b] stealeth, shall be cut off aswell on this [c] side, as on that: and euery one that [d] sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it foorth, saith the Lord of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, went foorth, and saide vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he sayde, This is an [e] Epah that goeth forth. He saide moreouer, This is the [f] sight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a [g] talent of lead: and this is a [h] woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And hee saide, This is [i] wickednesse, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and he cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two [k] women, and the winde was in their winges (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then saide I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither do these beare the Ephah?

11 And hee saide vnto mee, [l] To build it an house in the lande of Shinar, and it shall bee established and set there vpon her owne place.

[e] Which was a measure, in the things conteyning about ten pottels.

[f] That is, all the wickednesse of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and can shut it or open it at his pleasure.

[g] To couer the measure.

[h] Which representeth iniquity, as in the next vers.

[i] Signifying, that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as hee had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison.

[k] Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes. 1 To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure monarchies.

AGaine I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure [a] charets out from betweene [b] two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.

2 In the first charet were [c] red horses, and in the second charet [d] blacke horses.

3 And in the third charet [e] white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of [f] diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and sayde vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said vnto mee, These are the [g] foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went foorth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the [h] South countrey.

7 And the [i] reddish went out, and required to go, and passe through the world, and he said, Goe passe through the world. So they went throughout the world.

8 Then cryed he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward the North countrey, haue pacified my [k] spirit in the North countrey.

[a] By charets here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.

[b] By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the eternall counsell and prouidence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

[c] Which signified the great cruelty and persecutions that the Church hath endured vnder diuers enemies.

[d] Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians.

[e] These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie.

[f] Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineueh & Babylon, and other their enemies. [g] Meaning, all the motions, and motions of Gods spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsell he causeth to appeare through all the world. [h] That is, toward Egypt, & other countreys thereabout. [i] That is, they of diuers colours, which alike seeme, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God giue it him. Iob 1. 12.

[k] By punishing the Caldeans, mine anger ceased, and you were deliuered.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai and of Tobiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house [l] of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah,

11 Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the [m] heade of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and saith, Behold the man whose name is the [n] Branch, and hee shall grow [o] vp, out of his place, and hee shall [p] build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen hee shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the [q] glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and hee shall bee a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betweene [r] them both.

14 And the crownes shall bee to [s] Helem, and to Tobiah, and to Iedaiah, and to [t] Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a [u] memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are [x] farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent mee vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if yee will [y] obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

l To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, & wonders of the restitution of the kingdome and of the Priesthood, and hurt others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning Christ, of whom Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus.

o That is, of himselfe without the helpe of man.

p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Hag. 2.10.

q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow. r The two offices of the kingdome and Priesthood shall be so ioyned together, that they shall be no more diuerers. s Who was also called Heldai. t He was also called Iosiah.

u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue beene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens. Act. 1.6. x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel shall helpe toward the building of this Spirituall Temple.

y If ye will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

AND in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in [a] Chisleu.

2 For [b] they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech, and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I [c] weepe in the fift moneth, and [d] separate my selfe as I haue done these so many [e] yeeres?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the [f] Priests, and say, When yee fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? euen vnto me?

6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did yee not eate [h] for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the words, which the Lord [i] hath cryed by the ministery of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South & the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, [k] Execute true iudgement, and shew mercie and compassion euery man to his brother.

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and [l] pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should heare the Law and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his [m] Spirit by the ministerie of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cryed, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among al [p] nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate [n] after them, that no man passed thorow nor returned: for they layd the pleasant lande [o] waste.

a Which contained part of November, and part of December.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these fastes were constituted vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Ier. 41.2.

c By weeping and mourning, appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting. d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast. e Which was now since the Temple was destroyed. f For there were both of the people and of the Priestes, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and enclosures of it, as one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserued toward God because of this fast which they inuented of themselues: and thought fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproued.

h Did ye not eate, and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie? and so likewise ye did obserue according to your owne fantasies, and not after the preceipt of my Law.

i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.

k He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Matth. 23.23.

l And would not carry the Lords burden, which was sweete and easie, but would beare their owne, which was beastly and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merite thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke. Nehem. 9.29. m Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the spirit of God that spake in them. n That is, after they were caried captiue. o By their sinnes, whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the word of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I was [a] ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shalbe called a [b] citie of trueth, and the mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holy Mountaine.

a I loued Sion entirely with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should doe her any iniury.

b Because the holde faithfull and loyall vnto me for her selfe.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, There shall yet old [c] men and olde women dwell in the streetes of Jerusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Though it bee [d] impossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore bee vnpossible in my sight, sayth the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall [e] dwell in the mids of Jerusalem, and they shal be my people, & I will be their God in trueth, and in righteousnesse.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your [f] hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these wordes by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hosts was laid, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for [g] man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not intreat the residue of this people as afore time, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as yee were a curse among the heathen, O house of Judah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shalbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish [h] you, when your fathers prouoked mee vnto wrath, sayth the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes [i] to doe well vnto Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall doe. Speake yee euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the [k] tenth, shall be to the house of Judah ioy and gladnes, and prosperous high feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come [l] people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shal go to another, saying, * Up, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people & mightie nations shal come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Jerusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Jewe, and say, Wee will goe with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burden of the word of the Lorde in the land of [a] Hadrach: and Damascus shall be his [b] rest: when the [c] eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shal border [d] thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be [e] very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and gold as the myre of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoyle her, and he will smite her [f] power in the Sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shal see it, and feare, and Azzah also shalbe very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall bee ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the [g] stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, & his abominations from betweene his [h] teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shal be for our God, and he shalbe as a prince in Judah, but [i] Ekron shalbe as a Jebusite.

8 And I will campe about [k] mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now [l] haue I seene with mine eyes.

c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and increase their children in great abundance.

d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which hee hath promised, though it seeme neuer so impossible to man. Rom. 4.20. Gen. 18.14

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, & their prosperitie shall be sure and stable.

f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsel of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant, and obey the Prophets which incourage you thereunto.

g For God curseth your worke, so that neither man nor beast haue profite of their labours.

h Leuit. 26.18.

i Which declareth, that man cannot turne to God till hee change mans heart by his Spirit, and so begin to doe well, which is to pardon his sinnes and to giue him his graces.

k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, as was the first fast of these foure: and here the prophet sheweth, that if the Jewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shal haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew tokens of heauines: for God will send them ioy and gladnes.

l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue to Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Jewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ.

* Isa. 2.3. micah. 4.1.

a Whereby he meaneth Syria.

b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.

c When the Jewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

d That is, by Damascus, meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should bee vnder the same rod & plague.

e Hee secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft & subtiltie, which they cloked with this name of wisdom.

f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible, by reason of the sea, that compasseth them rounde about, yet they shal not escape Gods iudgements.

g Meaning, that all should be destroyed saue a very fewe, that should remaine as strangers.

h He promiseth to deliuer the Jewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their cruelnes, and wrongs done to them.

i As the Jebusites had bene destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.

k He sheweth that Gods power onely shalbe sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries, bee they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.

l That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue been afflicted by their enemies.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King commeth vnto thee: [m] he is iust and saued himselfe, poore & riding vpon an [n] asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the [o] charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bow of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shalbe from [p] sea vnto sea, and from the [q] Riuer to the end of the land.

11 [r] Thou also shalt be saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy [s] prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the [t] strong hold, ye [u] prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the [x] double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I [y] bent as a bow for mee: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shall be seene ouer them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirle windes of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, [z] and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke and make a noyse as through wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shalbe as the [a] stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cheerefull, and newe wine the maides.

m That is, he hath righteousnesse, and saluation in himselfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.
n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Mat. 21.5.
o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdome of Christ, & he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word.
p That is from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knew, he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world.
q That is, from Euphrates.
r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church, which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them.
s God sheweth that hee will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great.
t That is, vnto the holy land where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you.
u Meaning, the faithfull which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie.
x That is, double benefits, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers enioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie.
y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee here meaneth by the Grecians.
z Hee promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: which things are not to moue them to intemperance, but to sobrietie, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.
a The faithfull shall be preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shal be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great when he met Iaddi the high Priest.

CHAP. X.

2 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes because by their owne wilfulnesse they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iudgement: therefore to auoide this plague hee willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so hee will giue them abundance.

ASke you of the [a] Lord, raine in the time of the latter raine: so shal the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely [b] the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the southsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore [c] they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visite the [d] goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as [e] his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out [f] of him shal the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, and out of him euery [g] appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shalbe as the mighty men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house [h] of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shall bee as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shalbe as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will [i] hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

9 And I will [k] sow them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countries: and [l] they shall liue with their children and turne againe.

10 I wil bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he [m] shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall dry vp: and the pride of Asshur shal be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I wil strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saieth the Lord.

b He calleth it remembrance Gods punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him, but in their idoles and sorcerers, who euer deceiued them.
c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.
d Meaning, the cruel gouernors, which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34.16,17.
e He will be mercifull to his Church, and chasten them as a King or Prince doeth his best horse which shal be for his auaunce in the warre.
f Out of Iudah shall the chiefe gouernour proceede, who shall be as a corner to vphold the building, and as a naile to fasten it together.
g Ouer their enemies.
h That is, the ten tribes, which shal be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.
i Whereby he declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation, but he will deliuer his: for with a becke or blast, he can call them from all places suddenly.
k Though they shall be scattered and seeme to be lost, yet it shall be profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel among whom it was first preached.
l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.
m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, where as the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

a Because the Iewes thought them selues so strong by reason of this mountaine, that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet telleth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shall shew it selfe ready to receiue them.

OPen thy doores, O [a] Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, [b] firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: houle ye, O okes of Bashan, for the [c] defenced forrest is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the houling of the shepheards: for their [d] glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the [e] slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them [f] and sinne not: and they that sell them, say [g] Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I wil no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lorde: but loe, [h] I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, & into the hand of his [i] King: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the [k] poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto mee [l] two staues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bandes, and I fed the sheepe.

8 [m] Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed [n] them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dyeth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eat, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the [o] poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And it said vnto them, If yee thinke it good, giue me my [p] wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirty pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the [q] potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto mee, Take to thee yet [r] the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shal not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feed that that [s] standeth vp: but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, & teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword shall be vpon his [t] arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall bee cleane dried vp, and his right eye shalbe vtterly darkned.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the word of the Lord vpon [a] Israel, saith the Lord, which spred the heauens, and layde the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirite of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a [b] cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will be, in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day wil I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shal be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day saith the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnes, and I wil open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The [c] inhabitants of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserue the [d] tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and hee that is feeble among them, in that day shalbe as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall bee as Gods house, and as the Angell of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of [e] grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue [f] pearced, and they shal lament for [g] him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sory for him

b Shewing that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.
c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to holde out.
d That is, the renowme of Iudah and Israel should perish.
e Which being now destinate to be slaine, were deliuered as out of the lions mouth.
f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.
g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they deny God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoyle of their brethren.
h I will cause one to destroy another.
i Their gouernours shall exercise cruelties ouer them.
k That is, the small remnant, whom hee thought worthy to shew mercie vnto.
l God sheweth his great benefites toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which wold neither be ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernment, neither continue in the bandes of brotherly vnitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some read, for Bands, Destroyers, but in the 14 verse the first reading is confirmed.
m Whereby he sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great fauour.
n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefites of God.
o He sheweth that the least part euer profite by Gods ingements.
p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefits, but esteemed them as things of nought.
q Shewing that it was too little to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a few tiles for to couer the Temple.
r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shewe of gouernment: but in effect it should bee nothing: for they should bee wolues, and deuouring beasts in stead of shepheards.
s And is in health & sound.
t By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doeth wisedome and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both the strength and iudgement.

a That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefite in deliuering their brethren and had rather remain in captiuity, then to returne home, when God called them.
b Ierusalem shal be defended against all her enemies: so shall God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.
c Euery captain that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shall be sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.
d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, & lie open to their enemies, shalbe no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their Kings, (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defensed cities.
e They shal haue the feeling of my grace by faith, & know that I haue compassion on them.
f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obstinacy, & grieued my spirit, Iob. 19. 37. where it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.
g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grieuously offended by their ingratitude.

him as one is sory for his first borne.

11 In that day shal there be a great mourning in Jerusalem, as the [h] mourning of [i] Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the [k] land shall bewayle every family [l] apart, the family of the [m] house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the family of [n] Shemei apart, and their wiues apart.

14 All the families that [o] remaine, every family apart, and their wiues apart.

h They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God.

i Which was the name of a towne or place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slain, 2. Chro. 35. 22.

k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine.

l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremony: but every one touched with his owne griefe shall lament.

m Vnder these certaine families he conteineth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priestes had by their sinnes pierced Christ.

n Called also Simeon.

o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserued from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatry. 3 The Zeale of the godly against false prophets.

IN that day there [a] shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sin and for vncleanesse.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will cut off the [b] names of the idoles out of the land: and they shal no more be remembred: and I will cause the [c] prophets, & the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet [d] prophesie, his father and his mother that begat him, shal say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, [e] shall thrust him through, when he prophesieth.

4 And in that day shal the prophets be [f] ashamed every one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he shall say, I am no [g] Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an heardman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these [h] wounds in thine hands? Then shall he answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 Arise, O sword, vpon my [i] shepheard, and vpon the man, that is, my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shalbe scattered: and I wil turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, sayeth the Lord [k] two parts therein shalbe cut off, and die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I wil bring that third part through the fire, and wil fine them as the siluer is fined, and will try them as golde is tried: they shall cal on my Name, and I wil heare them: I wil say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

a He sheweth what shalbe the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remission of sinnes by the blood of Christ, which shalbe a continuall running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleanesse.

b He promiseth that God wil also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shalbe pure.

c Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.

d That is, when they shall prophesie lies, and make God who is the author of truth, a cloke thereunto.

e He sheweth what zeale the godly shall haue vnder the kingdome of Christ. Deut. 13. 6, 9.

f God shall make them ashamed of their errours and lies, and bring them to repentance: and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine seeme more holy.

g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

h Hereby he sheweth that though their parents and friends beit more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophets, that the marks and signes should remaine for euer.

i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vpon Christ there should be an horrible vastation among the people: for their gouernours and Pastores should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastours, Matth. 26. 31.

k The greatest part shal haue no portion of the blessings, and they that shal escape them, shall be tried with great afflictions, so that it shal be known that only God's power and his mercies doe preserue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceede out of the Church, and of the restauration thereof.

BEhold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall be [a] diuided in the mids of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Jerusalem to battel, and the city shalbe taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the city shall go into captiuity, and the residue of the people shall not bee cut off from the city.

3 Then shall the Lord go forth, and fight against those nations, as when [b] hee fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feet shall stand in that day vpon the [c] mount of oliues, which is before Jerusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the midst thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shall bee a very great [d] valley, and halfe of the mountaine shall remoone toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And ye shall flee vnto the [e] valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye shall flee like as ye fled from the [f] earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord [g] my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there be no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there shal be a day (it is knowen to the Lord) [h] neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shalbe light.

8 And in that day shall there [i] waters of life goe out from Jerusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vttermost sea, and shall be, both in summer and winter.

9 And the Lord shall be King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one [k] Lord, and his name shalbe one.

10 All the land shalbe turned [l] as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Jerusalem, and it shall bee lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner a He armeth the godly against the great temptation that should come before they inioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might know, that they were warned of them afore.

b As your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red Sea & at all other times.

c By this maner of speach the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he will as well saue it.

d So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Jerusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spirituall Jerusalem the Church.

e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines.

f Reade Amos 1.1.

g Because they did not credit the prophets words, he turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe, in that that he knew that these things should come, and saith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

h Signifying, that there should bee great troubles in the Church, and that the time thereof is in the Lordes handes, yet at length (which is heere meant by the euening) God would send comfort.

i That is, the spirituall graces of God, which should continue in most abundance.

k All idolatry and superstition shall bee abolished, and there shall bee one God, one faith, and one religion.

l This noble Jerusalem shall be seene through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellency, wealth and greatnesse.

gate, and from the towre of Hananiel, vnto the kings wine presses.

11 And men shal dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem shalbe safely inhabited.

12 And this shalbe the plague, wherewith the Lord wil smite all people that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shal consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eies shal consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day [m] a great tumult of the Lorde shall bee among them, and euery one shall take [n] the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shal rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shal fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall bee gathered round about, with [o] golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shalbe the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell, and of the asse, and of all the beastes that bee in these tents as this [p] plague.

16 But if it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yeere to yere to worship the King the Lord of hosts, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem, to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the family of [q] Egypt go not vp, and come not, it shal not raine vpon them. This shalbe the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen that come not vp to keep the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shall bee the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shal there be written vpon the [r] bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the [s] pots in the Lords house shal be like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shalbe holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shal come and take of them, and seethe therein: and in that day there shal be no more the [t] Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hostes.

m God will not only raise vp war without, but sedition at home to vex them.

n To vexe and oppresse him.

o The enemies were rich, & therefore shal not come for a pray, but to destroy and shed blood.

p As the men should be destroyed, verse 12.

q By the Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to what seruice they were put now (whether to labour or to serue in warre) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified.

t But all shal be pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, or any that shall corrupt the true seruice of God.

Malachi.

The Argvment.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more feruent desires look for the comming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproueth the Priests for their couetousnes, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impatiencie, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, hee declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the couenant should be accomplished, whose comming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.

a Reade Isa. 13.1.

THe [a] burden of the worde of the Lorde to Israel by the ministery of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, [b] Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iaakobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iaakob, b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham from out of all the world, and neert chose Iaakob the ponger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the elder.

3 And I [c] hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wildernes for dragons.

c For beside that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when hee was made seruant vnto his ponger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterward in that hee was put from his birthright, yet euen nowe before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that that his country lyeth waste, and he shall neuer returne to inhabite it, whereas ye my people, whom the enemy hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you restored, reade Rom. 9.13.

4 Though Edom say, Wee are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, They shall builde, but I will destroy it, and they shal call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with whome the Lord is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and yee shall say, The Lord will bee magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honor? and if I be a master, where is my feare, saieth the Lord of hostes vnto you, [d] O Priests, that despise my Name? and yee say, [e] Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

7 Ye offer [f] vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue wee polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not [g] to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, whether they be according to my Law or no.

d Besides the rest of the people he condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reproued others for their hypocrisie, and obstinacy against God, and not haue barbened them by their example to greater euils.

e He noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently couered them, and so were blind guides.

f Yee receiue all maner offrings for your owne greedinesse, and doe not examine g Not that they said thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse.

it is [h] not euill: and if yee offer the lame and ſick, it is not euil: offer it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy perſon, ſaith the Lord of hoſts?

9 And now, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that he may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bin by your meanes: will hee regard [k] your perſons, ſaith the Lord of hoſts?

10 Who is there euen among you, [l] that would ſhut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleaſure in you, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the riſing of the Sunne vnto the going downe of the ſame, my Name is [m] great among the Gentiles, & in euery place incenſe ſhall bee offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye ſay, The Table of the Lord is [n] polluted, and the fruite thereof, euen his meate is not to bee regarded.

13 Ye ſayd alſo, Beholde, it is a [o] wearineſſe, and ye haue ſnuffed at it, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame and the ſicke: thus ye offered an offering: ſhould I accept this of your hand, ſaith the Lord?

14 But curſed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke [p] a male, and voweth, and ſacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, ſayeth the Lord of hoſtes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

of your ſolemne feaſts, and you ſhalbe like vnto it.

4 And ye ſhal know, that I haue [f] ſent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might ſtand, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

5 My [g] couenant was with him of life and peace, and I [h] gaue him feare, and he feared me and was afraid before [i] my Name.

6 The law of [k] trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: he walked with mee in peace and equity, and did turne many away from iniquity.

7 For the Prieſtes [l] lips ſhould preſerue knowledge, and they ſhould ſeeke the Law at his mouth: for hee is the [m] meſſenger of the Lord of hoſts.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue cauſed many to fall by the Law: ye haue broken the couenant of Leui, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

9 Therefore haue I alſo made you to be deſpiſed, and vile before all the people, becauſe ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one [n] father? hath not one God made vs? why doe wee tranſgreſſe euery one againſt his brother, and breake the couenant of [o] our fathers?

11 Judah hath tranſgreſſed, and an abomination is committed in Iſrael and in Jeruſalem: for Judah hath defiled the holineſſe of the Lord, which he loued, and hath married the [p] daughter of a ſtrange god.

12 The Lorde will cut off the man that doeth this: both the maſter and the ſeruant out of the Tabernacle of Jaakob, and him that [q] offereth an offering vnto the Lorde of hoſtes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and [r] couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: becauſe the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee ſay, [s] Wherein? Becauſe the Lord hath bene witnes betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, againſt whome thou haſt tranſgreſſed: yet is ſhe thy [t] companion, and the wife of thy [u] couenant.

15 And did not [x] he make one? yet had he [y] abundance of ſpirit: and wherefore one? becauſe hee ſought a godly [z] ſeede: therefore h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it ſufficient to ſerue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantaſie, & ſo come not to that pureneſſe of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reſpect he ſheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be ſo ſerued.

i He deſireth the Prieſts who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and ſheweth that they were the occaſion that theſe euils came vpon the people.

k Will God conſider your office and ſtate, ſeeing you are ſo couetous & wicked?

l Becauſe the Leuites, who kept the doores, did not try whether the ſacrifices that came in, were according to the law, God wiſheth that they would rather ſhut the doores, then to receiue ſuch as were not perfit.

m God ſheweth what their ingratitude, and neglect of his true ſeruice ſhall bee the cauſe of the calling of the Gentiles: and heere the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe framed his wordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and ſacrifice hee meaneth the ſpirituall ſeruice of God, which ſhould be vnder the Goſpell, when an end ſhould bee made to all theſe legall Ceremonies by Chriſtes onely ſacrifice.

n Both the Prieſts and the people were infected with this errour, that they paſſed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fat: but in the meane ſeaſon they ſhewed not that obedience to God, which hee requires, and ſo committed both impietie, and alſo ſhewed their contempt of God, and couetouſneſſe.

o The Prieſtes and people were both weary with ſeruing God, and paſſed not what manner of ſacrifice and ſeruice they gaue to God, for that which was leaſt profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord.

p That is, hath ability to ſerue the Lord according to his word, and yet will ſerue him according to his couetous minde.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings againſt the Prieſtes, being ſeducers of the people.

a He ſpeaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people alſo.

b To ſerue me according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefites.

d Your ſeed ſowen ſhall come to no profite.

e You boaſt of your holineſſe, ſacrifices and feaſtes, but they ſhall turne to your ſhame, and be as vile as dung.

AND now, O ye [a] Prieſts, this commaundement is for you.

2 If yee will not heare it, nor conſider it in your heart, to giue glory [b] vnto my Name, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I wil euen ſend a curſe vpon you, and will curſe your [c] bleſſings: yea, I haue curſed them already, becauſe ye do not conſider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt [d] your ſeed, & caſt doung vpon your faces, euen the [e] doung f The Prieſts obiected againſt the Prophet that he could not reproue them, but he muſt ſpeake againſt the Prieſthood, and the office eſtabliſhed of God by promiſe, but he ſheweth, that the office is nothing ſlandered when theſe villaines and dung are called by their owne names.

g He ſheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui, on Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part, that they ſhould faithfully ſerue him according to his word.

h He ſtriueth Leui a certaine Law to ſerue me.

i He ſerued me and ſet forth my glory with all humilitie and ſubmiſſion.

k He ſheweth that the Prieſt ought to haue knowledge to inſtruct other in the word of the Lord.

l He is as the treaſure houſe of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their neceſſity, and not to reſerue it for himſelfe.

m Shewing, that whoſoeuer doth not declare Gods will, is not his meſſenger and Prieſt.

n The Prophet accuſeth the ingratitude of the Jewes toward God and man, for ſeeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.

o Whereby they had bound themſelues to God to be an holy people.

p They haue ioyned themſelues in marriage with them that are of another religion.

q That is, the Prieſts.

r cauſe the people to lament, becauſe that God doeth not regard their ſacrifices, that they ſeeme to ſacrifice in vaine.

s This is another cauſe, wherewith he accuſeth them, that is, that they breake the lawes of mariage.

t As the one halfe of thy ſelfe.

u She that was ioyned to thee by a ſolemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods Name.

x Did not God make man and woman as one fleſh and not many?

y By his power and vertue he could haue made many women of one man.

z Such as ſhould bee borne in lawfull and moderate mariage, wherein is no exceſſe of luſts.

a Conteine your selues within your bounds, and be sober in minde, and bridle your affections.
b Not that he doeth allow divorcement, but of the two faults he sheweth which is the lesse.
c He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit he take others, and so as it were covereth his fault.
d Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you alloone as ye called. e In thinking that God favoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him. f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

keepe your selues in your [a] spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, [b] put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet he covereth [c] the iniury vnder his garment, sayeth the Lord of hosts: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue [d] wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When yee say, Euery one that [e] doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and hee delighteth in them. Or where is the God of [f] iudgement?

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, & of Christs office.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expounded it, Luke 7.27.
b Meaning, Messiah, as Psal.40.1,7. dan.9.17,25.
c That is, Christ, by whom the couenant was made and ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant because he reconciled vs to his Father: and is Lord or King, because he hath the gouernement of his Church.
d Hee sheweth that the hypocrites which wish so much for the Lords comming, will not abide when her praiseth neere: for he will consume them, and purge his and make them cleane.
e He beginneth at the Priests that they might be lights and shine vnto others.
f They murmured against God because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not daily consumed, it is a token that hee doeth still defend them: and so his mercy to-ward them neuer changeth. g Reade Zech.1.3. h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that will defraud their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them. i Whereby the seruice of God should haue bene maintained, and the Priests and the poore relieued.

BEholde, I will send my [a] messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and [b] the Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the [c] messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: behold, he shal come, saith the Lord of hosts.

2 But who [d] may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And hee shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: he shal euen fine the sons of [e] Leui, and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.

4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnes against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widow, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not mee, saieth the Lord of hosts.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob [f] are not consumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: [g] returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hosts: but ye said, Wherein shall we returne?

8 Will a [h] man spoile his goods? yet haue ye spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein haue wee spoiled thee? In [i] tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoiled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring yee all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meate in mine House, and proue mee now herewith, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing [k] without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the [l] deuourer for your sakes, and hee shall not destroy the fruite of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the fielde, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue bene stout [m] against me, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Ye haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that wee haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore wee count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are [n] deliuered.

16 [o] Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lorde hearkened and heard it, and a [p] booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shall bee to me, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day [q] that I shall doe this, for a flocke, and I will [r] spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, between him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

k Not hauing respect how much ye need, but I will giue you in all abundance: so that ye shall lacke place to put my blessings in.
l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer deuoureth corne and fruits.
m The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemy against God: first in that they say that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next, that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.
n They are not onely preserued to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.
o After their admonitions of the Prophet some were lively touched, and incouraged others to feare God.
p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penitent sinners.
q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, mine owne proper goods. r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lorde, before the which Eliiah should come.

FOr beholde, the day commeth that shall [a] burne as an ouen, and all the proude, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall bee stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the [b] Sunne of righteousnesse arise, and a He prophesieth of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should send him for the restauration of his Church.

b Meaning, Christ, who with his wings, or beames of his grace should lighten and comfort his Church, Eph.5.14. and he is called the Sonne of righteousnes, because in himselfe hee hath all perfection, and also the iustice of the Father dwelleth in him, whereby he regenerateth vs into righteousnes, cleanseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God.

health

health ſhall be vnder his wings, and ye ſhall [c] goe foorth, and grow vp as fat calues.

3 And ye ſhall tread downe the wicked: for they ſhall bee duſt vnder the ſoles of your feete in the day that I ſhall doe this, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

4 [d] Remember the Lawe of Moſes my ſeruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Iſrael, with the ſtatutes and iudgements.

5 Behold, I will ſend you [e] Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and [f] fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And hee ſhall [g] turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to the fathers, leſt I come [h] and ſmite the earth with curſing.

c Ye ſhall bee ſet at libertie and increaſe in the ioy of the Spirit, 2. Cor. 3. 17.

d Becauſe the time was come that the Iewes ſhould be deſtitute of Prophets vntill the time of Chriſt, becauſe they ſhould with more feruent mindes deſire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exerciſe themſelues diligently in ſtudying the Law of Moſes in the meane ſeaſon, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and alſo be armed againſt all tentations.

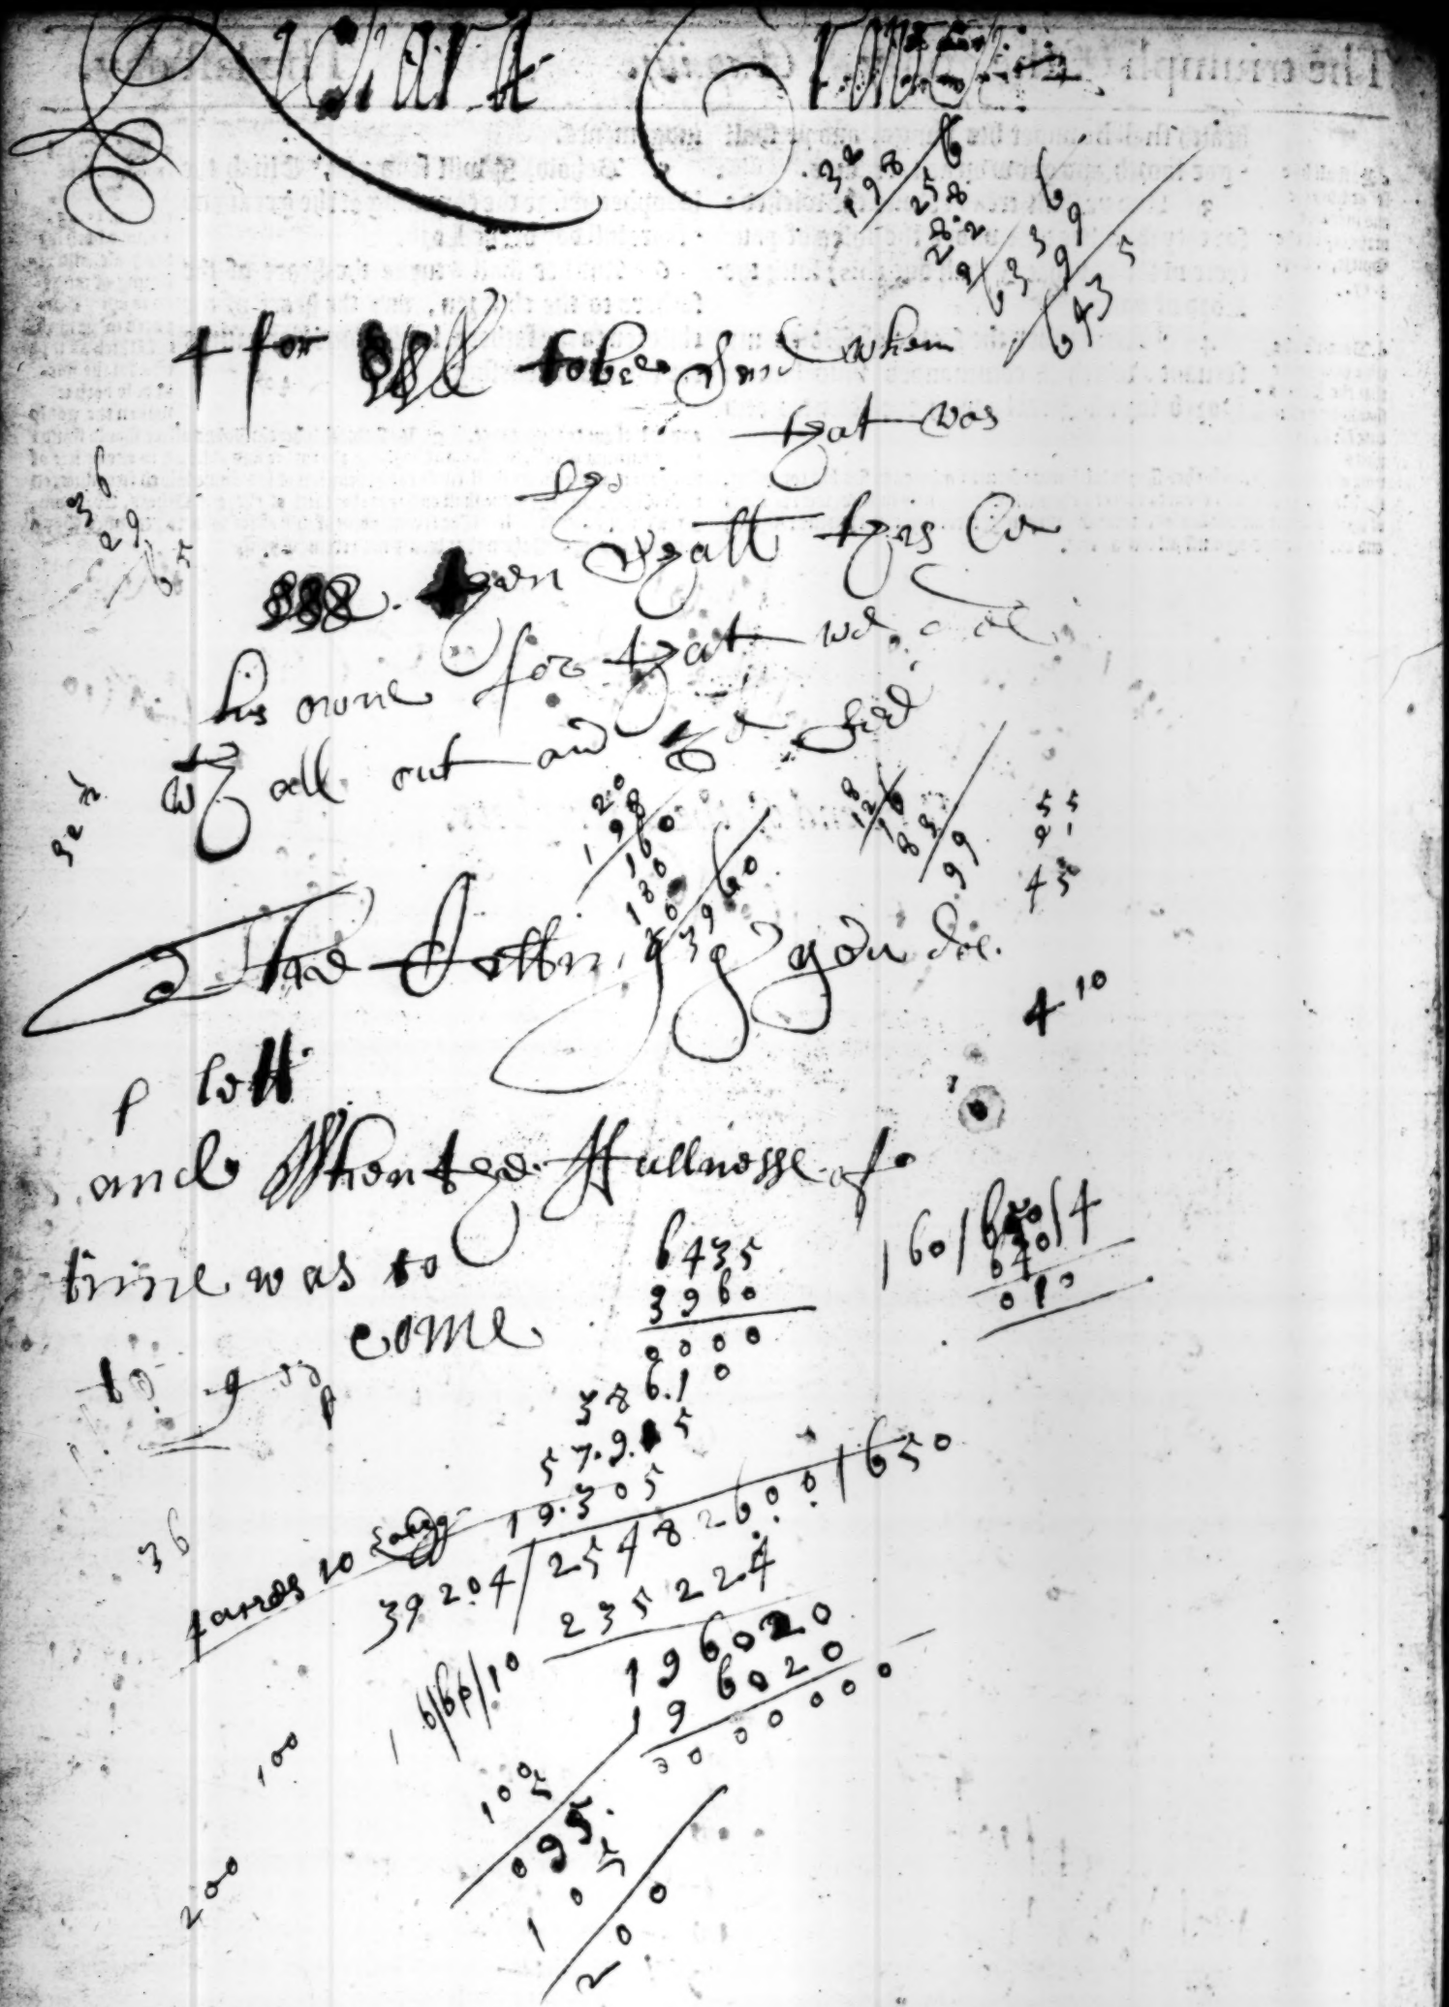
e This Chriſt expoundeth of Iohn Baptiſt, Matth. 11. 13. 14. who both for his zeale, and reſtoring of religion is aptly compared to Eliah.

f Which as it is true for the wicked, ſo doth it awaken the godly and call them to repentance.

g He ſheweth wherein Iohns office ſhould ſtand: in the turning of men to God, and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: ſo that the father ſhall turne to the religion of his ſonne which is conuerted vnto Chriſt, and the ſonne ſhall embrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Iſaak and Iaakob.

h The ſecond point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements againſt them that would not receiue Chriſt.

The end of the Prophets.



APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THose bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the Newe Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to be read & expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, saue in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonical to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly manners. Which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

1. Esdras.

CHAPTER I.

1 Iosias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passouer. 7 Offrings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death, and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appointed King. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

* 2. King. 23. 21, 2. chron. 35. 1.

AND Iosias kept the * Passouer to his Lorde in Ierusalem, and offered the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priestes according to their dayly courses, beeing clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Leuites the holy Ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the house, which Salomon the sonne of king Dauid had built,

4 And sayd, Yee shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passouer, and make readie the sacrifices for your brethren, and kepe the Passouer after the Lords commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kiddes with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the Kings possessions, according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priestes, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and ‖ Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passouer two thousand fiue hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues. ‖ Or, Iehiel.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias, and Nathanael his brethren, and ‖ Sabias and ‖ Ebelus, and ‖ Ioram captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passouer fiue thousand sheep, and seuen hundreth calues. ‖ Or, Hasabias. ‖ Or, Iehiel. ‖ Or, Chorabas.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Leuites stood in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passouer with fire as * appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, * Exod. 12. 8.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make readie for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and ‖ Ewdus, which was of the Kings appointment. ‖ Or, Iedithun.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that pay those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished that they might offer ỳ Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the Altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosias.
19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.
20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.
21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, & the Priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.
22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.
23 The works of Iosias were vpright before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.
24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, aboue euery nation and kingdome, and grieued him with ‖ sensible things, so that the words of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

‖ Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.

* 2. Chro. 35. 20. 25 ¶ * Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharao king of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.
26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?
27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.
28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot frõ him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.
29 But hee set himselfe in battell aray against him in the fielde of Megeddo, and the Princes came downe to King Iosias.
30 And the King sayde to his seruaunts, Conuey mee out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruaunts brought him out of the battell.
31 So he gat vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem, hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.
32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, & the gouernors & their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel, to be done continually.
33 But these things are written in ỳ booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, and euery one of the actes that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Lawe of the Lord, and the things which hee did before, and the things nowe rehearsed are registred in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iuda.

* 2. King. 23. 30. 2. chro. 36. 1. 34 Then they of the nation tooke * Joachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him King in stead of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twentie yeere old.
35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.
36 He taxed also the people at an hundreth talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.
37 And the king of Egypt made Joacim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.
38 And hee bound Joachaz and his gouernours: but when hee had taken Zarates his brother, he led him away into Egypt.
39 Twentie and fiue yeere olde was Joacim, when hee reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.
40 Therefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.
41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his temple at Babylon.
42 But all his acts, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.
43 And Joacim his sonne reigned for him: and when hee was made King, hee was eighteene yeere old.
44 And he reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.
45 ¶ So a yeere after, Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord, 46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when he was one and twenty yeere old, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.
47 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias ỳ Prophet frõ the mouth of the Lord.

* Iere. 38. 21.

48 For after that he was sworne to King Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.
49 Also the gouernors of the people, and the Priestes committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.
50 Neuertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that hee, being mooued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commanded the kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their young men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor maiden, neither old man, nor child among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke and caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword he caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, & to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of *Jeremias,

*Iere. 25. 11. and 29. 10.

58 And that the lande might enioy her Sabbaths, all the time that it was desolate, till seuentie yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the Kings letters for the same.

*2. Chro. 36. 22. Esra 1. 1.

IN * the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias,

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and he made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus sayeth Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made mee king ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded mee to build him an house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord bee with him, and let him goe vp to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and siluer,

7 With gifts, with horses and cattel, and other things, which shalbe brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem.

4 Then arose the chiefe of the families of Judea, and of the Tribe of Beniamin, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lord had mooued to goe vp, and build an house to the Lord in Hierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and golde, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Hierusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer,

12 By whom they were giuen to ‖Abassar the gouernour of Judea,

‖Or, Shashbazar or Sanabassar.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices nine & twentie viols of gold, thirtie, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundreth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which they caried away, were fiue thousand, foure hundreth threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanaballar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 But * in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, ‖Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and ‖Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Judea and Jerusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD,

*Esra 4. 9.

‖Or, Bishlam.

‖Or, Shimshai.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsel, and the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowen to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Jerusalem, that rebellious and wicked city, and build the market places, and make vp the wals thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles bee finished, they will not onely not endure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, goe forward, wee thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt knowe that this citie did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both kings and cities, 23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Nowe therefore, O lord the king, wee declare it, that if this city be built and the wals thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, & to Semellius the secretarie, & to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, & to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which you sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria & Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heed that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretary and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerxes had written, they mooued their tents with speed to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

NOw when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subiects and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernors and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twenty prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the guard, keepers of the Kings bodie, sayd one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shal ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the King shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in gold, and to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tyre of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wisedome, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius, 9 And sayd, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King and the three Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest,

11 The other wrote, The king is strōgest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the King rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And sate him downe in the councel, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he sayd, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And sayd on this manner, O yee men, how strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the mind of the King and of the fatherles both one, of the bond man & of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorrow, nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by ‖ talents. ‖ Or, pounds.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out swords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember, what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approoued, 47 And his petition graunted.

THen the second which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by Sea, and ouer all things things which are in them?

3 But the King is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they do it: if he send them out against the enemies, they go and breake downe mountaines and walles and towers.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the King: if they ouercome, they bring all to the King, as well the spoiles as all other things,

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowen it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the King, and compell one another to pay tribute to the King.

7 Yet he is but one man: if hee bid, Kill, they kill: if he say Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if hee bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If hee bid, Cut off, they cut off: if hee bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while hee sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh and sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one go and doe his owne busines, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, how should not the King bee strongest, seeing hee is thus obeyed! So hee held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O yee men, neither the mightie King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King and all the people which beare rule by sea & by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments and make men honorable, nether can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together golde and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things and giue themselues wholly vnto her, & gape and gaze vpon her, and al men desire her more then gold, or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne countrey, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman hee teppardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother nor country.

22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe ye not labour and trauel, and giue & bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a Lyon and goeth in darknesse, and when hee hath stollen, rauished and spoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue run mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Now therefore do you not beleeue me? is not the king great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And she tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the king gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: & if she were angry with him, he did flatter her that he might be reconciled to her.

32 How then, O yee men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King, and the Princes looked one vpon another, and hee beganne to speake of the trueth.

34 O yee men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, & the heauen is high, and the Sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: & all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth & reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her works.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So hee ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and said, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King sayde vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue liberty to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he said to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vowe to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, O lord the King, this is that which I desire & require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And hee wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring Cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And he wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no Prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let go the villages of the Iewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there should bee giuen for the building of the Temple, twentie talents vntill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuenteene) other ten talents euery yeere, 53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 Hee wrote also touching the charges and the Priests garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions & wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, & whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, he also commanded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the ‖young man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, & gaue thanks to the King of heauen, ‖Or, Zorobabel.

59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wisedome, and of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed bee thou which hast giuen mee wisedome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So hee tooke the letters & went out and came to Babylon, & told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedome and libertie

63 To goe vp and to builde Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowmed, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy, seuen dayes.

47 ¶ But * when the seuenth moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Jesus the sonne of Josedec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the Altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyses the man of God.

50 Wither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dressed the Altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is * ordeined in the Law, and offred sacrifices euery day, as was requisite,

* Leuit. 23. 34.

52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths and of the new moneths, and of all holy feasts.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

* Ezra 3.6.

54 They gaue also money to the Masons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladnesse, 55 And charets to the Sidonians and to those of Tyrus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by flotes to the hauen of Joppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus King of Persia.

56 And in the second yere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedec, and their brethren, and the Priests and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Jerusalem, 57 And * laid the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere after their returne into Judea and Jerusalem.

* Eccluſ. 49. 12.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yere old ouer the workes of the Lord, and Jesus and his sonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes, & brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priestes stoode clothed with their long garments with musicall instruments and Trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with lowd voice songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blewe trumpets, and cried with a lowd voice, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seene the former house, 64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and ioy cryed with lowd voice.

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Where-

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Juda and Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuity built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For wee obey your Lord, as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of || Asbasareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither. || Or, Ascarazet, or, Asachadon.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God of Israel, as it becommeth vs, and as * Cyrus the king of the Persians bade vs. * Ezra 4.3,4.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Judea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their ambushments and seditions and conspiracies hindred the finishing of the building 73 All the time of king Cyrus life: so that they were let from the building two yeere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sisinnes would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The kings answere to the contrary.

* Ezra 5.1. nthem. 1.1. BUt * in the second yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophecied to the Jewes, euen vnto them that were in Judea and Jerusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called † vpon. † Greeke, vpon them.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedec stood vp, and began to build the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisinnes the gouernor of Syria, and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4 And layd vnto them, By whose commandement build you this house and this building, and enterprise all these other things: and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the Ancients of the Jewes had grace of the Lord after that he had visited the captiuitie, 6 That they were not letted to build vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answere was receiued.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, & their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute king Darius.

8 It may please the King our Master plainely to vnderstand, that when we came to the countrey of Judea, and entred into the citie of Jerusalem, we found in the citie of Jerusalem the Ancients of the Jewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord, great and newe, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already layd vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will be finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked their Ancients, saying, By whose commandement builde you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 Wee asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demaunded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And * this house was built vp many yeeres agoe by a King of Israel great and strong, and was finished. * 1.King.6.2.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lorde of Israel which is in heauen, * hee deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, * 2.King.24.2.

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the country of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of golde and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Jerusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to || Sanaballarus ruler. || Or, Shalbbazzar.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should caty away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Jerusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should bee built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanaballarus, being come hither, layd the foundations of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the King, let it be sought vp in the kings Libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be founde that the building of the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem hath bene bene done by the conſent of King Cyrus, and if it ſeeme good to the lord our King, let him make vs anſwere concerning theſe things.

23 Then King Darius commaunded to ſearch in the Kings Libraries, that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where ſuch things were layde vp for memorie.

24 In the firſt yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commanded the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem to be builded, where they did ſacrifice with the continuall fire,

25 Of the which the height ſhould be of threeſcore cubites, the breadth of threeſcore cubites with three rowes of hewen ſtones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the coſtes ſhould be payed out of the houſe of King Cyrus,

26 And that the holy veſſels of the houſe of the Lorde, as well thoſe of golde as of ſiluer, which Nabuchodonoſor had caried out of the houſe in Jeruſalem, and brought into Babylon, ſhould be reſtored to the houſe, which is in Jeruſalem, and ſet in the place where they were afore.

27 Alſo he commanded that Stſinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and thoſe which were conſtitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, ſhould take heede to refraine from that place, and to ſuffer Zorobabel the ſeruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Judea, and the elders of the Jewes to build that houſe of the Lord in that place.

28 And I alſo haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Jewes, till the houſe of the Lord be finiſhed,

29 And that ſome part of the tribute of Coeloſyria and Phenice ſhould bee diligently giuen to theſe men for ſacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Alſo corne, and ſalt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without faile, as the Prieſts, which are in Jeruſalem ſhall teſtifie to be ſpent euery day, 31 That offerings may be made to the hie God for the King, and his children, and that they may pay for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whoſoeuer ſhould tranſgreſſe any thing afore ſpoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree ſhould be taken out of his poſſeſſion, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods ſhould be the Kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whoſe Name is there called vpon, deſtroy euery King and nation, which ſtretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euill to that houſe of the Lord which is in Jeruſalem.

34 * I Darius the King haue ordeined that it ſhould be diligently executed according to theſe things. * Ezra 6.12.

CHAP. VII.

1 Siſinnes and his companions follow the Kings commandement, and helpe the Iewes to build the Temple. 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Paſſeouer.

THen Siſinnes the * gouernour of Coeloſyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, obeying king Darius commandements, * Ezra 6.13.

2 Aſſiſted diligently the holy works working with the ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.

3 And the holy workes proſpered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.

4 So they finiſhed all things by the commandement of the Lord God of Iſrael, and with the conſent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes Kings of the Perſians.

5 Thus the holy Houſe was finiſhed in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the ſixt yeere of Darius King of the Perſians.

6 ¶ And the children of Iſrael, and the Prieſtes and the Leuites, and the reſt, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyſes.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Tempie of the Lord, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambs,

8 And twelue goates for the ſinne of all Iſrael, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Iſrael.

9 And the Prieſts, and the Leuites ſtood according to their kinreds, cloathed with long robes in the workes of the Lorde God of Iſrael, according to the booke of Moyſes, and alſo the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Iſrael offered the Paſſeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the firſt moneth, after that the Prieſts and Leuites were ſanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not ſanctified together, but all the Leuites were ſanctified together.

12 And they offered the Paſſeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Prieſts, and for themſelues.

13 Then all the children of Iſrael which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had ſeparated themſelues from the abominations of the people of the land, & ſought the Lord.

14 And

14 And they kept the feaſt of vnleauened bread ſeuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Becauſe hee had turned the counſell of the King of the Aſſyrians vnto them to ſtrengthen their handes in the workes of the Lord God of Iſrael.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdras commeth from Babylon to Ieruſalem. 10 The copie of the commiſſion giuen by Artaxerxes. 29 He giueth God thankes for the Lord. 33 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confeſſion.

AND after theſe things, when Artaxerxes King of the Perſians reigned, Eſdras the ſonne of ‖ Saraias, the ſonne of Ezerias, the ſonne of Helcias, the ſonne of Salum, ‖ Or, Azarias.

2 The ſonne of Sadoc, the ſonne of Achitob, the ſonne of Amarias, the ſonne of Ezias, the ſonne of ‖ Meremoth, the ſonne of ‖ Zaraias, the ſonne of ‖ Saulas, the ſonne of Boccas, the ſonne of Abiſum, the ſonne of Phinees, the ſonne of Eleazar, the ſonne of Aaron was the high Prieſt.

‖ Or, Azarias. ‖ Or, Meraioth. ‖ Or, Sama. ‖ Or, Azi.

3 This Eſdras went out of Babylon, and was a Scribe well taught in the Law of Moyſes, giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

4 Alſo the King gaue him great honour, and hee found grace in his ſight in all his requeſts.

5 With him alſo there departed ſome of the children of Iſrael, and of the Prieſtes and Leuites, and of the holy Singers, and of the porters, and of the miniſters of the Temple vnto Ieruſalem,

6 In the ſeuenth yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fifth moneth: this was the ſeuenth yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the firſt day of the firſt moneth,

7 And came to Ieruſalem according as the Lord gaue them ſpeed in their iourney)

8 For Eſdras had gotten great knowledge, ſo that hee would let nothing paſſe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the Commandements, and he taught all Iſrael all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commiſſion written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copy thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Eſdras the Prieſt, and reader of the Lawe of the Lord, Saluation.

11 Foraſmuch as I conſider things with pitie, I haue commanded that they that will and deſire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Prieſtes and Leuites which are in our kingdome, ſhould goe with thee vnto Iſrael.

12 Therefore as many as doe willing, let them prepare together, as it hath ſeemed good to mee and my ſeuen friends the counſellers,

13 That they may viſite the things that are in Iuden and Ieruſalem diligently, as is contained in the Law of the Lord,

14 And carie the gifts to the Lord of Iſrael in Ieruſalem, which I and my friendes haue vowed: alſo all the golde and ſiluer which ſhall bee found in the country of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Ieruſalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might bee brought to Ieruſalem, as well ſiluer as golde, for bullies, and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer ſacrifices to the Lord vpon the Altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ieruſalem,

17 And whatſoeuer thou and thy brethren will doe with the gold or ſiluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God,

18 And the holy veſſels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vſe of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ieruſalem, thou ſhalt ſet before thy God in Ieruſalem, 19 And what other things ſoeuer thou ſhalt remember for the vſe of the Temple of thy God, thou ſhalt giue it out of the Kings treaſure.

20 And I alſo King Artaxerxes haue commaunded the Treaſurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatſoeuer Eſdras, the Prieſt and Reader of the Law of the higheſt God, ſhall ſend for, they ſhould giue it him with all ſpeed, euen to the ſumme of an hundreth talents of ſiluer, 21 And likewiſe vnto an hundreth cores of corne, and an hundreth pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things bee done to the higheſt God according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdom of the King and of his ſonnes.

23 Alſo to you it is commaunded, that of none of the Prieſtes or Leuites, or holy ſingers, or porters or miniſters of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor tare bee taken, nor that any haue power to tare them in any thing.

24 Thou alſo Eſdras, according to the wiſdome of God, ordeine Iudges and gouernors, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all thoſe which are well inſtructed in the Law of thy God, and teach thoſe which are not inſtructed.

25 And let all thoſe which ſhall tranſgreſſe the the Lawe of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the scribe said, Blessed be the onely Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his house which is in Jerusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the King and the counsellers, and all his friends, and gouernours.

28 ¶ *Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerres the king.

30 Of the sonnes of Phinees, Gersom. of the sonnes of Ithamar, Gamael, of the sons of Dauid, ‖ Lettus.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called * Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbred them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came ‖ Maasman, and Alnathan, and Samaian, and ‖ Joribon, and Nathan, Enaeam, Zacharian, and Mosollamon the chiefe, and best learned.

44 And I bade them to goe to Dadeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasurie,

45 With charge to bid Dadeus and his brethren, and the treasurers that were there, to send to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord, 46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lord, learned men of the sons of Moli, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ‖ Caiebebzan and his sonnes, and his brethren being eighteene.

47 And Asebia, and ‖ Anuon, and Olaian his brethren of the sonnes of ‖ Canaineus with their sonnes, twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the temple, two hundreth & twentie, of whom all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And *there I proclaimed a fast for the yong men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell,

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footemen or horsemen, or conduct for safegard against our enemies:

51 Because wee had sayde to the King, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore wee prayed our Lorde againe, according to these things, whom wee found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, ‖ Esebrias & Asanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the golde, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king and his counsellers, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, sixe hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of golde,

56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like golde, 57 And I sayd to them, You are also holy to the Lorde, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the siluer is a vowe to the Lorde of our fathers.

58 Watch and keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, Priestes and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And wee departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So wee came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the House of our Lord to ‖Marmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iuri, ‖Or, Marimoth, the sonne of Iori of Vrie.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabad the sonne of Iesus, and ‖Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

‖Or, Noedia, sonnes sonne of Banous.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commaundements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

*Ezra 9.1. 67 ¶ *When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, and Chetites, and Pherestes, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernors and rulers haue beene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my beard, and sate me downe sorrowfull and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the worde of the Lorde God of Israel, came to mee whiles I wept, for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched foorth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And sayd, *O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face. *Ezra 9.6.

74 For our sinnes are encreased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen, 75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers wee with our brethren, with our kings and Priestes haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercie beene, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thy Holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when wee were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but hee gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, hauing these things? for wee haue transgressed thy commaundements, which thou hast giuen by the handes of thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 82 *Because the land, which yee goe to inherite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, *Deut. 7.2.

83 Therefore now ye shall not ioyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may bee made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Wilt not thou be angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote, nor seede, nor name?

88 But, O Lorde of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Behold, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for these things.

*Ezra 10.1. 90 ¶ And *as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Jerusalem of men and women, and young children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

‖Or, Iciel. 91 Then Jechonias the sonne of ‖Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, sayd, O Esdras, wee haue sinned against the Lord God: we haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an oth concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priestes and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the Law for the strange wiues,
10 They promise to put them away.

*Ezra 10.6. THen *Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Joannan the sonne of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, he did eate no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Judea and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Jerusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattel confiscate to the Temple, and bee cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda and Beniamin, came together within three dayes into Jerusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and sayd to them, Yee haue sinned: for yee haue maried strange wiues, so that yee haue augmented the sinnes of Israel,

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cryed out, and said with a loud voice, We will doe so as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiues of our families, tary:

13 And let the Priests and Judges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Jonathas Asaels sonne, and ‖Ezecias sonne of ‖Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe them. ‖Or, Iahaziah. ‖Or, Thecua.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an ende of the things pertaining to them that had married strange wiues in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were found of the Priestes, which had married strange wiues, 36 All theſe married ſtrange wiues, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Prieſts and the Leuites dwelt in Jeruſalem, and in the countrey, the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, and the children of Iſrael in their owne houſes.

38 ¶ * Then all the multitude aſſembled together with one conſent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple towarde the Eaſt, *Nehem. 8. 1.

39 And ſpake to Eſdras the Prieſt, and reader, that he ſhould bring the Law of Moyſes, which had beue giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

40 Then brought Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt the law to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Prieſtes, that they might heare the Law the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth.

41 And hee read in the firſt broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.

42 So Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of the Lawe, ſtood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there ſtood by him ‖ Matgathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balaſamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hand ‖ Phaldaius, and Sael, Melchias, Aothaſaphus, Nabarias.

45 Then Eſdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for he ſate honorably before them all.)

46 And they all ſtood vpright when he expounded the law, and Eſdras bleſſed the Lord the moſt high God, the moſt mightie God of hoſtes.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Jeſus and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Jacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias and Calitas, Azarias, and Joazabdus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worſhipped the Lord,

‖Or, Bani,

49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and ſtood alſo earneſtly vpon the reading.

50 Then ſaid ‖ Aththarates to Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt and reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lorde, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

‖Or, Nehemias.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the ſweete drinkes, and ſend preſents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lorde, and be not ſorie: for the Lorde God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all theſe things to the people, ſaying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not ſad.

54 Then they departed all to eate, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue preſents to them that had not, and to make good cheare.

55 For they were yet filled with the words wherewith they were inſtructed, when they were aſſembled together.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

THus sayth the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commaundements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorow and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoile, that their kinred bee not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen: let them bee put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them ỹ euerlasting Tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of ointment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, & bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, sayeth the Lord.

16 And those that bee dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Jeremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruites, 28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine handes shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Bee ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, sayeth the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the clods of the earth, and will shew mercy vnto them: for I am mercifull, sayeth the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should go vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Wait for your shepheard, who shal giue you euerlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Bee ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerlasting light shal shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world: receiue the ioy of your glory: I testifie my Sauiour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thankes vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadow of the worldly, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whome thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lorde, that thy people which haue beene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

*Reuel.7.9. 42 *I Esdras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praysed the Lord with songs.

43 And in the middes of them there was a young man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads hee set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and said, Who are these my Lord?

45 Who answered, and sayd vnto mee, These be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then sayd I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered and sayd vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel sayd vnto mee, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lorde God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous works which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which are yet sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to my heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was sore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull words to the most High, and said,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 *And a body vnto Adam, without soule, who was also the workemanship of thy hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee, *Gen.2.7.

6 And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth ‖ brought forth. ‖Or, went forward.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but hee transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people and kinreds out of number.

8 *And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandements. *Gen.6.12.

9 *But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyed them, *Gen.7.10.

10 So that by the flood that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam, 11 Yet thou leftest one, euen *Noe, with his houshold, of whom came all righteous men. *1.Pet.3.20.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou diddest choose thee a man from among them, whose name was *Abraham. *Gen.12.1. *Gen.17.5.

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede.

16 *And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, *vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau, *and diddest choose Jacob, and cast off Esau, *Gen.21.2,3. *Gen.25.25,26. *Mala.1.2,3. rom.9.13.

and

and so Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou ledest his seede out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina,

* Exod. 19. 1. deut. 4. 10.

18 And enclinedst the heauens and bowedst downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, & cause the depths to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And thy glory went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Lawe vnto the seede of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Lawe might bring foorth fruit in them.

* Gene. 3. 6.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenes ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeeres were brought to an end, * till thou didst raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid,

* 2. Sam. 5. 1.

* 2. Sam. 5. 1 and 7. 5, 13.

24 * Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy city ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yere that I see many trespalling) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sin, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue how this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy testimonies, as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here and there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy Commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall bee found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy Commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reproueth Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

AND the Angel that was sent vnto mee: whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And saide, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered mee, and said, I am sent to shewe thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee.

4 Whereof if thou canst declare mee one, I wil shew thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shewe thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I sayde, Tell on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Goe thy way: weigh mee the weight of the fire, or measure mee the blast of the winde, or call mee againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne, that can do that, which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And hee said vnto mee, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or howe great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went down to the deep, nor yet to the hel, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not bee separated, and yet canst thou giue mee none answere of them.

10 Hee sayde moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 How should thy vessell then bee able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and now outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then sayd I vnto him, It were better that wee were not at all, then that wee should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And

13 And he answered me, and said, * I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees helde a counsell,

14 And said, Come, let vs go fight against the Sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the Sea tooke counsell and said, Come, let vs go vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs:

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the land stood vp & stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and said, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so * they that dwel vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and saide, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine hie things, but of such as we daylye medle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people, whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Law of our Fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grashoppers, and our life is a very feare, and wee are not thought worthy to obteine mercie.

25 But what will hee doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered hee mee, and saide, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt marueile: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is ful of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill sowne that is sowen, be not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euill is sowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seede hath beene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath bee brought vp vnto this time? and how much shal be bring foorth vntill the harueste come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruit of wickednesse the corne of euill seed bringeth foorth, 32 And when the stalks shalbe cut downe, which are without number, how great an harueste must be prepared.

33 Then I answered and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Haste not to be aboue the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to bee aboue him, though thou indeuour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shal I thus hope? and when commeth the fruit of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Jeremiel the Archangel answered, and saide, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of ẏ times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shal not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and saide, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture the harueste of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and said, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then saide I, No, Lord, shee can not. And he said vnto mee, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as she that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauaile, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shalbe shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete therefore, 45 Shew mee whether there bee more to come then is past, or moe things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So

* Iudg. 9. 8. 2. chron. 25. 18.

* Esay 55. 8, 9. Iohn 3. 31. 1. cor. 2. 13, 14.

48 So I stood, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before mee: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a watrie cloude, and sent downe much raine with a stormе: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the drops, and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and saide, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me, and saide, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shewe thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueth shall be hid. 10 Vnrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reiected & God deliuereth them. 35 God doth all things in season.

NEuertheless, concerning the tokens, beholde, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall bee taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth shall be hid, and the land shalbe barren from faith,

*Matth.24.12. 2 And * iniquitie shall bee increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past.

3 And it shall come to passe, that one shall set in foot, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the Sunne shal suddenly shine againe in the night, and the Moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shalbe mooued.

6 And he shall rule, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules shall change place.

7 And the Sea of Sodome shall cast out fish, and make a noise in the night, which many shall not know, but they shal heare the voice thereof.

8 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake foorth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters.

9 And salt waters shall bee found in the sweet, and all friends shal fight one against another: then shal wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall vnrighteousnesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shal men hope, but not obteine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted mee, and set me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauy?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuity?

18 Up then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flocke in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then said I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning and weeping, as Uriel the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grieuous vnto mee againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord of euery forest of the earth, & of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of al the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one Lilie.

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of al the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, & of al the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a Law, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one root thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleeue not thy testimonies.

30 And

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they should haue beene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Nowe when I had spoken these words, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I saide, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then he doth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorrowe haue I spoken: for my reines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Jacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather me the drops that are scattered, or make mee the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring mee forth the windes that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and labourest to know.

38 And I saide, O Lord, Lord, who can knowe these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things, wherof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefit that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Beholde, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bene before mee, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he saide vnto mee, I will compare my iudgment vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and said, Couldest thou not make at once those that haue beene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me, The creature, said he, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world holde them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I saide, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast susteined it, so might it nowe also conteine all men at once.

46 And he said vnto mee, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth: require her to bring forth tenne at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sowen vpon it.

49 For as a yong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and saide, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast tolde me is yong, draweth she neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauaileth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whom thou hast now brought forth) like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shal answere thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were born in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now begin to be old, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whome thou doest gouerne thy workemanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsell, and is authour thereof, and hath created them for his children

25 The felicitie of the age to come.

AND he said vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, & before the borders of the world were set, & before the windes ble we one against another:

2 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimnies in Sion were hot:

5 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that now nowe sinne, were turned away, and they that haue laid vp the treasure of faith, were sealed, 6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall bee ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shal be the diuision of times? or when shall bee the ende of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he sayde vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, *Jacobs hande helde fast the heele of Esau. *Gene. 25. 26.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele & the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, and saide, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee make an ende to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night.

13 So hee answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mightie sounding voice.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be moued.

15 And therefore when he speaketh, be not afraid: for of the end shall be the word, & of the foundation of the earth shall it be vnderstood.

16 Therfore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is mooued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, and beholde, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it saide, Beholde, the dayes come that I wil come and inquire of them that dwel vpon the earth,

19 And when I begin to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

20 And the world, that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the bookes shall bee opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a peere olde shall speake with their voices: the women with childe shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shal liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sowen places appeare as the vnsowen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found emptie.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friendes, as with enemies, and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shal stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoeuer remaineth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shalbe saued, and see my saluation, and the ende of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall bee changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall bee put out, and deceite shall be quenched, 28 But faith shal flourish: corruption shal be ouercome, and the trueth which hath beene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And when he talked with mee, beholde, I looked a little vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these wordes saide he vnto mee, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen daies more, I wil tel thee more things, & greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voice is heard before the Highest: surely the mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath hee sent mee to shewe thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe & fasted seuen dayes in like maner, that I might fulfill the three weekes, which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within mee againe, & I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse, 38 And I saide, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst *that the heauen & the earth should be made, & the worke folowed thy word *Gene. 1.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darknes was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voice as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Upon the second day thou createdst the heauenly aire, and commandedst it, that, going betweene, it should make a diuision betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Upon the third day thou commaundedst dedst, that the waters should bee gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: sixe parts didst thou drie, and kept them to the intent that of these there should bee that should serue thee, being sowen of God and tilled.

43 Assoone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediatly great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, & flowers of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

* Gene. 1. 14. 45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the starres,

* Gen. 1. 14. and 15. deut. 4. 19. 46 And gauest them a charge, to doe * seruice, euen vnto man that was for to be made.

* Gene. 1. 20. 47 And vpon the fift day thou saidest vnto the seuenth part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beastes, as foules and fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous workes.

‖ Or, Enoch. 49 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst ‖ Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leuiathan, 50 And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that hee should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt & when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beastes, cattell and creeping things.

54 And besides this, Adam, whome thou madest lord ouer all the workes, which thou hast created, of him come wee all, and the people also whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but bee like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a droppe that falleth from a vessell.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And wee thy people (whome thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy feruent louer) are giuen into their hands, 59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall wee suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement, 43 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies & goodnesse of God.

AND when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had bene sent downe to mee the nights afore.

2 And he said vnto me, Vp Esdras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could go into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it, if he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is ful of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrowe and in a dangerous place to fal, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwirt them, euen betweene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorowe the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorow and trauaile: they are but few, and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore world were wide & sure, and brought immortal fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these straight & brittle things, they cannot attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then saide I, O Lord, Lord * seeing thou hast ordeined in the Law, that the righteous * Deut. 8. 1.

ous should inherite these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then hee sayd vnto mee, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue, to auoid punishment.

22 Neuertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes.

25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and shee shall come forth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoeuer shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce with him foure hundreth yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres, shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall bee turned into the old silence for seuen daies, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffring shall haue an end.

34 Iustice onely shal continue: the trueth shall remaine, and faith shalbe strong.

35 The worke shall followe, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deeds shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

*Gen.18.23. 36 Then said I, *Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and *Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernesse, *Exod.32.31.

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz, and Samuel, 38 And *Dauid for the destruction, and *Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie, *2.Sam.24.17. *2.Chron.6.14.

39 *And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue. *1.King.17.21. and 18.42,45.

40 *And Ezechias for the people in ỹ time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many. *2.King.19.15.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednes aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered me, and said, This present life is not the end: oft times honour is reteined in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the ende of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shall bee cut off: righteousnesse shall grow vp, and the verity shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he should not haue sinned.

47 For what profite is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? *for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee. *Rom.5.18.

49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there bee promised an immortall life, when we doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euerlasting hope should be promised vs, seeing that we betyde our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise should bee shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if wee will not enter into it?

54 (For wee haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abſteined, ſhould ſhine more then ſtarres, if our faces be blacker then darkneſſe:

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteouſly, that we ſhould ſuffer after death.

57 Then anſwered he mee, and ſaid, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth, ſhall fight, 58 That if he bee ouercome, he ſhould ſuffer as thou haſt ſaid: but if he get the victorie, he ſhould receiue the thing that I ſaid.

59 For this is the life, whereof Moyſes ſpake vnto the people, while hee liued, ſaying,

*Deut. 30. 19. *Chuſe thee life that thou mayeſt liue,

60 Neuertheleſſe, they beleeued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor mee alſo which haue ſaid vnto them, 61 That heauines ſhould not ſo be to their deſtruction, as ioy ſhould come vnto them, to whom ſaluation is perſwaded.

62 I anſwered then, and ſayd, I knowe Lord, that the moſt High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world.

63 And that hee hath pitie on thoſe that walke in his Law,

*Rom. 2. 4. 64 And that *he is patient: for he long ſuffereth thoſe that haue ſinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberall: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercie: for he ouercommeth in mercie thoſe that are preſent, and that are paſt, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the poſſeſſion thereof.

68 Hee pardoneth alſo: for if he gaue not of his goodneſſe, that they which haue done euill, might be relieued from their wickedneſſe, the tenne thouſand part of men ſhould not remaine aliue.

69 And if hee, being Iudge, forgaue not thoſe that bee healed with his word and tooke away the multitude of ſinnes, 70 There ſhould peraduenture bee very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is ſmall. 6 The works of God are excellent. 20 Eſdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promiſe of ſaluation to the iuſt. 55 The deſtruction of the vniuſt.

AND he anſwered mee, ſaying, The moſt High made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a ſimilitude, O Eſdras, As when thou aſkeſt the earth, it ſhall ſay vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little duſt that gold commeth of, ſo is it with the worke of this world.

3 *There be many created, but few ſhall be ſaued. *Matth. 20. 16.

4 Then anſwered I, and ſayde, Then ſwallow vp the wit, O my ſoule, and deuoure vnderſtanding.

5 For thou haſt promiſed to heare, and thou wilt prophecie: for thou haſt no longer ſpace, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou ſuffer not thy ſeruant, that wee may intreate thee, that thou mayeſt giue ſeede vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderſtanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can ſet himſelfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, and wee all are one workmanſhip of thine hands, as thou haſt ſaid,

8 For when the body is faſhioned now in the womb, and thou haſt giuen it members, the creature is preſerued by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, doth ſuffer nine Moneths the creature, which is faſhioned in it.

9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is conteined, ſhall both bee preſerued, and when time is come, the wombe being preſerued, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou haſt commaunded the members, euen the breaſtes, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breaſts, 11 That the thing which is created, may be nouriſhed for a time, till thou diſpoſeſt it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringeſt it vp with thy righteouſneſſe, nurtureſt it in thy lawe, and reformeſt it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou ſlayeſt it as thy creature, and giueſt it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou deſtroyeſt him, which with ſo great labours is faſhioned, it is an eaſie thing to appoint by thy commaundement, that the thing alſo which is made, might be preſerued.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will ſpeake (as touching men in general thou ſhalt rather proude) but concerning thy people, for whoſe ſake I am ſory, 16 And for thine inheritance for whoſe cauſe I mourne: for Iſrael, for whom I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whoſe ſake I am grieued.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my ſelfe, as for them: for I ſee our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the ſudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderſtand my wordes, which I will ſpeake before thee. The beginning of the words of Eſdras, before he was taken vp:

20 O Lord, that liueſt for euer, which beholdeſt from aboue that which is aboue, & in the ayre,

21 Whoſe

21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whom the host of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, and sayings stedfast: whose commandement is strong, and gouernment terrible,

23 Whose looke driueth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away, as the thing beareth witnesse, 24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, & receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I wil answere.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deeds of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearely taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beasts, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs which haue no works of righteousnes.

33 For the righteous, which haue layd vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deeds.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest bee so grieued towards it?

*1.King.8.46. 2.chron.6.36.

35 *For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doeth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousnes and thy goodnesse shall bee praised, if thou bee mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good works.

37 ¶ Then answered hee mee, and sayd, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not verely consider the workes of them before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

*Gen.4.4.

39 But *I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation and the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, & yet alway the thing that is sowen commeth not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then and sayd, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it bee destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man, which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his patterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt bee mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he mee, and sayd, The things present, are for the time present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marueilous before the Highest, 49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them that shal liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is Paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfect goodnesse and absolute wisedome.

53 The root of euil is sealed vp from you: the weakenesse & moth is destroyed from you, into hell flieth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorrowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortality.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his Lawe and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, ý there was no God: though they knew that they should die.

*Psal.14.1. and 53.1.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made readie for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is nowe at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Behold now, O Lord: thou hast shewed mee the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an ende. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude. 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall be seene an * earthquake in the world, and an vproare of the people,

* Mat. 24. 7.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of these things from the daies that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest,

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders & signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shal escape safe, and shall bee deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherin ye haue beleeued,

8 Shalbe preserued from the said perils, and shal see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselues, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefits, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my law, while they were yet in liberty, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand but despised it,

12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more careful, to know how the vngodly shalbe punished, but enquire how the righteous shall bee saued, and whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now and will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shalbe * saued,

* Chap. 8. 3. matt. 20. 16.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And hee answered mee, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workman is, such is the work: & as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was ỹ time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but nowe the manners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede, and by a Law, whereout they cannot rid themselues.

20 So I considered the world, and behold, there was perill, because of the deuices that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire fielde, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the floures of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the floures onely,

25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as hee had commanded mee into the field, which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eate of the herbes of the field, and the meat of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and beganne to talke before the most High, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shew thy selfe vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wildernesse, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

* Exod. 19. 9 and 24. 3. deut. 4. 12.

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare mee, O Israel, and marke my words, thou seed of Iacob.

31 For behold, I sowe my law in you, that it it may bring foorth fruit in you, and that yee may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Lawe appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

*Exod.32.28. 33 *For they that receiued it, perished, because they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.

34 And lo, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seede, or the sea a shippe, or a vessell meat and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sowen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, do not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, & our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, and vpon the

*Chap.19.45. right side *I sawe a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voyce, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and shee had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And said vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And she said vnto mee, Sir, let mee alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorrow: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought very low, 42 Then I sayd vnto her, What ayleth thee? tell me.

43 Then she sayd vnto mee, I thy seruant haue beene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirty yeeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard me thine handmaid, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauaile.

47 So when hee grewe vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BUt when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort mee: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort mee, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and said,

6 Thou foolish woman aboue all other, seest thou not our heauinesse, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing wee bee all now in heauinesse, and make our mone (for we be all sorrowfull) art thou sory for one sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and she shall tell thee, that it is shee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shalbe destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sory but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruite of my wombe, which I brought foorth with heauinesse, and bare with sorrowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorrow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I wil not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 20 Doe not so, but be counselled: for how many falles hath Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorrow of Jerusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuarie is layde waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our Candlestick is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our young men are brought in bondage, and our men are become weake, 23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for shee is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, & put away the multitude of sorrowes, that the Almighty may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and her beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might be.

26 And beholde, immediatly she cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voyce, and said,

* Chap. 4. 1. 28 Where is Uriel the Angel, * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon mee.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke mee by the right hand, and comforted mee, and set me vpon my feet, and said vnto me, 31 What ayleth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorie?

* Chap. 5. 29. 32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, & I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speak vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnes.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my minde, being hautie, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I wil informe thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 Hee hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sorie continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou begannest to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas she told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, shee is Sion: and whereas she told thee (euen she which thou seest now, as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that she said vnto thee, that shee was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirty yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her,

46 But after thirtie yeeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she told thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Jerusalem.

48 But whereas shee tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou begannest to comfort her: of these things which haue chaunced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art sorry in thy mind, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clearenesse of her glory, and the faireneesse of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commaunded thee to goe into the fielde, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therfore feare not, neither let thine heart bee afraid, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the fewe.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an Egle comming foorth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a Lyon comming out of the forest.

THen sawe I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the sea an Egle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I sawe, and behold, shee spred her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blewe on her, and gathered themselues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreouer, I saw that the Eagle flewe with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the Egle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preserued for the last.

10 Neuertheless, I sawe that the voice went not out of her heads, but from the midst of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and beholde, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voice vnto it, and sayd,

16 Heare, thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more,

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold, in processe of time the feathers that followed, stoode vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles body, but two heads that rested, and sixe wings.

24 Then saw I also that two wings diuided themselues from the sixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and beholde, the vnder wings thought to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselues to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I sawe, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnder wings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had beene.

33 After this I looked, and beholde, the head that was in the middes suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voice which sayde vnto me, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and beholde as it were a Lion

Lion that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I sawe that hee sent out a mans voice vnto the Eagle, and spake, and sayd,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that, that of the foure beasts remainest, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulnesse, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit:

41 For thou hast not iudged the world with trueth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued liars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought foorth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mightie.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proude times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that shee may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

AND when the Lion spake these words to the Eagle, I saw,

2 And behold, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselues to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproares.

3 And I saw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my mind, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit, 4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto mee in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Loe, yet am I wearie in my minde, and very weake in my spirit, & little strength is there in mee, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now will I beseech the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede be come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule,

9 Seeing thou hast iudged me worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision.

11 The Egle whom thou sawest come vp from the Sea, is the *kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. *Dan.7.7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue Kings reigne one after another.

15 Whereof the second shall beginne to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for the voyce that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not goe out from the heads, but from the middes of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shall bee in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder wings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation:

20 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the ende.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shal call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle.

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bedde, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sworde shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall hee fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preserued for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the wordes that thou hast heard, 32 This is the winde which the most Hie hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the ende, and he shall reproue them, and cast before them their spoiles.

33 For he shall set them aliue in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For hee will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserued vpon my borders, and hee shall make them ioyfull, vntill the comming of the day of Iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast beene meete to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene in a booke and hide them, 38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seuen dayes moe, that it may be shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as a hauen or ship preserued from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it beene for vs, that we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loude voice. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie, thou house of Jacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almightie hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for mee, I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercy for the low estate of your Sanctuarie.

49 And now goe your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the field seuen dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eate onely of the flowers of the fielde, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a winde comming foorth of the sea, 3 which became a man. 5 His propertie and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and behold, there was a mightie man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, hee graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flewe vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I saw after these things, and behold all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuertheleſſe when he saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely, as I saw, hee sent out of his mouth, mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 ¶ Afterward saw I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sadde: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and sayde, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Woe vnto them that shalbe left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are layde vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet it is easier, that hee that is in danger, should fal into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I wil open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

23 Hee that shall beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith toward the most Mightie.

24 Knowe therefore, that they which bee left behinde, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the middes of the sea, 26 The same is hee whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and hee shall order them that are left behinde.

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and storme, 28 And that hee neither helde sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse he destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation.

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And he shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, * and nation against nation, and realme against realme. * Matth.24.7.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my Sonne be reueiled, whome thou sawest goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voice, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But hee shall stand vpon the toppe of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shalbe shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen foorth without any hands.

37 And this my Sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to a flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, euen by the Law which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the tenne tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne land, * in the time of Oseas the King, whom Salmanasar the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land. * 2.King.17.3.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.

44 For the moſt High then ſhewed them ſignes,* and ſtayed the ſprings of the flood till they were paſſed ouer.

*Exod. 14.21. ioſh. 3.15, 16.

45 For thorow the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yeere and a halfe, and the ſame region is called ‖ Arſareth.

‖Or, Ararath.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they came forth againe.

47 The moſt High ſhall holde ſtill the ſprings of the riuer againe that they may goe thorow: therefore ſaweſt thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that bee left behinde of thy people, are thoſe that bee found within my borders.

49 Now when he deſtroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee ſhall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then ſhall hee ſhew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then ſaid I, O Lord, Lord, ſhew mee this, wherefore haue I ſeene the man comming vp from the mids of the ſea?

52 And he ſaid vnto me, As thou canſt neither ſeeke out, nor know theſe things, that are in the deepe of the Sea, ſo can no man vpon earth ſee my Sonne, or thoſe that be with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou ſaweſt, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou haſt forſaken thine owne Lawe, and applyed thy diligence vnto mine, and ſought it.

55 Thy life haſt thou ordered in wiſdome, and haſt called vnderſtanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I ſhewed thee the rewards with the moſt High: and after three other dayes I will ſpeake other things vnto thee, and wil declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praiſing the moſt High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, and ſuch things as come in their ſeaſons: and there I ſate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moſes in the buſh. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worſe then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Iſrael. 35 The reſurrection and iudgement.

VPon the third day I ſate vnder an oke, and behold, there came forth a voice vnto me out of the buſh, and ſaid, Eldras, Eldras.

2 And I ſaid, Heare am I, Lord, and ſtood vp vpon my feete.

*Exod. 3.2, 3.

3 Then ſaid he vnto me, * In the buſh I reuealed my ſelfe, and ſpake vnto Moyſes, when my people ſerued in Egypt:

4 And I ſent him, and ledde my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long ſeaſon,

5 And I tolde him many wonders, and ſhewed him the ſecrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, ſaying,

6 Theſe words ſhalt thou declare, and theſe ſhalt thou hide.

7 And now I ſay vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the ſignes that I haue ſhewed, and the dreames that thou haſt ſeene, and the interpretations which thou haſt heard.

8 For thou ſhalt be taken away from all, and thou ſhalt remaine hencefoorth with my counſell, and with ſuch as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath loſt his youth, and the times begin to waxe olde.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore ſet thine houſe in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort ſuch of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: caſt away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature, 14 And ſet aſide thy moſt grieuous thoughts, and haſte thee to depart from theſe times.

15 For greater euils then thoſe which thou haſt ſeene now, ſhall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reaſon of age, the more ſhal the euils be increaſed vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now haſteth the viſion to come, that thou haſt ſeene.

18 ¶ Then anſwered I, and ſayd before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I wil go as thou haſt commanded me, & reforme the people, which are preſent: but they that ſhall be borne afterward, who ſhall admoniſh them?

20 Thus the world is ſet in darkeneſſe, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that ſhall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, ſend the holy Ghoſt into mee, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world ſince the beginning, which was written in thy Lawe, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes may liue.

23 And

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fourtie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly, 25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfite men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morrow this houre shalt thou beginne to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded mee, and gathered all the people together, and said,

28 Heare these wordes, O Israel,

*Gene. 47. 4. 29 *Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

*Acts 7. 53. 30 And receiued the Lawe of life, *which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as hee is a righteous Iudge, hee tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that you will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, yee shall be kept aliue, and after death shall ye obtaine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fourty dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as hee commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, beholde, a voyce called mee, saying, Esdras, *open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. *Ezek. 3. 2.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, hee reached mee a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it and dranke, and when I had dronke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisdome grewe in my brest: for my spirit was strengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the High things of the night, which they vnderstoode not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and helde not my tongue by night.

44 In fourty dayes they wrote two hundreth and foure bookes.

45 And when the fourtie daies were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.

46 But keepe the seuentie last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of Wisdome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, sayth the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnesse.

5 Behold, sayth the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, sayth the Lord, I will hold my tongue no more for their wickednes, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Beholde, *the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust crie continually. *Reuel. 6. 10. and 19. 2.

9 I will surely auenge them, sayeth the Lorde, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is leade as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt,

11 But I will bring them out with a mightie mightie hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and wil destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall bee smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The ploughmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swordes in their handes.

16 For there shalbe sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regard their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a Citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the Cities shall be troubled, the houses shall bee afraid, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoyled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence me which are from the ‖ East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

‖ Or, West.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompence them in their bosome: thus sayeth the Lord God, 22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sworde cease from them, that shedde innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw, that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my Commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, and ye shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because yee haue sinned against him.

28 Beholde, an horrible vision commeth from the East, 29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, and the multitude of them shall bee caried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the boares of the forrest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shal turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shalbe troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemie besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shall be feare and dread, and strife among their Kings.

34 Beholde cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shall bee from the sword vnto the belly, 36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shall bee great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shalbe afraid, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shal come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shall windes arise and shall open it with the cloud, which he rayseth vp in wrath, and the Starre, rayseth to feare the East and West winde, shall be destroyed,

40 And the great and mightie clouds shall be lift vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation,

41 As fire and haile, and flying swordes, and many waters, that all fieldes may be full, and all Riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the Cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the medowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall go with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

44 They shal come to her, and besiege her, and shall powre foorth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glory in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her works, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God, 49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power shall bee dried vp, as a flower when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, sayeth the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and said ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set foorth the beautie of thy countenance:

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that bee in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou as vnhappy, shalt come thorow the Sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine Citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy Cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carry away captiue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt and Syria. 18. 38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselues to the Lord, 55 Whose might is prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sacke and haire-cloth, and mourne your children, and be sory: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungry lyon in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, & who can quench it?

7 Hee shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vtterly bee broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the Sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrowes that he shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not bee put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorrowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, & great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor bee alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, vitailes shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselues to be in good case: but then shall the euils bud foorth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall bee no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shall bee ten left, and two of the fielde, which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rockes.

23 As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where oliues growe, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shall bee left waste, and the fieldes thereof shall waxe olde, and her wayes and all her pathes shall growe full of thornes, because no man shall trauaile therethrough.

27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridegroomes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes bee destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, yee seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods, of whom the Lord speaketh: behold, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauailing woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth foorth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres before the paines come vpon her bodie, and when the childe commeth to the birth, they tarie not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues bee slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorrowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him bee as he that fleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as hee that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as hee that shall not dwell therein.

36 Hee that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruits, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more wil I be angry against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, and shal accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall bridle the author of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the works thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

46 Beholde, the Lord *knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts. *Luke 16.15.

47 *For as soone as hee sayd, Let the *Gen. 1.1.

earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he *knoweth the number of them.

*Pſal.147.4.

49 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it conteineth.

50 Hee hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauen like a vault: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath hee made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the high rocks to water the earth.

53 He made man, and put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what yee imagine in your heart when ye sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, yee shall be confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the Iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall bee had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foot.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O yee my beloued, saieth the Lord: behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not yee afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saieth the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you down, and let not your iniquities lift themselues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a fielde is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, where by no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

Tobit.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobits parentage. 3 His godlinesse. 6 His equitie. 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 19 He fleeth, and his goods are confiscate, 22 and after restored.

Tobias being captiue amongſt the Aſſyrians, did not leaue the way of trueth.

THe booke of the wordes of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananeel, the sonne of Aduel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephthalim,

2 Who in the time of ‖ Enemessar king of the Assyrians was *led away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galilee aboue Aser.

‖Or, Salmanasar. *2.King.17.3.

Tobias was merciful.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrie in the land of Israel, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the Tribes of Israel, that all the Tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.

5 *Nowe all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal. *1.King.12.30.

He fled from idoles. *Exod.22.29. deut.12.6.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem at the feasts, *bringing the first frutes, and the tenths of beasts, with that which was first shorne, and offered them at the Altar to the Priestes the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem:

Ierusalem: the other tenth part I sold, and came & bestowed it euery yeere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meet, as Deborа my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupil.

He marrieth to wife Anna, which beareth him Tobiah.

9 ¶ Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of *mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

*Num. 36.7.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles,

* Gene. 43.32.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating,

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

He found grace in the sight of Salmanasar.

13 Therefore the most High gaue mee grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purueyor.

14 ¶ And I went into Media, and I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael the ‖brother of Gabrias || in the land of Media.

‖Or, sonne.

‖Or, in Rages a citie of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

‖Or, Salmanasar. The charitie of Tobias.

16 ¶ But in the time of || Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry,

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I sawe any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

*2. Kin. 19.35, 36. isa. 37.36, 37 ecclus. 48.18, 22 1. macch. 7.41. 2. macch. 8, 19.

18 And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any, when he * was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the King.

Tobit fleeth from the face of Sennacherib.

19 Therefore when a certaine Nineuite had accused me to the king, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrewe my selfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were spoiled, neither was there any thing left mee besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.

*2. King. 19. 37. 2. chro. 32. 21.

21 Neuertheless *within fiue and fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fledde into the mountaines of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accompts and ouer all his domesticall affaires, Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

Tobit returneth.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for mee, I came againe to Nineue: nowe Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersawe the accompts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and hee was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

2 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to burie the dead. 10 How he became blinde. 11 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 Shee reprocheth him bitterly.

NOwe when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto me with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weeks, there was a great dinner prepared mee, in the which I sate downe to eat.

Tobit doth bid to dinner those which feare God.

2 And when I saw abundance of meate, I said to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren, which doeth remember God, and loe I will tarie for thee.

3 But he came againe, and sayd, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

Tobit leauing his guests, taketh vp the dead body into his house to burie it.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the sunne.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heauinesse,

*Amos. 8.10. 1. macch. 1.41.

6 Remembring that prophecie of *Amos, which had sayd, Your solemne feasts shall bee turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the sunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

Tobit is rebuked of his neighbors.

8 But my neighbours mocked mee, and sayd, Doeth hee not feare to die for this cause, who *fled away, and yet, loe, hee burieth the dead againe?

*Chap. 1. 19.

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered.

He is made blind for an example of patiencie to his posteritie.

10 And I knewe not that Sparrowes were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the Sparrowes cast downe warme dung into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes, and I went to the Physicians, but they helped me not. Moreouer, Achiacharus did nourish mee, vntill I went into Helimais.

The wife of Tobit laboureth for her liuing.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens works to doe.

12 And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kidde,

The innocencie of Tobit. *Deut. 22.1.

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to bleate, I sayd vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stollen? render it to the owners: *for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stollen.

14 But shee sayd, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleeue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and

I did blush because of her. Furthermore shee said, Where are thine almes, and thy righteousnesse: beholde, they all now appeare in thee.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. The Angel Raphael sent.

THen I beeing sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are mercy and trueth, and thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember mee, and looke on mee, neither punish mee according to my sinnes, or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandements: wherefore hast thou deliuered vs * for a spoile, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prouerb of a reproch to all them among whom wee are dispersed, and nowe ‖ thou hast many and iust causes

5 To doe with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commaundements, neither haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with mee as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorowfull: command therefore that I may bee dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not away thy face from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day, that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers mayds,

8 Because she had bene married to seuen husbands, whome Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not knowe, sayd they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doest thou ‖ beate vs for them? if they bee dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When she heard these things, she was very sorowfull, so that shee thought to haue strangled her selfe. And shee sayd, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorrow.

11 Then she prayed toward the window, and sayd, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man, — The innocencie of Sarra.

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any manchild to be his heire, neither any † neere kinseman or childe borne of him, to whome I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are nowe dead, and why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, command to looke on me, and to pity me that I doe no more heare reproch. — Her chastitie. † Greeke, neere brother.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God. — The prayers of Tobit and Sarra are heard both at a time.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euill spirit, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

IN that day Tobit remembred * the siluer which he had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media, — * Chap. 1. 14.

2 And said with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when hee had called him, hee sayd, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury me, and despise not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not. — Tobits exhortation to his sonne, when he thought hee should die. The mother is to be reuerenced. * Exod. 20. 12. eccles. 7. 27.

4 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers shee sustained when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when she dieth, burie her by mee in the same graue.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will bee set to sinne or to transgresse the commandements of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succeede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly. — God must be in our hearts.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when — Almes. * Prouerbs 3. 9. eccles. 4. 1. and 14. 13.

‖ Or, thy iudgements are many and true.

Sarra is checked of her fathers maides.

‖ Or, when she beat them for their faults, they said.

Sarra prayeth and fasteth, that she may be deliuered frō shame.

when thou giueſt almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, leſt that God turne his face from thee.

*Luke 14.13. ecclus.35.10. 8 * Giue almes according thy ſubſtance: if thou haue but a little, be not afraid to giue a little almes.

*Eccluſ. 29.13. 10 *Becauſe that almes doth deliuer from death, and ſuffereth not to come into darkneſſe.

Aduoutrie. *1.Theſ.4.3. 12 Beware of all * whoredome, my ſonne, and chiefly take a wife of the ſeede of thy fathers, and take not a ſtrange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers ſtocke: for we are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Iſaac and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my ſonne, that they married wiues of their owne kinred, and were bleſſed in their children, and their ſeede ſhall inherite the lande.

Pride. 13 Now therefore, my ſonne, loue thy brethren, and deſpiſe not in thine heart thy brethren, the ſonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is deſtruction and much trouble, and in fiercenеſſe is ſcarſitie, and great pouertie: for ‖ fiercenеſſe is the mother of famine.

18 Aske counſell alway of the wiſe, and deſpiſe not any counſell that is profitable.

God is to be bleſſed. 19 Bleſſe thy Lord God alway, and deſire of him that thy wayes may be made ſtreight, and that all thy purpoſes and counſels may proſper: for euery nation hath not counſell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and hee humbleth whom he wil, as he will: now therefore, my ſonne, remember my commandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

*Chap.1.14. 20 * Furthermore I ſignifie this to thee, that I deliuered tenne talents to Gabael the ſonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

21 And feare not, my ſonne, for almuch as we are made poore: for thou haſt many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all ſinne, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him. Pouertie with the feare of God.

CHAP. V.

Tobias ſent to Rages. 4 He meeteth with the angel Raphael, which did conduct him.

TObias then anſwered, and ſaid, Father, I will do all things which thou haſt commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the ſiluer, ſeeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and ſaid vnto him, Seeke thee a man, who may go with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I wil giue him wages, and goe and receiue the money. Tobias ſent by his father to Rages, ſeeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whom he bringeth to his father.

4 Therefore when he was gone to ſeeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But hee knew not, and ſaid vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media? and knoweſt thou thoſe places well?

6 To whom the Angel ſayd, I will goe with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias ſaid to him, Tary for me, till I tell my father.

8 Then he ſaid vnto him, Goe, and tary not: ſo he went in and ſaid to his father, Beholde, I haue found one, which will goe with me. Then hee ſayd, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So he called him, and hee came in, and they ſaluted one another.

10 Then Tobit ſaid vnto him, Brother, ſhew me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he ſaid, Doeſt thou ſeeke a ſtocke or family, or an hired man to goe with thy ſon? Then Tobit ſaid vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kinred and thy name.

12 Then he ſaid, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

‖Or, thou commeſt happily. 13 Then Tobit ſaid, ‖ Thou art welcome, brother: be not now angry with mee, becauſe I haue enquired to know thy kinred, and thy family: for thou art my brother, of an honeſt and good ſtocke: for I know Ananias and Ionathas, ſonnes of that great Sanaias: for wee went together to Ieruſalem to worſhip, and offered the firſt borne, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not deceiued with the errour of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great ſtocke.

14 But tell me, What wages ſhall I giue thee? wilt thou a groat a day and things neceſſarie, as to mine owne ſonne?

15 Yea, moreouer if ye returne ſafe, I will adde ſome thing to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then ſaid he to Tobias, Prepare thy ſelfe for the iourney, and goe

goe you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father saide, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went foorth both and departed, and the dogge of the young man with them.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angel keeping him company.

His mother weepeth. *Chap. 10.4.

17 But *Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is hee not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God we had not layd money vpon money, but that it had beene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Be not carefull, my sister: he shall returne in safety, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doeth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias deliuered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines. 10 Hee conducteth him toward Sarra.

AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

Tobias inuaded of a fish, is deliuered by the Angel.

2 And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel said, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the young man did, as the Angel commanded him: and when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And hee said vnto him, Touching the heart, and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirit trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that shee may be giuen thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doeth *the right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kinred. *Numb. 27.8. and 36.8.

12 And the maide is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father, that we may make the marriage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marrie her to another according to the Law of Moyses: else he should deserue death, because the right doeth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maide hath beene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the mariage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, lest I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no body but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare lest I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of me to the graue with sorrow: for they haue no other sonne to burie them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Doest thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldest marrie a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore heare me, O my brother: for shee shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall shee be giuen thee in mariage.

16 And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hote coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart and of the liuer of the fish, 17 Which if the spirit do smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pity on you, and saue you: feare not, for shee is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall goe with thee: moreouer I suppose that thee shall beare thee children. Now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house. Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my cousin!

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they said, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he said to them, Doe yee know Tobit our kinseman? And they said, Wee knowe him. Then said hee, Is hee in good health?

5 And they said, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias said, Hee is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, and wept,

7 And blessed him, and sayde vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorrowfull and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they receiued them with a ready minde, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meate on the table. Then said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eate, and drinke and make merrie.

10 For it is meet that thou shouldest marrie my daughter: neuertheless I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in mariage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheless, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I will eate nothing here, vntill yee bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias.

13 Then hee called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the *Law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them,

*Numb. 36.6.

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as hee had bidden her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares, 18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 Hee prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as hee went, hee remembred the wordes of Raphael, and tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart and the liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsell, as Chap. 6.7.

3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, hee fled into the ‖ vtmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

‖Or, vpmost.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and sayd, Sister, arise, and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

Tobias prayer.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him *Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankinde: thou hast said, It is not good that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto himselfe.

*Genes. 2, 7, 18, 22.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that wee may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He said to his wife Edna, Send one of the maydes, and let them see whether hee be aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the mayde opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe, 14 And came foorth, and told them that he was aliue.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure and holy praise: therefore let thy Saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels & thine elect praise thee for euer.

Raguel praiseth God for Tobias.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyful, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to bee praised because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an othe, that he should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the mariage were expired, Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the mariage of his daughter to Tobias.

21 And then hee should take the halfe of his goods, and returne in safetie to his father, and should haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias mariage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

Tobits care for his sonne.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sory.

The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, Who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth, both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOw Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

The father and mother are in heauinesse for Tobias tarying.

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very sory.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing hee tarieth: and shee began to

* Chap. 5. 17.

* bewaile him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead: and she went out euery day by the way, which they went, neither did she eate meat on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the fourteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that he should tary there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let mee goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me go to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money.

Raguel giueth Tobias and his wife leaue to depart.

11 And hee blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

12 And hee said to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in lawe, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and he kissed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and grant that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreat her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How hee was receiued. 10 His father hath his sight restored, and praiseth the Lord.

AFter these things Tobias went his way, praising God that he had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till hee drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou diddest leaue thy father.

The Angels counsell to Tobias.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dogge followed them.

5 Now Anna sate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when shee saw comming, shee said to his father, Behold, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoynt his eyes with the gall, and being pricked there with, he shall rub and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when hee saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke,

14 And he wept, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pitie on mee: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, and tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in lawe, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which sawe him goe, marueiled, because hee had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God bee blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, 5 The which hee would recompence. 11 15 Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

THen Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And he said vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue me to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For hee hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought mee the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man saide, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and saide vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and goe away in safetie.

6 But he tooke them both apart, and said vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, & praise him for the things which he hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shewe forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reueile the workes of God: doe that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousnesse. A litle with righteousnes is better then much with vnrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes then to lay vp gold.

9 For almes doth deliuer from death, and doeth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes & righteousnesse, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I wil keep close nothing from you: neuertheless, I said it was good to keepe close the secret of a King, but that it was honourable to reueile the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the Holy one: and when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hid from mee: but I was with thee. He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with tentation.

14 And now God hath sent mee to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the seuen holy angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fel vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall go well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 * All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision. *Gen.18.8. and 19.3. Iudges 13.16.

20 Now therefore giue God thankes: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they arose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiuing of Tobit, exhorting all to praise the Lord.

THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and said, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.

2 * For he doth scourge, and hath pity: he leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoid his hand. *Deut.32.39. 1.Sam.2.6. wisd.16.13.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, yee children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for hee is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 He hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whome wee are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly before him, then will hee turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall shal see what he wil do with you: therfore confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of righteousnesse, and extol the euerlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and wil declare his power, and greatnesse, to a sinfull nation. O ye sinners, turne and do iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercie, and haue pitie on you?

7 I wil extoll my God, and my soule shal praise the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousnesse.

9 O Jerusalem the holy citie, hee will scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but he will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lord duly, and praise the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that bee miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands, euen gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shall bee gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shal reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorowful for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Jerusalem shall bee built vp with Saphires, and Emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarkes with pure gold.

17 And the streets of Jerusalem shall bee paued with Berall, and Carbuncle, and stones of ‖ Ophir.

18 And all her streets shall say, ‖ Halleluiah, and they shall praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled ‖ it for euer.

§ Or, Souphir.
‖ Or, praise ye the Lord.

‖ That is, Jerusalem.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophecieth the destruction of Nineue, 7 And the restoring of Jerusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praising God,

2 And he was eight and fiftie yere old when hee lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and hee gaue almes, and hee continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and sixe of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life)

4 Goe into Media, my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Jonas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shalbe destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scatttered in the earth from that good land, and Jerusalem shal be desolate, and the House of God in it shall be burned, and shalbe desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the lande where they shall builde a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and builde vp Jerusalem gloriously, and the House of God shall bee built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

* Ezra 3.8. and 6.14.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and shall bury their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lord in Trueth and Justice, shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercie to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Jonas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the Commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury me honestly, and thy mother with me: but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darkenesse, and how hee rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for hee went downe into darkenesse. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him: But Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousnesse doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, ‖ he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honourably.

‖ Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buried her her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in law.

13 Where hee became olde with honour, and hee buried his father and mother in law honourably, and hee inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundred and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 He threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great Citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the wals round about, of hewen stone, three cubites broad, and fiue cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundreth cubites, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on high, seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fortie cubites, for the going foorth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen)

5 Euen in those dayes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad, in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him al they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris and Hydaspes, and the countrey of Arioch the King of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselues to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the Sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the hier Galile, and the great field of Esdrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Iorden vnto Ierusalem, and Betane, and Chelus, and Cades, and the Riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem, 16 Until one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and til one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this country did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with al this countrey, and sware by his throne and kingdome that hee would surely be auenged vpon all those coasts of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two Seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against King Arphaxad in the seuenteenth yeere, and he preuailed in his battel: for hee ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, and all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his Cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, and spoyled the streetes thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

15 Hee tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him through with his darts, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So hee returned afterward to Nineue, both hee and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there he passed the time, and banqueted, both hee, and his army, an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously, that all people should be brought in subiection, 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Holofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, that hee should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his Officers and all his nobles, & communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King the Lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt go against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for mee the land and the water: for I wil goe forth in my wrath against them, and wil couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their riuers, and the flood shall ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for mee all their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebel, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them whersoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth and twentie thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And he tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goats without number for their prouision, 18 And vitaile for euery man of the armie, and very much golde and siluer out of the Kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grashoppers, and like the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsmen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And hee destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoyled all the children of Rasses, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wildernesse at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntill one come to the Sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia.

26 Hee compassed alss all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their Tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheat haruest, and burnt vp all their fields, and destroyed their flockes and the heardes: he robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their yong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the Sea coast, which were in Sidon & Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Jemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 He destroyed their gods, that Nabuchodonosor might onely be worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, wee are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: we lye downe before thee: vse vs as shalbe good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheat, and our flocks, and our heards, and all our lodges and Tabernacles lye before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities and the inhabitants

tants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe toward the Sea coast, both hee and his armie, and set garisons in the high cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them, with crownes, and daunces, and with timbrels.

8 Yet hee brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all Nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Esdraelon, neere vnto Judea, ouer against the great straite of Judea, 10 And he pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there hee taried a moneth, that hee might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid and defended their countrey. 6 Ioacim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should fortifie themselues. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themselues before him.

NOw the children of Israel that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Jerusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Judea, and the vessels and the Altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethora, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the tops of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouision of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Joacim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomesthaim, which is ouer against Esdraelon toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Charging them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Judea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the hie Priest had commanded them, with the Ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Jerusalem.

9 Then cried euery man of Israel to God with great feruencie, and their soules with great affection.

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, fell before the Temple, and sprinckled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackecloth about the Altar.

12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that he would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in al Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Joacim the high Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continual burnt offering, with prayers, and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had ashes on their mytres, and cried vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that hee would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the maner of the Israelites.

THen was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the high hilles, and had layde impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith hee was very angrie, and called all the Princes of Moab, and the Captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the Sea coast.

3 And he said vnto them, Shew me, O ye sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabit? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength & their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

* Chap.11.7,9. 5 ¶ Then *said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lye come out of the mouth of thy seruant.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

* Gene.11.31. 7 And *they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotania, and sojourned there many dayes.

* Gene.12.1. 9 Then *their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were encreased with gold and siluer, and with very much cattell.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

* Exod.1.8. 11 *Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable

* Exod.12.31, 33. plagues: so the *Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

* Exod.14.21. 13 And *God dried the Red sea in their presence,

* Exod.19.1. 14 And *brought them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast forth all that dwelt in the wilderuesse.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Jordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

* Iosh.12,8. 16 And they *cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pherezites, and the Jebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

* Iud.2.11. and 3.8. 18 But *when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, *and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their Cities were taken by the enemies. * 2.King.25.1, 11.

* Ezra.1.1,3. 19 But *now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, & haue possessed Jerusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there bee any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shalbe their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ourcome them.

21 But if there bee none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people standing round about the Tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the Sea side and in Moab, spake that hee should kill him.

23 For say they, we feare not to meet the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie Armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lord Olofernes, and they shall be meate for thy whole Armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the councill, was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe Captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophecied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Jerusalem is able to fight, *because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor? * Chap.5.5, 21.

3 Hee will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For wee will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shalbe drunken with their bloods, and their fields shalbe filled with dead bodies, and their footesteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall vterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all all the earth hath ſaid, euen he hath ſaid, None of my wordes ſhall be in vaine,

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, becauſe thou haſt ſpoken theſe wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou ſhalt ſee my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then ſhall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that ſerue me, paſſe through thy ſides, and thou ſhalt fall among their ſlaine, when I ſhall put them to flight.

8 And my ſeruants ſhall carie thee into the mountaines, and they ſhall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou ſhalt not periſh, till thou be deſtroyed with them.

9 And if thou perſwade thy ſelfe in thy minde, that thou ſhalt not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue ſpoken it, and none of my wordes ſhall be in vaine.

10 Then commaunded Holofernes them concerning Achior, that they ſhould bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Iſrael.

11 So his ſeruants tooke him, & brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middeſt of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie ſawe them from the top of the mountain, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with ſlings, and kept them from comming vp by caſting ſtones againſt them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foot of the hill, and returned to their Lord.

14 Then the Iſraelites came downe from their citie, and ſtood about him, and looſed him and brought him into Bethulia, and preſented him to the gouernours of their citie, 15 Which were in thoſe dayes, Ozias the ſonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the ſonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the ſonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the aſſembly: and they ſet Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias aſked him of that which was done.

17 And hee anſwered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counſell of Holofernes, and all the wordes that hee had ſpoken in the mids of the princes of Aſſur, and whatſoeuer Holofernes had ſpoken proudly againſt the houſe of Iſrael.

18 Then the people fell downe and worſhipped God, and cried vnto God, ſaying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, beholde their pride, and haue mercie on the baſeneſſe of our people, and behold this day the face of thoſe that are ſanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praiſed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the aſſembly into his houſe, and made a feaſt vnto the Elders, and they called on the God of Iſrael all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Holofernes doeth beſiege Bethulia. 8 The counſell of the Idumeans and others againſt the Iſraelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure againſt their gouernors for lacke of water.

THe next day Holofernes commaunded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they ſhould remoue their camps againſt Bethulia, and that they ſhould take all the ſtraits of the hill, and to make warre againſt the children of Iſrael.

2 Then their ſtrong men remooued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thouſand and ſeuentie footemen, and twelue thouſand horſemen, beſide the baggage and other men that were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they ſpred abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer againſt Eſdraelom.

4 Now the children of Iſrael, when they ſaw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and ſayd euery one to his neighbour, Now will they ſhut vp all the whole eareh: for neither the high mountaines nor the valleys, nor the hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towres, they remained, and watched all that night.

6 But in the ſecond day, Holofernes brought forth all his horſemen in ỹ ſight of the children of Iſrael, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the paſſages vp to their citie, and came to the fountains of their waters, and tooke them, & ſet gariſons of men of warre ouer them, and remooued towards his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Eſau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the ſea coaſt, and ſayd, 9 Let our captaine nowe heare a word, leſt an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Iſrael doe not truſt in their ſpeares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, becauſe it is not eaſie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Nowe therefore my lord, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let the men keepe still the water of the countrey, that commeth forth at the foot of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and wee and our people will goe vp to the tops of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they & their wiues, and their children shalbe consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall be ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euil reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these words pleased Holofernes and all his souldiers, and hee appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselues toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Thusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and couered the whole lande: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cried vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footemen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of the waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wiues and young men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streets of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, & there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both young men and women, and children, and cried with a loud voyce, and said before all the Elders, 24 The * Lord iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur. * Exod. 5. 21.

25 For now wee haue no helper: but God hath sold vs into their handes, that wee should bee throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoyle to the people of Holofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to bee made a spoyle vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants that we may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 Wee take to witnesse against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our sinnes and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cry of all with one consent in the middes of the assembly, and they cried vnto the Lord God with a loud voyce.

30 Then sayd Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs wait yet fiue dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercy toward vs: for hee will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life, & conuersation of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12 She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but wait vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

NOw at that time Judeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Or, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salasadai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke & kinred, who died in the barley haruest.

3 For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and hee fell vpon his bed, and died dyed in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Judeth was in her house a widow three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And she made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackecloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And shee fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath and the Sabbaths, and the day before the newe Moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her golde and siluer, and men seruants, and maid seruants, and cattell, and possessions, where she remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for shee feared God greatly.

9 Now when she heard the euill wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Judeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that hee had *sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiue dayes)

*Chap. 7. 26, 31.

10 Then she sent her mayde that had the gouernment of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis, the Ancients of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and shee said vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that ye haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which yee made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lorde turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now you seeke the Lord Almightie, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not helpe vs within these fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs, when he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: For God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voice if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath beene afore time.

19 For *the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoile, and had a great fall before our enemies.

*Iudg. 2. 11. and 4. 1. and 6. 1.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that hee will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shall be taken, shall Judea be so famous: for our Sanctuary shall be spoiled, and he will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will hee turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, whersoeuer wee shalbe in bondage, and we shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the Houle, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thankes to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things he did to *Abraham, and how hee tried Isaac, and all that he did to *Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

*Genes. 22. 1.

*Genes. 28. 7.

27 For he hath not tried vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then sayde Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisedome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, and compelled vs to do vnto them, as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an othe which we may not transgresse.

31 Therefore nowe pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send ſend vs raine to fill our ciſternes, and that wee may faint no more.

32 Then ſaid Judeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing, which ſhall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You ſhall ſtand this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmaide: and within the dayes that ye haue promiſed to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will viſite Iſrael by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finiſhed that I doe.

35 Then ſayde Ozias and the Princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her ſelfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Againſt the pride of the Aſſyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

THen Judeth fell vpon her face, and put aſhes vpon her head, and put off the ſackcloth wherewith ſhe was clothed. And about the time that the incenſe of that euening was offered in Jeruſalem in the houſe of the Lord, Judeth cryed with a loud voice, and ſaid,

*Gen.34.2,25. 2 O Lord God of my father *Simeon, to whom thou gaueſt a ſword to take vengeance of the ſtrangers which opened the wombe of the maide, and defiled her, and diſcouered the thigh with ſhame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou haddeſt commanded that it ſhould not ſo be),

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gaueſt their princes to the ſlaughter, for they were deceiued and waſhed their beddes with blood) and haſt ſtricken the ſeruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And haſt giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to be captiues, and all their ſpoiles for a bootie to the children that thou louedſt: which were mooued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me alſo a widow.

5 For thou haſt wrought the things afore, and theſe, and the things that ſhall be after, and thou conſidereſt the things that are preſent, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doeſt purpoſe, are preſent, and ſay, Behold, we are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.

7 Behold, the Aſſyrians are multiplyed by their power: they haue exalted themſelues with horſes and horſemen: they glory in the ſtrength of their footmen: they truſt in ſhield, ſpeare and bowe, and ſling, and doe not know that thou art the Lord that breakeſt the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their ſtrength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purpoſed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name reſteth, and to caſt downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and ſend thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the ſtrength that I haue conceiued.

10 *Smite by the deceit of my lips the ſeruant with the prince, and the prince with the ſeruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman. *Iudg.4.21. and 5.26.

11 *For thy power ſtandeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in ſtrong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forſaken, and the Sauiour of them that are without hope. *Iudg.7.2. 2.chro.14 11. and 6.18. and 20.6.

12 Surely, ſurely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Iſrael, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creatour of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And grant me words and craft, and a wound, and a ſtroke againſt them that enterpriſe cruell things againſt thy Couenant, and againſt thine holy Houſe, and againſt the top of Sion, and againſt the houſe of the poſſeſſion of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of all power and ſtrength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Iſrael, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her ſelfe and goeth foorth of the citie. 11 Shee is taken of the watch of the Aſſyrians and brought to Olofernes.

NOw after ſhe had ceaſed to crie vnto the God of Iſrael, and had made an ende of all theſe words,

2 She roſe where ſhe had fallen downe, and called her mayd, and went downe into the houſe, in the which ſhee abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feaſt dayes,

3 And putting away the ſackcloth wherewith ſhee was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, ſhee waſhed her body with water, and anointed it with much oyntment, and dreſſed the haire of her head,

and

and put attire vpon it, & put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeues, and rings, and earerings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then shee gaue her maide a bottell of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with floure, and with drie figs, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together, and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto mee, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Judeth went out, she and her maide with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till shee had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went streight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her, 12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commest thou? and whither goest thou? And shee said, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Holophernes, the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shew before him the way whereby hee shall goe and winne all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beautie, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our Lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraide in thine heart, but shewe vnto him according as thou hast to say, and hee will intreate thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Holophernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, throughout the campe: for her comming was bruted among the tentes: and they came and stood round about her: for shee stoode without the tent of Holophernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one sayde vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Holophernes guard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Holophernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Judeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and shee fell down vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Holophernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 And asketh the cause of her comming. 5 She deceiueth him by her faire words.

THen saide Holofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselues.

3 But nowe tell mee wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: bee of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they do the seruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Judeth saide vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, & suffer thine handmayd to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lye to my lord this night.

5 And

6 And if thou wilt followe the wordes of thine handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shalbe made subiect to him by thee, but also the beasts of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feats of warre marueilous.

*Chap. 5. 5. 9 Now * as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy councill, wee haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore, lest my lord should bee frustrate, and voide of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not beseeming,

12 (For because their vitailes faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, & haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eat by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheate, and the tithes of wine, and of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Jerusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherfore I thine handmaid, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoeuer shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reueile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes, 18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee through the mids of Judea, vntill thou come before Jerusalem, and I will set thy throne in the mids thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her words pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueiled at her wisedome, and said, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisedome of wordes.

22 Likewise Olofernes saide vnto her, God ‖ hath done this, to sende thee before the people, that strength might bee in our handes, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord. ‖ Or, hath done

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy words: surely if thou do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renoumed throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Judeth would not pollute her selfe with the meat of the Gentiles. 5 She maketh her request that she might go out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

Then hee commaunded to bring her in where his treasures were laide, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Judeth saide, * I may not eate of them, lest there should be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought. *Gene. 43. 32. daniel 1. 8. tob. 1. 11.

3 Then Olofernes said vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should wee giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then saide Judeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hande the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thine handmaide may goe forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Holofernes cõmanded his guard that they should not stay her: thus she abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that hee would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meat at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Holofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said hee to Bagoas the eunuch who had the charge ouer all that he had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and saide, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be entreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Judeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gainesay my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maide went, and spred forth her skinnes on the ground ouer against Holofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Nowe when Judeth came and sate downe, Holofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was mooued, and he desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that hee had seene her.

17 Then said Holofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merie with vs.

18 So Judeth saide, I drinke now my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things, that her maide had prepared.

20 And Holofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine, then he had drunken at any time in one day since hee was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Judeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Holofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOw when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beddes: for they were all wearie, because the feast had beene long.

2 And Judeth was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine. * Eccles. 31. 20, 25.

3 ¶ Now Judeth had commaunded her maide to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her comming forth as she did daily: for shee said, shee would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Judeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the works of mine hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bedde which was at Holofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approched to the bedde, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And shee smote twise vpon his necke, with all her might, and shee tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bedde, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gaue Holofernes head to her maid,

10 And she put it in her scrip of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and passing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then said Judeth a farre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Jerusalem, and his force against his enemies, enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne altogether both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that shee should come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then shee said to them with a loude voice, Praise God, praise God: for he hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So she tooke the head out of the scrip and shewed it, and saide vnto them, Beholde the head of Holofernes, the chiefe Captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkennesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then saide Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Judeth causeth to hang vp the head of Holofernes. 10 Achior ioyneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

THen said Judeth vnto them, Heare mee also, my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

* 2.Mac.15.35.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare and the Sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a Captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field, toward the watch of the Assyrians, but go not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shal goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, & they shall runne to the tent of Holofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coasts of Israel, shall pursue them, and ouerthrowe them as they goe.

5 But before you do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that hee may see, and knowe him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when hee was come and saw the head of Holofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, hee fell at Judeths feete, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Juda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shall be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Judeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that she had done from the day that she went forth, vntill that houre she spake vnto them.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noise of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfainedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ Assoone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes out at a wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bandes vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent to their Captaines, which went to their gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Holofernes tent, and saide to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Judeth.

15 But

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cryed with a loud voyce, with weeping and mourning, and a mightie crie, and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Judeth where shee vsed to remaine, and found her not: then hee leaped out to the people and cryed, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for beholde, Olofernes lyeth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crie and a very great noyse thorowout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraide, and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioacim the high Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to praise God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amased, they fledde by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Jerusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had tolde them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with a great slaughter vntil they came to Damascus and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Joacim the high Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Hierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed bee thou of the almightie Lord for euermore: and all the people sayd, So be it.

11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Judeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer, and beddes, and basins, and all his stuffe, and shee tooke it and layd it on her mules, and made ready her charets, and laid them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a daunce among them for her, and shee tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, and her that was with her, and shee went before the people in the daunce, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armor, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth praiseth God with a song. 19 Shee offereth to the Lord Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continencie, life & death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Judeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voice.

2 And Judeth said, Begin vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the middes of his people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines forth of the North: hee came with thousands in his armie, * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleyes. * Chap 2. 11, 15.

5 He said that he would burne vp my borders, and kill my yong men with the sworde, and dash the sucking children against ỹ ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgines a spoyle.

6 But the Almightie Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mightie did not fall by the yong men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the high gyants inuade him, but Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfit him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and annointed her face with ointment, and bound vp her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie tooke his minde prisoner, and the sauchin passed through his necke.

10 The Persians were astonied at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voice and turned backe.

12 The children of maides pierced them, and wounded them as they fledde away like children: they perished by the battaile of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song and praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

* Gen. 1. 24. psal. 33. 9.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweet sauour, and al the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lord Almightie will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their giftes.

19 Judeth also offered all the stuffe of Holofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of three moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the daies of her life after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ his people.

‖ Or, her people.

23 But shee increased more and more in honour, and waxed old in her husbands house, beeing an hundreth and fiue yeere olde, and made her maide free: so she dyed in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seuen dayes, and before she dyed, she did distribute her goods to all them that were nerest of kinred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neerest of her kinred.

* Gen. 50. 10.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraide in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

Esther.

Certaine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations.

Which followe the tenth Chapter.

THen Mardocheus sayd, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I sawe concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saued: for the Lorde hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes, and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath hee made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

11 And

11 And these two lottes came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appoynted, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shall bee vnto them in the moneth Adar the fourteenth, and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly & ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra Dositheus, who said he was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of ‖ Phurai, which they saide Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolemeus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted,

‖ Or lottes.

2 In the second yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes: in the first day of the moneth Nisan Mardocheus the sonne of Iarus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Beniamin had a dreame,

3 A Iew dwelling in the citie of Susis, a noble man that bare office in the kings court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor ℔ king of Babylon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame. Beholde a noyse of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes, and vproare in the land.

6 Behold two great dragons came forth readie to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were readie to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenesse and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amased, and being readie to dye, cryed vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the little well grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light and the Sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, hee awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so hee desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the Kings court with Bagathas & Thara, the kings eunuches & keepers of the palace.

* Esther. 2, 21. and 6. 2.

2 * But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, hee perceiued that they went about to lay their hands vpon the King Artaxerxes, and so hee certified the King thereof.

3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to bee put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, and for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes.
8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THe copie of the letters was this, The great King Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces. Ioseph. antiq lib. 11 cap. 6.

2 When I was made Lorde ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, and I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne my subiects, and wholy to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquilitie, that men might safely go thorow on euery side, & to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellers, how these things might bee brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisedome, and constant in good will, & shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, and had lawes contrarie to all people, and haue alway despised the commaundements of Kings, and so that this generall empire, that we haue begun, cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now we perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrarie vnto euery man, bsing strange and other manner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to establish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue wee commaunded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our ſecond father) ſhall all with their wiues and children bee deſtroyed and rooted out with the ſword of their enemies without all mercie, and that none be ſpared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere.

7 That they which of olde, and now alſo haue euer beene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thruſt downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes of the Lord, and made his praier vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almightie (for all things are in thy power) and if thou haſt appointed to ſaue Iſrael, there is no man that can withſtand thee.

10 For thou haſt made heauen and earth, and all ỹ wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can reſiſt thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knoweſt all things, and thou knoweſt, Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor preſumption, nor for any deſire of glory, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proude Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the ſaluation of Iſrael, to haue kiſſed the ſole of his feet.

14 But I did it, becauſe I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glorie of God, & would not worſhip any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and King, haue mercie vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would deſtroy the inheritance, that hath beene thine from the beginning.

16 Deſpiſe not the portion, which thou haſt deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne ſelfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our ſorowe into ioy, that we may liue, O Lord, and praiſe thy Name: ſhut not the mouthes of them that praiſe thee.

18 All Iſrael in like manner cryed moſt earneſtly vnto the Lorde, becauſe that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Eſther for the deliuerance of her & her people.

QVeene Eſter alſo, being in danger of death, reſorted vnto the Lord,

2 And laide away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of ſighing, and mourning. In the ſtead of precious ointment, ſhe ſcattered aſhes, and doung vpon her head: and ſhee humbled her body greatly with faſting, and all the places of her ioy filled ſhee with the haire that ſhe pluckt off.

3 And ſhee prayed vnto the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, O my Lord, thou onely art our King: helpe me deſolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookeſt Iſrael from among all people, and our fathers from their predeceſſors for a perpetuall inheritance, & thou haſt performed that which thou diddeſt promiſe them.

6 Now Lorde, wee haue ſinned before thee: therfore haſt thou giuen vs into the hands of our enemies,

7 Becauſe we worſhipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheleſſe, it ſatisfieth them not, that wee are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue ſtroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will abroliſh the thing that thou with thy mouth haſt ordained, and deſtroye thine inheritance, to ſhut vp the mouth of them that praiſe thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praiſe the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleſhly king for euer.

11 O Lorde, giue not thy ſcepter vnto them that bee nothing, leſt they laugh vs to ſcorne in our miſerie: but turne their deuiſe vpon themſelues, and make him an example, that hath begun the ſame againſt vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and ſhewe thy ſelfe vnto vs in the time of our diſtreſſe, and ſtrengthen me, O King of gods and Lord of all power.

13 Giue mee an eloquent ſpeech in my mouth before the Lyon: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to deſtroy him, and all ſuch as conſent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am ſolitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knoweſt all things, O Lorde: thou knoweſt, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bedde of the vncircumciſed, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knoweſt my neceſſitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I muſt ſhew my ſelfe, and that I abhorre it as a menſtruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my ſelfe,

17 And that I thy handmaide haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleaſure in the Kings feaſt, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18 And that I thy handmaide haue no ioy ſince that day that I was brought hither, vntill

vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Ester to goe in to the King, and make intercession for her people. 9 And she performeth his request.

MArdocheus also bade Ester to goe in vnto the king, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, sayth hee, the dayes of thy lowe estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the king hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, and speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and sauiour of all things, and tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Upon the one shee leaned her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cherefull and amiable, but her heart was sorowful for great feare.

9 Then she went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the king, and the king sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold and pretious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then he lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned her selfe vpon the head of the maid that went with her.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the Kings mind that hee was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till shee came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Ester, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commaundement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and laid it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, & said, Talke with mee.

16 Then said shee, I saw thee, O lorde, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lorde, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as shee was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letter of Artaxerxes, whereby he reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

THe great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India, vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation. Ioseph. antiq. 11. cap. 6.

2 There be many that through the goodnesse of princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And indeuour not onely to hurt our subiectes, but not content to liue in wealth, do also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankefulnesse away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that bee vnmindefull of benefites, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrarie to euill.

5 And oft times many, which bee set in office, and vnto whom their friendes causes are committed, by vaine enticementes doe wrappe them in calamities that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicity, and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by old histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences, as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therfore we must take heede hereafter, that wee may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenesse.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, beeing indeede a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendlhippe that wee beare toward all nations, so that hee was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to depriue vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath hee desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his mind was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But wee finde that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might bee destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust lawes,

16 And that they bee the children of the most High and almightie and euerlasting God, by whom the kingdome hath beene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitours in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well, if yee doe not put in execution those letters, that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that inuented them, hangeth at Susis before the gates, with all his family, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deseruing.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter, in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And yee shall aide them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For almightie God hath turned to ioy the day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne daies ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse, 23 That both now and in time to come this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foules for euer.

The Wisdome of Salomon.

* Deut. 4. 29. 2. chro. 15. 4. 2 * For hee will be found of them that tempt him not and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tryed, reproueth the vnwise.

4 Because wisedome cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwel in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

* Iere. 4. 22. 5 For the holy * Spirite of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughtes that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

* Galat. 5. 22. 6 For the Spirit of wisdome * is louing, and will not absolue him that blasphemeth with his lippes: for God is a witnesse of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the worlde: and the same that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voice,

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot be hidde: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the eare of iealousie heareth all things, and the noyse of the grudgings shal not be hidde.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and refraine your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret, that shal goe for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lyes, slayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the errour of your life: * destroy not your selues through the workes of your owne hands. * Deut. 4. 23.

13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath hee pleasure in the destruction of the liuing. * Ezek. 18. 23. and 33. 11.

14 For hee created all things, that they might haue their being: and the generations of the world are preserued, and there is no poison of destruction in them, and the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousnesse is immortall, but vnrighteousnesse bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call [a] it vnto them both with handes and words: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof. [a] To wit, death.

FOr the vngodly say, as they falsely imagine with themselues, * Our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouery, neither was any knowen that hath returned from the graue.

*Iob 7.1. and 14.1. mat. 22.23 1.cor.15.32.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, & we shalbe hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is as smoke in our nostrels, and the words as a sparke raised out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the Spirit vanisheth as the soft aire.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought as the mist that is driuen away with the beames of the Sunne, and cast downe with the heate thereof. Our name also shall bee forgotten in time, and no man shall haue our works in remembrance.

*1.Chro. 29.15. chap.5.9. 5 *For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our ende there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.

*Isa.22.13. and 56.12.1.cor. 15.32. 6 *Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures that are present, and let vs chearefully vse the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine, and oyntments, and let not the floure of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for this is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppresse the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widowe, nor reuerence the white hayres of the aged, that haue liued many yeres.

11 Let our strength bee the law of vnrighteousnes: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therfore let vs defraud the righteous: for he is not for our profite, and he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the law, & blameth vs as transgressers of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth himselfe the sonne of the Lord.

*Iohn 7.7. ephe. 5.13. *Isa.53.3. 14 He is made * to reprooue our thoughts.

15 It grieueth vs also to looke * vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 Hee counteth vs as bastards, and hee withdraweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthinesse: he commendeth greatly the latter ende of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs see then if his words bee true: let vs proue what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the *sonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies. *Psal.22.8,9. matt.27.43.

19 Let vs *examine him with rebukes and torments that we may know his meeknes, and proue his patience. *Iere.11.19.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shamefull death: for he shall be preserued as he himselfe saith.

21 Such things doe they imagine, and go astray: for their owne wickednesse hath blinded them.

22 And they do not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousnes, nor can discerne the honor of the soules that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the * image of his owne likenesse. *Gen. 1.27. and 2.7. & 5.1. ecclus.17.2,3.

24 *Neuertheless, through enuy of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his side, proue it. *Gene.3.1,2.

CHAP. III.

1 The conuersation & assurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miserable.

BUt the *soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them. *Deut.33.3.

2 *In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, & their end was thought grieuous, *Chap.5.4.

3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is * their hope full of immortality. *Rom.8.24. 2.cor.5.1.

5 They are punished but in fewe things, yet in many things shall they bee well rewarded: *for God proueth them, and findeth them meet for himselfe. 1.pet.1.13. *Exod.16.4. deut.8.2.

6 He trieth them as the golde in the fornace, and receiueth them as a perfect fruit offering.

7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and runne through as the sparkes among the stubble. *Mat.13.43.

8 *They shal iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shall reigne for euer. *Matt.19.28. 1.cor.6.2.

9 They that trust in him shal vnderstand the trueth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 But * the vngodly shalbe punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord. *Mat.25.41.

11 Who so despiseth wisdome & discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, & their labors are foolish, and their works vnprofitable.

12 Their

12 Their wiues are vndiscreete, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is *Esai 56.5. vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinful bed: *she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules,

14 And the eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall be giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruite of good labours, and the root of wisdome shal neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shal not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shal they be nothing regarded, and their last age shalbe without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of trial.

19 For horrible is the ende of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commodity therof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrennesse with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortall: for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it go away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell, and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe root, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time,* yet they shall be shaken with *Matth.7.19. the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemency of the winde they shall bee rooted out.

5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broken, and their fruite shall be vnprofitable and sowre to eat, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witnesse of the wickednes against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous bee preuented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honorable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeres.

9 But wisdome is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the old age.

*Gen. 5.24. Hebr. 11.5. 10 *He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas hee liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 Hee was taken away, lest wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceite beguile his minde.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, and the vnstedfastnes of concupiscence peruerteth the simple minde.

13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednes.

15 Yet the people see & vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace & mercie is vpon his Saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the ende of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preserued him in safety.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne, 19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voice shal he burst them and cast them downe, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shalbe vtterly wasted, and they shall be in sorrow, and their memoriall shall perish.

20 So they being afraide, shall remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednesse shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecuters. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

THen shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amased for his wonderfull deliuerance,

3 And shall change their minds, and sigh for griefe of mind, and say within themselues, This is he whom we somtime had in derision and in a parable of reproch.

4 * We fooles thought his life madnesse, *Chap.3.2. and his end without honour.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousnes hath not shined vnto vs, and the Sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednes & destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous wayes: but we haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what hath the pompe of riches brought vs:

*1.Chron.29.15 chap.2.5. 9 All those things are *passed away like a shadow, and as a Post that passeth by:

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot bee found, neither the path of it in the floods:

*Prou.30.19. 11 Or as a *bird that flieth through in the ayre, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noyse of her wings beating the light wind, parting ỹ aire through the vehemency of her going, and flieth on shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found:

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly cõmeth together againe, so that a man cannot knowe where it went through.

13 Euen so we, assoone as we were borne, we began to draw to our ende, & haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednes.

*Iob 8.9.psal. 1.4.and 143.4 prou. 10.25.and 11.7.iames 1.10,11. 14 For *the hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blowen away with the winde, and like a thin some that is scattered abroad with the storme, and as the smoke which is dispersed with the wind, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lorde, and the most High hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, & a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall hee couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shal take his iealousie for armor, & shal arme ỹ creatures to be reuẽged of ỹ enemies.

18 He shal put on righteousnes for a brestplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He will take holinesse for an inuincible shield.

20 Hee will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the vnwise.

21 Then shal the thunderbolts go streight out of the lightnings, & shall flee to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, and the water of the sea shall be wroth against them, and the floods shall mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mighty wind shal stand vp against them, & like a storme shal scatter them abroad. Thus iniquity shal bring all the earth to a wildernesse, and wickednesse shall ouerthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of kings, princes and iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisdome.

HEare therefore, O ye Kings, and vnderstand: learne, ye that bee Iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of the people.

3 For the rule *is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the most Hie, which wil try your works, and search out your imaginations, *Rom.13.1.

4 Because that yee being officers of his kingdom haue not iudged aright, nor kept the law, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Horribly and suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most low is worthy mercy, but the mighty shalbe mightily tormented.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no *person, neither shal he feare any greatnes: for hee hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike. *Deut.10.17. 2.chro.19.7.iob 34.19.eccius 35 12,16.acts 10. 34.rom.2.11. galat.2.6.ephes. 6.9.colos.3.25. 1.pet.1.17.

8 But for the mightie abideth the surer triall.

9 Unto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, that yee may learne wisedome, and not goe amisse.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holily, shall be holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherefore set your delight vpon my words and desire them, & ye shalbe instructed.

12 Wisedome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and found of such as seeke her.

13 Shee preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew herselfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shal haue no great trauaile: for he shal find her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfect vnderstanding: and whoso watcheth for her, shal be soone without care.

16 For shee goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth her selfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: & the care of discipline is loue.

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortality:

19 And immortality maketh vs neere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delight be then in thrones, and scepters, O Kings of the people, honour wisedome that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I wil tell you what wisdome is, and whence it cõmeth, & will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her nativitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keep backe the trueth.

the

23 Neither will I have to doe with consuming envy: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preservation of the world, and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall have profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred above all things.

I My selfe am also mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to bee flesh in tenne moneths: I was *Iob.10.10,11. * brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I received the common ayre, and fell upon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

b Iob.1.21. 1.tim 6.7. 6 All * men then have one entrance unto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, & understanding was given me: I called, and the spirit of wisedome came unto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters & thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

*Iob.28.15. 9 *Neither did I compare precious stones unto her: for all golde is but a little grauel in respect of her, and silver shall bee counted but clay before her.

10 I loved her above health and beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

*1.King.3.13. matth.6.33. 11 All *good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisedome was the authour thereof, and I knew not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned unfainedly, & communicated without envy, & I do not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure unto men, which whoso use, become partakers of the love of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my mind, and to iudge worthily of the things that are given me: for he is the leader unto wisedome, and the directer of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both wee and our words, and all wisdome, and the knowledge of the works.

17 For he hath given mee the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the world was made, and the powers of the elements,

18 The beginning and the ende, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, and the change of the seasons,

19 The course of the yere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of living things, and the furiousnesse of beasts, the power of the winds, and the imaginations of men, the diversities of plants, and the vertues of roots.

21 And all things both secret and knowen doe I know: for wisedome the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the Spirit of understanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, subtil, moueable, cleare, undefiled, euidēt, not hurtfull, loving the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, having all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all, intellectuall, pure and subtill spirits.

24 For wisdome is nimbler then all nimble things: she goeth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her pureneſſe.

25 For shee is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almightie: therefore can no defiled thing come unto her.

26 For *she is the brightnes of the euerlasting light, & the undefiled mirrour of the maiesty of God, and the image of his goodnes. *Hebr.1.3.

27 And being one, she can do al things, and remaining in her selfe, renueth all, & according to the ages shee entreth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if hee dwell not with wisdome.

29 For she is more beautiful then the sun, and is above al the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared unto her.

30 For night commeth upon it, but wickednes cannot ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisedome.

S He also reacheth from one ende to another mightily, and comely doeth shee order all things.

2 I have loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I unto her beauty.

3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For she is the scholemistres of ỹ knowledge of God, and the chuser out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisedome, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudencie worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousnes, her labors are vertuous: for she teacheth soberneſſe and prudency, righteousneſſe and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and discerne things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therfore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that she would counsel me good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall bee marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leasure: when I speak, they shal heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreouer, by her I shall obtaine immortality, and leaue an euerlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shalbe subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afrayd when they heare me: among the multitude I shalbe counted good, and mighty in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitternesse, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to bee ioyned vnto wisedome is immortality,

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a witty childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.

21 Neuertheleſſe, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her except God gaue her, (and that was a poynt of wisedome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obteine wisdome.

O God of fathers, & Lord of mercy, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordeined man through thy wisdom, that he should haue * dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made, *Gen.1.1,28.

3 And gouerne the world according to equity and righteousnes, and execute iudgment with an vpright heart:

4 Giue me * that wisedome, which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children. *1.Kings 3.6.

5 For I thy * seruant, and sonne of thine handmayde, am a feeble person, and of a short time, & yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgement, and the lawes. *Pſal.116.16.

6 And though a man bee neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisedome be not with him, he shall bee nothing regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters. *1.Chro.28.5. 2.chron.1.9.

8 Thou hast commaunded me to build a Temple vpon thine holy Mount, and an Altar in the city wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy * wisedome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy Commandements. *Prou.8.22. Iohn 1.1,2,3,10

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy Maiestie, that she may be with me, & labor, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, & she shal lead me soberly in my workes and preserue me by her glory.

12 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meet for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is he that can know the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is? *Iſa 40.13. rom 11.34. 1.cor.2.16,

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecasts are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible body is heauie vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the mind that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can we discerne the things that are vpon earth, & with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can can then seek out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can knowe thy counsell, except thou giue him wisedome, and send thine holy spirit from aboue?

18 For so the waies of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued through wisedome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdome.

SHe preserued the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when hee was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And *gaue him power to rule all things,

3 *But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his fury.

4 For whose cause the * earth was ouerflowen, but wisedome preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little wood.

5 Moreouer, *when the nations were ioyned in these malicious cõfederacies, she knew the righteous, and preserued him faultles vnto God, and ‖ kept him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne.

6 Shee preserued the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdome, had not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memorial of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisedome deliuered them that serued her.

10 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him & made him rich.

12 She saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in wayt, and she gaue him the price in a mighty battel, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 *When the righteous was sold, she forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeon,

14 And failed him not in the bands, till she had brought him the Scepter of the Realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him, she declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 *She deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

16 She entred into the soule of the seruant of the Lord, and stood *by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings.

17 Shee gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a marueilous way: on the day time shee was a shadow vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 *She brought them thorow the red sea, and caried them thorow the great water.

19 But shee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoyles of the vngodly, *and praised thine holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand with one accord.

21 For wisdome openeth the mouth of the dumbe, and maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 21 The great power and mercy of God.

SHe prospered their workes in the hands of thine holy Prophet.

2 *They went thorow the wildernesse that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

3 *They stood against their enemies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.

4 *When they were thirsty, they called vpon thee, & water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in steade of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for,

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time *how thou hadest punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercy, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous King, when thou didst examine them.

byance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondred at him, whom afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish deuises of their wickednesse wherewith they were deceiued, and worshipped *serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beasts, thou sendedst a multitude of vnreasonable beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

* Chap. 12. 24. rom. 1. 23.

14 For vnto thine almightie hand, that made the world of *nought, it was not vnpossible to send among them a multitude of *beares or fierce lyons,

* Gene. 1. 1. hebr. 11. 3.

* Leuit 16. 22. iere. 8. 16, 17. chap. 16. 1.

15 Or furious beasts newly created, and vnknowen, which should breathe out blasts of fire, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightenings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue beene cast downe with one wind, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirite: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme?

19 For as the small thing that the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a droppe of the morning dew, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are and hatest none of them whome thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how could any thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The workes of God are vnreproueable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

FOr thine incorruptible Spirite is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 *As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them, * Deut. 9. 3. & 12. 31. and 18. 9, 12.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banketting, where the raging Priests shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the handes of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might bee a meete dwelling for the children of God.

8 *Neuertheless thou sparedst them also as men, and sendedst the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little, * Exod. 33. deut. 2. 22.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, *What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men? * Rom. 9. 20.

13 For there is none other God but thou, *that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how thy iudgement is not vnright. * 1. Pet. 5. 7.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them whome thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, *thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to bee punished. * Iob 10. 2, 3.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousnesse, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to bee of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reproouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, & gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse.

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when wee are iudged, we should hope for mercie.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

*Chap.11.13,16 tom.1.23. 24 *For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment, that they should bee in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not be reformed by those scornefull rebukes, shall feele the worthie[illegible]ishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they sawe themselues punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom afore they had denied to knowe: therefore came extreame damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

*Rom.1.19. Surely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, * and could not knowe him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes the workemaster.

*Deut.4.19. and 17.3. 2 *But they thought the fire, or the wind or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to be gouernours of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen, how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueiled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, howe much hee that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator beeing compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God, and would find him, and yet peraduenture doe erre.

7 For * they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because things are beautifull that are seene. *Rom.1.12.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can knowe so much, that they can discerne the world, why doe they not rather find out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens handes, golde, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beastes, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

*Isa.44.13. iere.10.3. 11 *Or as when a carpenter cutteth down a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobbes) hee carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for hee knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath need of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake for health: hee prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires hee requireth furtherance of him, that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images, 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatry proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatry.

AGaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorowe the raging ging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that carieth him.

‖ Or, the ship.

2 For as for ‖ it, couetousnesse of money hath found it out, and the craftesman made it by cunning.

* Exod. 14. 22.

3 But thy prouidence, O Father, gouerneth it: * for thou hast made a way euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues,

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheless thou wouldest not, that the workes of thy wisedome should be vaine, and therefore doe men commit their liues to a small piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormy sea in a ship, and are saued.

* Gen. 6. 4. and 7. 10.

6 * For in the olde time also when the proud gyants perished, the hope of the worlde went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seede of generation vnto the world.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousnesse commeth.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hands, * both it, and he that made it: hee, because hee made it, and it beeing a corruptible thing, because it was called God.

* Psal. 115. 8. baruc. 6. 3.

9 * For the vngodly, and his vngodlinesse are both like hated of God: so truely the worke and hee that made it, shall bee punished together.

* Psal. 5. 5.

10 Therefore shall there be a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feete of the vnwise.

* Iere. 10. 8. habak. 2. 18.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glorie of men brought them into the world: therefore shal they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grieuously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whom now hee worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his seruants ceremonies & sacrifices.

15 Thus by processe of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a law, and idols, were worshipped by the commaundement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a King, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For he peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so through the beauty of the worke the multitude was allured, and so tooke him now for a God, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude, through calamitie and tyrannie ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great wars of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either * they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutnesse by strange rites,

* Deut. 12. 16. ierem. 7. 9. and 19. 4.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or else vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft and deceite, corruption, vnfaithfulnesse, tumults, periurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulnesse, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adulterie and vncleannesse.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to bee named, is the beginning and the cause and the end of all euill.

27 For either they bee mad when they be merrie, or prophesie lies, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forsweare themselues.

28 For inasmuch as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly bee punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themselues vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniustly to deceiue, and despise holinesse.

30 For it is not the power of them by whome they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voice of the faithfull, praising the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

BUt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercy.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousnesse, and to knowe thy power, is the roote of immorimmortalitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that hee coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

*Rom. 9. 21. 7 The *potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessel with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels, that serue to cleane vses, and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessell serueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen hee, which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a little while after goeth thither againe whence hee was taken, *Luke 12. 20. when he shall make account for the lone of his life.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmiths, and counterfeiteth the coppersmiths, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, & our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euil means.

13 Now hee that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eyesight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For a man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing hee is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that he maketh with vnrighteous hands: hee himselfe is better then they whom hee worshippeth: for hee liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they bee compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired in respect of other beastes: for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefites done vnto the faithfull.

THerefore by such things they are worthily punished and *tormented by the multitude of beasts. *Chap. 11. 13. numb. 21. 6.

2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast beene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen *quailes, *Num. 11. 31.

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their necessary desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreme pouertie, and that to these onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

5 *For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruell serpents, *Numb. 21. 6. 1. Cor. 10. 9.

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might be reformed, hauing a ‖ *signe of saluation, to remember the commaundement of thy Law. ‖ The signe of the brasen serpent. *Num. 21. 9.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauiour of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 *For the biting of the grashoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedie found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such. *Exod. 8. 24. and 10. 4. reue 9. 7.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercie came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, and were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnesse, that they could not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe. *Deut. 32. 39. 1. sam. 2. 6. tob. 13. 2.

14 A man in deede by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

*Exod.9.23. 16 *For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they could not auoyd, and were consumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beastes, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see and knowe, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the middes of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

*Exod.16.14. numb.11.7. psal.78.25. iohn 6.31. 20 *In the steade whereof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels foode, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meet for all tastes.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meete to that euery man would.

*Exod.9.23. 22 Moreouer, the *snowe and yce aboue the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkeling in the raine, destroyed the fruite of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the Maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to do good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need thereof,

*Deut.8.3. matth.4.4. 26 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lord, might knowe, *that it is not the increase of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, which preserueth them that trust in thee.

27 For that which could not be destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the sunne beames, melted, 28 That it might bee knowen that wee ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thankes vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankefull shall melt as the winter yce, and flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

FOr thy iudgements are great, and cannot bee expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkenesse, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 For while they thought to bee hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnesse, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorrowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, ‖ which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw, to bee worse.

‖ That is, the mighty vision.

*Exod.7.12. and 8.7.18. 7 *And the illusions of the magicall arts were brought down, and it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afrayde at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and sayde they sawe not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing, when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing else but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth hee esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intolerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoeuer fell downe, he was kept and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, he must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoyd:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenesse were they all bound) whether it were an hissing wind, or a sweet song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water, 18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not bee seene, or the noyse of cruell beastes that roared, or the ‖ sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

‖ Or, Echo.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindred in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauie night, an image of that darkenesse that was come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenesse.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The fierie pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuerance of the faithfull. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wildernesse. 21 Aaron stood betweene the liuing and the dead with his censer.

* Exod. 10.23. ‖ Or, the Egyptians.

BUt thy Saints had a very great *light, whose voyce because ‖ they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them and asked pardon for their enimitie,

* Exod. 13.21. & 14.24. psal. 78. 14. & 105.39.

3 *Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to leade them in the vnknowen way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney.

4 But they were worthy to be deprined of the light, and to bee kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the incorrupt light of the Lawe should bee giuen to the world.

* Exod. 1.16.

5 *Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reproue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroied them all together in the mighty water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credit, might be of good cheere.

* Exo. 14.24, 25.

7 Thus thy *people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroied.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, & made a Law of righteousnes by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good and euill in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing crie was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the *master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.

* Exod. 11.5. and 12.29.

12 So they all together had innumerable that died with one kind of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to burie them: for in the twinckling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because of the enchantments, confessed this people to bee the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middest of her swift course, 15 Thine Almightie word leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed.

16 And brought thine vnfained commandement as a sharpe sword, and stood vp and filled all things with death, & being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulnesse came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Nowe tentation of death touched the righteous also, and *among the multitude in the wildernesse there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

* Num. 16.46.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, & tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word hee subdued him that punished, alleaging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee stoode in the middes, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from comming to the liuing.

24 *For in the long garment was all the ornament, & in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

* Exod. 28.6, 11

25 Unto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes.

brewes. 11 The meate that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the will of God.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the ende: for he knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whome they had [a] cast out afore with prayer.

a That is, the children of Israel whom they before had desired and prayed to go their way.

4 For the destiny whereof they were worthy, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a marueilous passage, and that these might finde a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was fashioned of newe, and serued in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous marueiles.

‖ Or, were fed.

9 For they ‖ neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praising thee, O Lord, which hadest deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindful of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth flyes in stead of cattell, and how the riuer scrawled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

* Exod. 16. 13. numb. 11. 31.

11 *But at the last they saw a new generation of birdes, when they were enticed with lust, and desired delicate meates.

12 *For the quailes came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the ‖ sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers. * Chap. 16. 2. ‖ Or, Egyptians.

13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knewe them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside al these things some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banketting, and admitted them to bee partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindnesse, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of *the righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darkenesse, sought the entrance of his doore. * Gene. 19. 11.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be [b] yce, & was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meate.

b He meaneth Man, spoke Exo. 16. 14, 15. and Numb. 11. 7.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

¶ The Wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and hee liued in the latter times, after the people had beene ledde away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisedome among the Hebrewes, who did not only gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisedome. So this first Iesus dyed, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISEDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisedome to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, & darke sentences, and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approoued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreouer, what benefits the Lord had bestowed ſtowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Ieſus did imitate Salomon, and was no leſſe famous in wiſedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeede.

The Prologue of the Wiſedome of Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach.

WHereas many and great things haue beene giuen vs by the Lawe and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Iſrael ought to be commended by the reaſon of doctrine and wiſdome, whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themſelues, but alſo may be able by the diligent ſtudy thereof to be profitable vnto ſtrangers both by ſpeaking and writing) after that my grandfather Ieſus had giuen himſelfe to the reading of the Lawe and the Prophets, and other bookes of our Fathers, and had gotten therein ſufficient iudgement, he purpoſed alſo to write ſomething perteining to learning and wiſdome, to the intent that they which were deſirous to learne, and would giue themſelues to theſe things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Lawe. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though wee ſeeme to ſome in ſome things not able to attaine to the interpretation of ſuch words as are hard to be expreſſed: for the things that are ſpoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themſelues then when they are tranſlated into another tongue, and not only theſe things but other things alſo, as the Law it ſelfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no ſmall difference when they are ſpoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copy full of great learning, and I thought it neceſſary, to beſtow my diligence and trauaile to interprete this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and ſtudie I gaue my ſelfe to the finiſhing of this booke, that it might be publiſhed, that they which remaine in baniſhment, and are deſirous to learne, might apply themſelues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Lawe.

CHAP. I.

1 Wiſedome commeth of God. 11 A praiſe of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by Wiſedome.

ALl wiſedome * commeth of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him] and is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the ſand of the ſea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? [who can meaſure] the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wiſedome [of God which hath bene before all things?]

4 Wiſedome hath beene created before all things, and the vnderſtanding of prudence from euerlaſting,

5 [The word of God moſt high, is the fountaine of wiſedome, and the euerlaſting commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 *Vnto whome hath the roote of wiſedome bene declared? or who hath knowen her wiſe counſels?

7 [Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wiſdome beene diſcouered and ſhewed? and who hath vnderſtood the manifold entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wiſe, [euen the moſt high Creatour of all things, the Almightie, the King of power] and very terrible, which ſitteth vpon his throne.

9 Hee is the Lord, that hath created her [through the holy Ghoſt:] he hath ſeene her, numbred her, [and meaſured her.]

10 He hath powred her out vpon all his workes, and vpon all fleſh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and gladneſſe, and reioycing, and a ioyful crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merry heart, and giueth gladneſſe and ioy, and long life.

13 Who ſo feareth the Lord, it ſhall goe well with him at the laſt, and he ſhall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wiſedome, and vnto whom it appeareth in a viſion, they loue it for the viſion, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.]

15 *The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wiſedome, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [ſhe goeth with the choſen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull.

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge.

17 Holineſſe ſhall preſerue, and iuſtifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladneſſe.

18 Who ſo feareth the Lord, ſhall proſper, and in the day of his ende, hee ſhall be bleſſed.]

19 Shee hath built her euerlaſting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their ſeede.

20 To feare God is the fulneſſe of wiſedome, and filleth men with her fruites.

21 Shee filleth their whole houſe with [all] things deſireable, and the garners with the things, that ſhee bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wiſedome, and giueth peace & perfect health: he hath ſeene her, and numbred her.

23 ‖ Shee raineth downe knowledge and vnderſtanding of wiſedome, and hath brought vnto honour, them that poſſeſſed her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of wiſedome, and her branches are long life.

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne: and when thee is present, thee driueth away anger.

27 For wicked anger can not be iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lippes shall speake of his wisedome.

30 In the treasures of wisedome are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdome, keepe the commandements, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisedome and discipline: hee hath pleasure in faith and meekenesse, 33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 Be not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heede what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, lest thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the mids of the Congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousnesse, loue, vnderstanding, and patience, 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impatient.

My sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, [stand fast in righteousnesse and feare, and] prepare thy soule to tentation.

2 Settle thine heart, and bee patient: [bow downe thine eare, and receiue the wordes of vnderstanding,] and shrinke not away, when thou art assailed, [but waite vpon God patiently.]

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be exalted at thy last ende.

4 Whatsoeuer commeth vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

*Wisd. 3. 6. prou. 17. 3.

5 *For as golde [and siluer are] tried in the fire, euen so are men acceptable in the fornace of aduersitie.

7 Yee that feare the Lord, waite for his mercie: shrinke not away from him that yee fall not.

8 Yee that feare the Lord, beleeue him, and your reward shall not faile.

9 O ye that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euerlasting ioy and mercy.

10 [Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, and your hearts shall be lightened.]

11 Consider the olde generations [of men, yee children,] and marke them well: *was *Psal. 37. 25. there euer any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whom did hee euer despise, that called vpon him?

12 For God is gracious and mercifull, and forgiueth sinnes, and saueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the truth.]

13 Woe vnto them, that haue a ‖ fearefull heart, [and to the wicked lips] and to the faint hands, and to the sinner that goeth two *maner of wayes. ‖ Or, double * 1. King. 18. 21.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for he beleeueth not: therefore shall he not bee defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right wayes, & are turned backe into froward wayes:] for what will ye doe when the Lord shall visit you?

16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word: and they that *loue him, will keepe his wayes. *Ioh. 14. 21, 24.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall bee fulfilled with his Law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 [They that feare the Lord, keepe his Commandements, and will be patient till hee see them.

20 Saying, If we doe not repent] we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnes is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

2 To our father and mother we ought to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

[The children of wisdome are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall bee forgiuen him, [and hee shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his daily delight.]

5 And hee that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shal haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father, shal haue a long life, and hee that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

9 * Honour thy father and mother in deed and in word [and in all patience] that thou mayest haue ‖ Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

‖ Or, the blessing of men.

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seeing that mans glory commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not, as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortresse for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompenced with good, and it shall bee founded for thee in righteousnesse.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and hee that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, performe thy doings with meekenesse, so shalt thou bee beloued of them that are approoued.

23 [But] what [God] hath commaunded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his workes:] for it is not needfull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubburne heart shall fare euill at the last: and hee that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper, and hee that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall bee laden with sorrowes: and the wicked man shal heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proud is without remedie, and his steps shall be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, [and he shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentiue eare is the desire of a wise man.

12 If thou be brought low, hee will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such a one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of golde and siluer] is not to be compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou find wisedome [which shall endure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but little labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruits right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is she to the vnlearned! hee that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and hee casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisedome, but there be but fewe that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, shee abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue eare my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and she shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shalbe turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

36 *Desire to heare all godly talke, and *Chap.8.9. let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foote weare the steps of his doores.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances

of the Lord, and bee ‖ continually * occupied in his commaundements: so shall hee stablish thine heart, and giue thee wisedome at thine owne desire.

‖ Or, earnestly. * Psal. 1. 2, 3.

CHAP. VII.

2 Wee must forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues.
23 The behauiour of the wife toward his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father & mother.

1 DOe no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sow not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnesse, lest that thou reape them seuen fold.

4 Aske not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the king the seate of honour.

5 * Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] and boast not thy wisedome in the presence of the king.

* Iob 9. 2. psal. 143. 2. eccle. 7. 18 luke 18. 11.

6 Seeke not to bee made a iudge, lest thou bee not able to take away iniquitie, and lest thou, fearing the person of the mightie, shouldest commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 * Binde not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

* Chap. 5. 5.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most high God, he will accept it.

10 Bee not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauinesse of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee * that can bring downe, and set vp againe.

* 1. Sam. 2. 7.

12 Sowe not a lye against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Use not to make any maner of lye: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many words when thou art among the Elders, neither * repeate a thing in thy prayer.

* Mat. 6. 5, 7.

15 Hate not laborious * worke, neither the husbandry, which the most high hath created.

* Rom. 12, 11.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy minde greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wise and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue golde.

20 ¶ * Whereas thy seruant worketh truly, intreate him not euill, nor the hireling that bestoweth himselfe wholy for thee.

* Leuit. 19 13. chap. 33. 29. and 34. 23.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraude him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a poore man.]

22 * If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, and if they be for thy profit, keepe them with thee.

* Deut. 25 4.

23 * If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and bow their necke from their youth.

* Chap. 30. 11.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their body, and shew not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marrie thy daughter, and so shalt thou performe a weighty matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the hatefull.

27 * Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the sorowes of thy mother.

* Chap. 3. 9. tob. 4. 3.

28 Remember that thou wast borne of them, and how canst thou recompence them the things that they haue done for thee?

29 ¶ Feare the Lorde with all thy soule, and honour his ministers.

30 Loue him that made thee, with all thy strength, * and forsake not his seruants.

* Deut. 12. 18. 19

31 Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and honour the Priests, * and giue them their portion, as it is commanded thee, the first fruits, [and purifications] and sacrifices for sinne, and the offrings of the shoulders, and the sacrifices of sanctification, and the first fruits of the holy things.

* Leuit. 2 3. num. 18. 15.

32 Stretch thine hand vnto the poore, that thy ‖ blessing, [and reconciliation] may be accomplished.

‖ Or, liberalitie.

33 Liberalitie pleaseth all men liuing, and * from the dead restraine it not.

* Tob. 2. 4, 7. and 4. 17.

34 * Let not them that weepe, bee without [comfort:] but mourne with such as mourne.

* Rom. 12. 15.

35 * Bee not slow to visite the sicke: for that shall make thee to be beloued.

* Matth. 25. 38.

36 Whatsoeuer thou takest in hand, remember the ende, and thou shalt neuer doe amisse.

CHAP. VIII.

We must take heede with whom we haue to doe.

1 STriue not with a mightie man, lest thou fall into his hands.

2 * Make not variance with a rich man, lest hee ouer set thee ouer thy weight: * for golde [and siluer] hath destroyed many, and hath subuerted the heart of kings.

* Matth 5. 25. * Chap. 31. 6.

3 Strive not with a man that is full of words, and lay no stickes vpon his fire.

4 Play not with a man that is vntaught, lest thy kinred be dishonoured.

*Galat. 6. 1. 5 *Despise not a man that turneth himselfe away from sinne, nor cast him not in the teeth withall, but remember that wee are all worthy blame.

*Leuit. 19. 32. 6 *Dishonour not a man in his olde age: for they were as we which are not olde.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemy, but remember that wee must die all, [and so enter into ioy.]

*Chap. 6. 35. 8 *Despise not the exhortation of the [Elders] that be wise, but acquaint thy selfe with their wise sentences: for of them thou shalt learne wisedome, [and the doctrine of vnderstanding,] and how to serue great men [without complaint.]

9 Go not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answere in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coles of sinners, [when thou rebukest them,] lest thou be burnt in the fierie flames [of their sinnes.]

11 Rise not vp against him that doeth wrong, that he lay not waite as a spie for thy mouth.

*Chap. 29. 4. 12 *Lend not vnto him that is mightier then thy selfe: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

13 Be not suretie aboue thy power: for if thou be suretie, thinke to pay it.

14 Goe not to law with the Iudge: for they will giue sentence according to his owne honour.

*Gen. 4. 8. 15 *Trauaile not by the way with him that is rash, lest he doe thee iniurie: for he followeth his owne wilfulnesse, and so shalt thou perish through his follie.

*Prou. 22. 24. 16 *Strive not with him that is angrie, and goe not with him into the wildernesse: for blood is as nothing in his sight, & where there is no helpe, he will ouerthrow thee.

17 Take no counsell at a foole: for he can not keepe a thing close.

18 Doe no secret thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, lest he bee vnthankefull to thee, [and put thee to reproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of iealousie. 12 An olde friend is to be preferred before a new. 18 Righteous men should be bidden to thy table.

BE not iealous ouer thy wife of thy bosome, neither teach her by thy meanes an euill lesson.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, lest thee ouercome thy strength, [and so thou bee confounded.]

3 Meete not an harlot, lest thou fall into her snares.

4 Use not the company of a woman that is a singer, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] lest thou be taken by her craftinesse.

5 Gaze not on a * maide, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her. *Gen. 6. 1, 2. and 34. 2.

6 * Cast not thy minde vpon harlots [in any maner of thing,] lest thou destroy [both thy selfe and] thine heritage. *Prou. 5. 2.

7 Goe not about gazing in the streetes of the citie, neither wander thou in the secret places thereof.

8 * Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beautie: for many * haue perished by the beautie of women: for through it, loue is kindled as a fire. *Matth. 5. 28. *Gen. 34. 1, 2. 2. sam. 11. 2. Iudeth 10. 17, &c. and 12. 16, 20.

9 [Euery woman that is an harlot, shall be troden vnder foote as dung, of euery one that goeth by the way.

10 Many wondering at the beautie of a strange woman, haue beene cast out: for her words burne as a fire.]

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, [neither lye with her vpon the bed,] nor banket with her, lest thine heart incline vnto her, and so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 [Forsake not an olde friend: for the new shall not bee like him: a new friend is as new wine: when it is olde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 *Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall be his end. *Iudg. 9. 3. 2. sam. 15. 12.

14 Delite not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not be found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, lest he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the mids of snares, and that thou walkest vpon the towres of the citie.

16 Trie thy neighbour as neere as thou canst, * and aske counsell of the wise. *Chap. 6. 36, 38. & 8. 8. & 37. 12.

17 *Let thy talke bee with the wise, and all thy communication in the Law of the most High. *Deut. 6. 7. and 11. 19.

18 Let iust men eate and drinke with thee, and let thy reioycing bee in the feare of the Lord.

19 In [the hands of the craftesmen shal the workes be commended, and the wise prince of the people by his word, [and the word by the wisedome of the Elders.] ‖Or, the workeman is prayed according to the worke.

20 A man full of words is dangerous in his his citie, and he that is rash in his talking, shall be hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnesse, are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praised.

A Wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the Iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are all they that dwell therein.

* 1.King.12.1, 13,14. 3 *An vnwise King destroyeth his people, but where they that be in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the Scribes will hee lay his honour.

* Leuit.19.17. 6 *Be not angry for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practises.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.

* Iere.27.6.dan. 4.14. 8 *Because of vnrighteous dealing, and wrongs and riches gotten by deceite, the kingdome is translated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proude, O earth & ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one would euen sel his soule, and for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyranny is of small indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grieuous to the physition.]

11 The physition cutteth off the sore disease, and he that is to day a king, to morrow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proude, seeing that when a man dieth, hee is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the originall of sinne, and he that hath it, shall powre out abomination, till at last he bee ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perswasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the ende.

*Luk.1.52.and 14.11.and 18. 14.1.sam.2.7, 8. 15 The Lord hath *cast downe the thrones of the [proude] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead.

16 The Lord plucketh vp thee rootes of the [proude] nations, and planteth the lowly with glorie among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the landes of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: hee causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth the memoriall of the proude, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man which is an honourable seede: the honourable seede are they that feare the Lord: there is a seede of man, which is without honour: the seede without honour are they that transgresse the commandements of the Lord: it is a seede that remaineth which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the Lawe, and a deceiueable seede that breake the commandements.

21 He that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by erueltie and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory aswell of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lord.

26 *Unto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free doe seruice: *hee that hath knowledge, will not grudge when he is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.] * Pro.17.2. * 2.Sam.12.13.

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest doe thy worke, neither bee ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

28 *Better is he that laboureth and hath plenteousnesse of all things, then hee that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread. * Prou.12.9,11

29 My sonne, get thy selfe praise by meekenesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in pouertie, how much more shall he be when he is rich? and hee that is vnhonest being rich, how much more will he be so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to bee brought into thine house.

* Gen.41.40. Dan.6.3. WIsedome *lifteth vp the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither despise a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but smal among the foules, yet doth her fruit passe in sweetnesse.

4 Be not proud of clothing and rayment, * Act.12.21,23. * and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wonderfull, [and glorious,] secrete [and vnknowen] are his workes among men.

5 Many tyrants haue sit downe vpon the * 1.Sam.15.28. Hester.6.10. earth, * and the vnlikely hath worne the crowne.

6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue beene deliuered into other mens hands.

* Deut.13.14. & 17.4,6.Iosh.7. 22. 7 ¶ *Blame [no man] before thou haue inquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reforme [righteously.]

* Prou.18.13. 8 *Giue no sentence, before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

* Matth.19.22. 1.tim.6.9. 10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be blameless, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

* Prou.10.3. 11 *There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthfull, * Iob.42.10. and * hath neede of helpe: for hee wanteth strength, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his low estate.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that manie men maruell at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

* Iob.1.21. Eccl.28.4. 14 *Prosperitie and aduersitie, life and death, pouertie and riches comes of the Lord.

15 Wisedome and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Errour and darknesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselues in euil, waxe olde in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and niggardship, and this is the portion of his wages, 19 In that hee saith, * I haue gotten rest, * Luk.12.19. and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considered not, that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Maruell not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and hee maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shall I haue hereafter?

24 Againe say not, I haue ynough, and possesse many things, and what euill can come to me hereafter?

25 *In thy good state remember aduersi- * Chap.18.24. tie, and in prosperitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende, his workes are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be knowen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceiptfull haue many traines, [and are like stomackes that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a partrich is taken vnder a basket, [& the hind is taken in the snare] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise hee will finde some fault.

32 Of one litle sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man layeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and he will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and drive thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 Vnto whom we ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

When

WHen thou wilt doe good, knowe to whome thou doest it, so shalt thou bee thanked for thy benefits.

* Gal.6.10. 1.tim.5.8. 2 *Doe good vnto the righteous, & thou shalt find [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.

3 He cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, least he ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend can not be knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie bee vnknowen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauines and trouble a mans verie friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though hee make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not well bene wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, least hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, least hee seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and bee pricked with my sayings.

* Chap.7.8. and 21.2. 14 *Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished.

15 Who will haue pitie on the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beastes? so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season wil hee bide with thee: but if thou stumble he tarieth not.

* Iere.41.6. 17 *An enemie is sweete in his lippes: hee can make many good wordes, and speake many good things: yea, hee can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart hee imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, hee will not bee satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shall hee vndermine thee: hee will shake his head, and clap his handes, and will make many words, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proud and of the rich are to bee eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe companie with their like.

HE* that toucheth pitch shall bee defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proud, shall be like vnto him. * Deut.7.2.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if ỹ one be smitten against the other, it shalbe broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the rich haue done wrong, hee must yet bee intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straight waies bee threatned.

4 If thou be for his profit, hee vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, hee will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, he will liue with thee: yea, hee will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If he haue need of thee, he will defraude thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntil he haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last hee will laugh thee to scorne: afterward, when he seeth thee, hee will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and wait vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou bee not deceiued in thine owne conceite, and brought downe by thy simplenes: [bee not too humble in thy wisedome.]

10 ¶ If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shall hee call thee the more oft.

11 Presse not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speech, but beleeue not his many wordes: for with much communication will he tempt thee: and laughingly will he grope thee.

13 He is vnmercifull and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good heede: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euerie man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe: no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

‖ Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voice of men, and so entiseth them out of their houses and deuoureth them.

19 What fellowship hath ‖ hyena with a dogge: and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore:

20 As the wilde Asse is the Lions pray in the wildernesse, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proud hate humilitie, so doe the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friendes set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, he hath many helpers: he speaketh proud words, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euerie man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee saith, they praise it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellowe is this: and if he doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance whether it be in good or euill.

27 A chearefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secret of the thought.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happie is he that continueth in wisedome.

* Chap.19.6,16. Iam.3.2.

BLessed is the man * that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorrow of sinne.

2 Blessed is hee that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a nigard, and what should an enuious man doe with money:

4 Hee that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.

5 Hee that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will he be good: for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednesse.

7 And if he doe any good, hee doeth it, not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer inough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A * wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table. * Pro.27,20.

11 My sonne, doe good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offerings.

12 Remember that death tarieth not, and that the couenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.

13 * Doe good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine habilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him. * Chap.4.1. tob.4.7.luk.14. 13.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage:

16 Giue and take and sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnes before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

17 ¶ * All flesh waxeth old, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death. * Isa.40,6.1.pet. 1.24.iam.1, 10

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some growe, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an end, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 [Euery excellent worke shall bee iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.]

21 * Blessed is the man that doth meditate honest things by wisedome, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and hee that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding. * Psal.1.2.

22 Which considereth in his heart her waies, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lye in waite in her waies.

24 He shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.

25 He shal abide beside her house, and fasten a stake to her walles: he shall pitch his tent besides her,

26 And he shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her hee shall bee couered from the heate, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodnes that followeth him which feareth God. 8 God reiecteth and casteth off the sinner. 11 God is not the authour of euill.

HE that feareth the Lord, will do good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it sure.

2 As an [honourable] mother shall shee meet him, and she, as his wife maried of a virgine, will receiue him.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shall she feed him, and giue him the *water of [wholesome] wisedome to drinke.

4 He shall assure himselfe in her, and shal not be moued, and shall holde himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 She shal exalt him aboue his neighbors, and in the mids of the congregation shall shee open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisedome and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She shal cause him to inherit ioy, & the crowne of gladnes, and an euerlasting name.

7 But foolish men wil not take hold vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will meet her:] the sinners shall not see her.

8 For she is farre from pride [and deceit,] and men that lye cannot remember her: [but men of truth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that it is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdome, [and be plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to do the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, Hee hath caused me to erre: for he hath no need of the sinfull man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

14 *He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell, [and gaue him his commandements and precepts.]

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandements, and testifie thy good will.

16 He hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 * Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh shalbe giuen him.

18 For the wisdome of the Lord is great, and hee is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

19 *And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth all the workes of man.

20 He hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath hee giuen any man licence to sinne: [for he desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

*Iohn 4.10.

*Gen.1.27.

*Iere.21.8.

*Pfal.34.15,16. hebr.4.13.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnhappy and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himselfe from God. 24 An exhortatio to the receiuing of instruction.

DEsire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in thē, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, & better it is to die without children, then to leaue behind him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shal the city be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shalbe wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eares hath heard greater things then these.

6 *In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be set on fire. *Chap.21.9,10

7 *He spared not ỹ old giants, which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength, *Gene.6.4.

8 *Neither spared he whereas Lot dwelt, those whom he abhorred for their pride. *Gen.19.21,25.

9 Hee had no pity vpon the people that were destroyed, and puffed vp in their sinnes.

10 *And so he preserued the sixe hundred thousand footmen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercy, and with chastisement. *Num.14.15,16 20.& 26.51.

11 Therefore if there bee one stifnecked among the people, it is marueile if he escape vnpunished: for mercy & wrath are with him: he is mighty to forgiue, & to powre out displeasure.

12 *As his mercy is great, so is his punishment also: he iudgeth a man according to his workes. *Chap.5.6

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoyle, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one shall finde according to his workes, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharao, that hee should not knowe him, and that his workes should bee knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercy is knowen to all creatures: he hath separate his light from the darkenesse with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I wil hide my selfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon mee from aboue? I shall not be knowen in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

and the earth, and all that therein is, shalbe moued when he shall visit.

19 All the world which is created & made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but he vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his waies: and the storme that no man can see: for the most part of his works are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousnes: or who can abide them: for his ordinance is farre off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and erronious man casteth his mind vpon foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my words with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee waighty doctrine, and I wil instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath bee sundred from the other when bee first made them.

27 He hath garnished his works for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shall endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor ceale from their offices.

28 None of them hindreth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

29 After this the Lorde looked vpon the earth, and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beastes hath he couered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

THe *Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe.

2 He gaue him the number of dayes and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 Hee clothed them with strength, as they had need, & made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that he had the dominion ouer the beasts and fowles.

*Gene.2.22. 1.cor.11,9.

5 [*He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and firtly he gaue him a spirit, and seuenthly hee gaue them speech to declare his works.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good & euill.

7 He set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble works,

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his myracles, that they should prudently declare his workes, and that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

9 Besides this, he gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the law of life for an heritage, that they might now knowe that they were mortall.

10 He made an euerlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes saw the maiesty of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voice.

12 And he sayd vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. *He gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour. *Exod.20.16,17 and 23.23.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, & their stony hearts cannot become flesh.

15 Hee appointed a ruler ouer euery people, when he diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 *And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom he nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, & giueth him most louing light, and doth not forsake him. *Deut.4.20. and 10,15.

17 All their works are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hid from him, but al their sins are before the Lord.

19 And as he is merciful, and knoweth his worke, hee doeth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 *The almes of a man is as a thing sealed vp before him, & he keepeth the good deeds of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their sonnes, and daughters. *Chap.29.13.

21 *At the last shall hee arise, and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads. *Matth.25.35

22 *But vnto them that will repent, hee giueth them grace to returne, and exhorteth such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the verity.] *Acts 3.19.

23 *Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence. *Ioe.3.13

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he wil bring thee from darknes to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnes, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the righteousnes & iudgments of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most High God, and go in the parts of the holy world with such as be liuing, and confesse God.]

26 *Who can praise the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him: *Psal.6.5. Isa. 38.18,19.

27 [Abide not thou in the errour of the vngodly, vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankfulnes perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and he that is sound of heart, praiseth the Lord, [and reioyceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the louing kindnes of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For al things cannot be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, [and they take pleasure in the vanity of wickednes.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, [shalbe reproued.]

33 He seeth the power of the hie heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marueilous workes of God. 6. 7 The misery and wretchednes of man. 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

Gene.1.1. HE that liueth for euer, made all things together: the Lord who only is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious King for euer.]

2 He ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath he giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble acts?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnesse? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the wondrous works of the Lord, there may nothing be taken frō them, neither can any thing bee put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, he must begin again, & when he thinketh to come to an end, he must go againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth he? what good or euill can he doe?

*Psal.90.10. 8 *If the number of a mans dayes be an hundred yere, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, & as a grauel stone is in comparison of the sand, so are *2.Pet.3.8. * a thousand yeres to the dayes euerlasting.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercy vpon them.

11 He saw & perceiued, that [the arrogancy of their heart, & their ruine was euil: therfore heaped hee vp his mercy vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnes.]

12 The mercy that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbor: but ỹ mercy of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, & nurtureth, & teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 Hee hath mercy of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reproue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shal not the dewe asswage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Loe, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousnes before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.

19 *Examine thy selfe, before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt find mercy. *1.Cor.11.32.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou bee sicke, and whilest thou mayest yet sinne, shewe thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, & deferre not vnto death to be reformed: [for the reward of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the *wrath, that shalbe at the end, and the houre of vengeance, when hee shall turne away his face. *Chap.7.17,36

24 *When thou hast ynough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouerty and need. *Chap.11.25.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisdom, & knowledge, & praiseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in words: [they vnderstand the trueth and righteousnesse,] and powre out with modesty graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authority of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 ¶ * Follow not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites. * Rom. 6. 6. and 13.14.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuy thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnesse, and intangle not thy selfe with such company.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse: else thou shouldest slanderously lie in wait for thine owne life.

3 And he that companieth adulterers, shal become impudent: rottennesse and wormes shall haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bold, shalbe taken away, and be made a publike example.

*Iosh. 22.11,12 4 *He that is hasty to giue credit, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednes, shalbe punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shall be shortened, and hee that abhorreth babbling of words, quencheth wickednesse:] but hee that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublesome man, and hee that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearse not to another, that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, & marke thee, and when he findeth opportunity, he will hate thee.

*Chap.22.23. and 27.17. 10 *If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and bee sure it will not burst thee.

11 A foole trauelleth when he hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a child.

12 As an arrow that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

*Leuit.19.17. matth.18.15. 13 *Reproue a friend lest he doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friend, that hee may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that he say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slander is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: *and who is hee that hath not offended in his tongue?

*Iam.3.2. 17 Reproue thy neighbor before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisedome obteineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, & they that obey him, shal receiue the fruit of immortality.

20 The feare of ỹ Lord is all wisdome, and the performing of the law is perfect wisdom, and the knowledge of his almighty power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward he doe it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wisedome, neither is there prudency whereas the counsel of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is void of wisdome.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisedome, and transgresseth the Lawe of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtilty that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, doe bowe downe themselues, and are sadde, whose inward parts burne altogether with deceite: hee looketh downe with his face, and fayneth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weake that he can doe thee no harme, yet when hee may finde opportunity, he will do euill.

27 ¶ A man may be knowen by his looke, and one that hath vnderstanding, may bee perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction & repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thiefe and the murtherer. 28 Gifts blind the eyes of the wise.

THere is some rebuke that is not comely: againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is much better to reproue, then to beare euill will: and he that acknowledgeth his fault, shalbe preserued from hurt.

3 As *when a gelded man through lust would defile a maid, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement. *Chap.30.20.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to shew repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because hee hath not to answere: and some keepeth silence, silence, waiting a conuenient * time. *Eccles.3.7.

7 * A wise man will hold his tongue till he see opportunity: but a trifler and a foole wil regard no time. *Chap.32.4.

8 He that vseth many words, shall bee abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to him selfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperity in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is found, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a litle price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

13 * A wise man with his words maketh himselfe to be loued, but the merrie tales of fooles shall be powred out. *Chap.6.5.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for hee looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth little, and hee vpbraideth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne crier: to day he lendeth, to morow asketh he againe, and such one is to bee hated of God and man.

15 The foole saith, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall he bee laughed to scorne? for hee comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for hee speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons, loseth it.

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for naught.

23 * A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise. *Chap.25.2.

24 A thiefe is better, then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of liers are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his words, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 * He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape: [hee that worketh righteousnesse, shall be exalted,] and hee that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie. *Prou.12.11. and 28.19.

28 * Rewards and gifts blinde the eyes of the wise, and make them dumbe, that they can not reproue faults. *Exod.23.8. deut.16.19.

29 Wisdome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is he that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisedome.

31 The necessary patience of him, that followeth the Lord, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to bee reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, * but pray for the fore sinnes [that they may be forgiuen thee.] * Chap.5.5. psal.41.4. luke 15.21.

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou commest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a Lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquity is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shall be desolate.

5 * The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently. * Exod.3.9. and 22.23.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen a far off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 * The Congregation of the wicked is like towe wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them. * Chap.16.8.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darkenesse and paines.]

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, ‖ ruleth his owne affections thereby: & the encrease of wisedom is ỹ end of the feare of God. ‖ Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer him selfe to be taught: but there is some wit that encreaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wise shal abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

14 * The inner parts of a foole are like a broken vessell: hee can keepe no knowledge whiles he liueth. * Chap.33.5.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise a wise word, he will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he will disallow it, and cast it behind his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, and they shal ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisedome vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feet, & like manacles vpon the right hand.

* Chap. 19. 27, 28. 20 *A foole lifteth vp his voice with laughter, but a wise man doth scarce smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewel of gold, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in [his neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but he that is well nurtured, will stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise will bee grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lips of talkers will be telling such things as appertaine not vnto them, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, hee curseth his owne soule.

* Chap. 28. 13. 28 *A backebiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated wheresoeuer he is: [but hee that keepeth his tongue, and is discreet, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

A Slouthfull man is like a filthie stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the doung of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euil nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to bee esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but she that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 She that is bold, dishonoureth both her father & her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly,] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a potsheard together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepeth, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherwith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proud, with hautinesse and foolishnes they defile the nobilitie of their kinred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisedome, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, hee saith, What is the matter?

11 * Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for hee wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death. * Chap. 38. 16.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, & go not to him that hath no vnderstanding: * beware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou be defiled when hee shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorow by his foolishnesse. * Chap. 12. 12.

14 What is heauier then lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 * Sand, and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man.] * Prou. 27. 3.

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot be loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreet wisdom, is as a faire plaistring on a plain wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on hie, cannot abide the wind, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 He that hurteth the eye, bringeth foorth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and hee that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sword at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbraiding or pride or disclosing of secrets, or a traiterous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to bee had in admiration.

24 As the vapour & smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill words [rebukes and threatnings] goe before blood shedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe mee harme: whosoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

*Psal.141.3. 26 Who shall set a *watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisedome vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of othes, blasphemie, & vnwise communication. 16 Of three kinds of sins. 23 Many sinnes proceed of adultery. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, Father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsel, and let me not fall by ‖ them. ‖ Or, my lips.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisedome in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let ‖ their faults passe? ‖ That is, of the tongue, and lips.

3 Lest mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and lest I fall before mine aduersary, & mine enemies reioice ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [leaue me not in their imagination] neither giue me a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout mind.

5 Take from mee vaine hope, and concupiscence, and reteine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold mee, and giue not mee thy seruant ouer into an impudent mind.

7 ¶ Heare, O yee children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake trueth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked works.]

8 The sinner shall bee taken by his owne lips: for the euil speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

*Exod.20.7. chap.27.15. mat.5.33,34. 9 *Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the Holy one: [for thou shalt not bee vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some skar, so hee that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednes, and the plague shall neuer go from his house: when he shall offend his fault shalbe vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shalbe full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed with death: God graunt that it bee not found in the heritage of Iaakob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ‖ ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne. ‖ Or, inordinate swearing.

14 ¶ Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou bee forgotten in their sight, & so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou hadst not beene borne, and curse the day of thy nativitie.

15 *The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer bee reformed all the dayes of his life. *2.Sam.16.7.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a minde hote as fire, that cannot be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perish.)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth mee? I am compassed about with darkenesse: the walles couer mee: no body seeth mee: whom needs I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes. *Isa.29.15.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 Hee knew all things or euer they were made, and after they bee brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

21 *The same man shalbe punished in the streetes of the citie, [and shall be chased like a yong horse foale,] and when hee thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because hee would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.] *Leuit.20.10. deut.22.22.

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife, that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 *For first she hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly shee hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, shee hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man. *Exod.20.14.

24 She shall be brought out into the Congregation, and examination shall bee made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull reproch shall she leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe, that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heede vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A praise of wisedome proceeding foorth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her works and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

WIsedome shall praise her selfe, [and bee honoured in God,] and reioyce in the middes of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the middes of her people shall shee be exalted, & wondred at in the holy assembly.

4 In the multitude of the chosen she shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, she shall be praised, and shall say,]

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloud.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud,

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, & said, Let thy dwelling bee in Jacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and root thy selfe among my chosen.

12 *He created mee from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: *In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I established in Sion.

13 *In the welbeloued citie gaue he mee rest, and in Jerusalem was my power.

14 I tooke root in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on high like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree ‖ about the banks, and as a rose plant in Jericho, as a faire oliue tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinamon, and as a bag of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and sweet storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 *As the vine haue I brought foorth [fruite] of sweete sauour, and my flowres are the fruit of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautiful loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto mee all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruites.

23 *For the remembrance of me is sweeter then hony, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the hony combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate me, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke mee, shall thirst the more.

25 Whoso hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: [they that make mee to bee knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.]

26 All these things are the bookes [of life,] and the couenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] * and the Law that Moyses [in the precepts of righteousnesse] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Jacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.]

27 Bee not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that he may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord Almightie is but one God, and besides him there is none other Sauiour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant he ordeined to raise vp a most mightie King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisedome, as* Phyſon, and as Tygris, in the time of the new fruits.

30 Hee maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as * Jorden, in the time of haruest.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdome [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I run into Paradise

35 I sayd, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorow all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophecie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

*Chap.33.16. 39 *Behold that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not to be suspected. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

THree things reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God and men: *the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together. *Gen.13.2,5. rom.12.10.

2 ¶ Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud: a rich man that is a liar, and an old adulterer that doteth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh, how pleasant a thing is it, when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisedome vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudencie to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 ¶ There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth wil I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while hee liueth hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

*Chap.14.1. and 19.16. iam.3.2. 8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, *and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

9 Well is him that findeth prudencie, and he that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is hee that findeth wisedom! yet is there none aboue him, that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God,] vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to bee ioyned vnto him.

14 [¶ The greatest beauinesse is the beauinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue mee any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman.

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖ enemie. ‖Or, woman.

18 *I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife. *Pro.21.19.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as ‖ a sacke. ‖Or, a beare.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her he sigheth sore or he beware.

21 All wickednesse is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a sandie way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

23 *Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure. *Chap.42.12. 2.sam.11.2, and 13.2.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, she is angry and impudent and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sorie heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake handes and feeble knees, and can not comfort her husband in heauinesse.

26 Of the *woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die. *Gene.3.6. 1.tim.2.14.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a little,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to goe out.

28 If shee walke not in thine obedience, [shee shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] Cut her off then from thy flesh: a Giue her, and forsake her. a To wit, the bill of diuorcement.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shalbe double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and shee shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall bee giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorrowe and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as can not bee tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may bee knowen in the pride of her eyes, and eye lids.

*Chap.42.11. 10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, lest she abuse her selfe through ouermuch libertie.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shall she open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiuer against euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to bee compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that bee layd vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fieldes, sowe it with thine owne seede, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee shall growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameleſſe woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman wil reuerence her husband.

26 A shameleſſe woman is compared to a dog: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall bee iudged wise of all: but she that despiseth him, shall be blased for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman & a babler, let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh me angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me think to bee hard and perillous.] A merchant can not lightly keepe him from wrong, and a victailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would bee rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill, which turneth vpon himselfe.

BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: *1.Tim.6.9. and *hee that seeketh to bee rich, turneth prouer.23.4. his eyes aside.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioynts of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If hee holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone bee ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sieue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessel: *so doeth [tentation] trie mens thoughts. *Prouer.27.21

6 *The fruite declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the word [declareth] what man hath in his heart. *Matth.7.17.

7 Praise no man, except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnes, thou shalt get her, & put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde stedfastnesse.]

9 The

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doth the trueth turne vnto them, that are practised in her.

10 As the lyon waiteth for the beast, so doth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisedome: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vnwise, obserue the time, but haunt still the assemblie of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, and their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

* Chap.23.9,10 14 *The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and to striue with such, stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proud is blood shedding, & their scouldings are grieuous to heare.

*Chap.19.10. and 22.22. 16 *Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemie, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a birde goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too farre off: hee is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may bee bound vp againe, and an euill word may bee reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

*Prou.10.10. 22 *Hee that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and hee that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he will speake sweetly, and praise thy words: but at the last he will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on high, casteth it vpon his own head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

*Psal.7.15.pro. 26.27.eccl.10,8. 26 Who so *diggeth a pit, shal fall therein, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon,] and he that layeth a snare for another, shalbe taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euil, shall be wrapped in euill, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie & reproch follow the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall bee taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despite & anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

HEe *that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his sinnes. *Deut.32.35. rom.12.19.

2 ‖ Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also, when thou prayest. ‖ Men ought not to seeke vengeance.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and *desire forgiuenesse of the Lord? *Matth.6.14.

4 He will shew no mercie to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiuenesse of his owne sinnes?

5 If hee that is but flesh, nourish hatred [and aske pardon of God] who will intreate for his sinnes?

6 Remember the ende, and let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the cõmandements: so shalt thou not bee rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the Couenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

8 *Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angrie man kindleth strife. *Chap.8.1.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 *As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is he inflamed. *Prou.26.21.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheadeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witnesse, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall bee quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 ‖ *Abhorre the slanderer, and double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace. ‖ The tongue. *Chap.21.28.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen ỹ houses of great men, [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bene the decay of mighty nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh marks in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There bee many that haue perished by the edge of the sworde, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger therof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neuber hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brasse.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein: and it shal burne them, & no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Bind vp thy siluer and gold, and weigh thy words in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lyeth in waite, [and thy fall be incurable euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, and doe almes. 15 Of a faithful man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

‖ Of well doing.

HE that will shew mercie, ‖ lendeth to his neighbour: and hee that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

* Deut. 15.7,8. matth. 5 42. luke 6.35.

2 *Lend to thy neighbour in time of his neede, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keep thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to bee found, and grieued them that had helped them.

5 Til they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, & giue a careless answere, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though hee be able, yet giueth hee scarce the halfe againe, and reckoneth the other as a thing found: els hee deceiueth him of his money, and maketh him an enemie without a cause: he payeth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deed.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to be defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and deferre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandements sake, and turne him not away because of his pouertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 *Bestowe the treasure after the commandement of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profite then gold. *Dan. 4.24. matth. 6.20. luke 12.41. and 12.33. act. 10.4.

12 ‖ Lay vp thine *almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction. 1. tim. 6.18,19. ‖ Or, giue thine almes secretly.

13 [A mans almes is a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.] *Tobit 4.8,9, 10,11.

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

15 An honest man is ‖ surety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him. ‖ Of suretiship.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath laid his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deede of his suretie.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and hee that is of an vnthankefull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbour: and when hee hath lost his honestie, hee will forsake him.]

20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remooued them as the waues of the sea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lord, shall fall into suretiship: and hee that medleth much with other mens businesse, is intangled in controuersies.

22 Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 *The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame. * Chap. 36.26.

24 ‖ The poore mans life in his own lodge is better then delicate fare in another mans. ‖ Sober liuing.

25 Bee it little or much, hold thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge, and feede vnthankefull men, and after shalt haue bitter words for the same, saying, 28 Come thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feed me of that thou hast ready.

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to be lodged and I haue neede of mine house.

30 These things are heauie to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpbraiding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of health. 17 Death is better then a sorowfull life. 22 Of the ioy and sorow of the heart.

*Prou.13.24. and 23.13. HEe that loueth his sonne, *causeth him oft to feele the rod, that he may haue ioy of him in the end.

2 Hee that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

*Deut.6.7. 3 He that *teacheth his sonne, grieueth the enemie, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is hee as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behinde him that is like him.

5 In his life hee saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not sorie in his death, [neither was he ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behinde him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his woundes, and his heart is grieued at euery crie.

8 An vntamed horse will bee stubborne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, he shal make thee afraid: and if thou play with him he shall bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him lest thou be sorie with him, and lest thou gnash thy teeth in the ende.

*Chap.7.23. 11 *Giue him no libertie in his youth, and winke not at his folly.

12 Bowe downe his necke while hee is young, and beate him on the sides, while he is a childe, lest he waxe stubborne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy childe, and bee diligent therein, lest his shame grieue thee.

‖ The praise of health. 14 ¶ Better is the poore, being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is aboue all golde, and a whole body aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound bodie, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [and long rest] then continuall sickenesse.

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as messes of meate set vpon a graue.

19 What good doth the offering vnto an idole? for hee can neither eate nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lorde, [and beareth the reward of iniquitie.]

20 Hee seeth with his eyes, and groneth like *a gelded man, that lieth with a virgine and sigheth. *Chap.20.3.

21 *Giue not ouer thy minde to heauinesse, and vexe not thy selfe in thine owne counsell. *Prou.12.25. and 15.13. and 17.22.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Loue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorow farre from thee: for sorrow hath slaine many, and there is no profite therein.

24 Enuie and wrath shorten the life, and carefulnesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet.

A P. XXXI.

Of couetousnesse. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought to flee drunkennesse and follow soberneſſe.

WAking ‖ after *riches driueth away the body, and the care thereof driueth away sleepe. [Couetousnesse. 1.Tim.6.9,10.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sickenesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

*Many are destroyed by the reason of golde, and haue found their destruction before them. *Chap.8.2.

7 It is as a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

8 Blessed is the *rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after gold, [nor hoped in money and treasures.] *Luke 6.24.

9 Who is he, and we wil commend him? for wonderfull things hath hee done among his people.

Who hath beene tryed thereby, and found perfite? let him be an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be stablished, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, ‖ open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Behold n such meate. ‖ Temperance 13 Remember that an euill eye is a shrew: and what thing created is worse then a wicke n eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hand whereſoeuer it looketh, and thruſt it not with it into the diſh.

15 Conſider by thy ſelfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modeſtly that which is ſet before thee, and deuoure not, leſt thou be hated.

17 Leaue thou off firſt for nurtures ſake, and be not inſatiable, leſt thou offend.

18 When thou ſitteſt among many, reach not thine hand out firſt of all.

* Chap. 37. 29. 19 *How little is ſufficient for a man well taught? and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.]

20 A wholeſome ſleepe commeth of a temperate bellie: hee riſeth vp in the morning, and is well at eaſe in himſelfe: but paine in watching and cholericke pleaſes and pangs of the belly are with an vnſatiable man.

21 If thou haſt beene forced to eate, ariſe, goe forth, vomite, and then take thy reſt [ſo ſhalt thou bring no ſickeneſſe to thy bodie.]

22 My ſonne, heare me, and deſpiſe me not, and at the laſt thou ſhalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes be quicke, ſo ſhall there no ſickeneſſe come vnto thee.

* Prou. 22. 9. ‖ Liberalitie. 23 *Who ſo is ‖ liberall in his meate, men ſhall bleſſe him: and the teſtimonie of his honeſtie ſhall be beleeued.

24 But againſt him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole citie ſhall murmure: the teſtimonies of his niggardneſſe ſhall be ſure.

Iudith 13. 2, 8. 25 Shewe not thy valiantneſſe in wine: for *wine hath deſtroyed many.

26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: ſo doeth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkenneſſe.

Pſal. 104. 15. Prou. 31. 5, 7, 6, 7 27 *Wine ſoberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [and not for drunkenneſſe.] Wine meaſurably drunken and in time, bringeth gladneſſe and chearefulneſſe of the minde.

29 But wine drunken with exceſſe, maketh bitterneſſe of minde with brawlings and ſcouldings.

30 Drunkenneſſe encreaſeth the courage of a foole, till hee offend: it diminiſheth his ſtrength and maketh wounds.

Chap. 20. 1. 31 *Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and deſpiſe him not in his mirth: giue him no deſpitefull wordes, and preſſe not vpon him with contrary wordes.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modeſtie. 3 Let the ancient ſpeake. 14 To giue thanks after the repaſt. 15 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

IF thou bee made the maſter of the feaſt, ‖ lift not thy ſelfe vp, but bee among them, as one of the reſt: take diligent care for them, and ſo ſit downe. ‖ Humbleneſſe.

2 And when thou haſt done all thy duety, ſit downe, that thou mayeſt bee merie with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with ſound iudgement, and hinder not muſicke.

4 Powre not out wordes, where there is no audience, * and ſhewe not foorth wiſedome out of time. *Eccles. 3. 7. chap. 20. 7.

5 The conſent of muſicians at a banket is as a ſignet of carbuncle ſet in golde.

6 And as the ſignet of an Emeraude wel trimmed with golde, ſo is the melodie of muſicke in a pleaſant banket.

7 [Giue eare, and be ſtil, and for thy good behauiour thou ſhalt be loued.

8 Thou that art yong ſpeake if neede be, and yet ſcarcely when thou art twiſe aſked.

9 Comprehende much in fewe wordes: [in many things bee as one that is ignorant:] be as one that vnderſtandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

* Iob 32. 6. 10 If thou be among *great men, compare not thy ſelfe vnto them: and when an elder ſpeaketh, babble not much.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a ſhamefaſt man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the laſt: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy paſtime, and doe what thou wilt, ſo that thou doe none euill, or vſe proude wordes.

14 But aboue all things, giue thankes vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 [Who ſo feareth the Lorde, will receiue his doctrine, and they that riſe early, ſhall finde fauour.

16 He that ſeeketh the Lawe, ſhall be filled therewith, but the hypocrite will bee offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lorde, ſhall finde that which is righteous, and ſhal kindle iuſtice a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuſes according to his will.

19 A man of vnderſtanding deſpiſeth not counſell: but a lewde and proude man is not touched with feare, euen when hee hath done raſhly.

20 [My ſonne,] doe nothing without aduiſement: ſo ſhall it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Goe not in the way where thou mayeſt fall, nor where thou mayeſt ſtumble among the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heede of them that be thine owne household.]

23 In euery good worke be of a faithfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commandements.

‖ Or, the Law. 24 Who so beleeueth in ‖ the Lord, keepeth the commandements: and hee that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wise. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 23 Of euill seruants.

THere shall no euill come vnto him that ‖ feareth the Lord: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe. ‖ The feare of God.

2 A wise man hateth not the Lawe: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answere, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answere.

* Chap. 21.16. 5 The heart of the * foolish is like a cartwheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltree.

6 As a wild horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and hee hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes to number.

* Gene. 1.27. and 2.7. 10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath hee blessed and exalted, and some of them hath hee sanctified, and appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and brought them low, and put them out of their estate.

* Isa 45.9. rom. 9.20,21. 12 * As the clay is in the potters hand to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creatour, so that he may reward them as liketh him best.

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most High thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my winepresse, like a grape gatherer.

16 * Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge. * Chap. 24.39.

17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the Congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friend, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, [a] giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

a That is, let no man vse thee as his seruant, when thou hast committed all thy goods into his hands.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke, vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him goe idle, hee shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whip bow downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that hee goe not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, ‖ put on more heauie fetters. ‖ How slaues were handled in old time.

28 But be not excessiue toward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreate him as thy brother: for thou hast needs of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreate him euill, and hee runne away, wilt thou seeke him? * Chap. 7.20.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames. 13 The prayse of them that feare God. 18 The offrings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needie. 27 God doeth not allow the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, ‖ and dreames make fooles to haue wings. ‖ Dreames.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take holde of a shadow, and followe after the winde.

3 Euen so it is with the appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be cleansed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a lyar?

5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Where as such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Lawe shall bee fulfilled without lyes, and wisedome is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 Hee that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandred to and fro, I sawe many things, & mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

‖ The feare of the Lord.

14 Who so ‖ feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lighteneth the eyes, he giueth health, life and blessing.

*Prou.21.27.

18 ¶ Hee that *giueth an offering of vnrighteous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the gifts of the vnrighteous please not him.

19 [But the Lord is theirs onely, that patiently abide him in the way of trueth and righteousnesse.]

20 The most High doeth not allow the ‖ offerings of the wicked, *neither is he pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

*Prou.15.8.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needefull is the life of the poore: hee that defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.

23 Hee that taketh away his neighbours liuing, slayeth him, * and hee that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloudshedder.

*Deut.24.14,15 chap.7.20.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but hee heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 He despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse, nor the widow, when shee powreth out her prayer.

15 Doeth not the teares runne downe the widowes cheekes? and her crie is against him that caused them [for from her cheekes doe they goe vp vnto heauen, and the Lord which heareth them, doeth accept them.]

16 Hee that serueth the Lord, shall be accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the cloudes.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth thorow the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, and will not depart till the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almightie will tarie long from them, till hee hath smitten in sunder the loynes of the vnmercifull, and auenged himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, and broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till hee giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuises: till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercie.

19 Oh, how faire a thing is mercie in the time of anguish and trouble! it is like a cloude of raine, that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that persecute his Church. 22 The praise of a good woman.

HAue mercie vpon vs, O Lorde God of all things, and behold vs, [and shewe vs the light of thy mercies.]

‖Against the wicked.

2 And send thy feare ‖ among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may know that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes.]

*Ierem.10.25.

3 Lift vp thine *hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as we know thee: for there is none other God, but onely thou, O Lord.

6 Renew the signes, and change the wonders: shewe the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shewe forth thy wonderous actes.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemie.

8 Make the time short: remember thine othe, that thy wonderous workes may bee praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, and say, There is none other but wee.

11 ‖ Gather all the tribes of Iaakob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but onely thou, and that they may shewe thy wonderous workes,] and inherite thou them as from the beginning.

‖A prayer for the godly.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, *whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

*Exod.4.22.

13 Oh, be mercifull vnto Ierusalem the citie of thy Sanctuarie, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witnesse vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise vp the prophecies that haue beene shewen in thy Name.

16 Reward them that waite for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lorde, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to the * blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousnesse,] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may know that thou art the Lord the eternall God.

*Numb.6.23.

18 ¶ The belly deuoureth all meates, yet is one meate better then another.

19 As the throate tasteth venison, so doeth a wise minde discerne false wordes.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beautie of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenesse, meekenesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 He that hath ‖ gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: shee is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

‖The praise of a good woman.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and hee that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is alway readie and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth, wheresoeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellers. 12 To keepe his companie that feareth God.

EVery friend saith, ‖ I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

‖Of friendship.

2 Remaineth there not heauinesse vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemie?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 *There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke ‖ no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

8 *Euery counseller praiseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

9 Beware of the counseller, and be aduised afore ‖ whereto thou wilt vse him: for hee will counsell for himselfe, lest hee cast the lot vpon thee,

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching her of whome shee is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankefulnesse, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhonest man of honestie,] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But be continually with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commandements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sorie for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an hie towre.

15 And aboue all this, pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernment ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all ‖ foode.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lorde: for hee is destitute of all wisedome.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisedome faile not.

23 A wise man shall bee plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obtaine credite among his people, and his name shall be perpetuall.

26 My sonne, prooue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not ‖ greedie in all delights, and be not too hastie vpon all meates.

29 *For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but hee that ‖ dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 16 To burie the dead.
24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

HOnour the ‖ Physician with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Physician lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shalbe in admiration.

4 The Lorde hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 *Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof?

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might be glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the Apothecarie make a confection, and yet he cannot finish his owne workes: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sickenesse, but *pray vnto the Lord, and hee will make thee whole.

10 Leaue off from sinne, and order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednesse.

‖ Of Physicians and physicke.

*Exod.15.25.

*Isa.38.2,5.

‖ Or, wisedome.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flowre for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the ‖ first giuer.

‖ God bestoweth first his benefits, and we must render a portion thereof to such vses as he appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lord, that hee would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their physicke for the prolonging of life.

15 Hee that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the physician.

* Chap. 22. 11.

16 My sonne, * powre foorth teares ouer the dead, ‖ and begin to mourne, as if thou haddest suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his ‖ appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

‖ Of mourning.

‖ Or, the custome.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation, as hee is worthie, and that, a day or two, lest thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

* Prou. 15. 13. and 17, 22.

18 * For of heauinesse commeth death and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shall be likewise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

* 2. Sam. 12. 20.

23 * Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdome of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and hee that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisedome.

25 How can he get wisedome that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the goad, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullockes?

26 He giueth his minde to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter and workmaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut, and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfeite imagerie, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like manner abideth by his anuill, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire dryeth his flesh, and he must fight with the heate of the fornace: the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that hee maketh: hee setteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore hee watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: hee turneth the wheele about with his feet: he is careful alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 Hee fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete hee tempereth the hardnes thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one bestoweth his wisedome in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities bee maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they high in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not meet for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill euen good things are euill.

HEe onely that applieth his minde to the Lawe of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the ‖ wisdome of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophecies.

‖ Of true wisedome.

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 Hee seeketh out the mystery of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 Hee shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shal trauaile thorow strange countreys: for hee hath tryed the good and the euill among men.

5 Hee will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord will, hee shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that he may powre out wise sentences, & giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 ‖ Hee shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

‖ Or, the Lord.

8 He shall shew foorth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer bee put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

* Chap.44.15. 10 * The congregation shall declare his wisedome, and shew it.

11 Though hee bee dead, hee shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if hee liue still, he shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto mee, yee holy children, and bring foorth fruit, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field,

‖ Or, Libanus. 14 And giue ye a sweete smell as ‖ incense, and bring foorth flowers as the lilie: giue a smell and sing a song of praise: bleese the Lord in all his works.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shew foorth his praise with the songs of your lips, and with harpes, and yee shall say after this maner.

* Gene.1.31. mar.7.37. 16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commaundements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient they shal all be sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Hee seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, & there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man needs not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall runne ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.

23 As he hath turned the waters into saltnes, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good, are good things created from the beginning, and euil things for the sinners.

* Chap.39.33. 26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheat and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There bee spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigour lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shewe foorth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 * Fire, and haile, and famine, and death: * Chap.40.9,10. all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beastes, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the swords execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandements: and when neede is, they shall be readie vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto mee from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 * All the workes of the Lord are good, * Gene.1.31. and he giueth euery one in due season, & when neede is:

34 So that a man needs not to say, This is worse then that, for in due season they are all worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lorde with whole heart and mouth, and bleese the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous, and prerogatiue of the feare of God.

GReat ‖ trauaile is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they returne to the mother of all things, ‖ The miseries of mans life.

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death.

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blew silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble, and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping hee is as in a watchtowre in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, hee awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seuen folde to the vngodly:

9 Moreouer, * death and bloud, and strife, * Chap.39.29,30 and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked ked, and for their sakes came the * flood also.

*Gen.7.11. *Gen.3.19. chap.41.10.

11 * All things that are of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters, shall returne into the sea.

*Eccle.1.7.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shal bee put away: but ‖ faithfulnesse shall endure for euer.

‖Faithfulnesse.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall bee dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, hee reioyceth: but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane roots are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water so euer it be or water banke, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlines is as a most plentiful garden of pleasure, and mercie endureth for euer.

* Phil.4.12. 1.tim.6.6.

18 * To labour and to bee content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but he that findeth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisedome is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beautie: but a greene seede time, rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunitie: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble, but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Golde and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde: but the feare of the Lord is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to bee counted for a life: for hee tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nourtured, will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

O ‖ Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, & that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

‖Of death.

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needfull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High: whether it be ten or an hundreth, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posteritie shal haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Law of the most high God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, yee shall be borne to cursing: if yee die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 * All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction. * Chap.40.11.

11 Though men mourne for their bodie, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall bee put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of golde.

13 A good life hath the daies numbred: but ‖ a good name endureth euer. ‖ A good name.

14 My children, keepe wisedome in peace: * for wisedome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profite is in them both? * Chap.20.29.

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisedome.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my wordes: for it is not good in all things to bee ‖ ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men. ‖ Of shamefastnesse.

17 Bee ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: bee ashamed of lyes before the prince and men of authoritie.

18 Of sinne before the Iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnesse, before a companion and friend, 19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the ‖ bread, or to bee reproued for giuing or taking.

‖ Or, table.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinseman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to bee euill minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans mayd, or to stand by her bed, or to reproch thy friendes with words, 23 Or to vpbraide when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well bee shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

2 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of the heart.

‖ In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

OF these things bee not thou ‖ ashamed, neither haue regard to offende for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most High and his couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, and of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To bee diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little.

5 To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beat an euill seruant to the blood.

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned and the vnwise, and the aged, that contend against the young: thus shalt thou bee well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

‖ Or, is a secret watch to the father.

9 ¶ The daughter ‖ maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that hee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the youth, least shee should passe the flower of her age: and when she hath an husband, least she should be hated.

10 In her virginitie, least shee should bee defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and when she is with her husband, least she misbehaue herselfe: and when she is married, least she continue vnfruitfull.

11 * If thy daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her straitely, least shee cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame. * Chap. 26.9.

12 * Behold not euery bodies beautie, and company not among women. * Chap. 25.23.

13 For as the moth commeth out of the garments, * so doeth wickednesse of the woman. * Gen. 3.6.

14 The wickednesse of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saintes should declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his maiestie.

18 He seeketh out the depth, and the heart, and he knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth al science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 Hee declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secret.

20 * No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him. * Iob. 41.4. isa. 29.15.

21 He hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisedome, and hee is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he bee minished: he hath no neede of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all, and endure for euer: and whensoeuer need is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

‖ Or, stablisheth.

25 The one ‖ commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can be satisfied with beholding gods glory.

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

‖ The wonderful workes of God.

THis high ornament ‖ the cleare firmament, the beautie of the heauen so glorious to behold.

2 The sunne also a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a fornace with continuall heate: it casteth out the fierie vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth thee yes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commaundement hee causeth it to runne hastily.

*Gen.1.16. 6 *The moone also hath he made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

*Exod.12.2. 7 *The feastes are appointed by the moone: the light therof diminisheth vnto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commaundement of the Holy one they continue in their order, and faile not in their watch.

*Gen.9.13,14. 11 ¶ *Looke vpon the rainebowe, and prayse him that made it: very beautifull is it in the brightnes thereof.

*Isa.40.12. 12 *It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the handes of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commaundement he maketh the snow to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore hee openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the foules.

15 In his power hath he strengthened the clouds, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth: so doeth the storme of the North: the whirlewinde also, as birdes that flie, scattereth the snowe, and the falling downe therof is as the grashoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frosen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the colde North winde bloweth, an yce is frosen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, and burneth the wildernesse, and destroyeth that that is greene, like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dewe commeth vpon the heate, it refresheth it.

23 [By his word hee stilleth the winde:] by his counsell hee appeaseth the deepe, and planteth plands therein.

24 They that saile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marueile thereat.

25 For there bee strange, and wonderous workes, diuers maner of beastes, and the creation of whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good ende, and are stablished by his worde.

27 And when we haue spoken much, wee cannot attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue wee to praise him? for he is aboue all his workes.

29 The Lord is terrible, and very *great, and marueilous is his power. *Psal.96.4.

30 Praise the Lorde, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre exceede: exalt him with all your power, and bee not wearie, yet can yee not attaine vnto it.

31 *Who hath seene him, that hee might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as hee is? *Psal.106.2. iohn 1.18.

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, and we haue seene but a fewe of his workes.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisedome to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

LEt vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers of whom weare begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renoumed for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

4 *They gouerned the people by counsell, and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences. *Exod.18.25.

5 They inuented the melodie of musicke, and expoumded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were wel reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall be spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no me-moriall,* and are perished, as though they had neuer beene, and are become as though they had neuer beene borne, and their children after them.

10 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousnesse hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whose posteritie a good inheritance is reserued, and their seede is conteined in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is conteined in the couenant, and their posteritie after them.

13 Their seede shall remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 *The people speake of their wisedome, and the congregation talke of their praise.

16 ‖ *Enoch pleased the Lorde God: therefore was he translated for an example of repentance to the generations.

17 ‖ *Noe was found perfite, and in the time of wrath he had a reward: therefore was he left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came.

18 An euerlasting couenant was made with him, that al flesh should*perish no more by the flood.

19 ‖ Abraham was a* great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him.

20 Hee kept the Lawe of the most High, and was in couenant with him, and hee set the couenant *in his flesh, and in tentation hee was found faithfull.

21 Therefore hee assured him by an *othe, that he would blesse the nations in his seed, and that he would multiply him as the dust of the earth, and exalt his seede as the starres, and cause them to inherite from sea to sea, and from the Riuer vnto the end of the world.

22 *With ‖ Isaac did hee confirme likewise for Abrahams his fathers sake, the blessing of all men, and the couenant, 23 And caused it to rest vpon the head of ‖ Jacob, and ‖ made himselfe knowen by his blessings, and gaue him an heritage and diuided his portions, and parted them among the twelue tribes.

24 And he brought out of him a ‖ mercifull man, which found fauour in the sight of all flesh.

The prayse of Moyses, Aaron, and Phinees.

‖ Moyses.
* Exod.11.3. acts 7.22.

AND ‖ Moyses, the* beloued of God and men, brought he foorth, whose remembrance is blessed.

2 He made him like to ỹ glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

3 By his words hee caused the wonders to cease, and hee made him* glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commaundements for his people, and shewed him his glory.

4 *Hee sanctified him with faithfulnesse, and meekenesse, and chose him out of all men.

5 He caused him to heare his voyce, and brought him into the darke cloude, * and there he gaue him the commaundements before his face, euen the Lawe of life and knowledge, that he might teach Jacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

6 He exalted ‖ Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen his * brother of the tribe of Leui.

7 An euerlasting couenant made hee with him, and gaue him the Priesthoode among the people, and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 He put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

9 Hee compassed him about with bels of golde, and with many belles round about, * that when hee went in, the sound might bee heard, and might make a noyse in the Sanctuarie, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people.

10 And with an holy garment, with golde also, and blue silke, and purple, and diuers kindes of workes, and with a brestlap of iudgement, and with the ‖ signes of trueth,

12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, and ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed euery day twise continually.

15 *Moyses filled his hands, and anointed him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, and to his seede, so long as the heauens should remaine, that he should minister before him, & also to execute the office of the Priesthoode, and blesse his people in his Name.

16 Before all men liuing the Lord chose him, that hee should present offerings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

*Num.16.1,2. 18 *Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wildernes, euen the men that tooke Dathans & Abirams part, and the company of Core in fury and rage.

19 This the Lord sawe, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: hee did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with fiery flame.

*Num.17.8. 20 *But he made Aaron more honorable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eat of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his seede.

*Deut.12.12. and 18.1. 22 *Els he had none heritage in the land of his people, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that hee should bee the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that hee and his posterity should haue the dignity of the Priesthood for euer,

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdome should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the onely sonne of his sonne, and to his seede. *Iosh.8.1,2. 2 *What glory gate he, when he lift vp his hand, and drew out his sword against the cities?

3 Who was there before him like to him? for he fought the battels of the Lord.

*Iosh.10.12, 13,14. 4 *Stood not the Sunne still by his meanes, and one day was as long as two?

5 He called vnto the most hie gouernour when the enemies preassed vpon him on euery side, and the mighty Lord heard him with the hailestones, and with mighty power.

8 In all his workes hee praised the Holy one, & the most Hie with honourable wordes, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, and loued him that made him.

1.Chro.16.4. 9 *He set singers also before the altar, and according to their tune he made sweete songs, that they might praise God dayly with their songs.

10 Hee ordeined to keepe the feast dayes comely, and appoynted the times perfitly, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

2.Sam.12.13. 11 *The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glory in Israel.

21 *So the kingdome was diuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome. *1.King.12,15, 16,17.

22 *Neuertheless the Lorde left not off his mercie, neither was he destroyed for his works, neither did hee abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but hee left a remnant vnto Iacob, and a root of him vnto Dauid. *2.Sam.7.15.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seed he left behinde him ‖ Roboam, euen ‖ the foolishnesse of the people, & one that had no vnderstanding, *who turned away the people through his counsell, ‖ and Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, *which caused Israel to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the way of sinne. ‖ Roboam. ‖ Or, a most euident foole. *1.King.12.10, 11,13,14. ‖ Ieroboam. *1.Kin.12,28,30

CHAP. L.

Of Simon the son of Onias. 22 An exhortation to praise the Lord. 27 The authour of this booke.

‖ Simon *the sonne of Onias the hie Priest which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the ‖ Temple, ‖ Simon. *2.Mac.3.4. ‖ Or, people.

2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height laid, and the hie wals that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the basse was about in measure as the sea.

4 He tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honorable was his conuersation among the people, and when hee came out of the house couered with the vaile!

6 Hee was as the morning starre in the midst of a cloude, and as the moone when it is full.

7 As

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most Hie, and as the rainebowe that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as ỹ floure of the roses in the spring of the yere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of massie gold, set with all maner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitful, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth vp to the clouds.

11 When he put on the garment of honor, and was clothed with al beauty, he went vp to the holy altar, and made the garment of holinesse honourable.

12 When he tooke the portions out of the Priests hands, he himselfe stood by the herth of the altar, compassed with his brethrẽ round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that hee might accomplish his ministery vpon the altar, and garnish the offring of the most Hie, and Almighty, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and hee powred at the foote of the Altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with braten trumpets, and made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hasted, and fel downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty & most High.

18 The singers also sang with their voyces, so that the sound was great, and the melody sweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most Hie, with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went hee downe, and stretched out his handes ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioice in his Name.

21 He beganne againe to worship, that hee might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise all yee vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our daies frõ the womb, and dealt with vs according to his mercy,

23 That hee would giue vs ioyfulnesse of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That hee would confirme his mercie with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two maner of people that mine heart abhorreth, & the third is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistims and the foolish people that dwell in ‖ Sicinus. ‖Or, Sitchem.

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Syrach, the sonne of Eleazarus, of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisdome of his heart.

28 Blessed is hee that exerciseth himselfe therein: and hee that layeth vp these in his heart, shalbe wise.

29 For if he doe these things, hee shall bee strong in all things: for he setteth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisedome to the godly. The Lord bee praised for euermore: So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Syrach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God my Sauiour: I wil giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender & helper, and hast preserued my body from destruction, and from the snare of the slaunderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions, which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the middes of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hel, from an vncleane tongue, from lying words, from false accusation to the king, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shall praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed mee on euery side, and there was no man to helpe me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuerest such as wait for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the ‖ enemies. ‖Or, nations.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that hee would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud proud, without helpe.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and will sing praise with thankesgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauedst me from destruction, and deliueredst mee from the euill time: therefore will I giue thankes, and praise thee, and bless the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroad, I desired wisdome openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countreys, and she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, and from my youth vp sought I after her.

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate mee much wisedome:

17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory vnto him that giueth me wisdome.

18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will bee ielous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrastled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine handes on high, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureneſſe: I haue had my heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen mee a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 Draw neere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slowe: and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirsty:

25 I opened my mouth, and sayd, *Buy her for you without money. *Isa.55.1.

26 Bow downe your neck vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: she is ready that ye may find her.

27 Beholde with your eyes, *how that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest. *Chap.6.18.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her yee shall possesse much golde.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30 Doe your duetie betimes, and hee will giue you a reward at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuity of Babylon, which hee read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the wordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of ‖ Asadias, the sonne of Helcias, wrote in at Babylon, ‖ Or, Sedeias.

2 In the fift yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Caldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the son of Joacim king of Juda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And in the audience of the gouernor, and of the Kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the riuer ‖ Sud. ‖ Or, Sodi.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord,

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Joacim the sonne of Helcias, the son of Salom Priest, and vnto the other Priests, and to all the people which were with him at Jerusalem.

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lorde, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Juda, the tenth day of the moneth ‖ Sivan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Josias King of Juda had made, ‖ Or, Siban.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had led away Iechonias frō Jerusalem, and his princes, and his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.

10 And they sayd, Behold, wee haue sent you money, wherewith yee shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a ‖ meate offring, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God, ‖ Or, Manna, for Minhah, which was the euening and morning sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may bee vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen, 12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that wee may liue vnder the shadowe of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and vnder the shadowe of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long do them seruice, and find fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lorde our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the fury of the Lorde and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which wee haue sent to you to bee rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast daies, and at time conuenient.

*Chap.2.6. 15 Thus shall yee say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousnes, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, 16 And to our Kings, and to our Princes, and to our Priestes, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers,

*Dan.9.5. 17 Because wee haue * sinned before the Lord our God, 18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commaundements that hee gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lorde brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

*Deut.28.15. 20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day.

21 Neuertheless, we haue not hearkened vnto the voice of the Lord our God, according to all the wordes of the Prophets, whom hee sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euil in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 Hee promiseth that hee will call againe the people from captiuity, and giue them a new and euerlasting Testament.

THerefore the Lord our God hath performed his word, which hee pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Princes, and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things that were written in the Law of Moyses,

3 That some among vs should * eate the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter. *Deut.28.53.

4 Moreouer, he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdoms that are rounde about vs, to be as a reproch & desolation among all the people round about where the Lorde hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath, and not aboue, because wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voice.

6 * To the Lord our God appertaineth righteousnesse, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day. *Chap.1.15.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lorde hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lorde is righteous in all his works, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet wee haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an high arme, and with signes and with wonders, and with great power, & hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day. *Dan.9.15.

12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for wee are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs fauour in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel and vpon their posterity.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 *Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lorde neither ‖ praise nor righteousnes. *Deut.26.13. isa.63.15. *Psal.6.5,6. and 115.17,18. isa.38.18,19. ‖ Or, glory, nor praise of righteousnes.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnesse of sinne, and hee that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule wil giue thee praise and righteousnesse, O Lord.

the

19 For wee doe not require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnesse of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by ‖ thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

‖ Or, by the hand of thy seruants.

21 * Thus saith the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, and serue the King of Babylon: so shall yee remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

* Iere. 27. 7.

22 But if yee will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I wil cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall bee desolate of inhabitants.

24 But wee would not hearken vnto thy voyce to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the words that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should bee caried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heate of the day, and to the cold of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie, 28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest commaund him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

* Leuit. 26. 14. deut. 18. 15.

29 * If yee will not obey my voyce, then shall this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I knowe that they will not heare mee: for it is a stiffenecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselues,

31 And knowe that I am the Lord their God: then wil I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares, 32 And they shall heare, and praise mee in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backes, and from their euill works: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord, 34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an oth vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall bee my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9 He praiseth wisedome vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Onely God was the finder of wisedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almightie, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, and wee vtterly perish.

4 O Lord Almightie, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 For this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that wee should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for wee haue considered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, wee are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subiect to paiments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou maiest learne wisedome.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a strange countrey?

11 And art defiled with the dead? and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisedome.

13 For if thou hadst walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisedome, where is strength, where is vnderstanding: that thou maiest know also from whence commeth long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer and gold, wherein men trust, and made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coyned siluer, and were so carefull of their worke, and whose inuention had none end, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steads.

20 When they were yong, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the pathes thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not beene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it beene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdome vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Merran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisedome haue known the way of wisedome, neither doe they thinke vpon the pathes theereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the House of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none ende: it is high, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the gyants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisedome, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the clouds?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her, rather then fine gold?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beasts.

33 When hee sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here wee be: and so with cheerefulnesse they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 He hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward hee was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof, the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

THis is the booke of the commandements of God, and the Law that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Jacob, and take hold of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Israel.

6 Yee are sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because yee prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For yee haue displeased him that made you offering vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Ye haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and ye haue grieued Jerusalem, that nourished you.

9 When shee saw the wrath comming vpon you from God, shee said, Hearken, yee that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauinesse.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Euerlasting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping & mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not know his righteousnes, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the pathes of discipline, through his righteousnesse.

14 Come, yee that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes ſonnes and daughters, which the Euerlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the young: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing mee alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackecloth of prayer, & so long as I liue, I will call vpon the Euerlasting.

21 Bee of good comfort, O children: crie vnto God, and hee will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation through the Euerlasting, and ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercie, which shall quickly come vpon you from our euerlasting Sauiour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glory, and brightnesse from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Bee of good comfort, my children, and crie vnto God: for hee that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to goe astray from your God, so endeuour your selues ten times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlasting ioy againe, with your saluation, 30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for hee which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict theee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whome thy children serue: miserable is shee that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as shee reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall she be sory for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shalbe turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, and shee shall bee inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem, looke toward the East, and beholde the ioy that commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Loe, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof, the Church.

PUt off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousnes, that commeth from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euerlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God wil name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteousnes, and the glory of the worship of God.

5 Arise, O Ierusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and behold thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the word of the Holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring down euery high mountaine, and the long enduring rockes, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweet smelling trees shall ouershadow Israel at the commaundement of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with ioy in the light of his Maiestie, with the mercy and righteousnesse that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Ieremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

BEcause of the sinnes, that yee haue committed against God, yee shall bee led away captiues vnto Babylon by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when yee be come into Babylon, yee shall remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, euen seuen generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

*Isa.44.8,9,10. and 46. 5,7. psal.115.4. wisd.13.10.

3 *Now shall yee see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of golde, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise bee like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when yee see the multitude before them, and behind them worshipping them,

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shall be with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselues are gilted, and laid ouer with siluer: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take gold for a mayde that loueth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the priests themselues conuey away the gold and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet can they not be preserued from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though hee were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defend himselfe from battell, nor from thieues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes bee full of dust by reason of the feet of those that come in:

‖ Or, courts.

17 And as the ‖ gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the King: or as one that should be led to be put to death: so the priests keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with barres, lest their gods should be spoiled by robbers.

18 They light vp candles before them, yea, more then for themselues, whereof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the posles of the temple.

19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallowes and birds flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this yee may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the gold that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 *They are borne vpon mens shoulders, *Isa.46.7. because they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they bee nothing worth: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vpright, can they moue of themselues, neither if they be bowed down, can they make themselues streight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their priests sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore & sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their sacrifices: by these things yee may know that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence cõmeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of siluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And the priestes sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed,

31 They roare, and crie before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The priestes also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and children, 33 Whether it bee euill that one doeth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a King nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vow vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mighty.

36 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his need.

37 They can shewe no mercy to the widow, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, gold, and siluer, are

are as stones, that bee hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall be confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say, that they are gods?

40 Moreouer the Chaldeans themselues dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sence.

42 Furthermore, the women girded with coards, sit in the streetes, and burne ‖ straw.

‖ Or, branne.

43 And if oneof them bee drawen away, and lie with any such as come by, shee casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shee was not so worthily reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lies: how may it then bee thought or said, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmithes make them, neither bee they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there commeth any warre or plague vpon them, the priests imagine with themselues, where they may hide themselues with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they bee no gods, which can neither defend themselues from warre nor from plagues?

* Psal. 115.4. wisd. 13.10.

50 For * seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and gold, men shall knowe hereafter that they are but lies, and it shal be manifest to all nations and Kings, that they bee no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowen that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no King in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood and of siluer, and of golde, the priestes will escape and saue themselues, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any King or enemies: how can it then bee thought or said that they be gods?

56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of gold, and of siluer can neither defend themselues from theeues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their gold and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they bee clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselues.

58 Therefore it is better to bee a King, and so to shewe his power, or else a profitable vessell in an house, whereby hee that oweth it, might haue profite, then such false gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keep such things safe as bee therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightening, when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commandeth the clouds to goe about the whole world, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hilles and woods, it doeth that which is commaunded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke nor say that they bee gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.

64 For so much now as yee are sure that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse Kings:

66 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beastes are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe themselues good.

68 So yee may bee certified that by no manner of meanes they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scarrecrowe in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and gold and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead body that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnesse, which fadeth vpon them, yee may vnderstand, that they bee no gods: yea, they themselues shall be consumed at the last, and they shall bee a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reproofe.

The song of the three holy children, which foloweth in the third Chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound in the middes of the hote fierie fornace.

CHAP. I.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The cruelty of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The three children praise the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 AND they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stood vp, and prayed on this maner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, said, 26 Blessed bee thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be praised and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements are certaine.

28 In all these things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Jerusalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equity hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For wee haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespassed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddest commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done vnto vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and most hatefull traitours, and to an vnrighteous King, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And nowe wee may not open our mouthes: wee are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy Names sake, wee beseech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake, 36 To whom thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiplie their seed as the starres of heauen, and as the sand, that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For we, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, and bee kept vnder this day in all the world, because our sinnes:

38 So that now we haue neither Prince, nor Prophet, nor gouernor, nor burnt offring, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruites before thee, that we might find mercy.

39 Neuerthelesse, in a contrite heart and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offring of rammes and bullockes, and as in ten thousand of fat lambes, so let our offering bee in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And now wee follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory O Lord, 44 That all they which doe thy seruaunts euill, may bee confounded: euen let them bee confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the Kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the ouen hote with [a] naphtha, and with pitch, and with towe, and with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the fornace fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake foorth, and burnt those Chaldeans that it found by the fornace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went down into the fornace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the fornace, 50 And made in the middes of the fornace like a moist hissing winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieued nor troubled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the fornace, saying,

52 Blessed bee thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praised, and exalted aboue all things for euer, and blessed bee thy glorious and holy Name, and praised aboue all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy holy glory, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed bee thou that beholdest the depths, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and praysed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised aboue all things, and glorified for euer.

69 O frost and colde, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

70 O yce and snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

72 O light and darkenesse, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

73 O lightnings and clouds, blesse yee the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

74 Let the earth blesse the Lorde: let it praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

75 O mountaines and hilles, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

76 All things that growe on the earth, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

81 All ye beasts and cattell, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

82 O children of men, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

83 Let Israel blesse the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

84 O Priests of the Lord, blesse yee the Lorde: prayse him and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lord, blesse yee the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

87 O Saints and humble of heart, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer: for hee hath deliuered vs from the hell, and saued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the middes of the fornace, and burning flame: euen out of the middes of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confesse vnto the Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercy endureth for euer.

90 All yee that worship the Lord, blesse the God of gods: praise him, and acknowledge him: for his mercie endureth world without ende.

THE

The Historie of ‖ Susanna, which some ioyne to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

‖ Or, Sosanna.

8 The two gouernors are taken with the loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They sollicite her to wickednesse. 23 She chuseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 Shee is accused 45 Daniel doeth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon called Joacim,

2 And hee tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moses.

4 Now Joacim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because hee was more honourable then all others.

5 The same yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These haunted Joacims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders saw her that shee went in daily and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 Therfore they turned away their [a] mind, and cast downe their eyes, that they should not see heauen, nor remember iust iudgements.

[a] To wit, from vs.

10 And albeit they both were wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shew another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one said to the other, Let vs go now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Now when they had spied out a conuenient time, that she went in, as her manner was, with two maides onely, and thought to wash her selfe in the garden (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hid themselues, and watched for her, 17 Shee said to her maides, Bring mee oyle and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

18 And they did as she bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselues at a backe doore, to fet the things that she had commanded them: but they sawe not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maydes were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, saying, 20 Behold, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witnesse against thee, that a yong man was with thee: and therefore thou didst send away thy maides from thee.

22 Then Susanna sighed, and said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I do this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I doe it not, I can not escape your hands.

23 It is better for mee to fall into your handes, and not to doe it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Susanna cryed with a loud voice, and the two Elders cryed out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the seruants of the house heard the crie in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Susanna.

28 On the morow after, came the people to Joacim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischieuous imagination against Susanna, to put her to death, 29 And said before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Helcias Joacims wife. And immediatly they sent.

30 So shee came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Now Susanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for shee was couered) that they might so be satisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stood vp in the middes of the people, and laid their hands vpon her head.

35 Which wept and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders sayd, As we walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maids, whom shee sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a young man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ranne vnto them, and we sawe them as they were together, 39 But wee could not holde him: for hee was stronger then we, and opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Now when we had taken this woman, wee asked her what young man this was, but shee would not tell vs: of these things are we witnesses.

41 Then the assembly beleeued them, as those that were the Elders and Iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cryed out with a loude voice, and saide, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witnesse against me, and behold, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voice.

45 ¶ Therefore when shee was led to be put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cryed with a loude voice, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these words, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, and said, Are yee such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witnesse against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders sayd vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shewe it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder, one from another, hee called one of them, and said vnto him, O thou that art old in a wicked life, now thy sinnes which thou hast committed afore time are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord saith, *The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. * Exod. 23.7.

54 Now then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentiske tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verely thou hast lyed against thine owne ‖ head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two. ‖ Or, life.

56 So put hee him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and sayd vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hath deceiued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Now therefore tell mee, vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a ‖ pyine tree. ‖ Or, mirtle tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lied against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with a sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cryed with a loude voice, and praised God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders (for Daniel had conuict them of false witnesse by their owne mouth.)

62 *And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. * Deut. 16.19. prou. 19.5.

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And king Astyages was laide with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

THE

The hiſtorie of Bel and of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

NOw when King Aſtyages was laide with his fathers, Cyrus the Perſian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idole called Bel, and there were ſpent vpon him euery day twelue ‖great meaſures of fine floure, and fourtie ſheepe, and ſixe great ‖pots of wine.

‖Called Artaba, whereof euery one conteined ſomewhat more then nine gallons, which make in all an hundreth and eight gallons at leaſt.

4 And the king worſhipped it, and went daily to honour it: but Daniel worſhipped his owne God. And the king ſaid vnto him, Why doeſt thou not worſhip Bel?

5 Who anſwered, and ſaid, Becauſe I may not worſhip idoles made with hands, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all fleſh.

‖Called Metreta, and euery one of theſe meaſures conteined about ten gallons, which in al make threeſcore.

6 Then ſaid the king vnto him, Thinkeſt thou not that Bel is a liuing God? Seeſt thou not how much hee eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel ſmiled, and ſaid, O king, be not deceiued: for this is but clay within, and braſſe without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his Prieſts, and ſaid vnto them, If ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp theſe expences, ye ſhall die:

9 But if yee can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel ſhall die: for hee hath ſpoken blaſphemie againſt Bel. And Daniel ſayd vnto the king, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Now the Prieſts of Bel were threeſcore and temme, beſide their wiues and children:) and the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Prieſts ſaid, Behold, we will goe out, and ſet thou the meat there, O king, and let the wine be filled: then ſhut the doore faſt, and ſeale it with thine owne ſignet:

12 And to morow when thou commeſt in, if thou findeſt not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we will ſuffer death, or elſe Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themſelues ſure ynough: for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king ſet meats before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his ſeruants to bring aſhes, and theſe they ſtrowed throughout all the Temple, in the preſence of the king alone: then went they out, and ſhut the doore, and ſealed it with the kings ſignet, and ſo departed.

15 Now in the night came the Prieſtes, with their wiues and children, (as they were woont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the king arоſe and Daniel with him.

17 And the king ſayde, Daniel, are the ſeales whole? Who anſwered, Yea, O king, they be whole.

18 And aſſoone as he had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and helde the king that he ſhould not goe in, and ſayd, Behold now the pauement, and marke wel whoſe footſteps are theſe.

20 And the king ſaid, I ſee the footſteps of men, women, and children: therefore the king was angry, 21 And tooke the Prieſts, with their wiues and children, and they ſhewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and conſumed ſuch things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the king ſlew them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who deſtroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreouer in that ſame place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worſhipped.

24 And the king ſaid vnto Daniel, Sayeſt thou, that this is of braſſe alſo? loe, hee liueth and eateth and drinketh, ſo that thou canſt not ſay, that he is no liuing God: therefore worſhip him.

25 Then ſayd Daniel vnto the king, I will worſhip the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O king, and I will ſlay this Dragon without ſword or ſtaffe. And the king ſaid, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fat, and haire, and did ſeethe them together, and made lumpes thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and ſo the Dragon burſt in ſunder. And Daniel ſayd, Behold, whom yee worſhip.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together againſt the king, ſaying, The king is become a Iewe: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, & put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the King, and sayd, Deliuer vs Daniel, or else wee will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Nowe when the King sawe that they prealled sore vpon him, and that necessitie constrained him, hee deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lyons deune, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the deune there were seuen Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said to Abbacuc, Goe, carry the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lyons deune.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the deune is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mighty winde set him in Babylon vpon the deune.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon me, and thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Upon the seuenth day, the king went to bewaile Daniel: and when he came to the deune, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sate in the mids of the Lyons.

41 Then cryed the King with a lowd voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the deune, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the deune, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

CHAP. I.

1 The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

AFter that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went foorth of the land of Chettiim, and slewe Darius king of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him as he had before in Grecia,

2 Hee tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holdes, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to the ends of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, in so much that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hautie.

4 Now when he had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things, hee fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then he called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had been brought vp with him of children, & parted his kingdome among them, while hee was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 And his seruants reigned euery one in his roume.

10 And they all caused themselues to bee crowned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked root, euen Antiochus || Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had beene an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundreth and seuen and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Greekes. || Or, noble.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entised many, saying, Let vs go, and make a couenant with the heathen that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorow. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 6.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the king, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen,

16 And made themselues [a] vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy Couenant, and ioyned themselues to the heathen, and were sold to doe mischiefe.

a By drawing the skin ouer the part that was circumcised, as Cels. 7. chap. 25. Epiph. lib. de ponderib. & mensuris.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mightie companie, with charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie, 19 And moued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundreth fourtie and three yeere,

22 And went vp toward Israel and Ierusalem with a mightie people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the powring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basins, and the vaile, & the crownes, and the golden apparell which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 He tooke also the siluer and golde, and the precious iewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee found, and when hee had taken away all, he departed into his owne land, 25 After he had murthered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel:

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, and shee that sate in the marriage chamber, was in heauinesse.

29 The land also was mooued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeeres the King sent his chiefe taxmaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in deceit, and they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then hee fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when hee had spoiled the citie, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the citie of Dauid with a great and thicke wall, and with mightie towres, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreouer they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselues therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and vitailes, and gathered the spoile of Ierusalem, and laide it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare, & were in ambushment for the Sanctuarie, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuarie, and defiled the Sanctuarie, 40 Insomuch that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom she had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuarie was left waste as a wildernes: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had beene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 6. & 7.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the king sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the countrey, 47 And that they should forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the ‖ offerings in the Sanctuarie, ‖ Or, drinke offerings.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feasts,

49 And pollute the Sanctuarie, and the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars, and groues, and chappels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannesse, and pollute themselues that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances,

52 And

52 And that whosoeuer would not doe according to the commaundement of the king should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And he commanded the cities of Juda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euil in the land.

56 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euen whereseoeuer they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Casleu, in the hundreth and fiue and fortieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Juda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streetes they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Law, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoeuer had a booke of the Testament found by him, or whosoeuer consented vnto the Law, the kings commaundement was, that they should put him to death by their authoritie.

61 And they executed these things euery moneth vpon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of ỹ altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commandement, they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised, 64 And they hanged vp the children at their necks, and they spoyled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, & determined in themselues, that they would not eate vncleane things, 66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to bee defiled with those meates: so because they would not breake the holy couenant, they were put to death.

‖ Or, rage. 67 And this ‖ tyrannie was very sore vpon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy city. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The Zeale of Mattathias for the Lawe of God. 33 They are slaine and will not fight againe because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying, commandeth his sonnes to sticke by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 7. IN those dayes stood vp Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Joannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Joarib of Jerusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And hee had fiue sonnes, Joanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thassi,

4 Judas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called ‖ Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus. ‖ Or, Auaran.

6 Now hee saw the blasphemies, which were committed in Juda and Jerusalem:

7 And he said, Woe is me: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy Citie, and thus to sit still? it is deliuered into the hands of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuarie is in the handes of strangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renoume.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are slaine in the streets, and her yong men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoiles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmayd.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary, and our beautie, and honour is desolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, hee, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the Commissioners of the King, and said vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this Citie, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfill the Kings commandement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Juda, and such as remaine at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and thy family be in the Kings fauour, and thou and thy children shall bee enriched with siluer and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and said with a lowd voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the Kings dominion obey him, and fal away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements.

20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in the couenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that we forsake not the Law and the ordinances.

22 Wee will not hearken vnto the Kings words to transgresse our Religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when he had left off speaking these wordes, there came one of the Iewes in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the Kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that his reines shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Law: therefore he ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the same time he slew the Kings commissioner that compelled him to doe sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare hee a zeale to the Law of God, * doing as Phinees did vnto Zimbri the sonne of Salom. * Num.25.7.

27 ¶ Then cried Mattathias with a lowd voyce in the citie, saying, Whosoeuer is zealous of the Law, and will stand by the Couenant: let him come foorth after me.

28 So hee and his sonnes fledde into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the Citie.

29 Then many that ‖ sought after iustice and iudgement, ‖ Or, that liued iustly and vprightly.

30 Went downe into the wildernesse to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wiues, and their cattell: for their afflictions increased sore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was tolde vnto the Kings seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the Kings commandement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernesse,

32 Then many pursued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, they camped against them, and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day, 33 And saide vnto them, Let this now bee sufficient: come foorth and doe according to the commaundement of the King, and yee shall liue.

34 But they answered, We will not goe foorth, neither will wee doe the Kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, or stopped the priuie places.

37 But said, We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wiues, and their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, if we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, whosoeuer shall come to make battaile with vs vpon the Sabbath day, wee will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Aldeans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned themselues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proud men: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of Kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drew neere, that Mattathias should die, he said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore my sonnes, bee ye zealous of the Law, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what acts our fathers did in their time: so shall yee receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

52 * Was not Abraham found faithfull in tentation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse? * Gene.22.9, 10. rom.4.3.

53 * Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the Commandement, and was made the lord of Egypt. * Gen.41.40.

54 * Phinees our father, because hee was zealous and feruent, obtained the couenant of the euerlasting Priesthood. * Numb.25.13. ecclus.45.23, 24.

before the Congregation, receiued the heritage of the land.

*2.Sam.2.4. 57 *Dauid, because of his mercy obteined the throne of the kingdome for euermore.

*2.King.2.11. 58 *Elias, because he was zealous and feruent in the Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

*Dan.3.16, 17,18,26. 59 *Ananias, Azarias and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

*Dan.6.22. 60 *Daniel, because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lyons.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, that whosoeuer put their trust in him shall not want strength.

*Matth.10 26, 28,31,isa.40.6. 7,8. and 51. 7,8. *Iames 1,10. 1.pet.1.24. eccle.14,18. 62 *Feare not ye then the words of a sinful man: for his glory is but dung and wormes.

63 To day is he set vp, and to morowe he shall *not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 Wherefore, my sonnes, take good hearts, and shewe your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obteine glory.

65 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue eare vnto him alwayes: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Judas Maccabeus hath beene mighty and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him bee your captaine, and fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Law, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompence fullie the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandement of the Lawe.

69 So he blessed them, and was laid with his fathers,

70 And died in the hundreth, fourtie and sixe yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11 He killeth Apollonius, and Seron the Prince of Syria. 44 The confidence of Iudas toward God. 55 Iudas determineth to fight against Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his host.

THen Judas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place,

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that helde with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a breastplate as a giant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his acts he was like a Lyon, and as a Lions whelpe roaring after the pray.

5 For he pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people.

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, & al the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And he grieued diuers kings, but Jacob reioyced by his actes, and his memoriall is blessed for euer.

8 He went also thorow the cities of Juda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was he renoumed vnto the ends of the earth, and hee assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Judas perceiued, hee went forth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Judas tooke their spoyles, and tooke also Apollonius sworde, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the army of Syria, heard that Judas had gathered vnto him the Congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He said, I will get me a name, and will bee glorious in the realme: for I will goe fight with Judas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commaundement.

15 So he made him ready to goe vp, and there went with him a mighty hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp of Bethhoron, Judas went forth to meete him with a small company.

17 But when they saw the army comming against them, they said to Judas, How are we able, being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then said Judas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the handes of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength commeth from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruel and proud multitude, to destroy vs, & our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes.

22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not yeafraide of them.

23 And when hee had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Bethhoron vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundreth men of them and the residue fled into the lande of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Judas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about.

26 So that his fame came vnto the king: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Judas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, hee was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, and gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasury, and gaue his host a yeeres wages in hand, commaunding them to be ready for a yeere for all occasions.

29 Neuertheless, when hee saw that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissention, & plagues that he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of old time,

30 He feared lest he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberality he farre passed the other kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his mind, and thought to go into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man and of the kings blood to ouersee the kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreouer hee gaue him halfe of his host and elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done,

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Juda and Jerusalem, that hee should send an army against them, to destroy and roote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 And to set strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, & part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the host that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yeere an hundreth fourty and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the hie countreys.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorimenus, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men, and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourtie thousande footemen, and seuen thousande horsemen, to goe into the land of Juda, and to destroy it as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by ‖ Emmaus in the plaine countrey. ‖ Emmaus.

41 Now when the merchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and golde, and seruantes, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Now when Judas and his brethren saw that trouble increased, and that the hoste drew neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby he had commanded to destroy the people, and vtterly abolish them, 43 They said one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the Congregation were soone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Jerusalem it was not inhabited, but was as a wildernesse. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Jacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselues together, and came to Maspha before Jerusalem: for in Maspha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackecloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the law, wherein the heathen sought to paint the likenesse of their idoles, 49 And brought the Priestes garmentes, and the first fruites, and the tythes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loude voyce toward heauen, saying, What shall wee doe with these? and whither shall wee cary them away?

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priests are in heauinesse, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cryed with a loud voyce.

55 And

55 And after this, Iudas ordained captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreds, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or maried wiues, or planted vineyardes, or were fearefull, that they should returne euery one into his owne house, according * to the Law.

*Deut.20.5. iudg.7.3.

57 So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Iudas saide, Arme your selues, and be valiant men, and be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuary.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuary.

60 Neuertheless as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iudas goeth against Gorgias which lieth in wait. 14 He putteth Gorgias and his host to flight. 28 Lysias inuadeth Iudea. 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

Ioseph. lib.12. chap.10.

THen tooke Gorgias fiue thousand foote men, & a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fortresse were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, he remoued, and they that were valiant men to smite the kings army which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into the campe: and when he found no man there, hee sought them in the mountaines: for said he, They flee from vs.

6 But assoone as it was day, Iudas shewed himselfe in the fielde with three thousande men, which had neither harnesse nor swords to their mindes.

7 And they saw that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, and that these were expert men of warre.

8 Then said Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afraid of their assault.

9 Remember how our fathers were deliuered * in the redde Sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with an armie.

*Exod.14.9. 29.

10 Therefore now let vs cry vnto heauen and the Lord will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shal al the heathen know that there is one, which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them comming against them, 13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Iudas blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fell by the sword, and they pursued them vnto ‖Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, & of Azotus, and of Iamnia, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

‖Or, Asteremoth

16 So Iudas turned againe with his hoste from pursuing them.

17 And said vnto the people, Be not greedie of the spoyles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand yee now fast against your enemies, & ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoyles.

19 As Iudas was speaking these words, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias saw that his were fled, and that Iudas souldiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was seene, declared what was done.)

21 When they saw these things, they were sore afraid, and when they saw also that Iudas and his hoste were in the fielde ready to set themselues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the land of strangers.

23 So Iudas turned againe to spoile the tents, where he gate much gold and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the Sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, & sung psalmes, and praised toward the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had a great victory in that day.

26 ¶ Now all the strangers that escaped, came, and told Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard these things, was sore afraide, and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as he would, neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Lysias threescore thousand chosen foote men, and fiue thousand horsemen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into ‖ Idumea, and pitched their tents at ‖ Beth-sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

‖Or, Iudea. ‖ Or, Bethoron.

30 And when he saw that mighty army, he prayed and said, Blessed be thou, O Sauiour of Israel, * which diddest destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, * and gauest the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

* 1.Sam.17.50, 51.
* 1.Sam.14.13, 14.

31 Shut vp this army in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, fiue thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias seeing his armie put to flight, and the manlinesse of Judas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Judea.

36 Then saide Judas and his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp to cleanse, and to repaire the Sanctuarie.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, & went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuary layd wast, and the Altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, and the shrubbes, growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priestes chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with their trumpets, and cried toward heauen.

41 Then Judas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had cleansed the Sanctuarie, 42 So he chose Priests that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the Law.

43 And they cleansed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the Altar of burnt offerings, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar, 46 And layde vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shew what should be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Law, and builded a new Altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the Courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holy vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlestick, and the Altar of burnt offrings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the Altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the Candlestick, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the Shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, and finished all the workes that they had begunne to make.

52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chasleu, in the hundreth and eight and fourtieth yeere they arose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offered sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new Altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made new with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praising toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the Altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnesse, and offered sacrifices of deliuerance and praise, 57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates & chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Judas and his brethren with the whole Congregation of Israel, ordained that the dayes of dedication of the Altar should bee kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth Chasleu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walls, & strong towres round about, lest the Gentiles should come, and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Iudas vanquished the heathen that go about to destroy Israel, and is holpen of his brethren Simon & Ionathan.
50 He ouerthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorow it.

Ioseph. lib. 13. cap. 13.

NOw when the nations round about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuary renued, as afore, they were sore grieued.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at ‖ Arrabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and hee smote them with a great plague, and drone them to straits, and tooke their spoiles.

‖ Or, Arabathane.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had beene a snare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the high way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towers, and besieged them, and destroied them vtterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward, went he against the children of Ammon, where he found a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so he discomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castle of Datheman,

10 And sent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs.

11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortresse wherunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine:

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading beholde, there came other messengers from Galile with their clothes rent, which tolde the same tidings, 15 And said, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.

16 When Iudas, and the people heard these words, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they besieged.

17 Then saide Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and go & deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Ionathan will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So hee left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea, 19 And commanded them, saying, Take the ouersight of this people, & make no warre against the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simō were giuen three thousand men to goe into Galile, & to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so hee tooke their spoiles.

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile and in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, & brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Ionathan went ouer Iorden, and trauailed three dayes iourney in the wildernesse,

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and tolde them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bosora, and Bosor, in Alemis, ‖ Chasbon, Maged, and Carnaim (all these cities are strong, and great)

‖ Or, Chasphor.

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morowe they are appointed to bring their host vnto these forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wildernes toward Bosora, and wanne the citie, and slewe all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their spoile, and set fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night hee remooued from thence, and went toward the fortresse.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the fort, & had assaulted them.

31 When Iudas saw that the battell was begun, and that the crie of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then he saide vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So hee went forth behinde them with three three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knewe, that it was Maccabeus, & they fled from him, and he smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Thē departed Judas vnto Malpha, & laid siege vnto it, & wanne it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoiled it, & set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went he and tooke Chalbon, Maged, and Bosor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and hee camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Judas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word again, saying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great,

39 And he hath hired the Arabians to help them, and they pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come and fight against thee. So Judas went to meet them.

40 Then Timotheus saide vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Judas and his hoste come neere to the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, wee shall not be able to withstand him: for he will be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Nowe when Judas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernours of the people, to remaine by the flood, and cōmanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battell.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, and cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which city Judas wanne, and burnt the temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Judas.

45 ¶ Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in the country of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, & strongly defensed: they could not passe, neither at the right hande nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shut themselues in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Judas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your lande, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we wil but only go thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Judas commanded a proclamation to bee made throughout the hoste, that euery man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie all that day, & all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoyle thereof, and went thorow the citie ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Jorden into the great plaine before Bethsan.

53 And Judas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnesse vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Now whilest Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais, 56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant acts, and battels which they had atchieued, sayd, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and go fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commaundement and went toward Jamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Joseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Judea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrow among the people of Israel, 61 Because they were not obedient vnto Judas, and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose handes deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of al Israel, and of all the heathen, whersoeuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Judas forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the South, where he wanne Hebron, and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the cattle thereof, and burnt the towres thereof round about. Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 11. and 12.

66 Then remoued he to goe into the land of ‖ Or, Philistims. of the ‖ strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shew their valiantnesse, and went forth to battell without counsel: and when Judas came to Azotus in the strangers lande, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoiles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Juda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus, willing to take the citie of Elimaïs, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickenesse, and dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made king. 34 The maner to prouoke Elephants to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiant acte. 48 The siege of Sion.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12, chap. 13. NOw when King Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countreys, he heard that Elimais in the countrey of Persia was a citie greatly renowmed for riches, siluer and gold,

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, wherein were couerings of golde, coate armours, and harnesse, which Alexander king of Macedonia the the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoile it, but hee was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heauinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Persia, that the armies that went against the lande of Juda, were driuen away,

6 And that Lysias, which went forth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoiles which they had gotten of the armies whome they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled down the abomination, which he had set vp vpon the altar at Jerusalem, & fensed the Sanctuarie with hie walles, as it was afore, and Bethsura his city.

8 So when the King had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therefore he laid him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe, as he had thought.

9 And there continued hee many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he sawe he must needes die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, and said vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, & mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come? and into what floods of miserie am I fallen now, whereas afore time I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by by reason of my power?

12 And now do I remember the euils that I haue done at Jerusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Juda without cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and beholde, I must die with great sorow in a strange land.

14 Then called hee for Philip, one of his friends, whō he made ruler ouer all his realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that he should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till hee might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundreth, and fourtie and nine yeere.

17 ¶ When Lysias knewe, that the king was dead, hee ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whom hee had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator. Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 13.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Jerusalem, kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuary, & sought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together, and besieged them in the hundreth and fiftieth yeere, & made instruments to shoot, & other engines of war.

21 But certaine of them that were besieged gate forth, (vnto whome some vngodly men of Israel ioyned themselues)

22 And they went vnto the king, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?

23 We haue bin ready to serue thy father, and to goe forward in those things that be appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and whersoeuer they found any of vs, they slewe them, and spoiled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely laide hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And behold, this day are they besieging the castle at Jerusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou doest not preuent them quickly, they wil do greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the king heard this, he was very angry, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen, 29 And bandes that were hired, came vnto him from the kings, that were confederate, and from the yles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundreth thousand footemen, and twentie thousand horsemen, and two and thirtie elephants elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Idumea, & drewe neere to Beth-sura, & besieged it a long season and made engines of war: but they came out, and burnt them with fire, & fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Judas from the castle, and remoued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias ouer against the kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, & brought the armie and his power toward the way of Beth-zacarias, where the army set themselues in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberies,

35 And they set the beastes according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coates of maile and helmets of brasse vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordeined fiue hundreth horsemen of the best,

36 Which were ready at all times wheresoeuer the beast was: and whithersoeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towers of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon euery one was two & thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleyes.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glistred therwith, and gaue light as lamps of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was spred vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the company, and the ratling of the harnesse, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Judas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slewe fiue hundreth men of the Kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar, the sonne of ‖ Aberon saw one of the elephants armed with royall harnesse, and was more excellent then all the other beasts, he thought that the King should be vpon him. ‖ Or, Saura.

44 Wherefore hee ieoparded himselfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name, 45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, slaying on the right hand, and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went he to the elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, & slew him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, and there he died.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the kings army went vp to meet them toward Jerusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Judea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreouer, the King tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no vitailes there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The King tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it, 51 And besieged the Sanctuary many dayes, & made instruments to shoote, & other engines of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts & slings.

52 ‖ They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season. ‖ Or, the Iewes.

53 But in the garners there were no vitailes: for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Judea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store, 54 So that in the Sanctuary were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his own place.

55 ¶ Now when Lysias heard that Philip (whom Antiochus the King, whiles hee liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, and the Kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 Hee and his hasted, and were stirred forward by them in the castle to goe and tell the King, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease daily, and our vitailes are but small: and the place that wee lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Now therfore let vs ‖ agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation, ‖ Or, giue hands, 59 And graunt them to liue after their Lawe, as they did afore: for they be grieued, and doe all these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the King and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when hee sawe that the place was well defenced.

defenſed, he brake his oath that he had made, and commanded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in all haſte, & returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: ſo he fought againſt him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius reigned, after he had killed Antiochus and Lyſias. 5 He troubleth the children of Iſrael through the counſell of certaine wicked perſons. 37 The prayer of the Prieſts againſt Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his prayer.

Ioſeph. Antiq. 12. Cap. 5.

IN the hundreth, and one & fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the ſea coaſt, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the poſſeſſion of his fathers kingdome, his ſouldiers tooke Antiochus and Lyſias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him, he ſaide, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was ſet vpon the throne of his kingdome, 5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Iſrael, whoſe captaine was Alcimus that would haue beene the high Prieſt.

6 Theſe men accuſed the people vnto the King, ſaying, Iudas and his brethren haue ſlaine all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Therefore ſend now ſome man, whom thou truſteſt, that hee may goe and ſee all the deſtruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the Kings land, and let him puniſh them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king chooſe Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and ſent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whome hee made hie Prieſt, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Iſrael.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoſte into the land of Iuda, and ſent meſſengers to Iudas and his brethren deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleeued not their ſaying: for they ſaw that they were come with a great hoſte.

12 Then a company of the gouernours aſſembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reaſonable points.

‖ Or, Haſidims. 13 And the ‖ Aſideans were the firſt that required peace among the children of Iſrael.

14 For ſaid they, He that is a Prieſt of the ſeede of Aaron is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then hee ſpake vnto them peaceably, and ſware vnto them, and ſaid, Wee will doe you no harme, neither your friends:

16 And they beleeued him: but hee tooke of them threeſcore men, and ſlewe them in one day according to the wordes that were written,

17 * They haue caſt the bodies of the Saints, and their blood round about Ieruſalem, and there was no man that would bury them. * Pſal. 79. 2.

18 So there came a feare and a trembling among all the people: for they ſaid, There is neither trueth nor righteouſneſſe in them: for they haue broken the appointment and othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remooued from Ieruſalem, and pitched his tent at ‖ Beth-zecha, where he ſent foorth & tooke many of the men that had forſaken him, and certaine of the people whom he ſlew and caſt into the great pit. ‖ Or, Bethſeth, or, Bezeth.

20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: ſo Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Then Alcimus ſtroue for the Prieſthood.

22 And all ſuch as troubled the people, reſorted vnto him: in ſo much, that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Iſrael.

23 Now when Iudas ſaw all the miſchiefe, that Alcimus & his company had done among the Iſraelites more then the heathen, 24 Hee went foorth round about all the borders of Iudea, and puniſhed thoſe that were fallen away, ſo that they came no more abroad in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus ſawe that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knew that he was not able to abide them, hee went againe to the king, and accuſed them of wicked things.

26 Then the King ſent Nicanor one of his chiefe princes, which hated Iſrael deadly, and commanded him, that hee ſhould deſtroy the people. Ioſeph. Ant. 12. chap. 16.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ieruſalem with a great hoſte, and ſent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, ſaying, 28 Let there be no warre betweene mee, and you: I will come with fewe men, to ſee how ye doe, friendly.

29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they ſaluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuertheleſſe, it was tolde Iudas, that he came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore hee feared him, and would ſee his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counſell was bewrayed, he went out to fight againſt against Iudas, beside ‖ Carphalalama.

‖ Or, Caphar-arama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors host about fiue thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went foorth of the Sanctuary to salute him peaceably, and to shewe him the burnt offering that was offered for the King.

34 But he laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste bee not now deliuered into mine hands, if euer I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 For so much as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this *House, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

* Isa. 56.5,7.

38 Be auenged of this man, and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was come from Ierusalem, hee pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in ‖ Adasa, with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying,

‖ Or, Adarsa.

41 O Lord, *because the messengers of King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand of them.

* 2. King. 19.35. tobit. 1.18. ecclus. 48.22. Isa. 37.36. 2. mac. 8.19.

42 So destroy thou this hoste before vs to day, that all other may know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie sawe that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney from Adasa vnto Gasera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came foorth of all the townes of Iudea round about, and rushed vpon them, and threwe them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoiles, and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordeined to keepe yeerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the lande of Iuda was in rest a litle while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas, considering the power & policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent to the Iewes.

IUdas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that they were mightie, and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them. Ioseph. Am. 12. chap. 18.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde him of their battels, and their worthy acts, which they did among the ‖ Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

‖ Or, Frenchmen

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: howe that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and golde,

4 And that by their counsell, and gentle behauiour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited, and giuen great ouerthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,

5 How they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Perses Kings of the ‖ Macedonians, and others, that arose against them, and how they ouercame them,

‖ Or, Cicily.

6 And how great Antiochus King of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundreth and twenty Elephants, with horsemen, and charets, and a very great armie, was discomfited by them,

7 And howe they tooke him aliue, and ordeined him with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which they tooke of him and gaue them to King Eumenes.

9 Againe when it was told them that the Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captaine, which gaue them battell, and slewe many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoyled them and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holdes, and subdued them to be their bond men vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, howe they destroyed, and brought brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whosoeuer had withstood them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their own friends, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, insomuch that whosoeuer heard of their renowme, was afraid of them.

13 For whome they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this, that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby.

15 But that they had ordeined themselues a Councel, wherein three hundreth and twentie men consulted dayly, and prouided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well, 16 And that they commited their gouernment to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Eupolemus the sonne of John, the sonne of Accus, and Jason, the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome, to make friendship and mutual fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they sawe that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the ‖ Senate, where they spake and said,

‖ Or, counsell.

20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship, and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace, and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sword, and enemie bee from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their friends throughout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes shall helpe them, as the time shall bee appointed, with all their heart.

‖ Or, the Romanes.

26 Also ‖ they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but ‖ they shall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romanes shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shal wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe these couenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points the one partie or the other wil adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde or take away, shalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, wee haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friends and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we wil doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his armie against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Ionathan is put in the stead of his brother. 47 The battel betweene Ionathan and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palsie, and dieth. 68 Hee commeth vpon Ionathan by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Ionathan with Bacchides.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor and his hoste had giuen the bettell, hee sent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Judea, and his ‖ chiefe strength with them.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12.18.

‖ Or, the right horne.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Mesaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundreth fiftie and two yeere, they layde their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Berea, with twenty thousand foot men and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Judas had pitched his tent at ‖ Eleasa, & three thousand chosen men with him.

‖ Or, Laisa.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afraid, and many conueyed themselues out of the hoste, so that there abode no moe of them, but eight hundreth men.

7 When Judas saw that his hoste failed him, and that he must needes fight, he was sore troubled in minde, that hee had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuertheless, he sayd vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies, if peraduenture wee may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, Wee are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe nowe, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall we fight against them, that are so few?

10 Then Judas said, [a]God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

a He that was wont to pray and ouercome, is ouercome when he trusted in his strength, and omitteth prayer.

11 Then the hoste remooued out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threw with slings, and the archers marched in the foreward, and they that fought in the foreward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drewe neere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They of Judas side blewe the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noyse of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing, sawe that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Judas behinde, and them that were with him, hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Judas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Judas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Judas, both the battels and the valiant acts that hee did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 1. and 3.

23 ¶ Now after ỹ death of Judas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, & there arose all such as gaue themselues to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselues with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friendes together, and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, & ‖ against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

‖ Or, against the enemies of our nation.

30 Therefore this day we chuse thee, that thou mayest be our Prince and captaine in his place, to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knewe it, hee sought to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother perceiuing that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with all their companie, and pitched their tents by the waterpoole of Asphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, hee came ouer Iorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Nowe had Jonathan sent his brother Iohn, a captaine of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they would keep their baggage which was much.

36 But the children of ‖ Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke John & all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

‖ Or, Iambri.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from ‖ Medaba with great pompe: for shee was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.

‖ Or, Nadabath.

38 Therefore they remembred John their brother, and went vp, and hid themselues vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a great noise, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friendes and his brethren met them with timbrels, and instruments of musicke, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slewe many of them, and the remnant fledde into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoiles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Jonathan sayd vnto his companie, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies:

mies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, and behinde vs, and the water of Iorden on this side and that side, and the marise, and forrest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore crie now vnto heauen, that yee may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Ionathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside from him and reculed, 48 Then Ionathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, & swimmed ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe through Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then hee turned againe to Ierusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Iuda, as the castle of Iericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, ‖Parathoni, and ‖Tepho with hie walles, with gates, and with barres,

‖Or, Phara.
‖Or, Thepo.

51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the citie of Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of vitailes.

53 He tooke also the chiefest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Ierusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundreth fiftie and three yeere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commaunded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuary should bee destroyed, and hee pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindred and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palsie, and could no more speake nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Then died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Ionathan and his companie dwell at ease and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and he will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him,

60 Who arose and came with a great host, and sent letters priuily to his adherents which were in Iudea, to take Ionathan and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowen vnto them.

‖Or, Ionathan.

61 And ‖ they tooke fifty men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse, and slew them.

62 ¶ Then Ionathan and Simon with their companie departed vnto ‖Beth-basin, which is in the wildernesse, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

‖Or, Beth-basi.

63 When Bacchides knew this, hee gathered all his host, and sent word to them that were of Iudea.

64 Then came hee and laid siege to Bethbasin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Ionathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number, 66 And slewe ‖ Odomeras & his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

‖Or, Odarn.

67 Simon also & his company went out of the citie, and burnt vp the instruments of war.

68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsel and iourney was in vaine.

69 Wherefore hee was very wroth at the wicked men, [b] that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

[b] Wicked counsel falleth on the counsellers.

70 Whereof when Ionathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadors vnto him, to intreat of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing hee accepted, and did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of ỳ land of Iuda, & so returned & went into his owne land, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Ionathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

IN the hundreth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned. Ioseph. Antiq. 13. Cap. 2. 3.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great host, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Ionathan with louing words, as though hee would preferre him.

4 For he said, Wee will first make peace with him, before hee ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so hee gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castle, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therfore they were sore afraid, because they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Jerusalem, and began to build, and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commanded the workemen to build the walles, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Law and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Nowe when King Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble acts, which he and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He sayd, Might we finde such a man? now therefore wee will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Upon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him with these words, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordeine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nation, and to be called the Kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a ‖ crowne of gold) that thou mayest ‖ consider what is for our profits, and keepe friendship toward vs.

‖ Or, mine.
‖ Or, take our part.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundreth and threescore yeere, vpon the feast day of the Tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 3.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was marueilous sorie, and said, 23 What haue wee done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIVS vnto the nation of the Iewes, sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelity toward vs, and we wil recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, and free you from the customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part of the seed,

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne duetie, I so release them, that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Juda, or of the three gouernments which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day forth for euermore.

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall bee holy and free from the tenths and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Jerusalem, and giue it vnto the high Priest, that hee may set in it such men as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreouer, I freely deliuer euery one of the Iewes that were taken away prisoners out of the lande of Juda throughout all my realme, and euery one of them shalbe free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell.

34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, and newe Moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shalbe dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme, 35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to vexe any of them in any maner of cause.

36 Also thirty thousand of the Iewes shall be written vp in the Kings hoste, and haue their wages payed them, as apperteineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of them shall bee ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shall be set ouer the kings most secret affaires, & their gouernours and their Princes shall be of themselues, and they shall liue after their owne Lawes, as the King hath commanded in the land of Juda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria, maria, shall bee ioyned vnto Iudea, and they shall bee as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuary at Ierusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy things.

40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thousand sicles of siluer of the kings reuenues out of ỳ places apperteining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not paid for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the works of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fiue thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appointed for the interteinement of the Sanctuarie these yeeres passed, euen these things shall be released because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item whosoeuer they be that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indetted to the King for any maner of thing, they shalbe pardoned, and all that they haue in my realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expenses shall be giuen of the kings reuennes.

45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holdes in Iudea may be built vp, shall also the costes be giuen of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Ionathan and the people heard these wordes, they gaue no credit vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednesse that he had done in Israel, and how sore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great hoste and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two Kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that sore battel continued till the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 6.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadours vnto Ptolemeus the King of Egypt with these wordes, saying,

52 For so much as I am come againe to my realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shal I be thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignity.

55 Then Ptolemeus the King, gaue answer, saying, Happy be the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meete me at Ptolemais that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threescore and two yeere, 58 Where King Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, & married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the maner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Ionathan, that he should come and meete him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, & there he met the two Kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and gold, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellowes of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the King would not heare them.

62 And the King commaunded that they should take off the garments of Ionathan, and cloth him in purple: and so they did: and the King appointed him to sit by him.

63 And said vnto his Princes, Goe with him into the middes of the citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honor, & wrote him among his chiefe friendes, & made him a Duke, and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Ionathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundreth, threescore and fiue yeere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land, 68 Whereof when King Alexander heard, he was very sory, & returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appoynted Apollonius the gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Ionathan the hie Priest, saying.

70 Darest thou, beeing but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs: and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine fielde, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou bee able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footemen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his minde: wherefore hee chose tenne thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Joppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was at Joppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came imediatly into the plaine fielde: because hee had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousande horsemen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knewe that there was an ambushment behinde him, and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shot darts at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commaunded them, till their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the band: but the horses were wearie, and hee discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the fielde.

13 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, and they might there saue themselues.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoyles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remooued the hoste from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan & his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoyles.

88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he began to do Jonathan more honor, 89 And sent him a collar of gold, as the vse is to bee giuen vnto such as are of the Kinges blood: hee gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The dissention betweene Ptolemeus and Alexander his sonne in lawe. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemeus. 22 Sion is besieged of Ionathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 34 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sand that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, & went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne realme.

2 Upon this hee went into Syria with friendly wordes, & was let into the cities, and men came forth to meete him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in law.

3 Now when hee entred into the citie of Ptolemais, hee left bands & garisons in euery citie.

4 And when he came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, & the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of thē by the way where he should passe,

5 And they told the king what Jonathan had done: to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathen had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So King Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 ¶ And sent Ambassadours vnto King Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus hee slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowen.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where where he set two crownes vpon his own head, of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia, for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, & Ptolemeus brought foorth his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemeus.

18 But the third day after, King Ptolemeus died: and they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundreth threescore and seuenth yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege vnto the castell which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castell.

22 So when he heard it, hee was angry, and immediatly came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that hee should lay no more siege vnto it, but that hee should meete him, and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuertheless, when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: he chose also certaine of the elders of Israel, and the priests, and put himselfe in danger, 24 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparell, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king intreated him as his predecessours had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the high Priesthood with all the honourable things, that hee had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the king, that he would make Judea free with ỹ three gouernements, and the countrey of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Jonathan writing of the same, conteining these words,

30 KING DEMETRIVS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting, 31 We send you here a copie of the letter which we did write vnto our cousin Lasthenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lasthenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulnesse that our friendes the nation of the Jewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, wee are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore wee assigne to them the coasts of Judea with the three gouernments, Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concerning the paiments which the King tooke yeerely aforetime, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things apperteining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof shall bee reuoked from this time forth for euer.

37 Therefore see that yee make a copie of these things, and deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may bee set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his hoste, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whom he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had beene of Alexanders part afore, which when he saw that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, he went to ‖ Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, ‖ Or, Emalcuel.

40 And lay fore vpon him, to deliuer him this young Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers stead: he told him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent vnto king Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castle at Jerusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I will not onely doe these things for thee, and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee and thy nation.

43 Now therefore thou shalt doe mee a pleasure, if thou wilt send mee men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the king: wherefore the king was very glad at their comming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundreth and twentie thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and would haue slaine the king.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streetes of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad through the citie, 48 And slewe the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens sawe that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the city, and that they themselues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 ‖ Graunt vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the citie. ‖ Or, giue vs the right hand.

51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace: and the Iewes were greatly honoured before the King, and before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then king Demetrius sate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheless he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrewe himselfe from Ionathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefits which hee had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong child Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the ‖ beastes, and wan Antiochia. ‖ Or, Elephants.

57 And young Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernments, that thou mayest be a friend of the kings.

58 Upon this hee sent him golden vessels to bee serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of gold.

59 Hee made his brother Simon also captaine from the coasts of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Ionathan went forth and passed thorowe the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so hee came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore hee laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbes thereof with fire, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Ionathan, and he made peace with them, and tooke of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Ionathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey.

64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which hee granted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Ionathan with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And beholde, the hostes of the ‖ strangers met him in the plaine, and had laide ambushments for him in the mountaines. ‖ Or, heathen.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Ionathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of ‖ Absalomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphi the captaines of the hoste. ‖ Or, Abessalomus.

71 Then Ionathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to follow after all vnto their tents at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Ionathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Ionathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 And the people of Sparta, to renew their couenant of friendship. 24 Ionathan putteth to flight the princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Ionathan by deceit.

IOnathan now seeing that the time was meet for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them. Ioseph Antiq. 13. chap. 8.

2 He sent letters also vnto ‖ the Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose. ‖ Or, Lacedemonians.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Jonathan the high Priest and the nation of the Jewes sent vs vnto you for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should leade them home into the land of Juda peaceably.

5 ¶AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians, 6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priestes, and the rest of the people of the Jewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 5.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from ||Arius, which the reigned among you, that ye would be our brethren, as the copy here vnder written specifieth.

||Or, Darius.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honourably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, wee neede no such writings: for wee haue the holy Bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuertheless wee thought it good to send vnto you for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest wee should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that yee sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feastes and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though wee haue bene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would wee not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates & friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had help from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue wee chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And now yee shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things.

19 ¶And this was ꝑ copy of ꝑ letters which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the high Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Jewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commanded to be shewed vnto you.

24 ¶Now when Jonathan heard, that Demetrius Princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 Hee went from Jerusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And he sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe, and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore when the sunne was gone down, Jonathan cõmanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheless, Jonathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were goue ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoyle.

32 He proceeded further also, & came vnto Damascus, and went thorow all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went foorth, and came to Ascalon and to the next holdes, departing vnto Joppe, and wanne it.

34 For hee heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶After this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build vp the strong holdes in Judea, 36 And to make the walles of Jerusalem hier, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might bee alone, and that men should neither buy nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the citie: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the Eastside was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 ¶Ju

Ioseph. Antiq. 13.chap.9.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to be crowned when he had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But he was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore hee went about to take Jonathan, and to kill him: so he departed, & came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Jonathan foorth against him to the battell with fourtie thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Jonathan came with so great an hoste, he durst not lay hand vpon him,

43 But receiued him honorably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to himselfe,

44 And sayde vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holdes, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.

46 Jonathan beleeued him, and did as hee sayd, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Juda.

47 And reteined but three thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Now assoone as Jonathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slewe all them with the sword, that came with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen and horsemen into Galile, & into the great plaine, to destroy all Jonathans company.

50 But when they knewe that Jonathan was taken, & slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came foorth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Juda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Ionathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon, taking his children, and money for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the Realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 Hee possesseth the tower of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

NOw when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Juda, to destroy it, Ioseph. Antiq. 13.chap.9.

2 And saw that the people was in great trembling and feare, hee came vp to Jerusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Ye know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Law and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore, God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuarie, and our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loude voice, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in stead of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Jerusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent hee Jonathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great hoste vnto Joppe, which droue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great army, to come into the land of Juda, and Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at ‖ Addidis vpon the open plaine. ‖ Or, Addus.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood vp in stead of his brother Jonathan, and that hee would fight against him, hee sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that hee is owing in the kings account concerning the businesse that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundreth talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten foorth, hee will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuertheless Simon knew that hee dissembled in his words, yet commanded hee the the money and children to bee deliuered vnto him, lest hee should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue sayd, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Ionathan dead.

19 So hee sent the children and an hundreth talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Ionathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way that leadeth vnto Adora: but whersoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castle, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that he would make haste to come by the wildernesse, and to send them vitailes.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that hee came not, because of the snow: but hee remooued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came neere to Bascama, he slew Ionathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Ionathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto, of hewen stone behinde and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetual memory, and carued shippes beside the armes, that they might bee seene of men sailing in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin standeth yet vnto this day.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 10.

31 ¶ Now as Tryphon went forth with the young king Antiochus, he slewe him traiterously, 32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe King of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Iudea, & compassed them about with hie towres, and great wals, euen with towres, and gates, and barres, and layd vp vitailes in the strong holdes.

34 Moreouer Simon chose certaine men and sent them to king Demetrius, that hee would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 Demetrius the king vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of kings, and to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, & ‖ precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you free.

‖ Or, collar, or, baudricke: in Greeke Bainen, or Baheu.

38 So the things that wee haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holdes which ye haue builded shall be your owne.

39 Also wee forgiue the ouersights, and faultes committed vnto this day, and the crowne taxe that yee ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shalbe now no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to be written with our men, let them be written vp, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred and seuentie yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publique instruments, In the first yeere of Simon the high and chiefe Priest, gouernour and prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where hee set vp an engine of warre, & approched neere the citie, and beat a towre, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the citie,

45 Insomuch that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and climed vp vpon the walles with their wiues, and children, and cryed with a loude voice, beseeching Simon to grant them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and cleansed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with psalmes and thankesgiuing.

48 So when hee had cast all the filthinesse out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now when they in the castle at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death,

50 Insomuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he granted them, them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twentie day of the second moneth, in the hundreth seuentie and one yeere, they entred into it with thanksgiuing, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with viols, and with psalmes, and songs, because the great enemie of Israel was ouercome.

52 And hee ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnesse, 53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle where hee dwelt himselfe with his companie.

54 Simon also seeing that John his sonne was now a man, hee made him captaine of all the hostes, & caused him to dwell in ‖ Gazaris.

‖ Or, Gaza.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 18 The couenant of friendship with the Romanes, and with the people of Sparta is renued.

IN the hundreth seuentie and two yeere gathered king Demetrius his hoste, and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, hee sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went, and ouercame the army of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for hee sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also wan the citie of Joppe to his great honour to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance to the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 Hee gathered vp many of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castle, which hee cleansed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him,

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the commonwealth, and the young men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 He prouided vitailes for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowmed vnto the end of the world.

11 Hee made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfect mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the figge trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then ỳ kings were ouercome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: he was diligent to see the Law kept, and hee tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuarie, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Jonathan was dead, they were very sory.

17 But when they heard, that Simon his brother was made hie Priest in his stead, and how he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it, 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse to renewe the friendship and bond of loue, which they had made with Judas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem, and this is the copy of the letters that the Spartians sent.

20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Jewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, wee were glad of their comming, 22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this maner, NVMENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason the Jewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should be honourably intreated, & that the copy of their ambassage should bee registred in the publike records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copy of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstood, they sayd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue established Israel, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentie day of the moneth

‖ Elul

‖ August. ‖ Elul in the hundreth, seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the hie Priest.

‖ Or, Ierusalem. 28 In ‖ Sacamel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the Elders of the countrey, wee would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue beene fought in our countrey.

29 Wherein Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Jarib) and his brethren put themselues in danger, & resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuarie, and Law might bee maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their hie Priest, and is laid with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 He fortified also the cities of Juda, and Bethsura that lyeth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.

‖ Or, Gaza, or Gazaris. 34 And he fortified Joppe, which lyeth vpon the sea, & ‖ Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where the enemies dwelt afore) & there hee placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessarie for the reparation thereof.

35 Now when the people sawe the faithfulnesse of Simon, and to what glorie hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because hee had done all these things, and for the vprightnesse, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, and that sought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the citie of Dauid at Jerusalem, where they had made them a castell, out of the which they went, & defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land, and citie, and raised vp the wals of Jerusalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his hie Priesthood for these causes.

39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romans called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons Ambassadours,

41 And that the Iewes, and Priests consented, that Simon should be their prince, and hie Priest perpetually, till God raysed vp the true Prophet,

42 And that he should be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make prouision for the holy things,

43 And that he should be obeyed of euerie man, and that all the writings in the countrey should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and weare gold,

44 And that it should not be lawfull for any of the people or Priestes to breake any of these things, or to withstand his wordes, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or bee clothed in purple, or weare a colar of gold.

45 And if any did contrarie to these things, or brake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should be done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, & the captaine, and the Prince of the Iewes, and of the Priests, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commaunded to set vp this writing in tables of braſſe, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same should bee laide vp in the treasurie, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a couenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romanes write letters vnto Kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his couenant.

MOreouer King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the yles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and Prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Conteining these words, Antiochus the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the Kingdome of our Fathers I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared ships of warre,

4 That I may goe thorow the countrey, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Now Therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the kings my progenitours haue discharged thee, and all the payments, whereof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe within thy countrey.

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuarie bee free, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, and the fortresse, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands, shall be thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that shall be due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time for euermore.

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdome we will giue thee, and thy nation and the Temple great honor, so that your honour shall be knowen throughout the world.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. Chap. 11.

10 ¶ In the hundreth, seuenty and foure yeere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that few were left with Tryphon.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Dora, which lyeth by the sea side.

12 For he saw that troubles were toward him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twentie thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the citie about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the city by land and by sea, insomuch that they suffered no man to goe in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, and his companie from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and countreyes wherein were conteined these words, 16 Lucius the Consul of Rome vnto king Ptolemeus sendeth greeting.

17 The Ambassadours of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friends, & confederates from Simon the hie Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renew friendship, and the bond of loue.

18 Who haue brought a shield of golde weying a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore wee thought it good to write vnto the kings and countreyes, that they should not goe about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their countrey, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And wee were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there bee any pestilent fellowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne Law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the king, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, 23 And to all the countreys, as ‖ Samsames, and to them of Sparta, and to ‖ Delus, and to ‖ Mindus, and to Sycion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Coos, and to Sidon, and to Cortina, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

‖ Or, Samplaca. ‖ Or, Delo. ‖ Or, Mydo, or Mydus.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the hie Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the King camped against Dora the second time euer readie to take it, and made diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and gold, and much furniture.

27 Neuertheless, hee would not receiue them, but brake all the couenant, which he had made with him afore, and withdrewe himselfe from him,

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, saying, Ye withhold Ioppe, and Gazara with the castell that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Realme, 29 Whose borders ye haue destroyed and done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernement of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore nowe deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that yee haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea, 31 Or els giue me for them fiue hundreth talents of siluer, and for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: if not, we will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the cupboord of gold and siluer plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and said vnto him, Wee haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which appertaineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrightcously in possession a certaine time, 34 But when we had occasion, wee recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou ‖ requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorow our countrey, yet will we giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word,

‖ Or, complainest concerning.

36 But turned againe angrie vnto the king, and told him all these words, and the dignitie

dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the king was very angrie.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Dytholias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footemen and horsemen, 39 And commaunded him to remoue the hoste toward Judea, and to build vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnis, and began to vexe the people, and to inuade Judea, and to take the people prisoners and to slay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where hee set horsemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Judea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus host is put to flight by the sons of Simon. 11 Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banket. 22 John killeth them that lye in wait for his life.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. Chap. 12.

THen came John vp from Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Judas and John, and said vnto them I, and my brethren, & my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am now old, and yee by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be ye therefore in steade of me, and my brother, and goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So he chose twenty thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine fielde: and behold, a mightie great hoste came against them both of footemen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And John ranged his armie ouer against him, and when hee saw that the people was afraid to go ouer the riuer, he went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed through after him.

7 Then hee diuided his men, and set the horsemen in the mids of the footemen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were verie manie: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fortresse.

9 Then was Judas Johns brother wounded: but John followed after them, til he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fieldes of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire, thus were there slaine two thousand men of them: so hee returned peaceably into the land of Juda.

11 ¶ Now in the fielde of Jericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For he had maried the daughter of the hie Priest.)

13 Therefore hee waxed proude in his mind, & thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about throughout the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, hee came downe to Jericho with Mattathias, and Judas his sonnes in the hundreth seuentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is in the moneth Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a little holde, called Dochus, which he had built, where he made them a great banket, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolemeus stood vp with his men, and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banket house, and slew him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby hee committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemeus these things and sent to the king, that hee might send him an host to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take John, and sent letters vnto the captains to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Jerusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ranne before, and tolde John in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemeus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and laid hands on them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for hee knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of John, both of his wars, and of his noble acts (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of wals which he made, and other of his deedes, 24 Behold, they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

The second Booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thankes for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Neemias.

THe brethren the Iewes, which be at Ierusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren the Iewes, that are throughout Egypt, send saluation, and prosperitie.

2 God bee gracious vnto you and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob his faithfull seruants,

3 And giue you all an heart, to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in his Law, and commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and bee reconciled with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundreth, threescore and ninth yeere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in those yeeres, after that Iason, and his companie departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, and shed innocent blood. Then we prayed vnto the Lord, & were heard: we offered sacrifices & fine flowre, and lighted the lampes, and set foorth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe ye the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in ỹ month Chasleu.

10 ¶ In the hundreth fourescore and eight yeere, the people that was at Ierusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsell and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus king Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the anoynted priests, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Inasmuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, wee thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the king.

12 For hee brought them into Persia by heapes that fought against the holy citie.

13 For albeit the captaine, and the armie, that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceit of Naneas Priests.

14 For Antiochus, as though he would dwell with her, came thither, he, & his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.

15 But when the Priests of Nanea had laide it forth, and hee was entred with a small companie within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in,

16 And by opening a priuie doore of the vaute, they cast stones as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in pieces, they cut off their heads and threw them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Wheras we are now purposed to keep the purification of the Temple vpon the fiue and twentie day of the moneth Chasleu, we thought it necessary to certifie you thereof, that yee also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Neemias offered sacrifice, after he had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For as when our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priests, which sought the honor of God, tooke the *fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was drie in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was vnknowen vnto euery man.

*Leuit. 6. 13. and 10. 2. and 16. 12.

20 Now after many yeeres, when it pleased God that Neemias should bee sent from the king of Persia, hee sent of the posteritie of those Priests, which had hid it to fetch the fire, and as they told vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded he them to draw it vp, & to bring it: and whē the things apperteining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commanded the Priests to sprinkle the wood, and the things laid thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man marueled.

23 Now the Priests, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was cōsuming: Ionathan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God, maker of all things, which art fearefull and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious king,

25 Onely liberall, only iust and almighty and euerlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers and sanctified them, 26 Receiue the sacrifice for the whole people of Israel, and preserue thine own portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together that are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the the heathen: looke vpon them which are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place * as Moyses hath spoken. *Deut 30.5.

30 And ỹ priests sang Psalmes therunto.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commaunded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light that shined from the altar.

33 ¶ So when this matter was knowen it was tolde the king of Persia, that in the place where ỹ Priests, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his companie had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king tried out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, he gaue and bestowed many gifts.

36 And Neemias called the same place Ephthar, which is to say, purification: but many call it ‖ Nephthar. ‖Or, Nephi.

CHAP. II.

4 How Ieremie hid the tabernacle, the Arke and the altar in the hil. 23 Of the fiue books of Iason conteined in one.

IT is found also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet, that he commanded them, which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commaunded them that were led into captiuitie,

2 *Giuing them a law that they should not forget the commandements of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their mindes, when they saw images of golde and siluer, with their ornaments. *Baruch. 6.

3 These and such other things commanded hee them, and exhorted them that they should not let the law goe out of their hearts,

4 It is written also, how the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke, and followe him: and when hee came vp into the mountaine where Moyses went vp, * and saw the heritage of God, *Deut. 34.1.

5 Ieremias went foorth and founde an holowe caue, wherein he layd the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the Altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those that followed him, to marke the place: but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceiued, hee reproued them, saying, As for that place it shall bee vnknowen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercy be shewed.

8 Then shall the Lord shewe them these things, and the maiestie of the Lord shall appeare and the cloud also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as * when Salomon desired, that the place might bee honourably sanctified. *1 Kin. 8.14, 22. 30.2. chro. 6.22.

9 For it is manifest that he, being a wise man, offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple. *1. Kin. 8. 62. 65. 2. chron. 7. 4. 5.

10 *And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, * the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering. *Leuit. 9. 24. and 10. 16. * 2. Chron. 7. 1.

11 And Moyses sayd, Because the sinne offring was not eaten, therefore it is cõsumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in the writings, & registers of ‖ Neemias, and how he made a librarie, and how hee gathered the actes of the kings, and of the Prophets, & the actes of Dauid, and the Epistles of the kings concerning the holy gifts. ‖Some reade Ieremie.

14 Euen so Judas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede hereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Wheras we then are about to celebrate the purification, wee haue written vnto you, and ye shall do wel, if ye keepe the same daies.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Priesthood and the Sanctuary, 18 *As hee promised in the law, will shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, and hath clensed the place. *Deut. 30.5.

19 As concerning Judas Maccabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stoode for the Jewes religion: (for though they were but few, yet they ranne through whole countreys, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repaired the Temple that was renowmed throughout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to bee abolished, because the Lorde was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie)

23 We wil assay to abridge in one volume those things, that Jason the Cyrenian hath declared in fiue bookes.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and difficultie that they haue that would be occupied in the rehearsal of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matter.

25 Wee haue endeuoured, that they that would reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memory, and that whosoeuer reade them, might haue profite.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easy thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweat, and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commoditie, hath no small labor: so we also for many mens sakes are very well content to vndertake this great labor.

28 Leauing to the authour the exact diligence of euery particular, we will labour to goe forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as he that will build a new house, must prouide for the whole building, but hee that setteth out the plat or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a story to enter deepely into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse few words, and to auoyd those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the story, adding thus much to our former words, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in words, before the storie, and to be short in the story.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon vttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 He is striken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

WHat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very well kept, because of the godlinesse of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 In so much that Seleucus king of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costs belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Beniamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning ‖ the iniquitie committed in the citie.

‖ Or, the state and prouision.

5 And when he could not ouercome Onias, hee gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas, which then was gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice,

6 And told him that the treasurie in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come to the kings hands.

7 Now when Appollonius came to the king, and had shewed him of the money, as it was told him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandement, to bring him the foresayd money.

8 Immediatly Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though hee would visite the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfil the kings purpose.

9 So when hee came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the citie, he declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his comming, and asked if these things were so indeed.

10 Then the hie Priest tolde him that there were such things layd vp by the widowes and fatherlesse, 11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundreth talents of siluer, and two hundreth of gold, 12 And that it were altogether vnpossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place & Temple, which is honoured thorow the whole world for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commaundement giuen him, sayd that in any wise it must be brought into ỹ kings treasury.

14 So he appointed a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Priestes fell downe before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to bee kept, that they should be safely preserued for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorow of his mind.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorow hee had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And the women, girt with sackecloth vnder their breasts, filled the streets, and the virgins that were kept in, ranne some to the gates, and some to the walles, and other looked out at the windowes.

20 And

20 And all helde vp their handes toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the high Priest beeing in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lorde, that hee would keepe safe and sure the things, which were laide vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheless, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did hee performe.

24 And as he and his souldiers were now there present by the treasurie, hee that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare, & trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly barbed, and he ranne fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his fore feete, and it seemed that he that sate vpon the horse, had harnesse of gold.

26 Moreouer, there appeared two young men, notable in strength, excellent in beautie, and comely in apparell, which stoode by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darkenesse: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great companie, and many souldiers into the saide treasurie, was borne out: for hee could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope & health.

30 And they praised the Lord that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a little afore was full of feare and trouble, when the Almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then straight wayes certaine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most High to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the hie Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euill, hee offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Nowe when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same young men in the same clothing appeared, and stoode beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord graunted thee thy life.

34 And seeing that thou hast beene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lorde sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had graunted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his host to the King.

36 Then testified hee vnto euery man of the great workes of God that hee had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the King asked Heliodorus, who were meete to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he said, 38 If thou hast any enemie or traitour, send him thither, and thou shalt receiue him well scourged, if he escaped with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For hee that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eie on that place, and defendeth it, and hee beateth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasurie.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason obteineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the King, 27 And was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slaine traiterously by Andronicus.

THis Simon nowe, of whom wee spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though he had mooued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was hee bolde to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the citie, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that through one that belonged to Simon, murthers were committed,

4 Onias considering ỹ danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as he that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice.

5 Hee went to the King not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuatly and publikely.

6 For he saw it was not possible except the King tooke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus, called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be hie Priest.

8 For he came to the King, and promised him three hundreth and threescore talents of siluer, and of other rent, fourescore talents.

9 Besides

9 Besides this, he promised him an hundreth and fiftie, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, & a place for the youth, and that they would ‖ name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

‖ Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem, among them

10 The which thing when the King had granted, and he had gotten the superioritie, he began immediatly to draw his kinsemen to the customes of the Gentiles,

11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings, that the Iewes had set vp by John, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their Lawes and policies, and brought vp newe statutes, and contrary to the Lawe.

12 For hee presumed to builde a place of exercise vnder the castle, & brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, & made them weare ‖ hattes.

‖ Or, buskins in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the maners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iason, not the hie Priest, but the vngodly person, 14 So that the Priestes were nowe no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to bee partakers of the wicked expences at the play ‖ after the casting of a stone.

‖ This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the middes, or a piece of mettall.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to be their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to bee like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

‖ Or, Olympian sports, which were games kept euery fift yeere.

18 ¶ Nowe when the ‖ games that were vsed euery fiue yeere, were played at Tyrus, the king being present,

19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had beene Antiochians, which brought three hundreth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of galleis.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceiued that hee was euil affectioned toward his affaires, he sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where he was honourably receiued of Iason, and of the citie, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great showtings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yeere afterward Iason sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring to passe certaine necessarie affaires, whereof he had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the king, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for hee gaue three hundreth talents of siluer, more then Iason.

25 So he gate the Kings ‖ letters patents, albeit hee had nothing in himselfe worthie of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruel tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

‖ Or, commandements.

26 Then Iason, which had deceiued his owne brother, beeing deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the king, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Nowe Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his steade in the Priesthood, and Sostratus left Crates which was gouernour of the [b] Cyprians.

b That is, of them that measured the corne.

30 ¶ While these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the Kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the King in all haste, to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a conuenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some hee solde at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knewe of a surety, he reproued him, and withdrewe himselfe into a Sanctuarie at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when hee came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an othe: (howbeit hee suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuarie) so hee slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousnesse.

35 For

35 For the which cause not only the Iews, but many other nations also were grieued, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the king was come againe from the place about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the citie, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorie in his mind, and he had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, he tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commaunded him to be ledde throughout the citie, and in the same place where he had committed the wickednes against Onias, he was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment as he had deserued.

39 ¶ Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked deedes in the citie through the counsel of Menelaus, and the bruite was spred abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for he had caried out now much vessell of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit, then in age.

41 But when they vnderstoode the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfuls of dust, which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that inuaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe they killed beside the treasurie.

43 For these causes, an accusation was laide against Menelaus.

44 And when the King came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus, being now conuinced, promised to Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorimenes much money, if he would perswade the King.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the king into a court, whereas hee was to coole himselfe, and turned the kings minde.

47 In so much that hee discharged Menelaus from the accusation (notwithstanding hee was the cause of all mischiefe) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they should haue beene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they soone punished vniustly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickednesse, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the couetousnes of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

2 Of the signes and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the end and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursuite of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoyling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wildernesse.

ABout the same time, Antiochus vndertooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene throughout all the citie of Ierusalem, fourtie dayes long, horsemen running in the ayre, with robes of golde, and as bands of speare men,

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in aray, incountring and coursing one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts, and drawing of swordes, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seene, and harnesse of all sorts.

4 Therefore euerie man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, and came suddenly vpon the citie, and they that were vpon the wals, being put backe, and the citie at length taken.

6 Menelaus fled into the castle, but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercie, not considering, that to haue the aduantage against his kinsemen is greatest disaduantage, but thought that hee had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the superioritie, but at the last receiued shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally hee had this ende of his wicked conuersation, that hee was ‖ accused before Areta the king of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being pursued of euerie man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination as an enemie of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt. ‖ Or, shut vp.

9 Thus hee that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And hee that had cast many out vnburied, was throwen out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither neither was hee partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when these things that were done, were declared to the king, hee thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherfore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 He commanded his men of war also, that they should kil, and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a destruction of men and women, and children, and virgins, and infants were murthered:

14 So that within three dayes were slaine fourescore thousand, and fourtie thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many solde as were slaine.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst goe into the most holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his countrey, to be his guide.

16 And with his wicked handes tooke the holy vessels, which other kings had giuen for the garnishing, glorie and honor of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So hautie in his mind was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a little wroth for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not beene wrapped in many sinnes, hee, alsoone as he had come, had suddenly beene punished, & put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasurie.

19 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it bee partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall bee set vp in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteene hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gate him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the drie land, and to walke vpon the sea: such an hie minde had hee.

22 But he left deputies to vexe the people: at Ierusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that set him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grieuous to the citizens then the other, and was despitefull against the Iewes his citizens.

24 He sent also Apollonius a cruell prince, with an armie of two and twentie thousand, whom hee commanded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger sort.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, hee fained peace, and kept him still vntill the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commaunded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew all them that were gone forth to the shew, and running through the citie with his men armed, he murthered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wildernesse, and liued there in the mountaines with his companie among the beasts, & dwelling there, and eating grasse, lest they should bee partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Lawe of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grieuous paine of Eleazarus.

NOt long after this, sent the king an olde man of ‖Athens, for to compel the Iewes, to transgresse the Lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God,

‖ Or, Antiochia.

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, & that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter, that keepeth hospitalitie.

3 This wicked gouernment was sore and grieuous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuite of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was ful of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the Law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feasts, nor plainely to confesse himselfe to be a Iewe.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grieuously compelled perforce euerie moneth to banket, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of yuie.

8 Moreouer through the counsell of Ptolemeus, there went out a commandement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and ‖ banketting should be kept.

‖ Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

9 And who so would not conforme themselues to the maners of the Gentiles should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 For

10 For there were two women brought foorth, that had circumcised their sons, whome when they had led round about the citie (the babes hanging at their brestes) they cast them downe headlong ouer the wals.

11 Some that were runne together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discouered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afrayde to helpe themselues.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which reade this booke, that they bee not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to bee for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnesse not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straight wayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom hee punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their sinnes.

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: and though hee punish with aduersitie, yet doth hee neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this bespoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will wee come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a well fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offred himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banket, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that hee would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as hee would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though he had eaten of the things appointed by the King, euen the flesh of the sacrifice,

22 That in so doing hee might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, hee would receiue this fauour.

23 But hee began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haires, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childehoode, but chiefely the holy Law made and giuen by God: therefore he answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, said he, to dissemble, whereby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yeere olde and ten were now gone to ‖ another religion,

‖ Or, to another manner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a little time of a transitorie life) they might bee deceiued by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet coulde I not escape the hand of the Almightie, neither aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will nowe change this life manfully, and will shew my selfe such as mine age requireth, 28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as bee yong, to die willingly and courageously for the honourable & holy Lawes. And when hee had sayde these wordes, immediatly he went to torment.

29 Nowe they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the wordes that he had spoken: for they thought it had beene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue vp the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed & sayd, The Lorde that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue beene deliuered from death, I am scourged and suffer these sore paynes of my bodie: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended hee his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seuen brethren and of their mother.

IT came to passe also, that seuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to bee compelled by the King against the Lawe, to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whippes.

2 But one of them, which spake first, said thus, What seekest thou? and what wouldest thou know of vs? we are ready to die, rather then to transgresse the Lawes of our Fathers.

3 Then was the King angrie, and commanded to heate pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he cõmanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to flay him, and to cut off the vtmost partes of his bodie in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Nowe when hee was thus mangled in all

all his members, hee commaunded him to bee brought aliue to the fire, and to frie him in the panne: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the panne, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die couragiously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doth regard vs, and in
* Deut. 32, 36. deede taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses * declared in the song wherein he testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him, if he would eate, or hee were punished in all the members of the bodie.

8 But he answered in his owne language, and said, No. Wherefore hee was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when he was at the last breath, hee said, Thou murtherer takest this present life from vs, but the King of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 After him was the third had in derision, and when they demaunded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly, 11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the King & they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 Now when hee was dead also, they vexed & tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when he was now readie to die, he said thus, It is better that wee should change this which we might hope for of men, & waite for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 Afterward they brought the fifth also and tormented him.

16 Who looked vpon the King, and said, Thou hast power among men, & though thou bee a mortall man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy seede.

18 After him also they brought the sixt, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthie to bee wondred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt bee vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, and worthie of honourable memorie: for when shee saw her seuen sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, shee exhorted euerie one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisedome, stirred vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I cannot tell howe yee came into my womb: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your bodie,

23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercie giue you breath and life againe, as ye now regard not your own selues, for his Lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious wordes, while the yongest was yet aliue, he did exhort him not onely with words, but swore also vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the Lawes of his Fathers, and that hee would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when hee had exhorted her with many words, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So shee turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, & spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon me, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my Sonne, looke vpon the heauen & the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shew thy selfe worthie such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

30 While shee was yet speaking these words ye yong man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our Fathers by Moyses,

31 And

31 And thou that imaginest al mischiefe against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For wee suffer these things, because of our sinnes.

33 But though the liuing Lord be angry with vs a little while for our chastening and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne seruants.

34 But thou, O man, without religion and most wicked of all men, lift not thy selfe vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, and liftest thine hands against the seruants of God.

35 For thou shalt not yet escape the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth al things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a little paine, are now vnder the diuine couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therfore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my bodie and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God that he will soone be merciful vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the onely God.

38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almightie, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously that he was mocked.

40 So hee also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now bee ynough spoken concerning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is ouercome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight. Diuiding part of the spoiles vnto the fatherlesse & vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

THen Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinsfolks and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, and assembled sixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon the citie that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, & that he would heare the voyce of the blood that cried vnto him,

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Nowe when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, hee could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore hee came at vnwares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet hee tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially he vsed the nights to make such assaults, in so much that the bruite of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip sawe that this man increased by little & litle, & that things prospered with him for the most part, hee wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the Kings businesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the King of two thousand talents, which the Romanes should haue, to bee taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately hee sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buie Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell foure score and ten for one talent: but hee considered not the vengeance of Almightie God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knew of Nicanors comming, hee told them that were with him, of the comming of the armie.

13 Now were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousnesse of God, but fled away, & abode not in that place.

14 But the other solde all that they had left, and besought the Lord together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had sold them, or euer he came neere them.

15 And though he would not do it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about sixe thousande, exhorting them not to bee afrayd of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vnlustly done to the holy place, and the cruelties done to the citie by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, sayd he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almightie God, which at a becke can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreouer he admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundreth & fourescore and fiue thousand vnder * Sennacherib,

*2. King. 19.35. isa.37.36. tob.1 18. eccius.48.22. 1.macca.7.41.

20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon against the Galatians, how they came in all the battell ‖ eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand slew an hundreth & twentie thousand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen whereby they had receiued many benefits.

‖ Some reade, fiue thousand.

21 Thus when hee had made them bolde with these words, and readie to die for the Lawes and the countrey, he diuided his army into foure parts.

22 And made his own brethren captaines ouer the armie, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph and Ionathan, giuing each one fifteene hundreth men.

23 And when ‖ Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the forward, ioyned with Nicanor, ‖ Or, Esdras.

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew aboue nine thousand men, & wounded and maymed the most part of Nicanors hoste, and so put all to flight,

25 And tooke the money from those that came to buie them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath & therfore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, & spoyled the enemies, & kept the Sabbath, giuing thankes and praysing the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, & powred vpon them the beginning of his mercie.

28 And after the Sabbath, *they distributed the spoyles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among themselues and their children.

* Nom.31.27. 1.sam.30.24.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lord to bee reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slewe aboue twentie thousand, and wanne high and strong holdes, and diuided great spoiles, and gaue an equall portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, & to aged persons also.

31 Moreouer they gathered their weapons together, and layd them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many waies.

33 And when they kept the feast of victorie in their countrey, they burnt Callisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so he receiued a reward meete for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Iewes:

35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, in so much that hee put off his glorious raiment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia with great dishonour, through the destruction of his host.

36 Thus hee that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought news, that the Iewes had a ‖ defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

‖ Or, God their defender.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoile Persepolis is put to flight. 5 As he persecuteth the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 13 The fained repentance of Antiochus. 28 He dieth miserably.

AT the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour out of the countrey of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persepolis, & went about to robbe the temple, and to subdue the citie, the people ran in a rage to defend themselues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come vnto Nicanor, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, & therefore commaunded his charet man to driue continually, and to dispatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I wil make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty and God of Israel smote him with an incurable and inuisible plague: for assoone as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels, that was remediless, come vpon him, and sore torments of the inner parts,

6 And

6 And that most iustly: for hee had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit hee would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commanded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that he fell down from the charet that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus hee that a little afore thought hee might command the floods of the sea (so proude was hee beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the balance, was now cast on the ground, and caried in an horselitter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

*Acts 12.23. 9 *So that the wormes came out of the bodie of this wicked man in abundance: and while hee was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieued at [Or, rottenesse. his ‖ smell.

10 Thus no man could beare because of his stinke, him that a little afore thought hee might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then hee began to leaue off his great pride, and selfewill, when he was plagued and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, hee saide these words, It is meet to bee subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person praied also vnto ỹ Lord, who would now haue no mercy on him, 14 And sayd thus that hee would set at libertie the holy citie vnto the which hee made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whom he had iudged not worthy to be buried, but would haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the foules and wilde beastes) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas hee had spoyled the holy Temple afore, hee would garnish it with great giftes, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that hee would also become a Iew himselfe, & goe thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health, hee wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, containing the forme of a supplication.

19 ¶ The King and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens wisheth much ioy and health, and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your minde, I giue great thankes vnto God hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet I am mindefull of your honour and good will, for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, and fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safetie of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickenesse.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the hie countries, he appointed who should succeede him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grieuous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Againe, when I ponder how that the gouernours, that are borderers, and neighbours vnto my kingdome, wait for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordained that my sonne Antiochus shall be King, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the hie provinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, & require you to remember the benefits that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull to me and to my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle, and louing vnto you according to my minde.

28 ¶ Thus the murtherer and blasphemer suffred most grieuously, and as hee had intreated other men, so he died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 10 The actes of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus inuadeth Iudea, with whom Iudas ioyneth battell. 29 Fiue men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

MAccabeus now and his companie, through the helpe of the Lord, wan the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroied the altars, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense two yeeres, and sixe moneths after, and set fooꝛth the lampes, and the shewbꝛead.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and beſought the Lord, that they might come no moꝛe into ſuch troubles: but if they ſinned any moꝛe againſt him, that he himſelfe would chaſten them with mercie, and that they might not be deliuered to the blaſphemous, and barbarous nations.

5 Now vpon the ſame day, that the ſtrangers polluted the Temple, on the very ſame day it was cleanſed againe, euen the fiue and twentieth day of the ſame moneth, which is ‖ Chaſleu.

‖ Or, November.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladneſſe as in the feaſt of the Tabernacles, remembring, that not long afoꝛe they held the feaſt of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beaſts.

7 And foꝛ the ſame cauſe they bare greene boughes, and faire bꝛanches and palmes, and ſang Pſalmes vnto him that had giuen them good ſucceſſe in cleanſing his place.

8 They oꝛdeined alſo by a common ſtatute and decree, that euery yeꝛe thoſe dayes ſhould be kept of the whole nation of the Jewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Now will we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupatoꝛ, which was the ſonne of this wicked man, gathering bꝛiefly the calamities of the warres, that followed.

11 Foꝛ when he had taken the kingdome, he made one Lyſias, which had beene captaine of the hoſte in Phenice, and Coeloſyꝛia, ruler ouer the affaires of the realme.

12 Foꝛ Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purpoſed to doe iuſtice vnto the Jewes foꝛ the wꝛong that had beene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himſelfe peaceably with them.

13 Foꝛ the which cauſe hee was accuſed of his friends beſoꝛe Eupatoꝛ, and was called oft times traitour, becauſe he had left Cyꝛpus that Philometoꝛ had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: theꝛefoꝛe ſeeing that hee was no moꝛe in eſtimation, he was diſcouraged, and poyſoned himſelfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Goꝛgias was gouernour of the ſameplaces, he enterteined ſtrangers, and made warre oft times againſt the Jewes.

15 Moꝛeouer the Idumeans that held the ſtrong holdes, which were meete foꝛ their purpoſe, troubled the Jewes, and by receiuing them that were bꝛiuen from Jeruſalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made pꝛaiers, and beſought God that he would be their helper, and ſo they fell vpon the ſtrong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And aſſaulted them ſoꝛe, that they wan the places, & ſlew all that fought againſt them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and ſlew no leſſe then twentie thouſand.

18 And becauſe certaine (which were no leſſe then nine thouſand) were fled into two ſtrong caſtles, hauing all maner of things conuenient to ſuſtaine the ſiege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Joſeph, and Zaccheus alſo, and thoſe that were with them, which were ynow to beſiege them, and departed to thoſe places which were moꝛe neceſſarie.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetouſneſſe, were intreated foꝛ money (thꝛough certaine of thoſe that were in ỹ caſtle) and took ſeuenty thouſand dꝛachmes, and let ſome of them eſcape.

a A dꝛachme is the eight part of an ounce, which is about thꝛee pence.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, and accuſed thoſe men, that they had ſold their bꝛethꝛen foꝛ money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he ſlew thē when they were conuict of treaſon, & immediatly wan the two caſtles:

23 And hauing good ſucceſſe, as in all the warres that he tooke in hand, hee ſlew in the two caſtles moe then twentie thouſand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Jewes had ouercome afoꝛe, gathered an armie of ſtrangers of all ſoꝛts, and bꝛought a great troupe of hoꝛſemen out of Aſia to winne Jewꝛie by ſtrength.

25 But when he dꝛew neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pꝛay vnto God, & ſpꝛinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with ſackcloth.

26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and beſought the Lord to be mercifull to them, and to bee an enemie to their enemies, and to bee an aduerſarie to their aduerſaries, * as the Law declareth.

* Exod. 23.22. deut. 20.4.

27 So after the pꝛayer, they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heede to themſelues.

28 And when the moꝛning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord foꝛ their refuge, and pledge of pꝛoſperitie, and noble victoꝛie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell waxed ſtrong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen fiue comely men vpon hoꝛſes with bꝛidles of golde, and two of them led the Jewes,

39 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery ſide with their weapons, and kept him ſafe, but ſhotte dartes, and lightninges againſt the enemies, ſo that they were confounded with blindneſſe,

and

and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twentie thousand and fiue hundreth, and fiue hundreth horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong hold, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his companie laid siege against the fortresses with courage for foure daies.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

‖ Or, the fiue and twentie day.

35 Neuertheless vpon the ‖ fift day in the morning, twentie young men of Maccabeus companie, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bold stomackes smote downe those that they met.

36 Others also that climbed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpon the towres, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing founde Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Apollophanes.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with psalmes and thanksgiuing, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victorie.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to ouercome the Iews, 8 Succor is sent from heauen vnto the Iews. 16 The letter of Lysias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lysias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iews. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VEry shortly after this, Lysias the kings steward, and a kinseman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple would he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priests office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his fourescore Elephants.

5 Hee came into Iudea, and drew neere to Beth-sura, which was a castle of defence, fiue [a] furlongs from Ierusalem, & layed sore siege vnto it.

a Whereof 8. make a mile.

6 But when Maccabeus, and his company knew that hee besieged the holdes, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, and teares before the Lord, that hee would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would ieopard themselues together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a courageous minde.

8 And as they were there besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harnesse of gold.

9 Then they prayed the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, in so much that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruell beasts, and to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lorde was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they slewe eleuen thousand footemen, and fiueteene hundreth horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully, and so escaped,

13 Who as hee was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse hee had had, and knowing, that the Hebrewes could not bee ouercome, because the Almightie God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised, that hee would consent to all things which were reasonable, and perswade the King to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requests, hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Iewes, the King granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lysias conteining these words, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

17 Iohn and ‖ Abessalom, which were sent from you, deliuered mee the things that you demaund by writing, and required mee to fulfill the things that they had declared.

‖ Or, Absalon, or, Absalom.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to be reported to the King himselfe, I haue declared them, and hee granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if ye behaue your selues as friends towards his affaires, hereafter also I will endeuour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commaundement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare yee well, the hundreth and eight and fourty yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 ¶ Now the Kings letter conteined these words, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our Father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our realme liue quietly, that euery man may applie his owne affaires.

24 Wee vnderstand also that the Iewes would not consent vnto our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne Lawes.

25 Wherefore our mind is that this nation shall bee in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to sende vnto them, and graunt them peace, that when they are certified of our mind, they may bee of good comfort, and cheerefully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

28 If yee fare well, wee haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, and to applie your owne businesse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, wee giue them free libertie, vnto the thirtieth day of the moneth of ‖ Panthicus,

Or, April.

31 That the Iewes may vse their owne maner of liuing and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any maner of wayes to haue harme for things done of ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you,

33 Fare yee well; the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romanes also sent a letter conteining these words, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus ‖ Manilius ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Iewes send greeting.

‖ Or, Manlius.

35 The things that Lysias the kings kinsman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which hee shall report vnto the king, send hither some with speed, when yee haue considered the matter diligently, that wee may consult thereupon as shall be best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and send some men that we may know your mind.

38 Fare well: this hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

2 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deede of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 6 Iudas is auenged of them. 9 He setteth fire in the hauen of Iamnia. 20 The pursuit of the Iewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken, and let goe vnhurt. 32 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

WHen these couenants were made, Lysias went vnto the King, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But the gouernors of the places, as Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Ieronimus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile act: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to go with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduise of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspect nothing: but when they were gon forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundreth of them.

5 Now when Iudas knew of the cruelties shewed against his nation, he commanded those men that were with him, to make them readie.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went forth against the murtherers of his brethren, and set fire in the hauen by night, & burnt the ships, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 And when the citie was shut vp, hee departed as though he would come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when he perceiued that the Iamnites were minded to doe in like maner vnto the Iewes which dwelt among them, 9 He came vpon the Iamnites by night, and set fire in the hauen with the nauie, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundreth and fourtie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs in their iourney toward Timotheus, about fiue thousand men of foote, and fiue hundreth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas through the helpe of God, the ‖ Nomades of Arabia being ouercome, besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine ‖ cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

‖ So called, because they haue Shepheards. ‖ Or, Pasture.

12 And Iudas thinking that they should in deede bee profitable concerning many things,

things, graunted them peace: whereupon they shooke handes, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Judas also assaulted a citie called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of vitailes, that they were the slacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Judas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any ‖ instruments, or engins of warre did * cast downe the walles of Jericho, in the time of Jesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles.

‖ Or, battell rammes.
* Iosh.6.20.

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, in so much that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flowe with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seuen hundreth and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Jewes that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dositheus, and Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth, and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortresse, more then tenne thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his armie by bands, and went courageously against Timotheus; which had with him an hundreth and twentie thousand men of foote, and two thousande and fiue hundreth horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas comming, he sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortresse called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, and vneasie to come vnto because of the straits on all sides.)

22 But when Judas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, in so much that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the poyntes of their owne swords.

23 But Judas was very earnest in pursuing and slew those wicked men: yea, he slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the handes of Dositheus, and Sosipater, whome hee besought with much craft to let him goe with his life, because hee had many of the Jewes parents and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when hee had assured them with many words, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus towarde Carnion, and Atargation, and slewe fiue and twentie thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Judas remoued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherin was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walles, defending them mightily: there was also a great preparation of engings of warre, and dartes.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lorde, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slewe fiue and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth sixe hundred furlongs from Jerusalem.

30 But when the Jews which dwelt there, testified, ỹ the ‖ Scythopolitans dealt louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie,

‖ Or, Scythians.

31 They gaue them thankes, desiring them to be still friendly vnto them, and so they came to Jerusalem, as the feast of the weekes approched.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thousande men of foote and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Jewes were slaine, 35 And Dositheus one of the Bacchenors, which was on horsebacke and a mightie man, tooke Gorgias, and layd hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into ‖ Marisa.

‖ Or, Moresa, or, Marcsa.

36 And when they that were ‖ with Esdrin, had foughten long, and were wearie, Judas called vpon the Lord, that he would shew himselfe to be their helper, and captaine of the field.

‖ Or, with Gorgias.

37 And then hee beganne in his owne language, and sung Psalmes with a loude voyce, in so much that straightwayes hee made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Judas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seuenth day came, they cleansed themselues (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Judas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to bury them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of euery one, that was slaine, they found iewels that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the * Jamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. Then euery man saw, that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

* Deut. 7.25. Iosh. 7.1, 11, 12.

41 And so euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lorde, the righteous Judge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselues to prayer, and besought him, that they should not vtterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Judas exhorted the people to keepe themselues from sinne, for so much as they saw before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine.

43 And hauing made a gathering through the company, sent to Jerusalem about two thousand drachmes of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well, and honestly that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if hee had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene superfluous, and vaine, to ‖ pray for the dead.

‖ From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby: Also it is euident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it dissenteth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the author of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmitie, desireth pardon, if he haue not attained to that he should. And it seemeth, that this Jason the Cyrenian, out of whom hee tooke this abridgement, is Joseph Ben-Gorion, who hath written in Ebrew fiue bookes of these matters, and intreating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. cap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes, euen to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Judas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might minister the Sacraments, Exod. 4 25. or the example of Razis, that one might kill himselfe, whom this author so much commendeth, Chap. 14 41.

45 And therefore hee perceiued, that there was great fauour layed vp for those that died godly. (It was an holy, and a good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be deliuered from sinne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The comming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 the death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 He killeth foureteene thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundreth, fourtie and nine yeere it was tolde Judas that Antiochus Eupator was comming with a great power into Judea,

2 And Lysias the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundreth and ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and fiue thousand horsemen, and two and twenty elephants, and three hundreth charets set with hookes.

3 Menelaus also ioyned himselfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the safegard of the countrey, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kings moued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias informed the King that this man was the cause of all mischiefe, so that the King commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death, as the maner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a towre of fifty cubits high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on euery side it rowled downe into the ashes.

6 And there whosoeuer was condemned of sacrilege, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want buriall,

8 For because hee had committed many sinnes by the Altar, whose fire and ashes were holy: he himselfe also died in the ashes.

9 ¶ Now the King raged in his minde, and came to shew himselfe more cruell vnto the Iewes then his Father.

10 Which things when Judas perceiued, hee commaunded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, hee would now helpe them, when they should be put from their law, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that hee would not suffer the people, which a little afore began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and besought the Lord for mercie with weeping, and fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Judas exhorted them to make themselues ready.

13 And hee being apart with the Elders, tooke counsell to goe forth, afore the King brought his hoste into Judea, and should take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, hee exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the Citie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watch word, The victorie of God, hee piked out the manliest manliest young men, and went by night into the kings campe, and slewe of the hoste fourteene thousand men, and the greatest elephant with all that sate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lorde did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had tasted the manlinesse of the Iewes, hee went about to take the holds by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but hee was chased away, hurt and lost of his men.

20 For Judas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessarie.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iews hoste, disclosed the secretes to the enemies: therefore hee was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and ‖ tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Judas, who ouercame him.

‖ Or, gaue and tooke the right hand.

23 But when hee vnderstoode, that Philip (whom hee had left to bee ouerseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that he yeelded himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an othe to do all things that were right, and was appeased toward them, and offered sacrifice, and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuertheless, when hee came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieued, they would that he should breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lysias vp into the iudgement seate, and excused the fact as well as he coulde, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius moued by Alcimus sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 19 Which hee yet breaketh through the motion of the king. 37 Nicanor commandeth Razis to be taken, who slayeth himselfe.

After three yeeres was Judas enformed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and nauie by the hauen of Tripolis,

2 And when hee had wonne the countrey, and slaine Antiochus and his Lieutenant Lysias.

3 Now Alcimus which had been the hie Priest, & wilfully defiled himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes he could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundreth, fiftie and one yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vsed solemnely in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to councell, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Iewes leaned vnto.

6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that be called Assideans, whose captaine is Judas Maccabeus maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am now come hither,

8 Partly, because I was well affectioned vnto the kings affaires, and secondly, because I sought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their rashnesse are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, O king, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Judas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these words, other friends also hauing euill will at Judas, set Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor, the ruler of the Elephantes, and made him captaine ouer Judea, 13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slay Judas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high Priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fledde out of Judea from Judas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselues with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himselfe a people for euer, and did alwaies defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remooued straightwaies from thence, and came to the towne of Dessau,

17 Where Simon Judas brother had

ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheless Nicanor hearing the manlinesse of them that were with Judas, and the bolde stomackes that they had for their countrey, durst not proue the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Wherefore, hee sent Possidonius, ‖ Theodotus, and ‖ Matthias before, to make peace.

‖ Or, Theodotus. ‖ Or, Mattathias.

20 So when they had taken long aduisement thereupon, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mind, and consented to the couenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for euery man his stoole.

22 Neuertheless Judas commanded certaine men of armes to wait in conuenient places, lest there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Jerusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

‖ Or, had Iudas before his eyes.

24 Hee ‖ loued Judas, and fauoured him in his heart.

25 He prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so hee married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betweene them, and vnderstanding the couenaunts that were made, came to Demetrius, and told him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hand, and ordeined Judas a traitor to the Realme to be his successor.

27 Then the king was displeased, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, saying, that hee was very angry for the couenants, commanding him ẏ hee should send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came vnto Nicanor, hee was astonished and sore grieued, that hee should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickednesse.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the king, he sought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor began to be rough vnto him, and that he intreated him more rudely then hee was wont, hee perceiued that such rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a fewe of his men, and withdrewe himselfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was preuented by Maccabeus worthy policy, came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offring their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they sware that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this maner, If ye will not deliuer me Judas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine fielde, and will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes he departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this maner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lorde, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stoppe all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Jerusalem, a louer of the citie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Jewes.

38 For this man aforetimes when the Jewes were minded to keepe themselues vndefiled and pure, being accused to be of the religion of the Jewes, did offer to spend his body and life, with all constancie for the religion of the Jewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Jewes, sent about fiue hundreth men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Jewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castell, and would haue broken the gates by violence, and commaunded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that hee was ready to bee taken on euery side, hee ‖ fell on his sworde,

‖ As this priuate example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the word of God, although the auth. seeme heere to approue it: so that place as touching prayer, Chap. 12.44. though Judas had appointed it, yet here it not sufficient to proue a doctrine, because it is only a particular example.

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as hee missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betweene the doores, he ranne boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conueyed themselues lightly away, and gaue place, so that hee fell vpon his belly.

45 Neuertheless while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, he rose roſe vp, and though his bloud guſhed out like a fountaine, and he was very ſore wounded, yet hee ranne thorow the middeſt of the people, 46 And gate him to the toppe of an high rocke: ſo when his blood was vtterly gone, hee tooke out his owne bowels with both his hands, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and ſpirit, that hee would reſtore them againe vnto him, and thus he dyed.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blaſpheme of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the viſion, incourageth them. 21 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head & hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giuen vnto the foules. 39 The autor excuſeth himſelfe.

NOw when Nicanor knewe that Iudas and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all aſſurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheleſſe, the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, ſaid, O kill not ſo cruelly and barbarouſly, but honour and ſanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that ſeeth all things.

3 But this moſt wicked perſon demaunded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commandeth the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they ſaid, There is a liuing Lorde, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the ſeuenth day to be kept,

5 Then he ſaid, And I am mighty vpon earth to commaund them for to arme themſelues, and to performe the Kings buſineſſe. Notwithſtanding, he could not accompliſh his wicked enterpriſe.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purpoſed to ſet vp a memoriall of the victorie obteined of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer ſtire confidence and a perfite hope that the Lord would helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had beene ſhewed vnto them from heauen, and to truſt now alſo, that they ſhould haue the victorie by the Almightie.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the Law and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and ſo made them more willing.

10 And ſtirred vp their hearts, and ſhewed them alſo the deceitfulneſſe of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed euery one of them, not with the aſſurance of ſhields and ſpeares, but with wholeſome words and exhortations, and ſhewed them a dreame worthy to be beleeued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his viſion, He thought that hee ſawe Onias (which had beene the high Prieſt, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of ſober converſation, well ſpoken, and one that had beene exerciſed in all points of godlineſſe from a childe) holding vp his hands toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14 And Onias ſpake, and ſaid, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy citie, to wit, Jeremias the Prophet of God.

15 Hee thought alſo that Jeremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Judas a ſword of gold: and as hee gaue it, hee ſpake thus, 16 Take this holy ſworde a gift from God, wherewith thou ſhalt wound the aduerſaries.

17 And ſo being comforted by the words of Judas, which were very ſweete and able to ſtirre them vp to valiantneſſe, and to encourage the hearts of the young men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageouſly to ſet vpon them, and manfully to aſſaile them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, becauſe the City and the Sanctuary and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues, and children, and brethren, and kinſfolks, they ſet leſſe by their danger: but their greateſt and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Againe they that were in the city, were carefull for the armie that was abroad.

20 Now whiles they all awaited for the triall of the matter, and the enemies now mette with them, and the hoſt was ſet in aray, and the ‖ beaſtes were ſeparated into conuenient places, and the horſemen were placed in the wings: ‖ Or, elephants.

21 Maccabeus conſidering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fierceneſſe of the beaſts, held vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victorie commeth not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victorie to them that are worthie, as ſeemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer hee ſayd after this manner, O Lord, * thou that diddeſt ſend thine Angel in the time of Ezechias King * 1. king. 19. 35. iſa. 37. 36. 10k. 1. 18. eccluſ. 48. 22.

King of Iudea, who in the host of Sennacherib slew an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand,

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lorde of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them bee discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these words he made an end.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere with trumpets and shoutings for ioy.

26 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountred with the enemies, 27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slew no lesse then fiue and thirtie thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wonderously comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstoode that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shoute and a cry, praysing the Almightie in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and mind, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Hierusalem.

31 And when hee came there, hee called all them of his nation, and set the Priests by the Altar, and sent for them of the castell, 32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemour which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almightie with proude bragges.

33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to bee cut in little pieces, & to be cast vnto foules, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man prayed towarde the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 Hee hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castell, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:

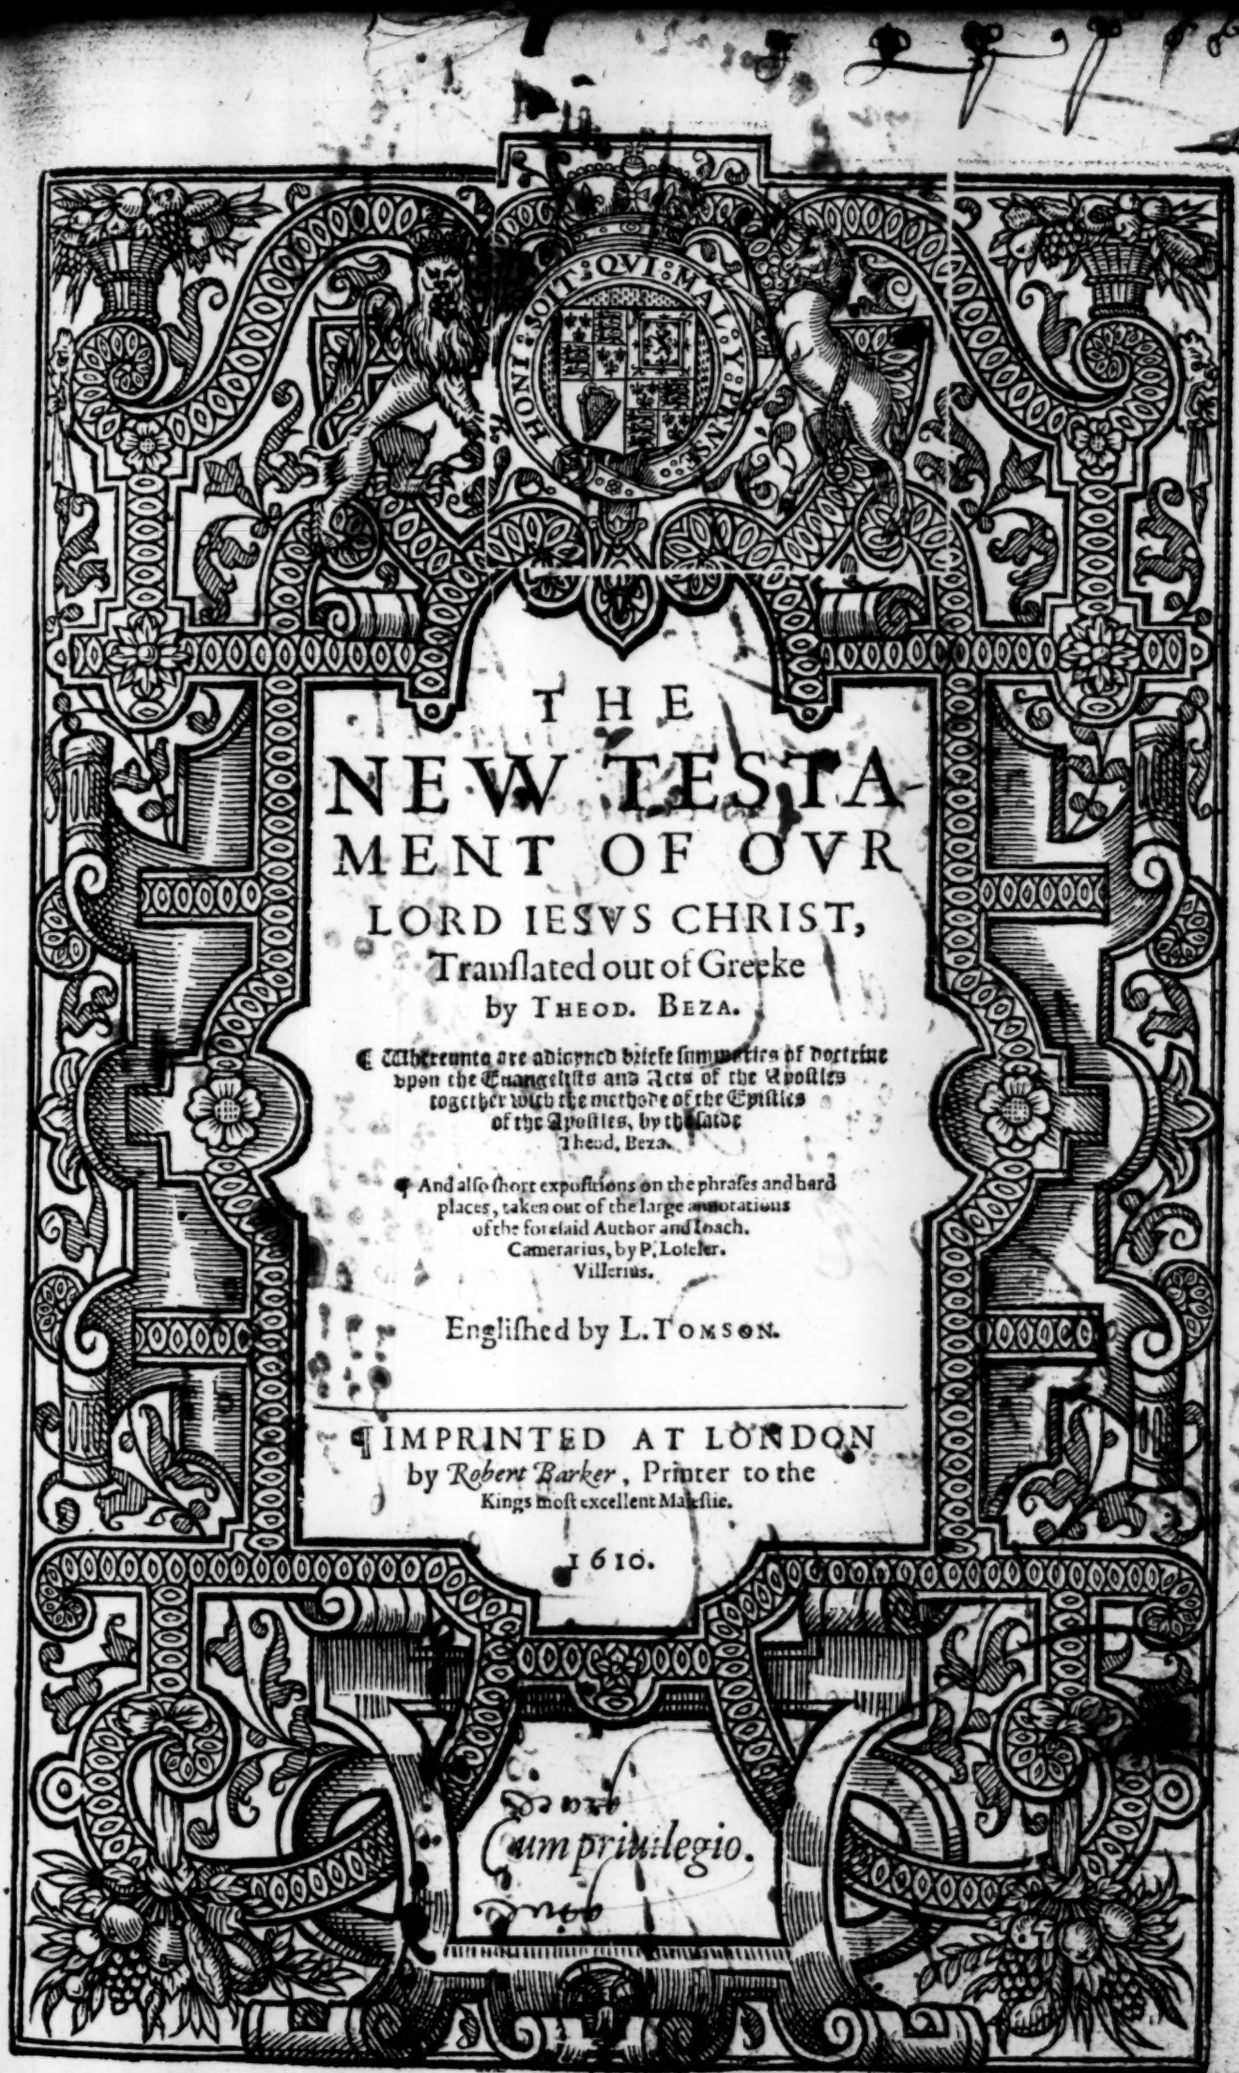
37 And that the feast should bee the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And here will I also make an ende.

39 If I haue done well, & as the storie required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water, and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the storie. And here shall be the end.

THE ENDE OF APOCRYPHA.



THE NEW TESTAMENT OF OVR LORD IESVS CHRIST,

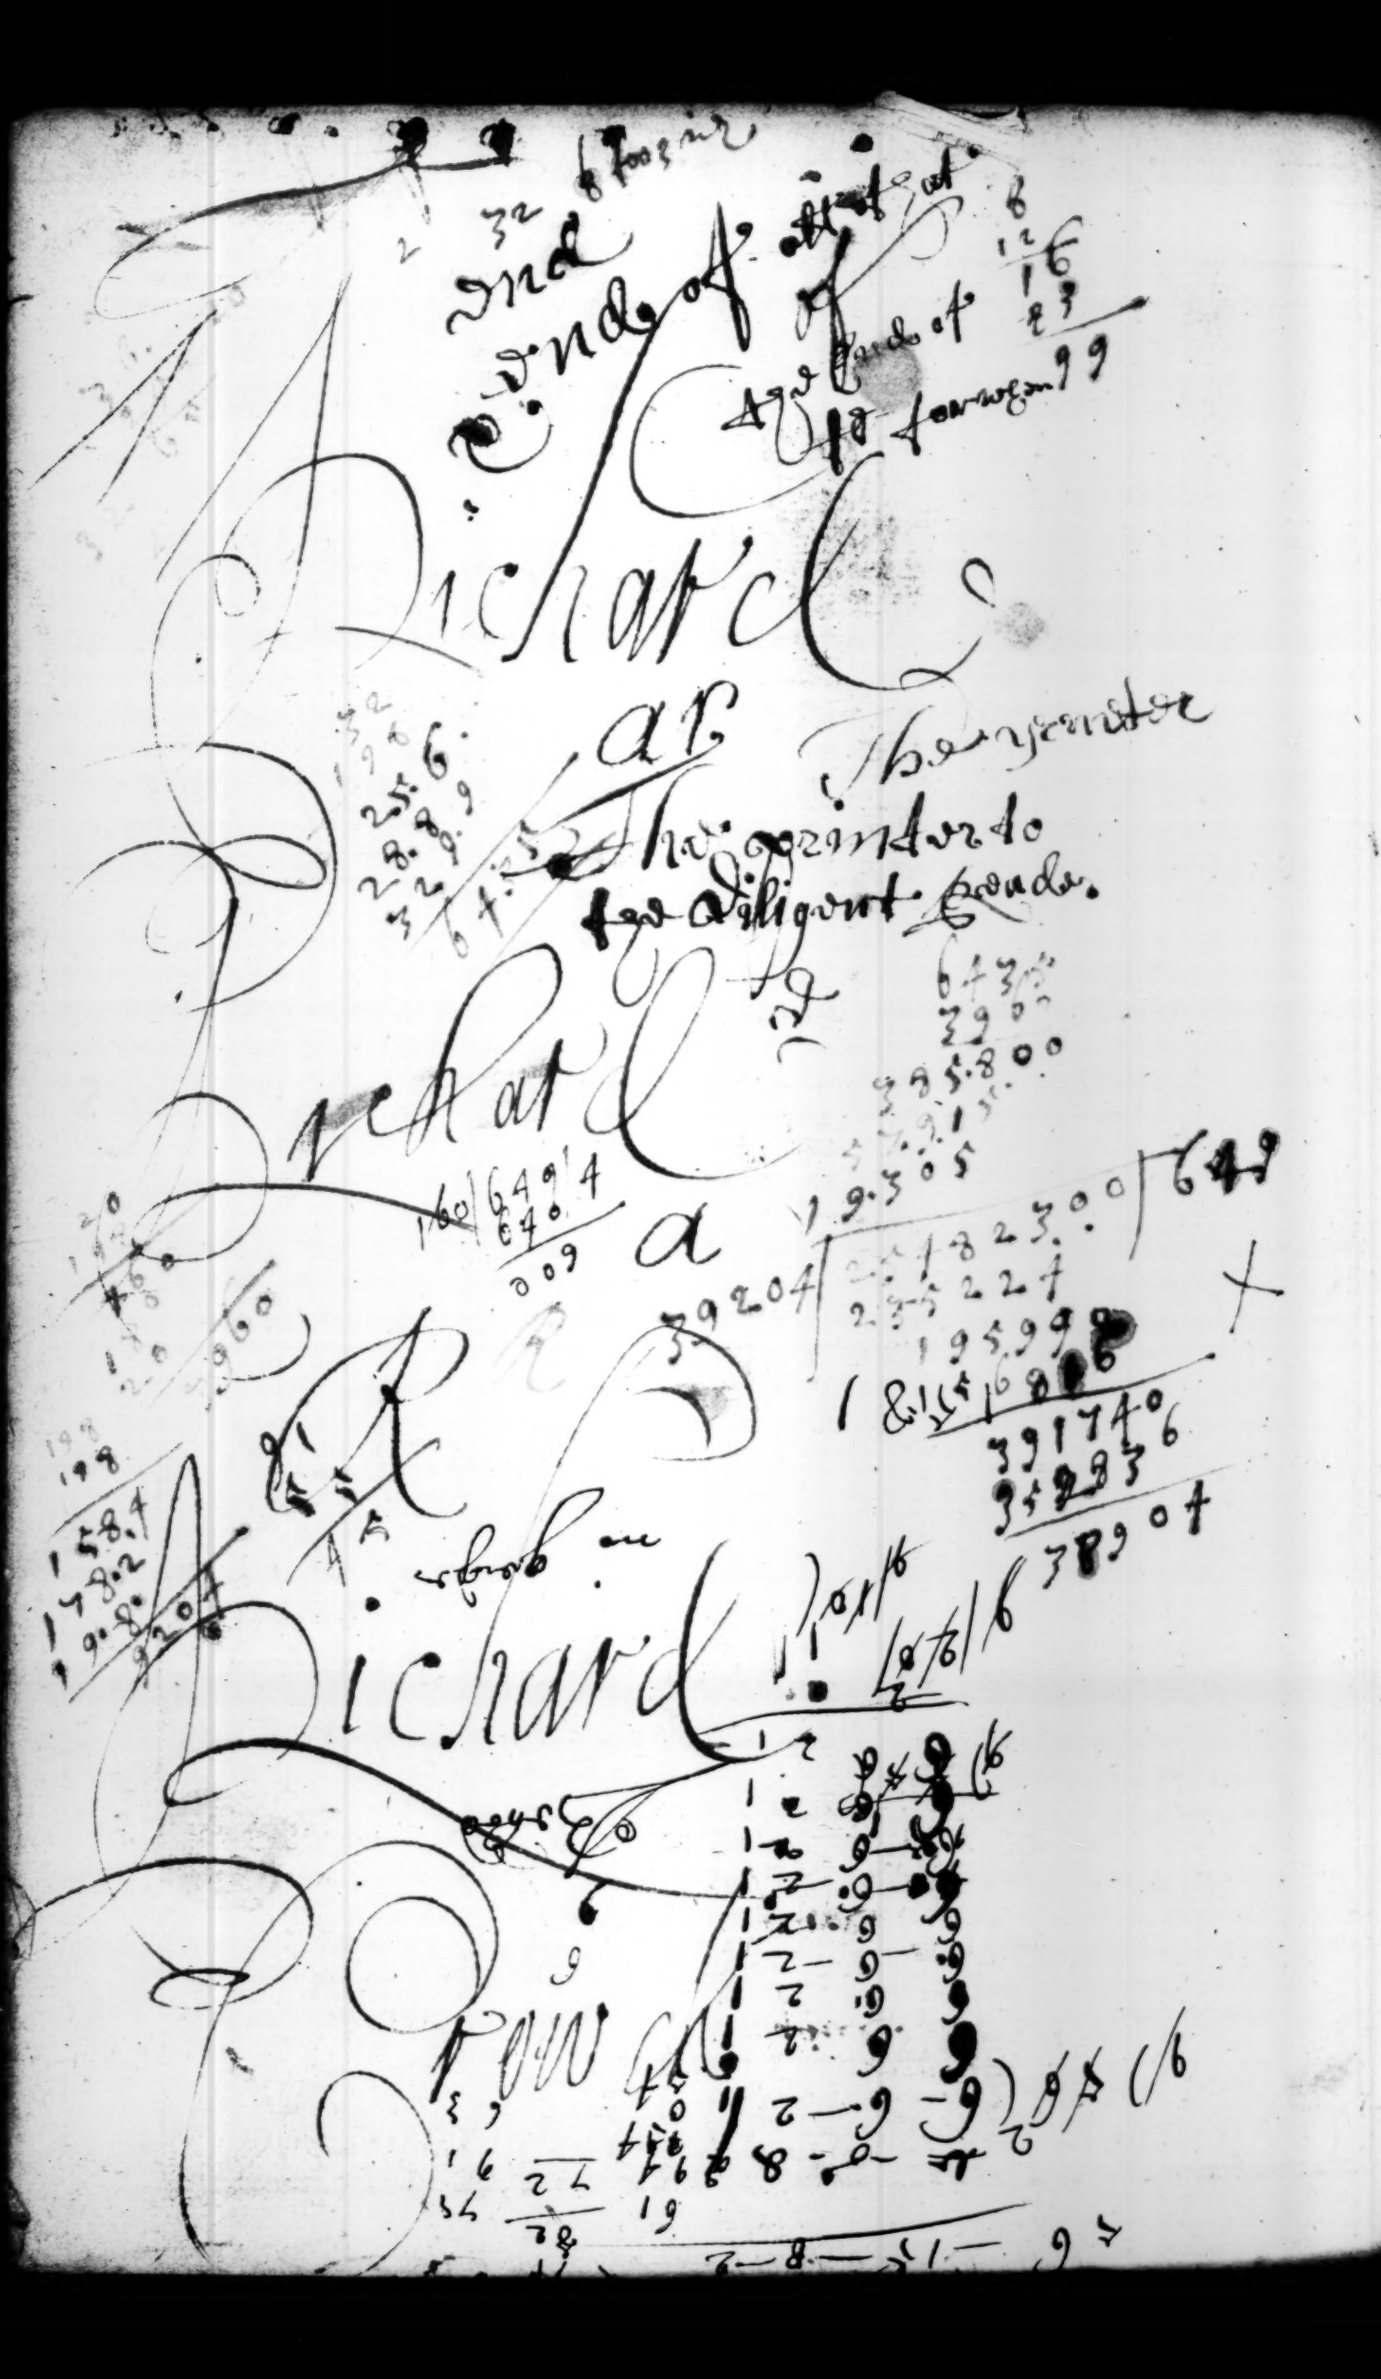
Cum priuilegio.



The Printer to the diligent Reader.

DEare Chriſtian Reader, to the intent thou mighteſt the better enioy the benefit of theſe Notes or expoſitions vpon the Newe Teſtament: I thought it not amiſſe to declare vnto thee the vſe of the ſame. And firſt, foraſmuch as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, containing like phraſe or ſenſe, haue beene ſo placed, that none without great labour could finde out the Textes alleaged, I haue made this marke, * and haue ſet it as well in the margent, as in the text, ſo that thou mayſt eaſily finde that which thou deſireſt. For example, in the firſt word of the firſt Chapter of Matthew is placed this firſt marke *, looke out the like marke in the margent, and there thou ſhalt finde, Luke 3.23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew, and ſo likewiſe thou ſhalt finde in the reſidue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word or ſentence, the firſt is onely marked, and thoſe that follow vnmarked appertaine to the ſame.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmeticke, as 1.2.3. 4,&c. throughout the Euangeliſts and Actes, declare the effect or ſum of the doctrine conteined between one of the ſaid figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the firſt line and firſt word of Matthew vnto the figure 2. in the 18. verſe of the ſame Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is ſet downe in the margent in this ſort, 1. Ieſus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the ſtocke of Dauid, as GOD promiſed.

And in the Epiſtles in like ſort they declare the methode and arte which the Apoſtles vſe, and how euery argument or reaſon dependeth one vpon another: theſe figures are begun againe at the beginning of euery Chapter. Laſtly, the Notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like anſwering vnto them in the margent, ſerue to expound and lighten the darke words and phraſes immediatly following them. As in the firſt line and ſecond word, the letter, a, being referred vnto, a, directly againſt him in the margent, ſheweth that this word, Booke, ſignifieth A rehearſall as the Hebrewes vſe to ſpeake: as Geneſ. 5.1. The booke of the generations. Theſe letters begin at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto, z, and ſo beginning againe with, a, if there be ſo many Notes that they do exceed in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruite, and giue the praiſe to GOD.

Farewell.

The

The holy Gospel of Iesus Christ, according to S. Matthew.

CHAP. I.

1 That Iesus is that Messias, the Sauiour promised to the Fathers. 18 The natiuitie of Christ.

THE [a] booke of the [b] generation of IESVS CHRIST the sonne of Dauid, the [c] sonne of Abraham.

2 *Abraham begate Isaac. *And Isaac begate Iacob. And *Iacob begate Iudas and his brethren.

3 *And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And *Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram.

4 And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begate Salmon.

5 And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab. And *Booz begate Obed of Ruth. And Obed begate Iesse.

6 And *Iesse begate Dauid the King. And *Dauid the King begate Solomon of her that was the wife of Urias.

7 And *Solomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa.

8 And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Ozias.

9 And Ozias begate Joatham. And Joatham begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezekias.

10 And *Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iosias.

11 And *Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim [d] begate Iechonias & his brethren, about the time they were caried away to Babylon.

12 And after they were caried away into Babylon, *Iechonias begate Salathiel. *And Salathiel begate Zorobabel.

13 And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begate Eliacim. And Eliacim begate Azor.

14 And Azor begate Sadoc. And Sadoc begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.

15 And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Iacob.

16 And Iacob begate Ioseph the husband of Marie, of whom was borne IESVS, that is called Christ.

17 So [e] all the generations from Abraham to Dauid, are foureteene generations. And from Dauid vntil they were caried away into Babylon, foureteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, foureteene generations.

18 Now the birth of [2] IESVS Christ was thus, When as his mother Marie was *betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, shee was founde with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, [g] not willing to *make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles hee thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph the sonne of Dauid, feare not to [f] take Mary thy [g] wife: for that which is [h] conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And shee shall bring [3] forth a sonne, and thou shalt *call his name IESVS: for hee shall *[i] saue his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might bee fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying, 23 *Behold, a [k] virgine shalbe with child, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

24 Then Ioseph, being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.

25 But hee knew her not, till shee had brought forth her first borne sonne, and he called his name IESVS.

CHAP. II.

The wisemen, who are the first fruits of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Ioseph flieth into Egypt with Iesus and his mother. 16 Herod slayeth the children.

WHen * [1] IESVS then was borne at Bethlem in [2] Iudea, in the dayes of *Luke 2.6.

1 Christ a poore babe, laid before in a crib and nothing set by of his owne people: receiueth notwithstanding a noble witnesse of his diuinitie from heauen, and of his kingly estate, of strangers: which his owne also vnwittingly allow of, although they see not acknowledge him.
2 For there was another in the tribe of Zabulon.

Herod the king, behold, there came [b] Wisemen from the East to Hierusalem,

2 Saying, Where is that King of the Iewes that is borne? for wee haue seene his starre in the East, [f] and are come to worship him.

3 When King Herod heard this, he was [c] troubled, and all Ierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the [d] chiefe Priests and [e] Scribes of the people, he asked of them where Christ should be borne.

5 And they sayd vnto him, At Beth-leem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 *And thou Beth-leem in the land of Iuda, art not the [f] least among the Princes of Iuda: For out of thee shall come the gouernour that [g] shall feede my people Israel.

7 Then Herod priuily called the Wisemen, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring me word again, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came and stood ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and [h] fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their [i] treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, euen gold, and frankincense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were [k] warned of God in a dreame, that they should not goe againe to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way.

13 ¶ [2] After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word: for Herod will seeke the babe to destroy him.

14 So he arose, and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt,

15 And was there vnto the death of Herod, that that might bee fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the *Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my sonne.

16 ¶ Then Herod, seeing that hee was mocked of ỹ Wisemen, was exceeding wroth, and sent foorth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two yeere old and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wisemen.

17 Then was that fulfilled which is spoken [1] by the Prophet Ieremias, saying, 18 *In Rhama was [m] a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: [n] Rachel weeping for her children, and would not bee comforted, because they were not.

19 [3] And when Herod was dead, behold, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Ioseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.

21 Then hee arose vp and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reigne in Iudea in stead of his father Herod, he was afraid to goe thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aside into the parts of Galile, 23 And went and dwelt in a citie called Nazareth, that it might bee fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That he should be called a Nazarite.

CHAP. III.

1 Iohn preacheth. 4 His apparell and meat. 5 He baptizeth. 8 The fruits of repentance. 10 The axe at the root of the tree. 12 The fan and the chaffe. 13 Christ is baptized.

AND in [a] those dayes, 1*Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the [b] wildernesse of Iudea.

2 And sayd, [c] Repent: for the [d] kingdome of heauen is at hand.

3 For this is hee of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Esaias, saying, *The voyce of him that crieth in the wildernesse, Prepare yee the way of the Lord: [e] make his pathes straight.

4 *And this Iohn had his garment of camels haire, and a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: his meate was also [f] locusts and wilde honie.

5 *Then went out to [g] him Ierusalem and all Iudea, and all the region round about Iordan.

6 And they were baptized of him in Iordan, [h] confessing their sinnes.

n That is to say All that coast, about Bethlehem: for Rachel Iacobs wife, who died in childbed, was buried in the way that leadeth to this towne, which is also called Ephrata, because of the fruitfulnesse of the soyle, and plentie of corne.

3 Christ is brought vp in Nazareth, after the death of the tyrant by Gods prouidence: that by the very name of the place, it might plainely appeare to the world, that he is the Lords true Nazarite.

a Not when Ioseph went to dwell at Nazareth, but a great while after, about the space of fiue and twentie yeres: for in the thirtieth yeere of his age was Iesus baptized of Iohn: therefore by those dayes, is meant, at that time that Iesus remained as yet an inhabitant of the towne of Nazareth.

b Iohn who, though his singular holinesse and rare austerenesse of life, caused all men to cast their eyes vpon him, prepareth the way for Christ following fast on at his heeles, as the Prophet Esai foretold, and deliuereth the summe of the Gospel, which in short space after should be deliuered more fully. b In an hilly countrey, which was notwithstanding inhabited, for Zacharie dwelt there: Luke 1.40, & there was Ioabs house, 1. kin. 2.34. and besides these, Iehoshua maketh mention of fiue townes that were in this wildernesse, chap. 15.61. c The word in the Greeke tongue signifieth a changing of our mindes and hearts from euill to better. d The kingdome of Messias, whose gouernment shall be heauenly, and nothing but heauenly. e Make him a plaine and smooth way. f Locusts were a kinde of meat, which certaine of the East people vse, which were therefore called deuourers of locusts, Eust. in Od. 9. g The people of Ierusalem. h Acknowledging that they were saued only by free remission and forgiuenesse of their sins. 2 There is nothing that stopped vp the way of mercy and saluation against vs so much as the opinion of our vaine righteousnesse vnto.

10 And nowe also is the axe put to the roote of the trees: * therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruite, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

13 ¶ *[7] Then came Iesus from Galile to Iordan vnto Iohn, to be baptized of him.

14 But Iohn earnestly put him backe, saying, I haue neede to be baptized of thee, and commest thou to me?

15 Then Iesus answering, saide to him, Let bee nowe: for thus it becommeth vs to fulfill [n] all righteousnesse. So hee suffered him.

16 And Iesus when he was baptized, came straight out [o] of the water. And loe, the heauens were opened vnto [p] him, and Iohn sawe the spirit of God descending like a Doue, and lighting vpon him.

17 [8] And loe, a voyce came from heauen, saying, * This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am [p] well pleased.

3 True repentance, is an inward thing, which hath it seat in the mind and heart.

l The outward signe putteth vs in minde of this, that we must change our liues and become better, assuring vs as by a seale, that we are ingrafted into Christ, whereby our old man dieth, and the new man riseth vp, Rom.6.

NOwe when hee was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

3 And Iesus putting forth his hand, touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane: and immediatly his leprosie was cleansed.

4 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, See thou tell no man, but goe, and shewe thy selfe vnto the Priest, and offer the gift that *Moses commanded, for a witnesse to them.

5 ¶ *2 When Iesus was entred into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him,

7 And Iesus sayd vnto him, I will come and heale him.

8 But the Centurion answered, saying, Master, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come vnder my roofe: but speake the word only, and my seruant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man also vnder the authority of another, & haue souldiers vnder mee: and I say to one, Goe, and hee goeth: and to another, Come, and hee commeth: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doth it.

10 When Iesus heard that, hee marueiled, and said to them that followed him, Verily, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, euen in Israel.

15 And he touched her hand, and the feuer left her: so she arose, and ministred vnto them.

16 *When the Euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with diuels: and hee cast out the spirits with his word, and healed [c] all that were sicke, 17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by *Esaias the Prophet, saying, Hee tooke our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses.

18 ¶ *And when Iesus saw great multitudes of people about him, hee commanded them to goe [d] ouer the water.

19 [4] Then came there a certain Scribe, and sayd vnto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoeuer thou goest.

21 ¶ [5] And another of his disciples sayd vnto him, Master, suffer mee first to goe, and burie my father.

22 But Iesus sayd vnto him, Follow me, and let the dead burie their dead.

23 ¶ *[6] And when hee was entered into the ship, his disciples followed him.

24 And behold, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was couered with waues: but he was asleepe.

25 Then his disciples came, and awoke him, saying, Master, saue vs: we perish.

26 And he sayd vnto them, Why are yee fearefull, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the windes and the sea: and so there was a great calme.

27 And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the windes and the sea obey him!

28 ¶ *[7] And when he was come to the other side into the countrey of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with diuels which came out of the graues very fierce, so that no man might goe by that way.

29 And behold, they cried out, saying, Iesus the sonne of God, what haue wee to doe with thee? Art thou come hither to torment vs before the time?

30 Now there was, [f] a farre off from them, a great heard of swine feeding.

31 And the diuels besought him, saying, If thou cast vs out, suffer vs to goe into the heard of swine.

32 And hee said vnto them, Go. So they went out and departed into the heard of swine. and behold, the whole heard of swine ranne headlong into the Sea, and died in the water.

33 Then the heardmen fled: and when they were come into the citie, they told all things, and what was become of them that were possessed with the deuils.

34 And behold, all the citie came out to meete Iesus: and when they saw him, they besought him to [g] depart out of their coasts.

3 And behold, certaine of the Scribes said with themselues, This man [c] blasphemeth.

4 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke ye euill things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sinnes, (then said hee vnto the sicke of the palsie,) Arise, take vp thy bedde, and goe to thine house.

7 And he arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude saw it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authoritie to men.

9 ¶ *[2] And as Iesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man sitting at the [d] custome, named Matthew, and said to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

15 ¶ He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

16 *[3] But whereunto shall I liken this generation? [e] It is like vnto little children which sit in the markets, and call vnto their fellowes, 17 And say, We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not danced, wee haue mourned vnto you, and ye haue not lamented.

18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill.

19 The sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a glutton and a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicanes and sinners: [4] but [f] wisdome is iustified of her children.

20 ¶ [5] * Then began he to vpbraide the cities, wherein most of his great workes were done, because they repented not.

21 Woe be to thee, Chorazin: Woe bee to thee Bethsaida: for if the great workes which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long agone in sackecloth and ashes.

22 But I say to you, It shalbe easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you.

23 And thou, Capernaum, which art lifted vp vnto heauen, shalt be brought downe to hell: for if the great workes, which haue bene done in thee, had beene done among them of Sodom, they had remained to this day.

24 But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom in the day of iudgement, then for thee.

25 * At that time Iesus answered, & sayd, I giue thee thankes, O father, Lord of heauen and earth, because thou hast hid these things, from the wise and men of vnderstanding, and hast [g] opened them vnto babes.

26 It is [h] so, O Father, because thy [i] good pleasure was such.

27 [6] All things are giuen vnto mee of my father: and no man knoweth the Sonne, but the father: neither knoweth any man the Father, but the Sonne, and he to whom the sonne will reueile him.

28 Come vnto me, all yee that are wearie and laden, and I will ease you.

29 Take my yoke on you, and learne of me that I am meeke and lowly in heart: and yee shall finde* rest vnto your soules.

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore, it is lawfull to doe well on the Sabbath day.

13 Then said he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And hee stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 [3] Then the Pharises went out and consulted against him, how they might destroy him.

15 But when Iesus knew it, hee departed thence, and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all.

24 But when the Pharises heard it, they sayd, *This man casteth the deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 [5] But Iesus knew their thoughts, and sayd to them, Euery kingdome deuided against it selfe, is brought to nought: and euery citie or house, deuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, hee is deuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

27 Also if I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore they shall be your iudges.

28 But if I cast out deuils by the Spirit of God, then is the kingdome of God come vnto you.

38 ¶ [8] *Then answered certaine of the Scribes and of the Pharises, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

THe * same day went Jesus out of the house, and sate by the sea side.

* Marke 4.1. luke 8.4.5.

1 Christ sheweth in putting forth this parable of the sower, that the seed of life which is sowen in the world commeth not on so well in one as in another, and the reason is for that men for the most part, either doe not receiue it, or suffer it not to ripen.

2 [1] And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that hee went into a shippe, and sate downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then hee spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sowe.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the foules came & deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stonie ground, where they had not much earth, & anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprung vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and brought foorth fruite, one corne an hundreth folde, some sixtie fold, and another thirtie fold.

9 Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him, why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 [2] And he answered, and said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you to know the secrets of the kingdome of heauen, but to them it is not giuen.

2 The gift of vnderstanding and of faith is proper to the elect, and all the rest are blinded through the iust iudgement of God.

12 * For whosoeuer hath, to him shall bee giuen, and he shal haue abundance: but whosoeuer hath not, from him shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

* Chap. 25.29.

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophecie of Esaias, which prophecie saith, * By hearing, ye shal heare, and shal not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceiue.

16 [3] But blessed are your eies, for they see, and your eares, for they heare.

17 * For verily I say vnto you, that many Prophets, & righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, & haue not seene them, & to heare those things, which yee heare and haue not heard them.

a Though there be mention made of the heart, yet this sowing is referred to hearing without vnderstanding. For whether the seed be receiued in the heart or no, yet he that soweth, soweth to the heart.

20 And he that receiued seede in the stonie ground, is he which heareth the word, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it, 21 Yet hath hee no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for assoone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And hee that receiued the seede among thornes, is he that heareth the worde: but the care of this worlde, and the deceitfulnesse of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But he that receiued the seed in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruite and bringeth foorth, some an hundreth folde, some sixtie folde, and some thirtie folde.

24 ¶ [4] Another parable put he foorth vnto them, saying, The Kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his fielde.

4 Christ sheweth in an other parable of the euill seede mixt with the good, that the Church shall neuer bee free & quit from offences, both in doctrine and manners, vntill the day appointed for the restoring of all things be come, and therefore the faithfull haue to arme themselues with patience and constancie.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemie, and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought foorth fruite, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and saide vnto him, Master, sowedst not thou good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he saide to them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants saide vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?

29 But hee said, Nay, least while yee goe about to gather the tares, yee plucke vp also with them the wheate.

17 Then sayd they vnto him, Wee haue here but fiue loaues and two fishes.

18 And hee sayd, Bring them hither to mee.

19 And hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the fiue loaues and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and blessed, and brake, and gaue the loaues to his disciples and the disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eate and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remayned, twelue baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousand men, beside women and litle children.

22 ¶ And straightway Jesus compelled his Disciples to enter into a shippe, and to goe ouer before him, while hee sent the multitude away.

23 And assoone as hee had sent the multitude away, he went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: and * when the euening was come, he was there alone.

*Mar.6.45.46. 47. iohn 6.16. 17,18.

24 [3] And the ship was nowe in the middes of the sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrary winde.

3 The ship must suffer euen through mighty tempests, & Christ will not suffer shipwracke vs, that we go whither he hath commanded vs.

25 And in the [c] fourth watch of the night, Jesus went vnto them, walking on the Sea.

c By the fourth watch is meant the time neere the day breaking: for in olde time deuided the night into foure watches in which they scoured.

26 And when his disciples sawe him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a [d] spirit, and cryed out for feare.

d A spirit, as it here taken, is that which a man imagineth to himself vainly in his mind, perswading himselfe that he seeth something, and seeth nothing.

27 But straightway Jesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort, It is I: be not afraide.

28 [4] Then Peter answered him, and sayd, Master, if it be thou, bid me come vnto thee on the water.

4 By faith we tread vnder our feete euen ỹ tempests themselues, but yet by the vertue of Christ which helpeth ỹ vertue, which he of his mercie hath giuen.

29 And he saide, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the shippe, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus.

30 But when he saw a mightie winde, he was afraid: and as he began to sinke, he cryed, saying, Master, saue me.

* Marke 6.54.

31 So immediatly Jesus stretched foorth his hand, and caught him, and said vnto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore diddest thou doubt?

32 And assoone as they were come into the Ship, the wind ceased.

33 Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a trueth thou art the Sonne of God.

34 ¶ * And when they were come ouer, they came into the land of [e] Gennezaret.

e This Gennereth was a lake nigh to Capernaum, which is also called the sea of Galile, & Tiberias, so that ỹ countrey it selfe got to be called by that name.

35 [5] And when the men of that place knew him, they sent out into all that countrey round about, and brought vnto him, all that were sicke.

5 In that that Christ healeth the sicke, he vrgeth vs to vnderstand, that we must seeke remedie for their miseries at his handes: and that we are bound not only to succour ourselues, but also to bring others vnto him.

36 And besought him that they might touch the hemme of his garment only: and as many as touched it were made whole.

Then [1] came to Jesus the Scribes and Pharises, which were of Jerusalem, saying,

4 * For God hath commanded, saying, [b] Honour thy father and mother: * and hee that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But yee say, [c] whosoeuer shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profite,

6 Though hee honour not his father or his mother, shalbe free: thus haue yee made the commandement of God of no [d] authority by your tradition.

7 [3] O hypocrites, Esaias prophecied wel of you, saying,

8 * This people draweth neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honoureth me with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me.

9 But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines mens precepts.

10 [4] Then hee called the multitude vnto him, and sayd to them, Heare and vnderstand.

11 * That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which commeth out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and sayd vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharises are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But hee answered and sayd, * Euery plant which mine heauenly Father hath not planted shall bee rooted vp.

14 Let them alone, they be the * blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde leade the blinde, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 ¶ * Then answered Peter, and sayd to him, Declare vnto vs this Parable.

16 Then sayd Iesus, Are yee yet without vnderstanding?

17 Perceiue yee not yet, that whatsoeuer entreth into the mouth, goeth into the bellie, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of [y] heart [x] come euill thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, slaunders.

20 These are the things, which defile the man: but to eate with vnwashen handes, defileth not the man.

21 * And Iesus went thence, and departed into the [e] coastes of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And beholde, a woman a [f] Cananite came out of the same coastes, and cryed, saying vnto him, Haue mercie on me, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill, 23 [5] But he answered her not a word. Then came to him his Disciples, and besought him, saying, Send her away, for she crieth after vs.

24 But he answered, and sayd, I am not sent but vnto the * lost Sheepe of the [g] house of Israel.

25 Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, helpe me.

26 And hee answered, and sayd, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to whelps.

27 But she said, Trueth, Lord: yet indeede the whelps eat of the crummes, which fal from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ [6] So Iesus * went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galile, and went vp into a mountaine and sate downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, * hauing with them, halt, blind, dumme, [h] maimed and many other, and cast them downe at Iesus feete, and he healed them.

31 Insomuch that the multitude wondered, to see the dumme speake, the maymed whole, the halt to goe, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 * [7] Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him, and said, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue [i] continued with me already three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them depart fasting, least they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples said vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wildernes, as should suffice so great a multitude!

34 And Iesus said vnto them, How many loaues haue yee? And they saide, Seuen, and a few litle fishes.

35 Then he commanded the multitude to [k] sit downe on the ground, 36 And tooke the seuen loaues, and the fishes, and gaue thankes, and brake them, and gaue to his Disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eat, and were sufficed: and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, seuen [l] baskets full.

38 And they that had eaten, were foure thousande men, beside women, and litle children.

39 Then Iesus sent away the multitude, and tooke shippe, and came into the warts of Magdala.

8 But Ieſus [d] knowing it, ſaide vnto them, O ye of litle faith, why reaſon yee thus among your ſelues, becauſe yee haue brought no bread?

12 Then vnderſtoode they that he had not ſayde that they ſhould beware of the leauen of bread, but of the doctrine of the Phariſes, and Sadduces.

13 [3]* Now when Ieſus came into the coaſtes of [h] Ceſarea Philippi, hee aſked his diſciples, ſaying, Whom doe men ſay that I, the ſonne of man am?

22 Then Peter [q] tooke him aſide, and began to rebuke him, ſaying, Maſter, pitie thy ſelfe: this ſhall not be vnto thee.

23 [9] Then he turned backe, and ſaid vnto Peter, Get thee behind me, [r] Satan: thou art an offence vnto me, becauſe thou [s] vnderſtandeſt not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 [10] Ieſus then ſaid to his diſciples, *If any man will followe me, let him forſake him ſelfe, and take vp his croſſe, and follow me.

26 Peter sayd vnto him, Of strangers. Then saide Iesus vnto him, Then are the children free.

3 And said, Verely I say vnto you, except ye be *[b] conuerted, & become as litle children, yee shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen.

5 And whosoeuer shall receiue one such litle childe in my Name, receiueth me.

6 *[2] But whosoeuer shall offende one of these litle ones which beleeue in mee, it were better for him, that a millstone were hanged about his necke, and that hee were drowned in the depth of the Sea.

7 [3] Woe be vnto the worlde because of offences: for it must needes bee that [c] offences shall come, bu woe be to that man by whome the offence commeth.

8 *Wherefore, if thy hande or thy foote cause thee to [d] offende, cut them off, & cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maymed, then hauing two hands, or two feete, to be cast into euerlasting fire.

9 And if thine eye cause thee to offende, plucke it out and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then hauing two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

10 [4] See that yee despise not one of these litle ones: for I say vnto you, that in heauen their *Angels alwayes beholde the face of my Father which is in heauen.

11 For *the Sonne of man is come to saue that which was lost.

12 How thinke yee? *If a man haue an hundreth Sheepe, and one of them bee gone astray, doeth he not leaue ninetie and nine, and goe into the mountaines, and seeke that which is gone astray?

13 And if so bee that hee finde it, verily I say vnto you, he reioyceth more of that sheepe, then of the ninetie and nine which went not astray:

14 So is it not the will of your Father which is in heauen, that one of these litle ones should perish.

15 [*5] Moreouer, if thy brother trespasse against [c] thee, goe and tell him his fault betweene thee and him alone: if hee heare thee, thou hast wonne thy brother.

16 But if hee heare thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the *[f] mouth of two or three witnesses euery worde may bee [g] confirmed.

17 [6] And if he [h] refuse to heare them, tell it vnto the [i] Church: and if he refuse to heare the Church also, let him be vnto thee as [k] an heathen man, and a Publicane.

18 Verely I say vnto you, *Whatsoeuer ye bind on earth, shalbe bound in heauen: and *whatsoeuer yee loose on earth, shalbe loosed in heauen.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the mids of them.

21 [7] Then came Peter to him, & said, Master, howoft shal my brother sinne against me, and I shall forgiue him? *vnto seuen times?

22 Iesus said vnto him, I say not vnto thee, Vnto seuen times, but, vnto seuentie times seuen times.

23 Therefore is the Kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine King, which woulde take an account of his seruants.

24 And when hee had begunne to reckon, one was brought vnto him, which ought him [m] ten thousand talents.

25 And because he had nothing to pay, his Lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and his children, & all that he had, and the debt to be payd.

26 The seruant therfore fel down, & [n] worshipped him, saying, Lord, [o] refraine thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then that seruants Lord had compassion, and loosed him, and forgaue him the debt.

28 But when the seruaunt was departed, he found one of his fellowe seruaunts, which ought him an hundred pence, and he laid hands on him, and thratled him, saying, Pay me that that thou owest.

29 Then his fellow seruant fell downe at his feet, and besought him, saying, Refraine thine anger towards me, & I will pay thee all,

30 Yet hee would not, but went, and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31 And when his other fellow seruants sawe what was done, they were very sorie, and came, and declared vnto their Lorde all that was done.

32 Then his Lorde called him vnto him, and saide to him, O euill seruaunt, I forgaue thee all that debt, because thou prayedst me.

33 Oughtest not thou also to haue had pitie on thy fellowe seruant, euen as I had pitie on thee?

34 So his Lorde was wroth, and deliuered him to the tormentours, till hee should pay all that was due vnto him.

35 So likewise shall mine heauenly Father do vnto you, except ye forgiue from your hearts, eche one to his brother their tresprses.

1 The sicke are healed. 3 and 7 A bill of diuorcement. 12 Eunuches. 13 Children brought to Christ. 17 God onely good. The commandements must bee kept. 21 A perfect man. 23 A rich man. 26 Saluation commeth of God. 27 To leaue all and follow Christ.

And

AND * it came to passe that when Iesus had finished these sayings hee [a] departed from Galile, and came into the coastes of Iudea beyond Iordan.

2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

3 ¶ [1] Then came vnto him the Pharises tempting him, and saying to him, Is it lawfull for a man to [b] put away his wife vpon euery occasion?

4 And he answered and sayd vnto them, Haue ye not read, * that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female,

5 And saide, * For this cause shall a man leaue Father and Mother, and [c] cleaue vnto his wife, and they which were [d] two shall bee one flesh?

6 Wherefore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let no man therefore put asunder that, which God hath [e] coupled together.

7 [2] They said to him, Why did then * Moses commaund to giue a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away?

8 Hee said vnto them, Moses, [f] because of the hardnesse of your heart, [g] suffered you to put away your wiues: but from the beginning it was not so.

9 I say therefore vnto you, * that whosoeuer shall put away his wife, except it be [h] for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adulterie: and whosoeuer marrieth her which is diuorced, doeth commit adulterie.

10 Then saide his disciples to him, If the [i] matter be so betweene man and wife, it is not good to marry.

11 [3] But he sayd vnto them, All men cannot [k] receiue this thing, saue they to whom it is giuen.

12 For there are some [l] eunuches, which were so borne of their mothers belly: & there be some eunuches, which bee gelded by men: and there be some eunuches, which haue [m] gelded themselues for the kingdom of heauen. He that is able to receiue this, let him receiue it.

13 ¶ [4] * Then were brought to him litle children, that he should put his hands on them, and pray: and the Disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus saide, Suffer the litle children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the Kingdome of heauen.

15 And when hee had put his handes on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ [5] * And beholde, one came and saide vnto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life?

17 And he said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe the commandements.

18 He said to him, Which? And Iesus said * These, Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnesse, 19 Honour thy Father and Mother: and thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

20 The yong man said vnto him, I haue obserued all these things from my youth: what lacke I yet?

21 Iesus said vnto him, If [n] thou wilt bee perfit, goe sell that thou hast, and giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, and follow me.

22 And when the young man heard that saying, hee went away sorowfull: for hee had great possessions.

23 [6] Then Iesus said vnto his disciples, Verily I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the Kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is [o] easier for a [p] camell to go through the eye of a needle, then for a richman to enter into the Kingdome of God.

25 And when his Disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saued?

26 And Iesus beheld them, and said vnto them, With men this is vnpossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 ¶ * Then answered Peter, and said to him, Behold, we haue forsaken al, and followed thee: what therefore shall we haue?

28 [7] And Iesus said vnto them, Verely I say to you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his maiestie, yee which followed me in the [q] regeneration, * shall sit also vpon twelue thrones and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

29 And whosoeuer shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sister, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my Names sake, hee shall receiue an hundreth fold more, and shall inherite euerlasting life.

30 [8] * But many that are first, shalbe last, and the last shalbe first.

4 And said vnto them, Goe yee also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, I will giue you: and they went their way.

5 Againe he went out about the sixt and ninth houre, and did likewise.

6 And he went about the [b] eleuenth houre, and found other standing idle, and sayd vnto them, Why stand ye heere all the day idle?

7 They said vnto him, because no man hath hired vs. He said to them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the master of the vineyard sayde vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleuenth houre, came and receiued euery man a penie.

10 Now when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued euery man a peny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, 12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equall vnto vs, which haue borne the burden and heat of the day.

13 And he answered one of them, saying, Friend, I doe thee no wrong: didst thou not agree with me for a peny?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and goe thy way: I will giue vnto this last, as much as to thee.

15 Is it not lawfull for me to do as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye [c] euill, because I am good?

16 *So the last shall be first, and the first last: for many are called, but few chosen.

17 *[2] And Iesus went vp to Hierusalem, and tooke the twelue disciples apart in the way, and said vnto them,

18 [3] Behold, wee goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, 19 [4] And * shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, to mocke, and to scourge, and to crucifie him, but the third day he shall rise againe.

20 *[5] Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him.

21 And he said vnto her, What wouldest thou? She saide to him, Grant that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdome.

22 And Iesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye aske. Are ye able to [d] drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and to bee baptized with the [e] baptisme that I shall bee baptized with? They said to him, We are able.

23 And he said vnto them, Ye shall drinke in deed of my cup, and shalbe baptized with the baptisme, that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is [f] not mine to giue: but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 * And when the other ten heard this, they disdained at the two brethren.

25 Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and sayde: Ye know that the lords of the Gentiles haue [h] domination ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authoritie ouer them.

26 But it shall not bee so among you: but whosoeuer will bee great among you, let him be your seruant.

27 And whosoeuer will bee chiefe among you, let him be your seruant.

28 *Euen as the Sonne of man came not to bee serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransome of many.

29 ¶ [6] * And as they departed from Iericho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And beholde, two blind men, sitting by the way side, when they heard that Iesus passed by, cried, saying, O Lorde, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should holde their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

32 Then Iesus stood still, and [h] called them, and said, What will ye that I should doe to you?

33 They sayd to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Iesus moued with compassion, touched their eyes, and immediatly their eyes receiued sight, and they followed him.

6 So the disciples went, and did as Iesus had commanded them,

7 And brought the asse and the colt, and put on them their [c] clothes, and set him [d] thereon.

8 And a great multitude spred their garments in the way: and other cut downe branches from the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 Moreouer the people that went before, and they also that followed, cried, saying, *Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid, [f] Blessed be hee that commeth in the Name of the Lorde, Hosanna thou which art in the highest heauens.

10 *And when hee was come into Hierusalem, [g] all the citie was moued, saying, Who is this?

11 And the people saide, This is Iesus that Prophet of Nazareth in Galile.

12 ¶ And Iesus went into the Temple of God, and cast out all them *that solde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that sold doues, 13 And said to them, It is written, *My house shall bee called the house of prayer: but *ye haue made it a denne of theeues.

14 Then the blinde, and the halt came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

15 [2] But when the chief Priests & Scribes saw the marueiles that he did, and the children crying in the Temple, and saying, Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid, they disdained, 16 And said vnto him, Hearest thou what these say? And Iesus said vnto thē, Yea: read ye neuer, *By the mouth of Babes and sucklinges thou hast [h] made perfite the praise?

20 And when his disciples sawe it, they marueiled, saying, How soone is the fig tree withered!

22 *And whatsoeuer ye shall aske in prayer, if ye beleeue, ye shall receiue it.

23 ¶ *[6] And when he was come into the Temple, the chiefe Priestes, and the Elders of the people came vnto him, as hee was teaching, and sayde, By wat authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie?

24 Then Iesus answered and sayde vnto them, I also will aske of you [l] a certaine thing, which if you tell me, I likewise will tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

25 The [m] baptisme of John, whence was it? from [n] heauen, or of men? Then they [o] reasoned among themselues, saying, If wee shall say, From heauen, hee will say vnto vs, Why did ye not then beleeue him?

29 But hee answered, and sayde, I will not: yet afterward hee repented himselfe, and went.

30 Then came hee to the second, and sayd likewise. And hee answered, and sayd, I will Sir: yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of the Father? They sayd vnto him, The first. Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots [p] goe before you into the Kingdome of God.

32 For John came vnto you in the [q] way of righteousnesse, and yee beleeued him not: but the Publicanes, and the harlots beleeued him, and ye, though ye sawe it, were not moued with repentance afterward, that ye might beleeue him.

THen * [1] Iesus answered, and spake vnto them againe in parables, saying,

2 The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine king which maried his sonne,

3 And sent forth his seruants, to call them that were bid to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Againe he sent forth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are [a] killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the mariage.

5 But they made light of it, & went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his marchandise.

6 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharpely, and slew them.

7 [2] But when the King heard it, hee was wroth, and sent forth his warriors, & destroied those murtherers, and burnt vp their citie.

8 Then sayde hee to his seruants, Truely the [b] wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

9 [3] Goe yee therefore out into the hie wayes, and as many as ye find, bid them to the mariage.

10 So those seruants went out into the hie wayes, and gathered together all that euer they found, both good and [c] bad: so the wedding was furnished with ghests.

11 [4] Then the King came in, to see the ghests, and saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment.

12 And he said vnto him, Friend, how camest thou in hither, and hast not on a wedding garment? And he was [d] speachlesse.

13 Then saide the King to the [e] seruants, Binde him hand and foote: take him away, and cast him into vtter darkenes, * there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 * For many are called, but few chosen.

15 ¶ * Then went the Pharises & tooke counsell how they might [f] tangle him in talke.

16 And they sent vnto him their disciples with the [g] Herodians, saying, Master, wee know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God [h] truely, neither carest for any man: for thou considerest not the [i] person of men.

17 [5] Tel vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue [k] tribute vnto Cesar or not?

18 But Iesus perceiued their wickednes, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew mee the tribute money. And they brought him a [l] peny.

20 And he said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They said vnto him, Cesars. Then said hee vnto them, * Giue therefore to Cesar, the things which are Cesars, and giue vnto God, those things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marueiled, and left him, and went their way.

20 But pray that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the * [h] Sabbath day.

21 For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not from the beginning of the world to this time, nor shall be.

22 And except [i] those dayes should bee shortened, there should no [k] flesh be saued: but for the elects sake those dayes shall bee shortned.

23 * Then if any shall say vnto you, Loe, here is Christ, or there, beleeue it not.

24 For there shall arise false Christes, and false prophets, and [l] shall shewe great signes and woonders, so that if it were possible, they should deceiue the very elect.

25 Behold, I haue told you before.

26 Wherefore if they shall say vnto you, Behold, he is in the desert, goe not forth: Behold, he is in the secret places, beleeue it not.

27 For as the lightning commeth out of the East, and is seene into the West, so shall also the comming of the Sonne of man be.

28 *[5] For wheresoeuer a dead [m] carkeis is, thither will the Egles bee gathered together.

29 *[6] And immediately after the tribulation of those dayes, shall the Sunne be darkned, and the Moone shal not giue her light, and the Starres shal fal from heauen, and the powers of heauen shalbe shaken.

30 And then shall appeare the [n] signe of the Sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the [o] kinreds of the earth [p] mourne, * and they shall see the Sonne of man [q] come in the cloudes of heauen with power and great glorie.

31 * And hee shall send his Angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shal gather together his elect from the [r] foure windes, and from the one ende of the heauens vnto the other.

32 [7] Now learne the parable of the figge tree: when her bough is yet [s] tender, and it putteth foorth leaues, ye know that summer is neere.

33 So likewise yee, when yee see all these things, knowe that the Kingdome of God is neere, euen at the doores.

34 Verely I say vnto you, this [t] generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

35 *[8] Heauen and earth shall passe away: but my words shall not passe away.

36 [9] But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heauen, but my Father onely.

37 But as the dayes of Noe were, so likewise shall the comming of the Sonne of man bee.

38 * For as in the dayes before the flood, they did [u] eate and drinke, marrie, and gaue in mariage, vnto the day that Noe entred into the Arke, 39 And knew nothing till the flood came, and tooke them all away, so shall also the comming of the Sonne of man be.

40 [10] * Then two shall bee in the fieldes, the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.

41 [x] Two women shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.

42 [11] * Watch therefore: for ye know not what houre your Master will come.

1 The Virgins looking for the Bridegrom. 13 We must watch. 14 The talents deliuered vnto the seruaunts. 24 The euill seruant. 30 After what sort the last iudgement shall be. 41 The cursed.

1 Wee must desire strength at Gods hand, which may serue vs as a torch while we walke through this darkenesse, to bring vs to our desired end: otherwise if we become slouthfull and negligent as weary of our paines and trauell, we shal be shut out of the doores.

THen 1 the Kingdome of heauen shall bee likened vnto tenne virgins, which tooke their lampes, and a went foorth to meete the bridegrome.

a The pompe of brideales was woont for the most part to be kept in the night seasons, and that by damsels.

2 And fiue of them were wise, and fiue foolish.

3 The foolish tooke their lamps, but tooke none oyle with them.

4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Now while the bridegrome taried long, all b slumbred and slept.

b Their eyes being heauy with sleepe,

6 And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegome commeth: goe out to meete him.

7 Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish sayd to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so: lest there will not be ynough for vs and you, but goe ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and sayd, Verely I say vnto you, I know you not.

*Chap. 24. 42. marke 13. 35.

13 *Watch therefore: for yee know neither the day, nor the houre, when the Sonne of man will come.

14 *2 For the Kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seruants, and deliuered to them his goods.

*Luke 19. 12, 13. 2 Christ witnesseth that there shall be a long time, betweene his departure to his Father, and his comming againe to vs, but yet notwithstanding that, he will at that day take an account not onely of the rebellious and obstinate, how they haue bestowed that which they receiued of him, but also of his household seruants, which haue not through slouthfulnesse employed those gifts which be bestowen vpon them.

15 And vnto one he gaue fiue talents, and to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his own c habilitie, and straightway went from home.

c According to the wisedome and skill in dealing, which was giuen them.

16 Then hee that had receiued the fiue talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other fiue talents.

17 Likewise also, hee that receiued two, he also gained other two.

18 But he that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hide his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came hee that had receiued fiue talents, and brought other fiue talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto mee fiue talents: behold, I haue gained with them other fiue talents.

21 Then his master sayde vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast beene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: d enter into thy Masters ioy.

d Come and receiue the fruit of my goodnes: now the Lords ioy is doubled, Iohn 15. 11. that my ioy may remain in you, and your ioy be fulfilled.

22 Also he that had receiued two talents, came, and saide, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: beholo, I haue gained two other talents more.

23 His master sayde vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.

24 Then hee which had receiued the one talent, came, and sayd, Master, I knewe that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:

25 I was therefore afraide, and went, and hid thy talent in the earth: beholde, thou hast thine owne.

26 And his master answered, and said vnto him, Thou euill seruant, and slouthfull, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the e Exchangers, & then at my comming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

33 And he shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goates on the left.

34 Then shal the King say to them on his right hand, Come yee [f] blessed of my Father: take the inheritance of the kingdome prepared for you from the foundation of the world.

AND * [1] it came to passe, when Iesus had finished all these sayings, hee sayde vnto his Disciples,

2 [2] Ye know that after two dayes is the Passeouer, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered to be crucified.

3 * Then assembled together the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders of the people into the hall of the hie Priest called Caiaphas:

4 And consulted together that they might take Iesus by subtiltie, and kill him.

5 But they sayd, Not on the [a] feast day, lest any vproare be among the people.

6 ¶ * [3] And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper,

7 [b] There came vnto him a woman, which had a [c] boxe of very costly ointment, and powred it on his head, as he sate at the table.

8 And when his [d] Disciples saw it, they had indignation, saying, What needed this [e] waste?

9 For this ointment might haue beene solde for much, and bene giuen to the poore.

10 [4] And Iesus knowing it, said vnto them, Why trouble yee the woman? for shee hath wrought a good worke vpon me.

11 *[5] For ye haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall ye not haue alwayes.

12 For [f] in that she powred this ointment on my body, she did it to burie me.

13 Verely I say vnto you, Wheresoeuer this Gospel shalbe preached throughout all the world, there shall also this that she hath done, be spoken of for a memoriall of her.

14 ¶ * Then one of the twelue, called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priests, 15 And said, What will yee giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they appointed vnto him thirtie pieces of siluer.

16 And from that time, he sought opportunitie to betray him.

a By this worde Feast, is meant the whole feast of vnleauened bread: the first and eight day whereof were so holy, that they might doe no maner of worke therein, though the whole company of the Sanhedrin determined otherwise: And yet it came to passe through Gods prouidēce, that Christ suffered at that time, to the ende that all the people of Israel might bee witnesses of his euerlasting sacrifice.

g This was the fourteenth day of the first moneth: and the first day of vnleauened bread should haue bene the fifteenth, but because this dayes euening (which after the maner of the Romanes was referred to the day before) did belong by the Iewes maner to the day following, therefore it is called the first day of vnleauened bread.

18 And hee sayd, Goe ye into the citie to such a man, and say to him, The Master sayth, My time is at hand: I will keepe the Passeouer at thine house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Jesus had giuen them charge, and made ready the Passeouer.

20 *So when the euen was come, hee h sate downe with the twelue.

21 And as they did eate, he sayd, *Verely I say vnto you, ý one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorowfull, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And hee answered and sayd, *He that i dippeth his hand with me in the dish, hee shall betray me.

25 Then Judas k which betrayed him, answered and said, Is it I, master? Hee said vnto him, Thou hast said it.

26 ¶ 7 *And as they did eate, Jesus tooke the bread, and when h had l blessed, he brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, and sayd, Take, eate: m this is my body.

27 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had giuen thanks, he gaue it them, saying, Drinke ye n all of it.

29 I say vnto you, that I will not drinke hencefoorth of this fruit of the vine vntill that day, when I shall drinke it newe with you in my Fathers kingdome.

30 And when they had sung q a Psalme, they went out into the mount of Oliues.

31 ¶ 8 *Then said Jesus vnto them, All ye shall bee offended by me this night: for it is written, I *will smite the sheepheard, and the sheepe of the flocke shall be scattered.

32 But *after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galile.

33 But Peter answered, and sayd vnto him, Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended.

34 *Jesus sayde vnto him, Uerely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crow, thou shalt denie me thrise.

35 Peter said vnto him, Though I should die with thee, I will in no case deny thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 ¶ *9 Then went Jesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, & sayd vnto his disciples, Sit yee here, while I goe, and pray yonder.

37 And he tooke vnto him Peter, and the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe sorowfull, and r grieuously troubled, 38 10 Then sayde Jesus vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarie ye here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a litle further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it bee possible, s let this t cup passe from me: neuertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 11 After, hee came vnto the disciples, and found them asleepe, and sayde to Peter, What? could yee not watch with mee one houre?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into tentation: the spirite in deede is readie, but the flesh is weake.

42 Againe he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cuppe cannot passe away from mee, but that I must drinke it, thy will be done.

43 And hee came, and found them asleepe againe, for their eyes were heauie.

44 So hee left them and went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same wordes.

45 Then came he to his disciples, and said vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: beholde, the houre is at hande, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the handes of sinners.

46 12 Rise, let vs goe: beholde, hee is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 *And while hee yet spake, loe Judas one of the twelue came, and with him a great multitude with swordes and staues, u from the high Priestes and Elders of the people.

l 1.Cor. 11.24. 9 Christ hauing regarde to the weakenesse of his disciples, leauing all the rest in safetie, taketh with him but three to be witnesses of his anguish, and goeth of purpose into the place appointed to betray him in.

r The worde which he vseth, signifieth great sorow, and marueilous & deadly griefe: which thing, as it betokeneth the truth of mans nature, which shunneth death as a thing that entred in against nature, so it sheweth that though Christ were voide of sinne, yet he susteined this horrible punishmēt, because he felt the wrath of God kindled against vs for sins, which he reuenged and punished in his person.

10 Christ a true man, going about to suffer the punishment which was due vnto vs, for forsaking of God, is forsaken of his owne: hee hath a terrible conflict with the horrour and feare of the curse of God: out of which he escaping as conqueror, causeth vs not to be any more afraid of death.

51 And beholde, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drewe his sword, and stroke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 [14] Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sworde into his place: * for all that [y] take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 [15] Either thinkest thou, that I cannot nowe pray to my Father, and he will giue me moe then twelue legions of Angels?

55 The same houre said Iesus to the multitude, Yee be come out as it were against a theefe, with swordes and staues to take me: I sate daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might bee fulfilled. * Then all the disciples forsooke him, and fled.

57 ¶ *[16] And they tooke Iesus, and led him to [a] Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him afarre off vnto the hie Priestes [b] hall, and went in, and sate with the seruants to see the end.

59 Nowe * the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Councill sought false witnesse against Iesus, to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses, 61 And sayd, This man sayd, * I can destroy the Temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and sayd to him, Answerest thou nothing? [c] What is the matter that these men witnesse against thee?

63 But Iesus held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and sayd to him, I charge thee sweare vnto vs by the liuing God, to tel vs, If thou be that Christ the Sonne of God, or no.

64 * Iesus sayd to him, Thou hast sayd it: neuertheless I say vnto you, [d] hereafter shall yee see the Sonne of man, sitting [e] at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the [f] cloudes of the heauen.

65 Then the hie Priest [g] rent his clothes, saying, He hath blasphemed, what haue we any more neede of witnesses? behold: now yee haue heard his blasphemie.

66 What thinke ye? They answered, and said, He is guiltie of death.

67 * Then spet they in his face, and buffeted him, and other smote him with rods, 68 Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

69 ¶ *[17] Peter [h] sate without in the hall, and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile:

70 But hee denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when he went out into the porch, another maide saw him, and sayde vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe hee denied with an oath, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stoode by, and sayde vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speach bewrayeth thee.

74 Then beganne hee to [i] curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I knowe not the man. And immediatly the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembred the wordes of Iesus, which had sayde vnto him, Before the cocke crow thou shalt denie me thrise. So he went out, and wept bitterly.

13 Then sayde Pilate vnto him, Hearest thou not how many things they lay against thee?

14 But he answered him not to one word, in so much that the Gouernour marueiled greatly.

15 [3] Now at the feast, the Gouernour was woont to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

22 Pilate sayde vnto them, What shall I doe then with Jesus, which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then sayd the Gouernour, But what euill hath he done? Then they cried the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

3 And his [c] countenance was like lightening, and his rayment white as snow.

4 And for feare of him, the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare [d] yee not: for I know that yee seeke Iesus which was crucified:

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples, that he is risen from the dead: and behold, hee goeth before you into Galile: there ye shall see him: loe, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great ioy, and did run to bring his disciples word.

9 [2] And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, and tooke him by the feet, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Iesus vnto them, Be not afraid. Goe and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galile, and there shall they see me.

2 And hee taught them many things in parables, and ſayd vnto them in his doctrine,

3 [1] Hearken: Behold, there went out a ſower to ſow.

4 And it came to paſſe as hee ſowed, that ſome fell by the way ſide, and the foules of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And ſome fell on ſtonie ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by ſprang vp, becauſe it had not depth of earth.

6 But aſſoone as the ſunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and becauſe it had not root, it withered away.

7 And ſome fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, ſo that it gaue no fruit.

8 Some fell againe in good ground, and did yeeld fruit that ſprong vp, and grewe, and it brought forth, ſome thirtie folde, ſome ſixtie folde, and ſome an hundreth folde.

10 And when hee was [c] alone, they that were [d] about him with the twelue, aſked him of the parable.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, & bring forth fruite: one corne thirty, another sixty, and some an hundreth.

21 ¶ [z] Also hee said vnto them, *Commeth the candle in, to bee put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlesticke?

22 *For there is nothing hid, that shal not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

25 *For vnto him that hath, shall bee giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

26 ¶ [4] Also hee said, so is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seede in the ground, 27 And [g] should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seede should spring and grow vp, he [h] not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruit [i] of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full corne in the eares.

29 And assoone as the fruit sheweth it selfe, anone he putteth in the sickle, because the harnest is come.

32 But after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the foules of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And * with many such parables hee preached the word vnto them, [k] as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake he nothing vnto them: but he [l] expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ *Now the same day when euen was come hee said vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as he was in the ship, and there were also with him other litle ships.

37 [6] And there arose a great storme of wind, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And hee was in the sterne a sleepe on a pillow: and they awoke him, and said to him, Master, carest thou not that wee perish?

39 And he rose vp, and rebuked the wind, and said vnto the sea, Peace, and bee still. So the wind ceased, and it was a great calme.

40 Then he said vnto them, [m] Why are ye so fearefull? how is it that ye haue no faith?

d The deuil displaied the messenger for his fellowes.
e This whole countrey is for the greater part of it very hilly, for the mountaines of Galaad runne through entred into the swine, and the heard ran headlong from the high banke into the [f] sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were choked vp in the sea.

14 And the swineheards fled, and tolde it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had beene possessed with the deuil, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it, tolde them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that hee would depart from their coasts.

18 And when hee was come into the ship, he that had bene possessed with the deuill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but sayd vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shew them what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee, and how he hath had compassion on thee.

20 So hee departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and hee was neere vnto the sea.

22 * And [g] behold, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iairus: and when he saw him, hee fell downe at his feete, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My little daughter lyeth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that shee may bee healed, and liue.

24 Then hee went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thronged him.

25 ([z] And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, 26 And had suffered many things of many physicions, and had spent all that shee had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When she had heard of Iesus, she came in the preasse behinde, and touched his garment.

28 For shee said, If I may but touch his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried vp, and she felt in her bodie, that shee was healed of that plague.

30 And immediatly when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, hee turned him round about in the preasse, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his Disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude throng thee, and saiest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And hee looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for shee knew what was done in her, and she came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole trueth.

34 And he sayd to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)

35 While he yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which sayd, Thy daughter is dead: why diseasest thou the maister any further?

36 [3] Assoone as Iesus heard that worde spoken, hee sayde vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleeue.

37 And hee suffered no man to follow him saue Peter and James, and John the brother of James.

38 So he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and saw the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And hee went in, and said vnto them, Why make yee this trouble, and weepe? the childe is not dead, but sleepeth.

40 [4] And they laught him to scorne: but he put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the childe, and them [h] that were with him, and entred in where the childe lay,

41 And tooke the childe by the hand, and said vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Mayden, I say vnto thee, arise.

42 And straightway the mayden arose, and walked: for she was of the age of twelue yeeres, and they were astonied out of measure.

43 And he charged them straitely that no man should know of it, and commanded to giue her meate.

whence hath this man these things? and what wisedom is this that is giuen vnto him, that euen such [a] great workes are done by his handes?

3 Is not this that carpenter Maries sonne, the brother of Iames and Ioses, and of Iuda, and Simon? and are not his [b] sisters here with vs? And they were offended in him.

4 And Iesus said vnto them, A * Prophet is not without [c] honour, but in his owne countrey, and among his owne kinsfolke, and in his owne house.

5 And he [d] could there do no great workes, saue that hee laide his hands vpon a few sicke folke, and healed them.

6 And he marueiled at their vnbeliefe * and went about by the townes on euerie side, teaching.

7 ¶ *[2] And he called vnto him ye twelue, and began to send them forth two and two, and gaue them power ouer vncleane Spirits,

8 [3] And commanded them that they should take nothing for their iourney, saue a staffe only: neither scrippe, neither bread, neither money in their girdles:

9 But that they should be shod with *[e] sandals, and that they should not put on [f] two coates.

10 And hee said vnto them, Whersoeuer ye shall enter into an house, [g] there abide till ye depart thence.

11 *[4] And whosoeuer shall not receiue you, nor heare you, when yee depart thence, * shake off the dust that is vnder your feete, for a witnesse vnto them. Verily I say vnto you, It shal be easier for Sodom, or Gomorrha at the day of iudgement, then for that citie.

12 ¶ And they went out, and preached, that men should amend their liues.

13 And they cast out many deuils: and they *[h] anoynted many that were sicke, with oyle, and healed them.

14 ¶ *[5] Then King Herod heard of him (for his name was made manifest) and said, Iohn Baptist is risen again from the dead, and therefore great [i] workes are wrought by him.

15 Other said, It is Elias, and some said, It is a Prophet, or as one of [k] those Prophets.

16 * So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom [l] I beheaded: hee is risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18 For Iohn said vnto Herod, * It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife.

19 Therefore Herodias [m] laide waite against him, and would haue killed him, but she could not:

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that he was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, & when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him [n] gladly.

21 But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birth day made a banket to his Princes and captaines, and chiefe estates of Galile:

22 And the daughter [o] of the same Herodias came in, and daunced, and pleased Herod, and them that sate at table together, the King said vnto the maide, Aske of mee what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23 And hee sware vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my Kingdome.

24 * So [p] shee went forth, and said to her mother, What shal I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then shee came in straightway with haste vnto the king, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldest giue mee euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26 Then the King was very sorie: yet for his othes sake, and for their sakes which sate at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediatly the King sent the [q] hangman, & gaue charge that his head should bee brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison:

28 And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the maide, and the maide gaue it to her Mother.

29 And when his Disciples heard it, they came & tooke vp his bodie, & put it in a tombe, 30 ¶ * And the Apostles gathered themselues together to Iesus, and tolde him all things, both what they had done, & what they had taught.

31 [6] And hee said vnto them, Come yee apart into the wildernesse, and rest a while: for there were many commers and goers, that they had no leasure to eate.

32 * So they went by ship out of the way into a desert place.

33 But the people saw them when they departed, and many knew him, and ran a foote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

34 * Then Iesus went out, and sawe a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no Shepheard: * and he began to teach them many things.

35 * And when the day was nowe farre spet, his disciples came vnto him, saying, This is a desart place, & now the day is farre passed,
